MRS. BOYLE IS GUILTY OF KIDNAPING, SAYS THE JURY; OUT BUT A FEW MINUTES

Woman Threatens to Implicate Others in the Whitla Case.

Her Lawyer Says Cash Was Used to Influence Jurors.

Supposed Scandal Is Still Squelched Despite Talk.

ONLY ONE BALLOT.

Mercer, Pa., May 8.—Mrs. James Boyle was today convicted of kidnaping Willie Whitla. The case was given to the jury shortly before noon, and but one ballot was taken.

Mercer, Pa., May 8.—"Life in the penitentiary would kill me in a week or ten days and rather than submit to this I would take the 'Dutch rouse,'" said Mrs. Boyle today.

Like her husband, she is anxious to tell more than has been brought out in the trial of herself or her husband regarding the kidnaping of "Billy" Whitla.

"If Jimmy and I are sent to the penitentiary," she said, "we will not go alone. Others will go with us or join us soon there. Half the truth has not yet been told in this case. One other man, who planned the whole affair,

MACHINISTS VOTE CASH

Railway Employes Elect Van Lear of Minneapolis President.

St. Paul Minn. May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northwestern Consolidated District of Railway Machinists' convention which has been in session in Hotel Foley all week, before adjournment last evening provided the sinews of war for strikes by amending the constitution so that $4.600 a month can be collected from the members.

There are 4,000 members in good standing in the organization, and the executive board was empowered to levy an assessment of $1 a month toward a fund to be devoted to paying strike benefits. Immediately upon the adoption of the amendment the convention decided to lend financial support to the strikers at the Fitzhugh-Luther Locomotive works at Hammond, Ind.

The convention voted to demand a formal acceptance of the eight-hour day, which is now voluntarily conceded by the railroads. A plan for the organization of all the unions in the Northwest under one head was adopted, and the machinists of all branch roads will be organized with as little delay as possible.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were:

PATTEN RETURNS FROM HIS TRIP

Wheat Operator Is Now Speeding Back to Chicago.

Trinidad, Colo., May 8.—Refreshed from two weeks' hunting and fishing in the Northern New Mexico hills, sunburned and apparently greatly improved physically, James A. Patten, the Chicago wheat operator, is today speeding toward Chicago over the Santa Fe railway. This was confirmed today.

He is due to arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF GAS PROVES PROFITABLE.

Washington, May 8.—Municipal ownership of the city gas plant has proven not only a profitable undertaking for Manchester, England, but economical for the consumer as well. The city's profits since the works were taken, over twenty-five years ago, have been $6,750,307, while the price of gas in Manchester at present is only 55 cents per thousand cubic feet, according to a report of the bureau of manufactures from Consul Howe. A movement is on foot, the consul reports, to reduce the price of gas to 45 cents for sundry manufacturing purposes and a graduated reduction for ordinary uses.

CAPTURED BY POSSE

Jean Fortier Also Fatally Wounded His Sister-in-Law.

Philadelphia, May 8.—Jean Fortier, who shot and killed M. Fortier, his brother, and fatally wounded the latter's wife yesterday, was captured late last night by a posse led by three city detectives and is now in the county jail.

The man was captured within twenty-five yards of the place where he shot his brother's wife.

He had been hiding under a log all afternoon and came out when he saw the officers enter their automobile and ride away.

A guard was left at the house in case Fortier should come back and it was in this way that the arrest was affected.

TELLS OF PLAN TO MAKE ESCAPE

American Girl In Turkey Writes to Her Father.

Philadelphia, May 8.—Dr. Burns of Bristol, Pa., has received from his daughter, a teacher in the American College for Girls in Constantinople, a letter narrating particulars of the recent Turkish revolution as already narrated in press dispatches, and adding this human-interest incident:

"Thursday forenoon, shortly before luncheon, we had a tremendous sensation when Halideh, with her father, sister and two children, arrived, looking wild and disreputable in old clothes and exclaiming: 'I am a hunted woman. Will you give me refuge?' ed woman. Will you give me refuge?'

"Since then they have been locked in two rooms here and were planning to escape to Egypt. Halideh was to dress in foreign costume and drive with one of our teachers to the wharf, take a caique and board the Roumanian steamer sailing this morning for Egypt. She was to take Miss Y's passport, revised, and Miss T's brother was to bribe the clerk so that he would let her on the boat and lock here in a cabin.

"After they were safely aboard, one of the Great servants was to bring the two little boys, and her father and her husband would embark separately. The danger, it seemed to us, was increased by her wearing the costume, as if she were discovered the mob would probably tear her to pieces for thus violating one of the most sacred Moslem laws."

Mrs. Washington Gladden Dies.

Columbus, Ohio, May 8.—Mrs. Gladden, wife of Rev. Washington Gladden of the First Congregational church, this city, died today after years of illness.

Wreckage Found Near Whitefish Was Lumber Steamer.

Not Believed That Any of the Men Were Saved.

The steamer Adella Shores lies at the bottom of Lake Superior, and it is believed her entire crew of thirteen men went down with her.

The vessel is believed to have sunk during the violent storm of last week, and is supposed to be lying in about twenty-five fathoms of water in Whitefish bay, between Whitefish point and Huron island.

The story of the wreck was brought to Duluth by Capt. Geel and Mate Spaulding of the steamer Simon Langell, which arrived in port last night. The Langell met with a considerable quantity of wreckage and the upper part of a boat that the captain feels sure belonged to the Shores.

The Mate's Story.

The story of the mate is as follows: "It was during the first watch, about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning, that I noticed we were passing by and through some wreckage. I called Capt. Geel. We noticed from fifty to a hundred small pieces of decking and part of a skylight.

"Several deck planks, painted slate on one side and tarred on the other, floated by. There was nothing to indicate to what vessel the pieces belonged—no marks of any kind.

"Suddenly Capt. Geel pointed off to starboard. 'Look at that' he said.' I looked and saw the upper works of a vessel about 1,000 feet from us. We could distinguish it plainly, but there was no sign of a name.

"'That is the Adella Shores,' said

Counsel for Government Makes Arguments Opposing Freedom.

Bank Wrecker's Lawyers Say Transactions Were Legitimate.

Chicago, May 8.—Arguments of the government in opposition to the attempt of John R. Walsh, under sentence of five years' imprisonment for alleged misapplication of the funds of his bank, the defunct Chicago National, to obtain freedom on appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals, are contained in a brief filed today by Assistant District Attorney Fletcher Dobbyns, in reply to a brief filed by counsel for the defendant a month ago.

The Walsh banks, the Chicago National, The Equitable Trust company and the Home Savings bank, closed their doors Dec 18, 1905 and Walsh was indicted two years later on 182 counts. A year later the case came to trial in the United States district court and a verdict finding the defendant guilty of fifty-four counts was returned. Judge Anderson sentenced Walsh to five years at Fort Leavenworth. The appeal followed. Oral arguments will be heard by Judges Grosscup, Baker

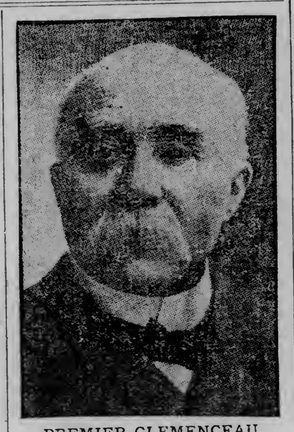
CELEBRATION TO BE BADLY MIXED

Vancouver's Fete for Jap Ships Hampered By Opposition.

Vancouver, B. C. May 8.—That Vancouver's celebration of the Japanese training ships Aso and Soya, May 17 is likely to be a badly mixed affair, was shown by the marked opposition to the celebration arrangements in various official quarters.

The civic finance committee by a very decided majority last night turned down a resolution of Mayor Douglass for a $1,000 donation of the military officers for aid in parade and entertainment expenses.

Four aldermen out of five voted against the appropriation despite protests of the military men that their action was against imperial ethics and that Vancouver should cultivate trade relations with Japan.



PREMIER CLEMENCEAU.

TROOPS ARE CALLED OUT

French Government Prepares to Curb Labor Forces.

Premier Clemenceau Directs Movements From His Sickroom.

Paris, May 8.—Both the government and the state employes, including the men of the department of posts and telegraphs, are today marshaling their forces for the impending struggle.

Premier Clemenceau is still confined to his room by sickness, but he is in constant communication with his colleagues and declares he will resign rather than make terms.

Troops and special police reserves were disposed this mornig to guard the central postoffice and telegraph station, the switchboard machinery and the exposed lines leading to the provinces.

M. Barthou, the minister of public works, is of the opinion that a considerable proportion of the state employes will stick to their posts, and that with the aid of soldiers and the co-operation of the chamber of commerce and the hotel keepers' associations, who are organizing auxiliary forces, the public service will be maintained. One hundred and fifty thousand pigeons, trained for war service, have been placed at the disposal of the government.

The strike committee of the postal employes ridicule the measures adopted by the government and promises

TAFT APPOINTS WILLARD JUDGE

Minneapolis Man's Name is Sent to the Senate.

Washington, May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles A. Willard was appointed by President Taft this morning to be district federal judge in Minnesota to succeed Milton D. Purdy, who resigned.

Senator Nelson has long opposed the confirmation of Purdy, who was repeatedly nominated by President Roosevelt and continuously turned down by Nelson, aided somewhat by the opposition of Senator Clapp.

Judge Willard is a resident of Minneapolis, and it is said he will be acceptable to the Minnesota senators. He is now a judge in the Philippine islands.

Washington, May 8.—President Taft today settled three federal judgship contests by sending to the senate the nominations of William I. Grubb as judge of the Northern district of Alabama and George Donworth for the Western district of Washington.

TORPEDO BOATS TO BE OF THE OIL BURNING VARIETY.

Washington, May 8.—Bidders for contracts involving the construction of five torpedo boats authorized by congress, can present alternate bids respecting the machinery for the boats. The lines of the vessels, it is stated, must be in accordance with the department's specifications except insofar as minor modifications are necessary to permit the installation of the bidders design of motive power. The boats will be of the oil-burning variety.

ARMY REORGANIZATION PLAN TO BE INCLUDED.

Washington, May 8.—Secretary of War Dickinson's first annual report will include the tentative plan for army re-organization, now being drafted by the general staff. The plan will outline a scheme of line and staff organization based on the needs of a regular establishment of 135,000 enlisted men.

U. S. COLLECTOR DIES SUDDENLY

C. M. Webster of Great Falls, Mont., a Former Minnesotan.

Great Falls, Mont., May 8.—Charles M. Webster, United States collector of customs for Montana and Idaho, ex-mayor of Great Falls, and for years one of the most prominent Republicans in this section, who came near being nominated for governor last year, died here very suddenly yesterday.

He attended a theater Thursday evening and was apparently in the best of health. He was a native of Zumbrota, Minn., and was 51 years old. Upon being graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1882, he married a daughter of Former Governor Pillsbury of Minnesota, and for a time engaged in the practice of law in Minneapolis.

Upon the death of his wife, he came to Montana. He came within a few votes of securing the Republican nomination last year for governor.

The body of Mr. Webster is being taken to Minneapolis, where he graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1882, and practiced law prior to coming here as secretary of the Great Falls Waterpower & Townsite company, when James J. Hill and Paris Gibson laid out the town in 1884. The burial will be in Minneapolis next Monday.

OBJECT TO POLE LINES

East End Property Owners Will Appear Before Council.

Poles May Be Removed From Street Onto Private Property.

The common council, at its regular meeting Monday night, will listen to protests of property owners in the East end who have objections to offer on the laying of conduits and the placing of telephone, telegraph and electric light wires poles across their lots.

The council has ordered all companies laying wires along Superior street, in the East end, to remove their poles from the street. Between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues east, there are no alleys in which the wires may be placed, so the companies, no matter how willing they may be to follow out instructions are unable to do so.

It will be necessary to condemn a right of way across private property, in lieu of the alleyways. There is said to be no objection to the laying of conduits, but some of the companies propose to erect poles along the route in question. There is no ordinance forbidding this in all alleyways in this particular district and it is up to the council to either grant or refuse to establish pole lines.

Some of the owners of property in the district affected have serious objections to offer to any more pole lines and probably there will be quite a delegation of them on hand at the council meeting Monday.

WEST END NEWS

HOME BUILDING BOOM HITS THE WEST END

TYPE OF HOMES BEING ERECTED IN WEST END.

Housebuilding in the West end still continues at a brisk rate. The latest residences that are being put up differ somewhat from the usual style, and are being constructed along more substantial and thoroughly modern lines. Quite a number of flats are also being erected. The accompanying cut showing the new home of David Adams at 2311 West Third street is a type of the homes being erected. Mr. Adams has the distinction of being a pioneer homebuilder in the West end. Last year more building permits were issued to him than to any other homebuilder in the city.

The Adams home is thoroughly modern in every respect. The foundation of the house is of Kettle River rock and sandstone, and the cellar has a cement floor. The dimensions of the house are 30 by 30 with an 8 by 14 pantry annexed to the rear.

The interior of the house is finished in oak.

CREEK BEING COVERED.

Concrete Construction Being Used to Enclose Stream.

Coffee creek which runs down the hill from Piedmont avenue through a deep ravine and which has been covered with the exception of one block between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west and Second and Third street, is being inclosed in a concrete culvert, the work having been started yesterday by the board of public works. The construction of the culvert will involve an expenditure of $1,500.

Agitation has been strong in the West end for the past few years in favor of covering the creek, whose waters carry considerable sewage. Pedestrians on the banks of the stream attribute two deaths by diphtheria last year to the open stream and West end physicians report that for some time past disease has been more prevalent there than in any one other spot in the West end.

The stream carries down sewage from the new school building on the hill. The school board is shouldering one-third of the expense. It is expected that the work will be completed some time in June.

Adams Athletic Ball Team to Don Swell Attire

The Adams Athletic association ball team will appear in the new suits tomorrow when it plays Larson's Sluggers on the Thirty-second avenue west grounds. An explanation will be offered as to why the Jews are scattered over the globe without a nation or a city. The services are to be conducted by Rev. O. J. Nerlund.

"There's a Reason"

PLAYGOERS WILL SIT UP

When the Jay Quigley Players Come to the Lyceum.

Bare announcements that Jay Quigley would bring a stock company to the Lyceum theater for the summer season were made some time ago, but now the particulars of the organization are at hand and they indicate that Duluth is going to see something pretty classy when the Quigley players get busy on the local stage.

Girls, remove the photographs of Willard Mack, Dustin Farnum and Chauncey Olcott from the dressing tables and throw them in the furnace, because Rodney Ranous is coming to town.

Rodney is to be leading man with Quigley players and word comes from Chicago, where he has been appearing for some time past, that he has the fudge and chocolate-cream brigade of that city just crazy about him. They say that when he appears at a matinee in a drama full of love and pathos, the entire sob squad of the city turns out. Writing from Chicago of his leading man, Mr. Quigley says: "He stands six feet, two inches and is very handsome; possesses a beautiful speaking voice and all the requirements of a stock actor." Descriptions here must necessarily be more or less superficial but one gives an inkling, at least, of Rodney's charms. There is no telling how many requests for photographs and presents of hand-worked slippers he will receive after the Duluth matinee girls once feast their eyes on him.

But Rodney is not to be the only charming member of the company. For the benefit of the front row brigade, the younger set with the red lemonade supper habit, and male theater-goers in general, it is announced that Miss Marie Nelson, who for the past four years has been playing at the People's theater, Chicago, will be leading woman in Mr. Quigley's company during its engagement at the Lyceum.

The mere fact that she has been engaged does not convey so much to the local mind, but the announcement that Miss Nelson is endowed with no end of class and good looks, adds a great deal.

Of course, Mr. Quigley's opinion may be biased, but at any rate, he says that "she is beyond all question of a doubt, the most beautiful, accomplished and tastefully gowned leading lady in America today. I have not the least doubt that Miss Nelson will create a sensation in Duluth."

Mr. Quigley says his stock company will be the strongest organization of the kind ever brought to Duluth. Among other players who have been engaged are Smith Davies of the College theater, Chicago; Lafayette McKee of the Marlowe Stock company; Farrell McKnight of the College theater, Miss Maude Cleveland, Miss Agnes Bilal, Miss Laura Conway, Miss Julia Williams, Miss Margaret Ellis, William Stanton, John W. Benton, Frank Patton and Mr. Quigley.

Miss Cleveland will play the female character roles and the light juvenile roles will be played by Marcus Hoefs. Frank Patton will have charge of the stage and the plays will be produced under Mr. Quigley's personal direction. O. W. Wegner will be the scenic artist.

The company will open its engagement at the Lyceum June 7, in Julia Marlowe's great success, "When Knighthood Was in Flower." Many successes of recent years, upon which high royalties must be paid, will follow.

NEW TAILORING FIRM OPENS IN DULUTH.

Nelson & Ross, popular priced tailors have opened their new store at 6 East Superior street, with a large and up-to-date assortment of fine suitings, which they aim to make up at reasonable prices. The working force comprises tailors, who have had experience gained in the best shops of the country and the management is said to be in a position in every way to do the best tailoring at the lowest of prices. The firm intends to be a keen competitor of the local tailors and just now is making a specialty of its $18 suitings, which they claim is the equal of the $30 suits made by other tailors.

ALASKA SHIP COMPANY TO HAVE NEW VESSELS.

Seattle, Wash., May 8.—Following the announcement that it has sold the steamer Pennsylvania to the Pacific Mail Steamship company of San Francisco, the Alaska Steamship company of Seattle has given out that it intends to dispose of its present fleet as rapidly as possible and replace the old ships with new large steamers to be used in the Alaska service. Before the end of the year it is planned to let the contract for two, and possibly three, steamers to run from Seattle to connect with the Copper river.

QUARRELS WITH WIFE, THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Hillsboro, N. D., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Returning from Moorhead, Minn., where he is said to have been drinking heavily for three days, Charles Sumby, proprietor of a confectionery store and the keeper of a boarding house there, quarreled with his wife and then went into the parlor of his home and shot himself through the head. The bullet went close to the brain. An operation was performed and he may live.

MUCH WORK TO BE DONE

Street Railway Company Will Spend $300,000 in Improvements.

Lakeside and Woodland Lines Are to Be Reconstructed.

The Duluth Street Railway company will spend about $300,000 this season in reconstructing and extending its trackage in this city, and in otherwise improving its service equipment.

The largest expenditures will be made on the trackage, and work was started yesterday morning reconstructing the Lakeside line, eastward from Twenty-fourth avenue east. Just how far the reconstruction work will be carried on toward Lakeside this year has not yet been definitely settled, in view of the large amount of other improvements planned, but new ties and rails have been distributed as far as Thirtieth avenue east, and it is quite probable that the most of the Lakeside line will be rebuilt before the end of the year.

The company intends to push the work with all possible speed, and crews of men were at work in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth avenue east yesterday and last night.

The old 45-pound 4½-inch rail on the Lakeside line is being replaced as far as Thirtieth avenue east with a 91-pound 7-inch rail. Beyond that point an 80-pound 5-inch rail will be laid. The heavier rail is used on Thirtieth avenue east, because it is expected that Superior street is likely to be paved to that avenue within the next few years, at least during the life of the rails.

As soon as the work is completed on the Lakeside line the company will reconstruct the Woodland line as far as Hunter's Park. It is also planned later to relay the 60-pound rail on one track of the West Third street line from Nineteenth avenue west to Thirty-ninth avenue west. The rail now in use is still in good condition and new rails will not be needed at this time.

Chamberlain's Liniment.

This is a new preparation and a good one. It is especially valuable as a cure for chronic rheumatism and muscular rheumatism, and for the relief from pain which it affords in acute inflammatory rheumatism. Those who have used it have invariably spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Lame back, lame shoulder and stiff neck are due to rheumatism of the muscles, usually brought on by exposure to cold or damp, and are quickly cured by applying this liniment freely and massaging the affected parts. Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, is allayed by this liniment. For sale by all druggists.

MARINE NEWS

THE STRIKE MAY SPREAD

Labor Officials Are Holding a Conference at Buffalo.

Longshoremen and Tugmen May Be Drawn Into Controversy.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 8.—Officials of the striking lake seamen refuse to affirm or deny the report that the conferences here today and tomorrow between officials of the Great Lakes labor organizations presage an extension of the strike against the Lake Carriers' association boats. The men now out include the engineers, firemen, oilers, water tenders, cooks, stewards and seamen.

Victor A. Orlander, general secretary of the Seamen's union and Capt. T. V. O'Conner, grand president of the Longshoremen's association, are scheduled to arrive today. Martin Cole of Duluth, grand president of the Licensed Tugmen, is already here. Neither he nor President Stack of the firemen, would say anything about the meeting of lake labor leaders.

Neither longshoremen nor tugmen would say anything about the meeting of lake labor leaders.

"How about the contracts entered into by the longshoremen and tugmen?" they were asked.

"The tugmen's contracts read that they can refuse to work under police protection. There are policemen on every tug that leaves a dock in this harbor. "That lets them out," said President Stack.

In the event of an extension of the strike, it is said, only Lake Carriers' association boats will be affected. The package freight lines which signed with the marine engineers and hired union seamen will not be molested.

Meet in Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 8.—A meeting of all classes of workmen employed in shipping at this port was held last night to discuss the strike situation. Talks by the leaders of the various organizations were general, and no definite promises were made of a sympathetic movement, but there was a decided tone of friendliness toward the strikers.

The fact that marine engineers and various organizations in the longshoremen's association were represented is regarded as significant, in view of reports that officials of the latter organization, who meet here tomorrow, contemplate an independent move.

Package freight on union steamers is moving freely. The Burlington of the Rutland line sailed with a full cargo and a union crew this afternoon.

Pickets were busy along the water front, and claim to have induced parts of crews to desert from the F. T. Heffelfinger, Capt. Ward Ames and A. E. Cornelius, all Lake Carriers' association boats. Officers of the association say they have men ready to fill the deserters' places.

SEAMEN'S SECRETARY MAKES STATEMENT.

Victor A. Olander, general secretary of the Lake Seamen's union, has authorized the sub-unions to give out the following statement as expressing the present attitude of the union men:

"The strike has started even more satisfactorily than we expected, and I feel confident that we shall win out in the end," he said last night. "The spirit of the men is such that, if needs be, we can keep the strike up indefinitely without receiving any financial aid. We feel that this fight is a struggle of the American sailor against forces which are striving to drag him into a condition of servitude which amounts to serfdom.

"We are perfectly willing to meet the Lake Carriers at any time and at any place for a discussion of the situation. We would like a friendly settlement, but we are determined not to be downtrodden."

DUEL WITH BURGLARS

Police Officer Fires Five Shots at Fleeing Thieves.

They Return the Fire, But No One is Hurt.

Police Officer Tom Forrestal, who has been acting as detective recently, had a pistol duel with two supposed burglars at 1 o'clock this morning at the corner of Second avenue west and Fifth street. No one was hurt, and the men, by taking to their heels, made their escape.

Forrestal saw the two men, each with a large sack over his shoulder, walking along the street. Their actions were suspicious, and he determined to make an investigation. The officer started after them, and they quickened their pace. He ordered them to halt, and they dropped their sacks and started to run.

Forrestal did a little speeding on his own account, and, seeing that they were liable to be overtaken, the men wheeled suddenly and each took a shot at him at a distance of 200 feet, or thereabouts. Then they turned and ran again.

The officer pulled his own gun and emptied all five cartridges at the fleeing figures, but the darkness and the distance prevented an accurate aim, and, so far as is known, none of the bullets took effect. The pair dodged into a side street, and by a lively piece of sprinting and some quick dodging into alleyways, managed to evade their pursuer.

He returned to the sacks and found one was filled with several bolts of cloth, probably taken from a department store or box car, while the other was filled with new socks, evidently taken from the same source. Both sacks were taken to the police station, and are now there awaiting an owner. No one has appeared to claim them.

WOMEN'S WHIST MEET COMES TO CONCLUSION.

Boston, Mass., May 8.—The concluding day of the Women's Whist league's twelfth annual congress, which was opened in Hotel Somerset Monday, began today with the play in the final competition for the new Amsterdam trophies and in open progressive pairs. Pairs who had won top scores while playing together in the evening open progressive games were eligible to contest for this trophy, which was only presented last year, when the first "leg" of the three victories necessary for permanent ownership was won by the Trist club of Philadelphia. A combination team and pair tourney and the last round of the open progressive pairs were played in the afternoon.

SHATTERED NERVES AND WRECKED CAREERS.

There are no other ways of effecting a cure than the natural. Miracles and other wonders belong to the time of Christ. Other than natural methods like Dowieism, etc., always have proven to be fakes.

This was told to a reporter by the most successful of specialists, the Progressive Medical association.

Most of the diseases are caused either by accidents or infections or germs; like typhoid fever, pneumonia, grip, consumption and others. Again other diseases are the natural consequences of faulty metabolism which is to say of faulty internal organs, as the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Spleen and Lungs are brought into a suffering condition by constant faulty eating, drinking and living. This in turn will form poisonous material in the body, which slowly but surely brings on sufferings and early death. Each organ excretes its own poison. If the liver is at fault you will always feel tired; the skin on your face and abdomen is sallow, and your eyes appear yellow. If the Kidneys are suffering you will feel it in your back, your urine is red, and if you leave it stand for twenty-four hours, you will find brickdust or other sedimentary poisonous material, however, stays in the body and in turn causes poisoning of the heart muscles, and by exposing the body to cold temperature a sudden contraction of the blood vessels follows which crystalizes the uric acid most usually between the joints and often in the muscles; these crystals are like fine needles, and are causing the severe pain which every rheumatic sufferer experiences. All these troubles are curable in the hands of specialists. You need not suffer of any chronic diseases, no matter, if you make up your mind and go to the Progressive Medical Specialists; you will find that they will cure you of all chronic diseases, no matter how long you have had them; they can cure you because they have devoted their life and labor to the study of a special class of diseases. Nervous Debility, Brain Fag, Ataxia, Skin Diseases, Paralysis, Stomach Troubles, Bowel Trouble. However, they accept men only and there is no one who can cure them as well as the Specialists. Whatever disease you have and no matter how long, go and consult the Specialists. They will not charge you anything for it. Their offices you will find open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. MUCH WORK TO BE DONE

The Duluth Street Railway company will spend about $300,000 this season in reconstructing and extending its trackage in this city and in otherwise improving its service equipment.

The largest expenditures will be made on the trackage and work was started yesterday morning, resulting the Lakeside line east from Twenty-fourth avenue east. Just how far the reconstruction work will be carried in toward Lakeside this year has not yet been definitely settled, in view of the large amount of other improvements planned, but new ties and rails have been distributed as far as Fifteenth avenue east and it is quite probable that the most of the Lakeside line will be rebuilt before the end of the year.

The company intends to push the work with all possible speed in view of the fact that the Twenty-fourth avenue east line is the only one of the Lakeside lines which is not double tracked at present.

INSPECTING THE DAIRIES

All the Cows Must Be Tested for Tuberculosis.

The annual spring inspection of dairies in the Duluth district will be begun Monday morning by Inspector Luxon of the city health department.

Every dairy selling milk in the city will be visited and a careful inspection made of the premises in regard to cleanliness and the health of cows. If any cases are found where cows which are being milked have not been submitted to the tuberculin test, the owner will be arrested.

The work will begin on the dairies outside the city, and local dairies will be inspected as soon as the inspector is through with the others. The campaign for a pure milk supply in Duluth conducted by Health Commissioner Patton and Inspector Luxon, with the approval of Mayor Haven, has met with remarkable success.

Dairies at present show an improvement of approximately 100 per cent over the same time last year. Many of the milkmen, during the past winter, built ice houses on their premises and stored their own ice, enough to last them through the warm months.

PARENTS DID NOT CONSENT

Miss Lillian Rich, 21 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Rich of 18 West Second street, left home Thursday morning and was married to Arthur Hase, a carpenter, without the knowledge or consent of her parents, who had objected to the young man's attentions.

When nothing was seen of the girl all day Thursday, and she did not appear Thursday night, the family became worried, until the information came that she had married, or was going to marry, Hase. The irate father was so disturbed at this news that, it is said, he would have gone in search of his son-in-law with a gun if he had had any idea where to find him.

It developed later that the couple did not receive a marriage license until yesterday and that Miss Rich had stayed with girl friends the night before Rich's objections to the marriage is understood to have been the fear that Hase could not properly support his wife. He is said to be an industrious young man, however, with wealthy relatives in England.

Principal Foster of the Duluth Industrial high school, and of the Irving grade school, at West Duluth, received a raise in salary from $2,000 to $2,200 last evening, at the May meeting of the board of education.

The matter of introducing a manual training course with a domestic science department in the Irving and Bryant schools was also brought up at the meeting of the school directors. L. A. Barnes spoke in favor of the movement and Capt. D. E. Stevens opposed the idea.

The proposition went through when put to a test vote, and the teaching staff for the courses in the two schools will be named soon. Mr. Stevens opposed its introduction on the grounds that too much money would be expended. He said that a training along those lines could be secured in the home.

The matter of the Smithville school was brought up, and the petition by the citizens of Smithville introduced by L. A. Barnes. The matter was referred to a committee and it is understood that favorable action will be taken and the new building provided.

RATE OPPOSED BY MR. BRISTOW

Senator Attacks the Proposed Increase on Pig Lead.

Washington, May 8.—As soon as the tariff bill was taken up by the senate today and section 180, placing a duty of 2½ cents per pound on pig lead, was read, Senator Bristow arose to oppose the increase from 1½ cents per pound as provided in the house bill, saying the increased rate would make it equal to the rate of the Dingley bill.

Mr. Bristow read from tariff hearings held by the ways and means committee to show that it was there contended that this increase, if made, would necessitate an increase of duties on other ingredients that are used in making paint. He argued that the house had to be judicious in its action.

"It makes no difference what the house did from time to time," said Mr. Aldrich, interrupting. "We are here to do justice to this industry in view of the facts in this case."

He added that Mr. Leishberger, whose testimony Mr. Bristow read, was "trying to break down the whole lead schedule.

"The facts stated by this witness are the important things," interposed Mr. Beveridge, and it makes no difference what his personal views are on the tariff. We are here to know the facts and if Mr. Leishberger's testimony is not true we should know it."

Minneapolis, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—To return home after the three months' absence and find his place as husband occupied by another man was the experience of J. L. Keller, a Canadian Northern conductor, this morning.

He shot and shot to kill.

Keller's family, consisting of a wife and three children, aged 5, 4 and 2, occupied rooms at 1121 Hennepin avenue. Keller secured work on the Canadian Northern, but had not moved his family to Canada.

His return home was unannounced.

He arrived at the home at 10 and on entering his wife's room found H. C. Goodwin there.

The shooting began at once, and later Keller, with his wife, were taken to the Central police station.

Goodwin is married and lives at 10 Fifth street. He is connected with a local amusement enterprise and is about 37, while Keller is 38.

Goodwin's wounds may be fatal.

WANT TITLE SET ASIDE

Hearing on Hansen E. Smith Case Before Special Master.

Former Banker Wants Iron Lands Held for Creditors.

The taking of testimony in the case of Hansen E. Smith against Thomas Merritt and others was commenced in the United States court yesterday afternoon before Judge William D. Edson, by appointment of Judge Morris, special master in the United States court for this case.

The testimony is being taken in support of a petition to have the title to certain mineral lands set aside, and is a part of the proceedings instituted by Mr. Smith.

The proceedings follow in the trial of the failure of the Merchants Bank of West Duluth. The question has already been before the United States court.

The object of the main suit is to have the mining property, alleged to have been purchased with bank funds, declared in trust for the benefit of creditors.

At the hearing yesterday before Judge Edson, the principal witness was David Fairchild, one of the defendants, who was under cross-examination as to his knowledge of the lands, which it is alleged the bank disposed of, and which it is claimed by Mr. Smith should be held for the creditors. Mr. Fairchild testified that the land was within three miles of the Kinney mine which was opened in 1903.

This is the same land that it is claimed was sold to Thomas Merritt for $750, when its real value was in the neighborhood of $75,000.

An injunction is now in effect prohibiting the present alleged owners from disposing of the land or doing anything with it, until the final decision of the court.

The Merchants bank failed in 1904. Since that time five dividends have been paid, amounting in all to 44 per cent. It is stated that the bank's holdings are not yet disposed of and that further dividends will be declared.

The hearing before Judge Edson will take several days. An adjournment was taken late yesterday afternoon until Wednesday morning of next week.

Mercer, Pa., May 8.—Manifesting the same stoical indifference to her fate which has characterized her throughout her trial for the abduction of Willie Whitla, Mrs. James H. Boyle sat immovable as the jury returned the verdict of guilty on the second count of the indictment against her today.

A heavy veil, which she has worn throughout the trial, concealed her features, so that it could not be seen whether her color changed, but there was not a movement of her body to indicate that she so much as heard her doom pronounced.

Her indifference was even more pronounced than it has been during the preceding portions of the trial.

SOME NEW HOMES FOR THE FLAT DWELLERS

Spring is a time when things are supposed to grow rapidly and the theory is exemplified in the fine crop of new flat buildings that Duluth is rearing this season. They are springing up in every part of the city and even in spite of that, there threatens to be a stringency in the market.

With such a demand for apartments the investors who, with the aid of contractors and builders, are planting the flat-seed in this city will realize handsome returns from their crop, and have no cause to regret their action.

To get out of the figurative and into the slang of the day, it is a case with Duluth of: "I like houses, but Oh! You steam-heated flat."

The demand for heated apartments in flat buildings has been increasing many Duluthians are investing their every year, and harking to the call, money in buildings of that nature. The few shown herewith in various stages of completion, form a small portion of the number that are being erected in different sections of the city.

The central part of the city, the East end and the West end alike will have numerous new flat buildings before fall, and in many instances, every apartment in them has been rented before the bricklayers finished their tasks.

Indeed, it is said that workmen employed in building the flats are often annoyed by citizens anxious for information as to the chances of securing quarters in the structures when they are completed. Imagine the busy bricklayer having to pause for ten minutes to tell Mr. and Mrs. Newly-wed that he does not know whether all the flats have been rented or not, and that if they want that information, and how much the apartments will rent for, and whether the heat is to be supplied by a steam plant or a hot water plant, they must see Mr. So-and-so, down town, who is the agent for the building.

That is hardly an exaggeration of what is occurring daily while the builders are at work. New, modern, heated apartments do not go begging in Duluth.

If Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed follow the busy little bricklayer's advice and call upon the realty agent, to inquire about the flats, they will probably learn to their surprise that all the apartments have been rented. And work has not started on the interior of the building yet!

Some fine buildings are going up in the residence districts. Many of them equal the better class of modern flat buildings in the larger cities. The latest conveniences for the flat dweller are incorporated in the plans and the apartments are to be made attractive and comfortable.

With flats in great demand, investment in such property in Duluth would seem very attractive.

CHILDREN BREAK "TAG DAY" BANKS---TAKE MONEY

Angry Mob of Youngsters Demand Pay for Services.

Campaign of Milwaukee Woman in Duluth Ends in Fiasco.

A furious, wildly expostulating, angry mob of urchins this afternoon gathered in various alleys in the vicinity of the Spalding hotel and with greedy hands broke open collection boxes, which had been filled to various stages of fullness by the contributions of the good citizens of Duluth.

The boxes that the urchins broke open with stones and pieces of iron, were the tag day collection boxes, that had been supplied to the small boys and girls by Miss Anna Burnham Fellows of Milwaukee, who came to this city with the avowed purpose of collecting contributions for a blind babies' home in the Wisconsin metropolis.

The blind babies will receive but little of the benefit of the money donated by the Duluth citizens. Most of it will go for candy, tops, baseballs and other things that delight the youthful heart. Dolls, too, will figure in the little pleasantries supplied by the money of the citizens, for there were a few little girls in the mob.

The members of the box-breaking brigade say that Miss Fellows will receive none of the money which they have collected, because she has broken faith with them. Miss Fellows says there was no agreement, and that it is simply a piece of dishonesty on the part of the youthful collectors.

Wanted Pay.

The mob, angry, outspoken, sputtering in wrath, gathered in the baltony parlor of the Spalding hotel and angrily demanded of Miss Fellows, that she fork over the promised pay for collecting of contributions.

And facing the mob behind the long table, that served as a barrier, calmly stood the lady who originated the enterprise.

Miss Fellows repudiates the charges of the assembled urchins. She calmly and with an air of superior wisdom, states that only the grumblers, who have not worked faithfully in the cause, have come to the parlors of the Spalding hotel to demand recompense for their labors upon the streets of Duluth.

Since 10 o'clock this morning the big doors of the Superior entrance of the Spalding have admitted girls and boys, most of them ragged little urchins, who probably have never been inside the big lobby, much less up in the parlors of the hotel before, to the cool presence of Miss Fellows. And when this little army of the poor reached the presence of the lady, there was no doubt that trouble loomed large on the horizon.

The while trouble seems to be over a difference of opinion. Miss Fellows holds to one opinion. Facing her across the long table stood a collective opinion that disagreed widely and in many details with what the lady says she promised the solicitors of funds.

"Volunteers," She Says.

"I have no agreement with these boys and girls. They volunteered for the work and they have been promised no specific amount for what they promised to do," is the statement of Miss Fellows.

The boys and girls who have been working since early this morning, state with one accord that Miss Fellows promised them varying amounts, according to what they collected, and that upon the return of the collection boxes to her, she refused to live up to the verbal agreement.

Miss Fellows claims that those who have demanded that she give them a certain amount of money, are not like the busy bee, in that they have not been out hustling for the money, but rather have hung around the table and grumbled because they did not get some of the money that is pouring into the coffers in the parlor of the hotel.

And in the meantime dirty, grimy little hands are holding tightly to the little collection boxes that contain the pennies, the nickels, dimes, and in some cases, the dollars of the citizens of Duluth.

Detective Called.

Detective Terry vainly tried to pour oil upon the troubled waters. He listened as patiently as a man could be expected to listen to a hundred shrill, childish complaints, and finally started to go to the station with the vast mob of youthful collecors.

The officer got half way down the broad stairs of the Spalding. Then he looked back over his shoulder. There he was, like a good and faithful shepherd leading a meek and lowly flock. His resolution failed him and he retraced his steps up the stairway.

In answer to the queries of the detective, Miss Fellows charged that some of the urchin tagsters had broken open their collection boxes, and, to be colloquial, "gone South" with the change. The police are planning to thoroughly investigate the case.

Walker's Copper Letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial says:

"Copper is in better demand and if anything prices are a shade firmer. Lake is 13 to 13¼ cents and electrolytic 12¾ to 12⅞ cents per pound. The domestic brass and wire manufacturers are buying copper more freely and a number of large lots have passed from producers to consumers. A considerable lot of copper has been bought for July delivery, and some for August. There is a steady increase in consumption in all lines in this country, and the European demand is very satisfactory. The forthcoming report of the Producers' Association is expected to show a further improvement in the statistical position of the metal during April, and the increased volume of business transacted since the first of this month gives basis for the belief that as much or more copper will be sold in May than in any previous month in two years. At the present time the outlook strongly favors an advance in prices in the very near future. There is beginning to be basis for the hope that copper will sell at 15 cents again before the end of the year."

HE WAS SURELY AN ANARCHIST

Letter Written by Man Who Attacked Shippy, Printed.

Chicago, May 8.—All doubt that Jeremiah Averbush, who attempted to assassinate Chief of Police Shippy of Chicago a year ago, but was himself shot by the chief, was an anarchist is apparently swept away by an anarchistic publication in Switzerland, made public here today by Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler. The magazine in which the article appears is called Buntar, and, according to the police, its place of publication varies, owing to the vigilance of the European police.

The article in question, apparently written by the editor of the magazine, declares that the writer knew Averbush in Europe. At the time of this meeting the latter was not an Anarchist, but soon became one. According to the editor, the young man was impatient of talk, and longed for action. The magazine prints the following, which the editor alleges he received from Averbush after the latter's attempt on the life of the Chicago chief of police:

"My dear friend, when you receive this postal I will be either on the gibbet or in jail, as an hour from now on my own risk I'm going to revenge myself on the man who was the cause of shedding the blood of the hungry working men here and in Philadelphia. Shippy gave the first signal to the clubbing and as he was not punished, a lot of Shippies sprang up. When I saw all of that, I came to the conclusion that for such offenses anarchists do not keep silence, and I decided to give the signal. All of them who act like Shippy will suffer the same consequence.

"Dear, do not think that I am going to lose my head. I am going to my death to benefit in the future, believing in the principle, 'spirit of destruction is spirit of erection.' Goodby; I am happy because I believe in myself. Not being in the power to pay the debt to the nation which gave me my education, I give them all I possess. Goodby, forever and ever.

FIND MILLIONS IN THE PALACE

Constantinople, May 8.—Up to the present time $7,590,000 has been found in the treasury boxes of the Imperial palace at Kildiz occupied before his deposition by Abdul Hamid. Two and a half million dollars of this is in cash, while $5,000,000 is in marketable securities, equivalent to cash. Papers were found indicating that Hamid has on deposit in Germany, England, France and the United States upwards of $15,000,000.

The cabinet takes the attitude that all these foreign deposits, as well as the treasury at Kildiz, are the property of the state. Two courses are open to the government respecting these foreign deposits—one is to obtain them through legal process and the other to authorization from Abdul himself. It is not believed that Abdul Hamid will refuse.

TWO AT A GAME

By Mildred Graham.

It all began by the Modern-Apollo falling in love. He had done it fifty times or more, in as many different ways—but he had never before done it in earnest. That was the difference!

The Modern-Apollo was what he called "stunning, don't cher know," and he wore patent leather shoes, and a magnificent beard. The fellows said he was "too deucedly goodlooking" and the girls called him "too sweet for anything." The Modern-Apollo thought them all the most delightfully observing people!

It was late in the season, when the Lovely-woman appeared upon the scene. The Modern-Apollo was becoming weary of his many flirtations. Even looking handsome, and saying: "Aw," was losing it's charm. He was, in fact, quite insufferably bored, and growing too languid even, for love-making! The Lovely-woman dawned upo nhim by gas light, at the ball. She was attractive, and her gown was marvelous! She had curley lashes—and she knew how to use them! The Modern-Apollo secured an introduction and a waltz, and his fate ws sealed.

That was the beginning. She was quite "uncommonly thoroughbred, don't cher know?" and she hung upon his arm, and his words, and used her eyes and her dazzling smile—for the rest of the season!

It was all quite natural to the Modern-Apollo. All the girls did that. He was "so tewibly fascinating, deah boy!"

He had done this same thing twenty times a season. He had done it carelessly, or eagerly, or gayly, or soberly, or passionately, or masterfully—any way to suit the subject—but he had never before done it in earnest!

The Modern-Apollo thought it over one night in his room. He had declined a most select punch party for that purpose! The fellows winked and said he was "hard hit!" They were not sorry. He was "too confoundedly handsome" to be single through any more summer seasons. He provided himself with good cigars and something still more soothing, and put his feet on the mantel and his hands in his pockets. Matrimony, contemplated in this delightful environment, with the vision of the Lovely-woman floating in the smoke wreaths, seemed a state of bliss unalloyed! He put his doubts and fears aside and felt himself fully prepared to take the irrevocable step! (After all, it was not so serious as that!) Of course, it would be "deuced hard on the rest of the pretty dears," but a man couldn't stay single forever because he couldn't marry them all! The Modern-Apollo was reluctant to own how safely he was caught in the snare of the Lovely-woman, but he was caught, none the less! The fellows had been heard to say that he was "hooked" and add that it was the catch of the season, and he was a lucky dog! The Lovely-woman's admirers were legion.

The Modern-Apollo heard, and his resolve strengthened. He pitied the other men sincerely, but they could not all expect to have a glossy beard and a melting glance!

When his mind was made up he became more devoted than ever, and the Lovely-woman seemed to enjoy it. At least she was the gayest of the gay, and always ready for a moonlight row, or a daylight walk or ride, or, best of all, a twilight tete-a-tete. The shadows which a semi-gloom gave to her eyes were simply intoxicating. It took all the Modern-Apollo's long practice and experience not to voice his love, on occasions like this; but he succeeded manfully.

"Bagging the game, too, soon, spoiled the pleasures of the chase." It had been a favorite motto of his, in his sundry love affairs, and he clung to it still.

The Modern-Apollo adored a flirtation! Evidently, so, also, did the Lovely-woman. He indulged himself, thoroughly, and the Lovely-woman did likewise. It was far the most delicious flirtation the Modern-Apollo had ever enjoyed—but the Lovely-woman kept her own counsel as to that!

The season waned, and the Lovely-woman seemed lovelier than ever.

There was a ball at the hotel. There was a crush, or, as the fellows said, a "jam." "Everybody" was elegantly arrayed—the Modern-Apollo in particular. He was wearing a chrysanthemum, and double his usual allowance of hair-dye. The Lovely-woman was clad in radiant-magnificence, and diamonds. She looked more "thoroughbred" than ever.

The Modern-Apollo was in a state of exhilaration.

It was no hard matter to find a secluded nook on a balcony. The Lovely-woman had a fondness for nooks—especially balconies! It was a most approved mixture of moonlight and fragrance and music! The orchestra sounded faint and drowsy from within. The Modern-Apollo grew sentimental. The Lovely-woman was quite willing to be sentimental, too. The Modern-Apollo showed signs of tenderness. The Lovely-woman sighed, pensively and used her lashes. The music was quite melting—and so was she! The orchestra played "Come to Me, Love, in the Gloaming," and the Modern-Apollo murmered that it was appropriate, and—several things.

The Modern-Apollo had done this any number of times, but he had elaborated it to suit the occasion. He had it by heart, and he expected her to be impressed. He began pensively, continued imploringly, dramatically. The Lovely-woman began to look surprised (which was doubtful), and lastly most contrite, and O, so sweetly sorry!

The Modern-Apollo noted the changes. He had done this any number of times, but the "pretty dears" had never developed any such alarming symptoms. From force of habit he passed into tragedy. The Lovely-woman listened coldly, even drew away from him, with a dignified gesture. He grew frightened! He went down upon his knees!

There was a step nearby, and the Lovely-woman sprang up eagerly:

"O, such a mistake!" she cried. "How it could have happened! So sorry!"

Approaching, was a bald-headed man with a military mustache and a distinguished air. She took a step toward this individual.

"What an opportune arrival! Allow me—my husband, the colonel—just came down today."

The Lovley-woman tucked her hand confidingly into the arm of the newcomer. That personage bowed with a condescension that was maddening.

The Modern-Apollo made them a sweeping salute.

"Most happy—pon my word!" said he.

He walked away with dignity, but all too slowly! He heard the distinguished person murmur a question, and the voice of the Lovely-woman floated back harmoniously, as she moved off.

"So glad you rescued me! Thought I was a widow!!! I do believe the idiot was trying to propose!"

The Modern-Apollo sought the ball-room, and offered himself to, and was accepted by five of the "pretty dears" in the next hour!

STORIES OF EARLY DAYS IN THE HISTORY OF DULUTH

Scraggly Settlement in 1869, Mixed Combination of Indian Trading Post, Seaport, Railroad Construction Camp and Gambling Resort—Superior Street a Succession of Hills and Gullies, and Crossing It Was a Dangerous Adventure.

By Fred W. Smith, Now of Cass Lake, Whose Father Was Register of Duluth Land Office in 1869.

I was a boy, just 8 years old, when my father was appointed to a government position, register of the United States land office at Duluth, in 1869. The office had been originally established at Buchannan, a town some eighteen miles down the north shore, and had existed at that place for some years. With the growth of Duluth, Buchanman was abandoned as the official situs of the office, and it was shifted to the Head of the Lake. Of the old town not even a vestige now remains, and but few remember its former existence its site having grown up with brush and trees, which have in turn been cut down and destroyed. When the office was removed to Duluth my father was appointed register, and Col. William H Feller was receiver. We had up to that time lived in a small inland country town, with one store, no saloon and one stage and one boat daily, the latter arriving at more or less regular intervals from Stillwater, and the arrival and departure of which constituted the sole and only occasion of unlimited excitement to the two or three hundred residents. The prospect, therefore, of an early removal to Duluth was welcomed as an event of great joy. My father went to Duluth in the summer of 1869 to assume the duties of his position, leaving the rest of the family to close out and follow in good time. During the summer and fall he built his first residence on the corner of First street and First avenue west, and the following winter we all moved up, driving by sleighs and by easy stages overland over the old government road from St Paul to the Head of the Lake, arriving in Duluth Christmas evening, 1869. The next morning I had my first look at what was to constitute my home for over thirty years, and which I have seen develop from its then seemingly impossibility to its present great actuality.

A Scraggly Settlement.

The haphazard, scraggly and repellant settlement of that time, a mixed combination of Indian trading post, seaport railroad construction camp and gambling resort, altogether wild, rough, uncouth and frontier-like, bore not the remotest resemblance, physically or otherwise, to the magnificent city it now is. Nor did it seem within the range of the wildest imagination that a city could ever be built there. In only one particular did it then forecast its future: it was long, all long and no wide, extending from the old Bay View house, then completed on Fourth avenue west, in a broken interval of buildings to Decker's brewery back on the creek at about Eighth avenue east. Between these two extremes were an irregular, disjointed and unconnected assortment, mostly of cheap frame structures, newly built with all the glare of new boards, fresh paint, tin and tar paper, interspersed now and then with an occasional relic of bygone times, like the old outside dock and warehouse trading post, linking the old fur trading monopoly of the Astors with the blatant commercialism of the future. There were probably 500 or 600 people in the place at that time, many of whom afterwards became wealthy, and whose names will long be remembered in the annals of the city.

A J Sawyer, the future wheat king, occupied a long, low one-story and basement frame building near Third avenue west, with a small stock of fruit, vegetables and other like truck, which he peddled personally with a single horse. He had just graduated from a job as chainman on a surveying gang, and entered upon that commercial career which finally made his name known in all the wheat markets of the world, brought his firm to the position of one of the great grain handling and exporting concerns in the state, with branch houses and elevators throughout the entire wheat belt of the West and the entire pioneer.

The old Clark House was just building, that homely, broad and angular structure that constituted the main structure that constituted the main hostelry and political headquarters of the city until destroyed by fire in 1881. In the next block east, housed in a two-story wooden building, that was quite a marvel of architecture at the time, was the banking house of E. W. Clark & Co., the western representative of Jay Cooke, under the active supervision of George B. Sargent and George C. Stone, both well remembered names. Incidentally this building containing, also, temporarily, the landoffice, Express office and others of like character.

The First Newspaper.

In the second story of the rumshackled, windshaken, two-story frame building near First avenue east, was located the progenitor of Head of the Lake journalism, the "Minnesotian," under the editorial management of that old war horse of Minnesota politics and publishers, Dr. Thomas Foster, and published by a mechanical force of printers, with a mechanical force of printers, pressmen, devil and general utility outfit, all combined in the person of Linn, the pressed Tom Pressnell. It was in this place and in this paper that the name of Duluth received her baptismal designation which was destined to bear in all nations which was destined to bear in all nations which was destined to bear in all nations

ON THE IRON RANGES

UNIDENTIFIED BODY IS FOUND

Deceased Perhaps Victim of Reckless Hunter of Last Fall.

Virginia, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Perhaps a tragedy of last fall's hunting season was uncovered when the unidentified body of a man was found last evening near Camp No. 35 of the Virginia Lumber company, near Moose lake, about seventeen miles north of here, on the Rainy Lake road. The body, which has been brought here, is in a badly decomposed state, indicating it has been exposed to the elements for months. There is a bullet hole just behind the left ear and another near the right eye, indicating a bullet had passed through the head in the direction indicated. In the clothing was a card bearing the name:

NELSON SHIELDS.

There was nothing else to indicate the identity. It remains to be learned whether the name on the card is that of the deceased.

The man was about 60 years of age. No weapon being found near disposes of the theory of suicide, while the character of the clothing would show the deceased was not killed for money. The coroner is working on the case.

VIRGINIA CLUB FOR GOOD ROADS

Will Seek to Establish Better Highways for Nearby Settlers.

Virginia, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Commercial club decided last night to espouse the cause of good roads for the benefit of the farmers in the Bear River district. A committee composed of L. M. Osborn, John Owens and C. C. Butler was appointed to take some action with the county board and Commissioner P. J. Ryan of the Seventh district to secure the repairing of the Tower and Itasca road from Angora about seven miles west, so as to put it in passable condition and make it available for the farmers to haul their produce to the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad.

It was brought out that there are 200 and 300 settlers in the district affected. They have absolutely no means of reaching the market. The Tower and Itasca road is impassable. The Ralph road from Virginia is extended only to section 35-60-20, and an extension of only about five miles is necessary to open that road, which is in good condition, to the farmers to bring their produce to Virginia. Commissioner Ryan has expended $40,000 in the last few years in building a road twenty-eight miles north from Hibbing, and it is good for nothing. There are only two settlers along its entire route. He proposes to expend $12,000 during the coming season on the same road, and after crossing water at five places by bridges, the road will still be useless to the farmers on account of the hilly country over which it passes.

The Commercial club will ask the county commissioners, or Commissioner Ryan individually, to improve the Tower and Itasca road west from Angora, or extend the Ralph road so that it will tap the settlements.

The same committee will gather information on the settlers of the district for presentation to the Canadian Northern Railway company. If it is found ern Railway company. If it is found that the prospects for business are bright enough, it is probable the railway company will institute freight and passenger service on what is known as the Sand Lake branch, now used exclusively for logging purposes.

A committee from the club will go before the city council and ask that ordinances be passed, or if they already exist, they be enforced, prohibiting of packing cases or the delivery of ice or other articles at the front of business places. The object of the club is to prevent the littering up of the streets.

The hotel and opera house committees were continued, and they will work for the providing of the much-desired new hotel, and some sort of theater facilities for Virginia.

COLERAINE'S NEW CHURCH.

Work on Building Is Progressing Quite Satisfactorily.

Coleraine, Minn. May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work is progressing satisfactorily on the new M. E. church here and it is expected that before long it will be ready for occupancy. Owing to the fact that this new society is erecting a large building, which is to be a combination of a church and Y. M. C. A. in a town of about 1,500 people, it is quite an undertaking and the trustees desire to thank the people who have so liberally given of their means to make this building a possibility. The finances are started on the home stretch, and before long funds will be in to complete the entire building. Much credit is due to the activity, enthusiasm and perseverance of the

SUPERVISOR IS NOW IN CHARGE

Ely, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—John S. Blair of Cass Lake has arrived here and has taken the position of supervisor of the Superior national forest reserve.

He relieved Mr. Baird, who has been here for some three weeks getting the work organized. Ely has been selected as headquarters for the forest reserve force, and quarters have been opened in the Fenske building on Sheridan street.

The force will consist of some eight or ten men of forest rangers, each being assigned a definite amount of territory to patrol, in the effort to prevent forest fires, and the preservation of trees that are rapidly replacing the burned-over forests, and also to prevent the destruction of fish and game in the limits of the reserve. Each ranger will build himself a shack and camp outfit at the expense of the service.

The men will blaze out the boundaries of the reserve and learn their territory well in the beginning. It is planned to put the force at the service of homeseekers who are unable to put out any fires that may be started by clearing or by careless hunters. The rangers will receive $900 per annum and the chief ranger $1,200. There will be several men employed as clerks. The office here has just completed several sets of maps for the use of the rangers in learning and charting additional features of their respective ranges.

CONTRACTOR IS DOING VERY WELL

Eveleth, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to Contractor Hendrickson of Duluth, lathing starts today on the new high school, and he expects the plastered walls to be dry some time this month. Mr. Hendrickson has been using quite a force on the building, and is ahead of his schedule. He expects to have the building ready to turn over to the school board about July 10, almost sixty days ahead of the required time. This will allow the school authorities time to have everything ready for the opening of the fall term.

The new building will have considerable more floor area than the old one, though the new building is only two stories high, while the other was three. Two wings on both ends of the building have increased the floor area almost a half.

GAVE GOOD PROGRAM.

Crescent Literary Society Entertains Splendidly.

Eveleth, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crescent Literary society of the high school gave one of the best programs of the year last night at Fayal hall. The first number was a spelling match between two school districts and the teacher giving out the words decided in favor of her district. Percy Pryor gave a recitation which was much applauded. The children of the fourth grade from Miss Miller's room sang a little song which took immensely. David Erickson recited a familiar piece in a new way. A dialogue between the old school-

Simpson that on the statement of facts submitted to him, the board may go ahead, decide to build the new high school, choose a site and build the school without any further consultation with the voters.

What action the board will take is still problematical. The meeting at which the school was authorized was so confused in its proceedings and results that the board members still do not know just where they stand, and they may call another meeting of the district to decide what should be done.

KEEP WALSH IN THE PEN

and Seamen the last week in the month.

It is said that the Walsh failure caused losses to himself, stockholders and others aggregating $15,000,000.

Counsel for Walsh contend in their brief that the liens made by Walsh and his purchases of bonds of his own railroad with the bank's own money, were legitimate transactions, made for the benefit of the bank and without loss to the bank.

"That counsel should seriously make such statement of fact to this court," reeches the government brief, "can be explained only by the necessities of the case. We contend that the following facts were established by the overwhelming weight of the evidence:

"That on Dec. 16, 1905, the Chicago National bank was insolvent and while paying dividends at the rate of 15 per cent annually was not earning them; that the notes made the subject of criminal charges were of a kind absolutely unknown to honest banking; that they were secured by bonds that were unmarketable and of little or no intrinsic value; that they were never paid; that they belonged to a class of transactions that was a chief factor in the destruction of the bank, and in causing a loss to the stockholders of the entire value of their stock; that these loans were made in utter disregard to the interests of the bank for the sole benefit and advantage of Mr. Walsh and his personal enterprises; that the proceeds of these notes were used as alleged in the indictment; that the bond purchases which are the subject of criminal charges were not made in the usual course of business; that these bonds were unmarketable and worthless as bank assets; that they contributed directly to the destruction of the bank and loss to the stockholders."

It is further alleged in the brief that these "pretended loans and bond purchases were of such a fraudulent nature that they created no obligation on the part of the bank to pay over the proceeds to the parties to whom they were actually paid." The brief contends that Mr. Walsh's intention was not, as president of the bank, in good faith to make good loans and investments for the bank, but rather to get the funds of the bank to promote his personal enterprises and to conceal the real nature of his act.

Needed Cash Desperately.

"Mr Walsh," says the brief, "was engaged in the promotion of a large number of struggling enterprises that were in desperate needs of funds. Generally speaking, his mode of procedure was: He would learn of some enterprise that was bankrupt, or about to go into bankruptcy, and he would purchase it at a very low price. He would then organize a corporation and sell the enterprise to this corporation, taking in payment the capital stock of the new corporation, and a sufficient number of bonds which at their face value would more than reimburse him for the price he had paid for the property. If the enterprise was successful, Mr. Walsh made the profit and the bank got its interest on the bonds. If the enterprise should fail, Mr. Walsh lost nothing and the bank lost the amount of the investment.

"When the bank closed, Mr. Walsh had taken about $16,000,000 of their funds for his personal speculation, yet his name appeared nowhere upon the books as debtor or borrower, and the true state of affairs was not discovered until exhaustive examination was made by experts who were put in control of the affairs of the banks by the comptroller of the currency.

"The investigation developed that there was, of course, no market for the bonds which Walsh issued on his struggling enterprises, and that he made a market out of his bank where he placed the bonds at anywhere from 90 to par. In this way Mr. Walsh would raise the money to pay for a property by selling its own bonds."

MRS. BOYLE IS GUILTY

has not been arrested. I am willing to suffer for any crime I may have committed, but there is no evidence that I have been mixed up in this case, and rather than suffer the injustice from the court I will quit this earth and take justice from my maker."

The address of Judge Miller, counsel for Mrs. Boyle, to the jury today occupied an hour. Just before he started he presented to the court eight points of law, which he asked to have submitted to the jury. In substance they were to the effect that a crime can only be punished in the jurisdiction where it is committed, and that in the pending case there has been no testimony to show that Mrs. Boyle had committed any overt act in Mercer county in connection with the abduction of the Whitla boy. Instructions to the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty were asked.

Judge Miller, in his address, pursued the same line of argument as in the instructions asked for. He told the jury if some person should accuse Judge Williams (presiding at this trial) of a murder, they would not believe it unless the case had been investigated and that they were satisfied he had committed the deed. So he said it was with Mrs. Boyle. She had been accused of crime, but he insisted that the commonwealth had produced no evidence in support of the charge. He intimated that powerful influences were being brought to bear to convict the woman, and there were veiled references to the suppression of the efforts of the Boyles to bring into the case the name of a third party. He said:

"I have been associated in the court in various capacities since 1872, and never before did I see so much influence and so much wealth used to corrupt and prejudice the minds of a jury as in this case."

Judge Miller charged that the state built its hope of conviction on the testimony that Mrs. Boyle, while in Sharon, had stated she expected to get some money from her father. Trying to make this statement appear by a subterfuge to explain the evidence of her possession of the ransom money. They have no proof of this," he continued. "They only guess at it, and they ask you as jurors to guess at it too—a guess, and nothing more."

He again insisted no testimony had been produced to connect the woman with a crime in this county, and that she should be returned to Cleveland for trial, adding:

"If any crime was committed by her, it was in Ohio, and this woman, while in Pennsylvania, is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty."

Quincy Adams Gordon followed immediately for the prosecution.

State Completes Testimony.

The state completed its testimony yesterday afternoon. It was mainly the same as that given in the trial of Boyle, but there were additional witnesses summoned to connect Mrs. Boyle with the abduction. One of the Cleveland policemen, who took part in the arrest, testified that she said:

"I am the frail little woman who planned the whole thing."

The finding of the ransom money secreted in her clothing was also testified to. The proprietor of the Granger apartment identified both Boyle and Mrs. Boyle as the couple who rented an apartment from her under the name of Walker. An effort was made to prove her connection with framing up the plot while in Pennsylvania and her remarks that she expected to receive some money soon was brought out.

Throughout the proceedings yesterday there was the apparent desire on the part of Boyle and his wife to bring out the name of another party said to have been connected with the case, and Boyle tried to tell more than he had been asked.

"I want to tell the whole truth about this case now. I want the whole thing cleared up. I was not to blame. The whole blame was on some one else."

Second Only To Murder.

Mr. Gordon declared the crime of kidnapping second only to that of murder and said nothing was too bad for one who would perpetrate such an offense. He denied Judge Miller's statement as to the insufficient evidence and called attention to the testimony of Boyle's mother that Helen Boyle had said she expected to receive some money soon and to the testimony of the policeman who said Mrs. Boyle told him she was "the frail little woman who planned the whole thing." He reviewed the entire testimony and declared that as a whole it resented a clear case against the woman. He was not so insistent in asking for a conviction on the count charging kidnaping as on the second count, that of aiding, abetting and assisting in it He said James Boyle was not smart enough to plan the kidnaping, but that his wife had done it and admitted it. However, he said, "if you are convinced she did not plan the kidnaping in Mercer county, then it is the opinion of the commonwealth and so we tell you now she ought not to be convicted."

At the conclusion of the address a brief recess of court was taken.

Judge Williams charged the jury with the courthouse doors locked so no one could enter or leave the room during the charge. He gave practically all the instructions to the jury offered by the defense. One of the instructions given to the jury reads:

"The jury cannot convict merely on theory. They must consider only the sworn testimony of the witnesses. An alleged conspiracy must show to have been formed in Mercer county and if the testimony does not show this the defendant cannot be convicted of the crime charged."

The court reviewed the testimony, calling especial attention to the fact that the renting of rooms together in Cleveland and the possession of the ransom money in Cleveland does not constitute a crime here. He made it clear that the commission of an act in this county would have to be proven to convict on the charge of kidnaping, and that it must be proven that the abduction was planned in Mercer county before she could be convicted on the second count. The court then gave the case to the jury at 11:40 o'clock and took a recess until 1:30 p. m.

During the day's proceedings Mrs. Boyle's brother, William McDermott of Chicago, sat by her side.

the captain. 'I know her well.' I knew the Shores also and agreed with him. We were then about twelve miles north northeast off Grand Island."

Capt. Geel states that he is positive that the wreckage came from the Shores.

"Two days after we arrived at Portage Lake," continued the mate, "the steamer Gettysburg came in and reported passing a pilot house with the weather canvas about it intact. No name was visible. A day or two later the Gettysburg saw a yawl boat by. The officers of the Gettysburg were unable to tell what vessel they came from.

"We also learned from the David Mills at Portage Lake that she had sighted a cabin house in the same vicinity in which we had seen the other wreckage."

That the vessel was undoubtedly the Shores seems verified by other circumstances. She was known to have been in Whitefish bay, and no word has been received from her for more than a week. She was reported to have passed the Soo April 29, and allowing for all reasonable delays, should have arrived in port several days ago.

The Canadian steamer Glenellah, which arrived at the Soo the first part of the week, reported finding wreckage entangled with her anchor chain in Whitefish bay. The appearance of the wreckage indicated that the vessel had recently sunk.

The fate of the crew is probably sealed with that of the vessel. No trace of them can be found. The scene of the wreck has been carefully gone over and the shores about carefully searched. Now that the identity of the lost vessel is established beyond reasonable doubt renewed efforts will be made to locate her and learn the fate of the crew.

The Shores was in command of Capt. Holmes and E. S. Mott was chief engineer. She was a vessel of 734 gross tonnage and owned by the Manz Transit company of Cleveland.

MATTHEW HAUG DIES OF BLOOD POISONING

MATTHEW HAUG.

Matthew Haug, 71 years of age, a resident of Duluth since 1867, died last night at St. Luke's hospital, of blood poisoning. He had been overseer at the county poor farm for the last seven years.

Mr. Haug was one of the most widely known of Duluth's old settlers. He was born in Germany in 1838, and came to America in 1861. In 1867 he settled in Duluth, and has resided here ever since then.

Until appointed overseer at the poor farm Mr. Haug was engaged in the coal and contracting business. The deceased is survived by a son, Clement, 14 years of age; by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Pape, who has kept house for him at the poor farm since the death of his wife; and by a brother Christ Haug, now in New York, but formerly a Duluth jeweler.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the poor farm, and later in the afternoon from the German Evangelical church, corner of Tenth avenue east and Third street. Pall bearers will be chosen from among members of the Old Settlers' association.

Mr. Haug, in the early days, was quite prominently connected with the growth and development of Duluth. He took an active interest in municipal affairs, and was always willing to lend a hand to help along the best interests of the city.

He was a man who had great faith in the future of Duluth, and from the first was an enthusiastic booster, always ready with glowing predictions as to the great future in store for the city which he had chosen for his home. He was upright and honorable in his business dealings, and won and retained the respect and esteem of his business associates, as well as his customers.

Many improvements have been made at the poor farm since he took hold of the property as overseer. He always has taken a personal interest in the unfortunates placed under his charge, and always did what he could for their comfort and welfare. While insisting upon a strict observance of rules necessary to the operation of such an institution, he was careful never to take advantage of the unfortunates in his charge.

Over 18,000 grateful people have written us unsolicited letters telling how young and well they feel since Hill's Rheumatic Pills have driven away every twinge and ache—loosened up the stiffened joints—given new flexibility to strained and tortured muscles.

What a range of suffering these letters cover—men and women who never expected to walk again—who had been bed-ridden for years, as helpless as babes—whom untold agony had warped and twisted until they were unable to feed or dress themselves—all cured, all free from suffering through the wonderful virtues of the healing roots and herbs combined in this miracle-working remedy.

have been in use for 73 years without a single change in the formula. They are the only remedy we know which really cures Rheumatism without leaving trouble just as bad in its place.

Hill's Rheumatic Pills are purely vegetable. They contain no harmful minerals, such as iodides and salicylates, to upset the digestion or weaken the heart. They cure by aiding nature—gently stimulating kidneys, Liver and Bowels until the poisons which cause Rheumatism are removed from the body. It only takes a short time, and you are free from every ache and pain—and feel years younger as the deadly uric acid poison is dissolved and passed off as nature intended.

I determine to know today what the harmless but wonderful healing herbs and roots were in Hill's Rheumatic Pills that did so for you.

TEST THEM FREE

We realize that there are hundreds of worthless nostrums on the market—that you may have been deceived into trying them and cured no benefit. If so you will show a right to be suspicious. To all such we will give a liberal sized package of Hill's Rheumatic Pills for a letter or postal describing their case. Address the writer to Hedden & Co., 29 Hill Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn. The package will come prepaid. Pay nothing then or at any time. When you feel the aches and pains going and see yourself becoming stronger each day—then you will KNOW and BELIEVE, and will be as anxious to continue the remedy and be cured as we are to relieve your suffering.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

NEW HOMES BEING MADE

Remote Section of Beltrami County Is Being Settled Up.

Many Settlers Are Developing That Section Quite Rapidly.

Bemidji, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The territory around Moose creek is being rapidly settled with a progressive set of farmers who will soon have that section developed into one of the most progressive agricultural and dairying districts of Beltrami county," says J. R. Kolar, who has a fine homestead near the mouth of Moose creek, where that stream flows into the northwestern end of Upper Red Lake.

Mr. Kolar came to the city after an arduous trip to the county seat, in company with Nelson Cole, another farmer of the Moose creek district. Mr. Kolar walked around the shore of Upper Red lake, crossing the Tamarack river at Lyons' place, and continued on to Shotley from the latter place taking up the "trail" to Foy, thence to Battle river, Blackduck river, and completing the "hike" to Redby, on the south shore of lower Red lake, where Mr. Kolar transacted some business in connection with logging accounts, coming on to Bemidji to look after some matters at the county seat.

The trip from Moose creek on to Redby represented a continuous walk of close to forty miles, and Mr. Kolar states that he and his companion covered the entire distance in one day, starting very early in the morning and arriving at Redby late that night.

Many Home Builders There.

Mr. Kolar stated that a number of homesteaders, who made filings at the Cass Lake land office on lands in the Moose Creek country, are already on their claims and are busily engaged in building their homes and preparing for the summer's work. There are many Bohemian settlers in the Moose Creek country, several of whom came from Illinois, being first-class farmers, and of a thrifty disposition—just the kind of people needed to develop a new country and hew out homes in the timber country.

One of the conditions which is something of a drawback is the difficulty experienced in getting into and out of the Moose Creek settlement. A bridge is needed across the Tamarack river, so that those desiring to go towards Keillher can do so, without the necessity of using a ferry and paying toll.

A possible relief is in prospect, through the rumored extension of the Keillher branch of the Minnesota & International railway northward, a few miles east of the eastern end of Upper Red lake, from Keillher to Spooner and Baudette. This road would give a splendid outlet for the settlers and farmers all along the country intervening. At this season of the year a trip from the Moose Creek country necessitates an arduous trip afoot, for the most part, but later in the season the M. R. L. & M. railway operates a boat from Redby to Shotley with occasional trips to Moose Creek, but the expense attached to the latter journey is rather high.

TRAMMER HAS CHARMED LIFE

Drops Whole Level in Quincy, Buried Under Rocks, Still Lives.

Houghton, Mich., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pitching headlong into the rock chute leading from the sixty-third to the sixty-fourth level of No. 7 shaft of the Quincy, an Italian trammer rolled the distance of 100 feet to the bottom and was then buried under tons of rock, which had been dumped into the chute before others learned of the accident.

It was impossible to relieve the trammer from his terrible prison from above, and to rescue him it became necessary to shovel a way to him from below. When reached he was still conscious, but his head, shoulders and arms were a mass of bruises and cuts, and he was covered with blood.

The injured man was carried to the surface and removed in the Quincy ambulance to St. Joseph's hospital. A fracture of the left arm and of the inferior maxillary are the chief injuries and there is no need of fear for his recovery, unless there should be found a contusion of the brain. The injuries were exceedingly painful, however, and the trammer was moaning piteously when brought to the surface.

Fortunately for the injured man the chute has an easy incline, and one may walk up its sides by gaining a foothold. Had it been more nearly perpendicular the Italian probably would have been killed or badly malmed by the fall.

PROTECTION FOR THE CREAMERIES

Madison, Wis., May 8.—Assemblyman Merlin Hull of Black River Falls is anxious to protect the dairy interests of Wisconsin, and with this end in view is working hard for the passage of his bill, which prohibits unfair discriminations between different sections of the state.

According to Assemblyman Hull the creamery centralizers are driving the co-operative creameries out of business and thereby ruining the industry. By paying a trifle more for the milk and cream, these concerns succeed in getting the product of the farmers surrounding local creameries. The milk and cream is shipped to some central factory and, because they are unable to compete with the temporary high price, the local concerns are driven out. Later the price is lowered, with the result that the farmers, not getting what their product is worth, abandon it and direct their energies to some other line.

The author of the bill claims that it is the Standard Oil trick over and over, and has worked to the detriment of the people of Nebraska, Texas, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota. The two latter states have this year passed a law similar to the one proposed in this state.

With its 1,300 creameries, Wisconsin can ill afford to give the centralizing industries any encouragement, and it is felt that, with the amendment, the bill will be acted upon favorably.

WOMEN'S CLUBS ENDING MEETING

Successful Gathering of Sixth District Clubs at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the Federated Women's clubs of the Sixth district, which have been in session here since Thursday, will end today, the morning session being devoted to winding up the business and the election of officers.

Yesterday forenoon was devoted mainly to reports of a routine order, the only literary feature on the program being a paper on "The Renaissance and Revival of Learning," by Mrs. W. P. Dyer of Alexandria. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Bessie C. Perry of Wadena read a paper on "The Immigrant Influence of Germany." Miss Clara Baldwin, secretary of the state public library commission, read a paper on library work, and Mrs. Martin Mollitor of St. Cloud spoke on "Forestry." Mrs. W. S. Stone of Park Rapids told of "The Balanced Woman," Miss Colvin, president of the state Nurses' association, was down for a talk on nursing, and Miss Marion Lewis of Sauk Center read a paper entitled "What We Owe Society." Last evening Clifford Wilkins, baritone, and Miss Alice O'Connell, reader, both of Minneapolis, and Miss Beare, pianist, and Mrs. Nellie Benjamin, accompanist, both of Brainerd, gave a musical recital which was well attended and well enjoyed.

GOOD BUSINESS HAD LAST YEAR

1908 Best Year in History of N. D. Children's Home Society.

Fargo, N. D., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last year was the best in the history of the Children's Home Society of North Dakota, according to the showing made by Supt. Hall at the annual meeting of the board of directors held yesterday at the receiving home here.

Of the thirty members of the board of directors the terms of ten expired yesterday morning, and these were all re-elected with the exception of Mrs. Laura De Weese of Grand Forks, whose place was filled by the election of Mrs. F. E. Welsey. Robert Jones of Fargo, whose place was filled by Herbert L. Loomis. Both Mrs. De Weese and Mr. Jones have left the state. Dean H. L. Burleson, also will leave, asked not to be re-elected and his place was filled by Rev. F. J. Hibbar dof Langdon.

The other members whose terms expired at this time and who were re-elected are Mrs. T. R. Sloane, C. R. Meredith, E. J. Welser and Dr. L. G. Dillon of Fargo; Mrs. T. H. Cousins, Carrington; Rev. Moultrie, Valley City, and Grant Hager, St. Thomas.

Following the filling of vacancies the board reorganized for the ensuing year with the following officers:

President, E. J. Welser; first vice president, J. F. Treat; second vice president, C. R. Meredith; third vice president, R. B. Griffiths, Grand Forks; secretary, H. Amerland; treasurer, S. Lyon. The executive committee consists of the above named officers and Mrs. F. E. Grant.

F. D. Hall was re-elected superintendent of the home for his eighth consecutive term.

Miss Josephine Tennyson was re-elected district superintendent and Miss Gertrude Allen was again elected matron of the home.

MIDDLE RIVER CREAMERY.

Prosperous Institution in the Marshal County Town.

Middle River, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The creamery at this place has flattering prospects for a largely increased business the coming summer. Buttermaker Berggren recently made a trip to Randen, twenty-five miles east of here, where he worked up a skimming station, by means of which, on May 15, eighteen new patrons will commence sending their cream to the creamery. The cream will be sent in regularly twice a week, a man and team having been employed to do the transporting. In anticipation of this, and the increased receipts from nearer by contiguous territory, the creamery board has added another large receiving vat to the creamery's equipment.

PLANNING CELEBRATION OF LAKE ERIE BATTLE.

Madison Wis., May 8.—The senate adopted a joint resolution authorizing the governor to appoint a commission of five members to co-operate with representatives of other states on the Great Lakes on plans for the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie, in which Commodore Alfred Hazard Perry won a victory which resulted in the territory of Wisconsin being attached to the United States. The celebration is to be held at Put-in-Bay in 1913.

The Wisconsin commissioners are to report to the governor before the legislative session in 1911, when provisions can be made for the participation of Wisconsin in the celebration.

William H. Reinhart, Sandusky, Ohio, president of the Perry's victory and international peace centennial commission, was present when the senate adopted the resolution.

McKENZIE SEES PRESIDENT HILL

Head of Canadian Northern and Great Northern Magnate Confer.

St. Paul, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Mackenzie and D. D. Mann, president, vice president and joint owners of the Canadian Northern, owners of various electric lines in Cuba and Mexico, and probably the wealthiest railroad men in the world, were in St. Paul yesterday.

The two railroad kings held a long conference with President L. W. Hill of the Great Northern and were later entertained at the Minnesota club by local railroad men. They refused to talk for publication, and President Hill declined to divulge the object of their visit here.

It is understood that they were discussing traffic affairs and relations with the Great Northern officials, as that road is their United States connecting line. The Canadian Northern is now building an independent line through to the Pacific coast, in competition with the government subsidized Grand Trunk Pacific.

J. J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern's board of directors, arrived in St. Paul Thursday and was also in conference with the Canadian railway officials.

Mr. Hill refused to talk for publication, saying that he has nothing new to tell the public.

SELECTS PARK RAPIDS.

Illinois Banker Pleased With Place as Summer Resort.

Park Rapids, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. R. B. Van Cleave, president of the Lincoln Bank of Springfield, Ill., has been here looking over the situation for a summer outing. He visited Cass Lake, Bemidji and other outing places. He finally selected Park Rapids, and rented the residence of Mrs. Heditch for the summer.

Mr. Van Cleave has made Lake Millonia, near Alexandria, his summer home for twenty years, and had concluded to change and get into newer country and better fishing. He found just the conditions he wished here as Park Rapids has about the best fishing and outing propositions in Northern Minnesota. The lakes have never been fished out and little or no explicit ing of advantages has ever been made, so that the lakes are practically virgin places, filled with the choicest fish.

He came to Ada with his family in 1882. Mr. Cragin was prominent in local affairs and served as mayor of Ada three times.

BIG ROAD EXPENDITURES.

About $200,000 to Be Disbursed on Highways in Polk County.

Crookston, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The present season will witness the greatest expenditures for road and bridge building in the history of Polk county. The board of county commissioners have just approved the construction of a large number of county bridges, and have designated as a county road the highway leading from Fisher to Huntsville, and the grade paralleling the Great Northern from Mallory to East Grand Forks. This will result in an ideal automobile route from Crookston to Grand Forks.

In addition to this, the townships have appropriated liberal road and bridge funds, and a total of over $200,000 will be expended in road building in this county the coming summer outside of the private roads that will be built, such as the road from Crookston to Euclin, which was constructed under the auspices of the Commercial club of Crookston two years ago.

HOME IS BURNED; EVERYTHING LOST.

Mankato, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Braman on the southwest quarter of section 12 in Alliance township, near Baker, was entirely destroyed by fire. Mr. and Mrs. Braman were awakened by the smoke at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, and at that time the fire was well under way. So swiftly did the blaze work its way through the building that Mr. and Mrs. Braman had time only to scantily clothe themselves before being driven out. Nothing was saved from the house, but fortunately the flames did not communicate to the adjoining buildings.

Best Spring Tonic

Doctors of all Schools Agree That the Best Tonic-Stimulant to Build Up the System, Run Down and Weakened by the Long Strain of Winter, and to Drive Out Spring Fever and Malaria is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

As a tonic and stimulant it is the greatest strength-giver known to science. It destroys disease germs and by its building and healing properties restores tissues in a gradual healthy natural manner. It is a wonderful specific in the treatment and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grippe, bronchitis, coughs, colds, malaria, low fevers, stomach troubles, and all wasting, weakened diseased conditions, if taken in time.

We take the liberty of publishing a few of the thousands of letters received from leading doctors extolling the merits of this great Spring tonic and invigorator.

Effective Stimulant

In a recent letter A. J. Park, A. M., M. D., of 520 E. 50th St., Chicago, Ill., wrote: "I am too busy to write my opinion, experience and results of the administration of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to weak, feeble and debilitated patients, but I will repeat emphatically and pointedly, my confidence in the purity and remedial excellence of your Malt Whiskey. It is a first-class and most effective stimulant, and meets every indication where a stimulant is needed."

Prescribes It

K. M. Teigan, Ph. D., M. D., of 1120-26th Ave. N., Minneapolis, Minn., wrote in a recent letter: "During the last nineteen years I have frequently, when alcoholic stimulants have been indicated, prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for my patients because it agrees with them better than any other. Without solicitation from you, or any of your representatives, permit me to say that I consider Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey the purest and very best product on the market."

Only Pure Whiskey

"I have received the sample of Malt Whiskey and believe it to be the only pure whiskey I have so sampled for many years. I have been a victim of indigestion for 20 years, and find that I have received more benefit from Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey than all the other medicine I have ever taken. I have taken a teaspoonful after each meal, for eighteen days, and I can scarcely find language to express the relief I have found while I have been taking it." D. Bodtfield, M. D., 297 Archwood Ave., Cleveland, O.

Has No Equal

Recently O. L. Woomsey, M. D., of 29 Austin St., Worcester, Mass., wrote: "A stimulant is frequently required in the practice of every physician, in the treatment of patients with weakened constitutions, nervous troubles, during convalescence, etc.

In Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, I am of the opinion that you have an absolutely pure article that, for uniformity and effectiveness has no equal. I believe it is used more generally by physicians than any other similar preparation."

Find It Absolutely Pure

"It is only when I consider it necessary that I prescribe stimulants for my patients. I then order Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey which from experience, I think is absolutely pure." J. Priestman, M. D., 2401 Vernon Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Prescribed It For Years

"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my practice for years, in cases requiring a gentle and effective tonic-stimulant, and the results, in every instance have been so gratifying and uniform that I have no hesitation in stating that as a medicinal whiskey, I consider Duffy's in a class by itself and worthy of all the claims made for it by thousands of brother physicians, who, like myself, feel that no harm is done the profession to commend where commendation is due. You assuredly deserve great credit for having maintained such a high standard for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, for so many years and for making it possible to obtain an absolutely pure medicinal whiskey at such a comparatively small expense." L. O. Morasse, M. D., Woonsocket, R. I.

If you wish to keep young, strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions. It tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the entire system. It is recognized as the world's leading medicine everywhere.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold in sealed bottles only—never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark the "Old Chemist" on the label and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price $1.00. Write Medical Department, Duffy Pure Malt Whisky Co., Rochester, N. Sunkist Oranges for Health

SOX BLANK THE CANUCKS

Make Clean Getaway in First Game on Home Grounds.

A good start for the White Sox.

While those facetious young men from the Arctic league did not give the home heavers very much opportunity to show what they can really do, for the simple reason that the members of the home brigade never extended themselves, yet the game gave the rooters a line upon the way the members of the team can handle themselves, and the majority of fans, who journeyed out to the park, went home satisfied with the makeup of the team.

There wasn't much opportunity to size up the fielding and ground-covering ability of the Duluth outfield, those timid Regina bastmen were about as effective before the cold weather shoots of Marlon, as a Carrie Nation temperance talk would be at a German picnic.

They seldom made anything that resembled a hit, so seldom in fact that Second Baseman Kohler of the visitors was the only man that got his name in the "H" column.

The Sox infield worked nicely and bore out the many nice things that have been said about the first defense of the gallant Sox. Capt. Darby O'Brien is a clean, snappy fielder, with little time between the moment the ball hits his hands, and the moment when it is speeding on its way to kill a runner. The captain didn't have a bubble yesterday, though his section of the field was as muddy as the Congo in high tide time.

Breen at third had three chances, Kuhl at short only one, and McCrone at first only four putouts and no assists. It was a soft day for the first line of defense, but everything that came their way they handled with as much precision as an expert yeggman handles his nitroglycerin.

McKenzie, behind the bat, performed well. Only once he held the ball until the base runner was over half way down the path to second base. Then he decided he would peg. He made a good throw, but not little chance to get the thief. He might cultivate a habit of keeping his optics upon the movements of the men on the bags.

As for Marlon, he had more things than a pitcher has any right to have on a cold and rheumatic day. Most pitchers would have contented themselves with lofting low, straight ones over, especially when he was opposed by a bunch of hitters as spineless as the wagon tongue handlers who make up the Regina team.

However, Marlon warmed to his work and shot some nice, deceiving benders overs the corners of the pan. He appeared, from yesterday's short session, to know the value of working the corners of the plate, and on two or three occasions had the opposing batters dodging back from strikes that swung gracefully over the outside angle of the plate.

Though the weather and the opposition team both combined to mar the game, and there has as yet been no real opportunity to get a true line upon the caliber of the Sox they showed to advantage in yesterday's little sketch.

The batsmen seem to meet the ball, and they are also lively upon the paths. Judgment of the Sox so far is good. They are there with loads of energy, and they seem to be up on their toes all the time.

A man named Hooker essayed to pitch for the Regina light comedians. Hooker should have the object that the first four letters of his name stand for applied to him with considerable energy and determination. He had nothing yesterday but a pitcher's mitt and a disconsolate countenance. He was yanked before the termination of the five fearful innings. He appeared about as helpless as a football player at a higher mathematical examination.

All times the members of the Regina team found the ball about as hard to handle and keep track of as a rube does the little green pea under the shifting shell. It was a comedy of errors, as far as the playing of the Regina bunch went.

Added interest is being shown upon all sides in the big jiu jitsu match that will be held at the Temple Roller rink Thursday evening. Many inquiries have been sent to this column regarding the match, the conditions of jiu jitsu style of attack and self-defense.

One must understand that jiu jitsu is a combination of the most scientific points of both boxing and jiu jitsu expert uses his wrestling. A jiu jitsu expert uses his hands to block and to secure counter holds, much as an expert pugilist uses his closed fists to strike an opponent, or his open glove in guarding a blow. When in fight, Capt. McLaglan was seen in action with the gloves, and the big jiu jitsu expert proved to be a speedy boxer, who could travel around the ring with a speed that would make some of the dub heavyweights look as though they had weights anchored to their feet. He explained that a jiu jitsu man is continually feinting, stepping in and out, and constantly parrying attempts of an opponent to secure effective holds.

In jiu jitsu there is no limit set for the contest. It is always to a finish. Sometimes an opponent is so game that he is rendered very groggy before he will signal his defeat by tapping three times upon the carpet of the ring with his disengaged foot or hand. That is the signal of defeat, and until an opponent so gives the signal, he can be subjected to any nerve-numbing hold.

Biting and gouging of an opponent's eyes and hitting with the fists are barred. The rules of jiu jitsu are primary rules of self-defense. For that reason a jiu jitsu struggler must be constantly upon the alert for a kick from his opponent's bare feet.

The jiu jitsu expert has guards for a kick from his opponent, just as an expert boxer has a guard for the blows of an opponent.

In one of his matches upon the Pacific coast, Capt. McLaglen met a negro heavyweight. The rules of the match provided that the captain could use all the arts of his athletic specialty, while under the same agreement the heavyweight fighter could rudely chuck the jiu jitsu fighter upon the jaw.

At the call of time the heavyweight tore at the jiu jitsu expert. Did he hit him? Not so that any one in the audience noticed it. The captain promptly and with malice and forethought, kicked the negro in the stomach. The big negro took the count, and took it quick, too.

The captain in telling about the incident, explained that a jiu jitsu expert, in the first place would be guarded against such a move, and in the second place, the muscles of the stomach of a jiu jitsu fighter are developed to such an extent that a kick seldom makes a man cry quits.

The match of Thursday night promises to be one of the most interesting cards ever staged at the Head of the Lakes. Capt. McLaglen is out of the usual order of men engaged in professional athletics. He is a captain in the English army, is an educated man, and a man who can and delights to talk upon other subjects than athletics.

Last night this column commented outspokenly upon the lack of spirit that was apparent among the candidates for the junior eight. How well that criticism is deserved was shown last evening. Five men who have been training with the crew failed to put in an appearance. Their excuse is probably that there was rain falling at the hour when the men go out upon the water, and also that the air was slightly cold.

Despite the list of absentees, the best workout of the season was enjoyed. By combining the members of the bantam four with the few candidates for the eight who have the interests of the crew sufficient at heart to brave a little discomfort for the general good of the cause, a patched eight was got together. With Dr. Lumm in the boat, the best spin of the season was the result.

The two eights, the juniors and seniors, rowed alongside of each other for two brief stretches. Two crews can't row alongside of each other without each crew trying to pull away from the other. The result of the two encounters was the hardest rowing of the year.

St. Paul, Minn., May 8.—"Sheriff W. J. Bates of St. Louis county has been called upon to account to Governor Johnson for permitting a prize fight in Duluth on Tuesday night. Warning was sent some time ago that no prize fights must be permitted, and on the newspaper reports of Tuesday night's fight, a telegram was sent to the sheriff by Frank A. Day, acting in the absence of Governor Johnson, asking if any steps were taken to prevent the fight, and if any effort had been made to arrest the participants."

That wasn't any honest to goodness fight, unless he refers to the Gunther-Whitehead bout in Superior. If any one ever really called the principals of Tuesday night's affair fighters, they could be arrested for slander. The gentlemen are not fighters. The affair of Tuesday was simply a delsarte debate, governed by the parliamentary rules laid down by the late Marquis of Queensbury. None of the principals were up in parliamentary rules, 'tis true, but the affair came about as near a prize fight as an Italian with a clogged accordion resembles the Thomas orchestra at a Beethoven recital. The affair would have been a fitting finale to the peace conference in Chicago. Anybody who saw it would never call it a prize fight.

Baseball is with us at last. J. Pluvius, rowdy and butter-in that he is, felt called upon to interrupt the game of yesterday. Maybe he felt sorry for the ludicrous efforts of the Regina players. Until Canada develops a better brand of ball than that displayed yesterday, it is probable that the United States will never consent to reciprocity.

From the Evening Telegraph, Philadelphia:

"Duluth, Minn., May 5.—George Gunther of Philadelphia and Walter Whitehead, a Duluth pugilist, fought fifteen rounds to a draw last night."

Poor old Superior can't break into the limelight, even when it succeeds in pulling off a real prize fight. The Associated Press office over there closes at 5 in the afternoon, when the village retires peacefully to its evening siesta. Then, too, it is hard to explain to eager questioners just where Superior is located. They have been trying all these years themselves to find just where they are at.

On Sunday, May 9, will occur what ought to be one of the greatest events in American sporting history. It will be the meeting of Melvin W. Sheppard, the world's greatest middle distance runner, and Harry Hillman, an athlete who has often disputed Sheppard's supremacy upon the cinder path. They meet in a 600-yard race, which is a favorite distance of Hillman's. The race should be one worth going miles to see. James J. Jeffries will start the runners.

AUTO NEWS OF THE WEEK

Legal Decision in Ohio May Interest Local Owners.

Several New Cars Purchased in City During Past Week.

A point of law that may interest automobile owners has just been decided by the United States district court for the northern district of Ohio. It applies to the shipment of automobile tags by the state to the several cities where licenses are ordered. As the case will be appealed to the supreme court, it is worth nothing.

Both the Adams Express company and the Wells-Fargo Express company had declined to accept packages offered by the automobile registration department of the secretary of state's office. These packages contained in some cases as many as a dozen automobile tags. They were consigned to automobile clubs in Cincinnati and Cleveland for delivery through these clubs to members, owners of automobiles.

Under the rules of the express companies these were "bulk" packages and refused. The companies insisted that each set of tags should comprise a separate shipment and declared that unless they were so put up they would no longer handle the state's business.

The Ford Motor company is evidently not satisfied with the rules for the ocean-to-ocean auto contest. The test is one of speed endurance and the general sticking qualities of the different makes of machines entered. The Ford people have issued the following triple challenge:

"First. A challenge open to any and all automobile manufacturers to a contest from New York to Seattle, according to route and rules originally announced for the ocean-to-ocean contest.

"Second. A challenge to any entrants in the contest, according to revised rules, to start with Ford cars at New York, the Ford cars to wait at St. Louis and to start on schedule from there, from St. Louis all cars to follow rules and route of the contest.

"Third. A challenge open to acceptance by any outsider who, while not a manufacturer or possibly even an owner, does not believe in Ford cars, considers them too light, too cheap, etc., to prove his sincerity by backing the field against the Ford. Same terms as in second challenge.

"Any sum of money that acceptants may suggest as a suitable purse for the foregoing proposed contest will be accepted by the Ford Motor company."

TWO MORE GAMES WITH REGINA

Sox Will Also Play Postponed Game With Fitwells.

The second local game between the Duluth and Regina ball teams is being played at Athletic park this afternoon. The third and last of the series will be pulled off tomorrow afternoon. Following the big game Sunday, the Spaldings of Duluth and Timcos of Superior will get together, making two games for the price of one admission ticket.

Monday afternoon the game between the Duluth league team and the Fitwells, postponed from Thursday, on account of rain will be played. This contest is looked forward to with considerable interest, in view of claims that have been made by adherents of the Fitwells. There is also much interest in the Superior-Duluth game tomorrow, thanks to the old sporting rivalry between the two cities.

Tuesday the Duluth leaguers will rest at home, and Wednesday they will open the league season in a game with Eau Claire, Wis., at the latter town, playing a series there.

OPENING OF THE SEASON

Central Gun Club Holds First Regular Shoot Sunday.

The regular season trophy shoots of the Duluth Central Gun club, on the Sixty-third avenue west grounds, will begin tomorrow afternoon. There have been several practice shoots this spring, but tomorrow's events will be the first of the regular summer shoots.

Two trophies are to be shot for, and there will be three cash prizes of $10, one for each class, A, B and C. The Dupont trophy will be shot for under the handicap system, and the Ballistite trophy will be shot for under the same system. These standing high-ers at the end of the series will be awarded the trophies and cash prizes in their perticular classes.

Everything is in good shape at the club grounds, and the members are showing a lively interest in shooting. It is expected that there will be a good attendance tomorrow, provided the weather is favorable.

WALTER J. TRAVIS HAD A CLOSE SHAVE.

Garden City, N. Y., May 8.—Walter J. Travis, former national and interna-tional champion, narrowly escaped de-feat yesterday afternoon in the an-nual tournament of the Garden City Golf club at the hands of R. C. Watson of New York, a member at Garden City and secretary of the United States Golf association. The only thing that saved Travis was the styme which laid his competitor on the home hole. It was a full styme, resulting in a half so an extra hole was necessary. On the nineteenth Watson lost by flubbing his second into the great sand pit, where he got, only to lose the second hole because Travis was well up toward the cup on the second. Travis led Watson all the way out, but at the eleventh the match was squared, and again at the fifteenth.

In the other match of the first di-vision, Albert Seckel of Princeton beat Arden M. Robins of St. Andrews, 1 up, after having Robins 3 down three times. Clever putting enabled Seckel to sneak through over his veteran adversary.

The final will be between Travis and Seckel.

KNOWS NOTHING OF THE FIGHT

Tony Caponi's Manager Says He Is Not Matched With Langford.

Cal Harris, the Chicago sportsman, who handles Tony Caponi and other well-known boxers and wrestlers, is wrathy because several newspaper stories have gone out regarding a fight between Tony Caponi and Ket-chell to be held soon at Calumet for a purse of $5,000.

In a letter written to the sporting editor of The Herald he says that there is nothing to the stories so far as he knows, but says also that if the people in this part of the country are sincere in their wish to see these two fighters, the mix can be arranged on very short notice.

THERE MAY BE NO LOCAL MEET

High School Boys Up Against It for Suit-able Grounds.

There may be no high school meet in Duluth this spring because there is no place to pull off the events. The old driving park grounds are all torn up and this was the only place in the city suitable for holding the meet.

It will be the first time in many years that the high school boys have not had a meet. They will, however, keep on with their training and a team will go to Minneapolis to take part in the state high school meet be-ing arranged for by Dick Grant of the state university.

This afternoon on London road a number of the running events will be run off and the winners will be a part of the team to make the trip to the Mill City the latter part of the present month. The weight-throwing, jumping, hurdling and discus throwing will be held on the Mendenhall field and the winners will also be a part of the team.

Coach Helstand says that he has a wealth of good material for a winning track team and promises that Duluth shall be will represented at the meet

WISCONSIN AND CHICAGO MEET

Madison, Wis., May 8.—The Univer-sity of Chicago and the University of Wisconsin formally opened the outdoor western intercollegiate track season with a dual meet here today. Neither university has appeared in a duel this season, although both sent mile relay teams to the University of Pennsyl-vania games at Philadelphia two weeks ago.

A large number of men have entered for the competition on both teams. Sev-eral of the stars who tonight it out for the conference championship at Chi-cago last June are missing from teams, and this left the outcome of the meet largely a matter of conjecture until the events were practically completed.

Coach Stagg and the Chicago team arrived on an early morning train and the visitors appeared to be in excellent condition.

The mile run between Comstock of Chicago and Dolmen of Wisconsin is regarded as the feature of the meet.

Both Confident.

Princeton, N. J., May 8.—Both Yale and Princeton appear confident of win-ning the annual track meet today. In-dications are that it will be one of the most closely contested events in years. The only occasion when Yale and Princeton were apparently so equally matched was two years ago, when Yale won out by 54 to 50. Princeton is strong in the dashes and runs, but weak in the field events.

SPALDINGS TO MEET TEMCOS

Semi-Professionals to Get Together After Duluth-Regina Game.

There will be two baseball games at Athletic park Sunday afternoon. After the White Sox-Regina game the Spald-ings will line up against the Temcos of Superior.

The Spaldings were to have played at Moose Lake Sunday, but at the last minutes the arrangements slipped and the game was up in the air. The Tem-co manager was after a game, and Manager Lavell of the Spaldings was quick to accommodate him.

The Temcos are considered one of the fastest of the semi-professional teams of the city accross the bay, and a good game should result.

Next Sunday the Spaldings will wander down to Cloquet and endeavor to teach the boys from the lumber town something about the national game.

Manager Lavell has a strong schedule framed up, and from this time on the Spaldings will be busy each week. Games have been arranged with Iron-wood, Cloquet, Iron River, the Gophers of St. Paul and a number of other fast nines.

WELSH GETS DECISION.

Wins From Johnny Frayne in Fast Ten-Round Bout.

New York, May 8.—Freddie Welsh, English lightweight, defeated Johnny Frayne of California, in a fast ten-round bout last night.

Neither man was able to hit very hard, and while both were clever, the English visiter, who appeared for the first time in New York last night, was the master-hand at every stage of the mill.

Frayne did a lot of roughing, but he always got the worst of the argu-ments at short range. Welsh landed so frequently that had his blows been backed by even moderate power, a knockout might have been placed to his credit. None of the blows of the Cal-ifornian were heavy enough to leave a mark on the Briton.

JAPAN BARS BETS ON HORSE RACES

Tokio, May 8.—A tremendous effort has been made by the race track ele-ment in Japan to induce the govern-ment to retract and permit betting up-on the tracks, but Marquis Katsura, the premier, has stood firm and for another year at least the race tracks of the empire will be without their favorite pari-mutuel or any other form of betting.

This means in Japan practically an end to horse racing and necessarily a very heavy loss to the stockholders in the various race tracks.

The development in Japan was ex-tremely rapid. From a single course established at Yokohama by for-eigners, at least half a dozen tracks were in full swing when the blow fell and gambling was prohibited. So flagrant were the cases of fraud and ex numerous the examples of ruin brought about by reckless betting that the government suddenly put its foot down upon the whole thing.

HIGH SCHOOL MEET.

Wisconsin and Illinois Track Teams Are at Beloit.

Beloit, Wis., May 8.—Track teams and their supporters from over a score of high schools of Wisconsin and Illi-nois are here today for the Beloit col-lege interscholastic. The day is fair and warm and the track in fine condi-tion. This morning fifteen schools have speakers in the interscholastic decla-mation contest. The schools entered in the track meet are: North division and University high, Chicago; Oak Park, Hinsdale, East Aurora, West Aurora, Dekalb, Geneva, McHenry, Ro-chell, Rockford, Lagrange, Woodstock, Madison, Waupun, Evansville, Wis.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Lewis Strang in Accident at Bir-mingham Auto Races.

Birmingham, Ala., May 8.—Within 100 feet of where Emile Stricker, his partner, was dashed to death in a 24-hour race last fall, Lewis Strang yes-terday afternoon narrowly escaped a fatal accident. It occurred in the fif-ty-second mile of the 100-mile auto event, and when Strang had the race well in hand. Just as he rounded the curve, where Stricker was killed last fall, the rim of the right front wheel came off, hurling the machine into the fence.

Tilford Cowell of Montgomery, in a Chalmers-Detroit, was awarded the 10-mile event at the conclusion of the fifty-fifth mile. Cowell also won the Birmigham district championship over Scully in a Stanley steamer. The 17-year-old lad drove several wonderful miles.

Track Meet at Purdue.

Lafayette, Ind., May 8.—Stuart Field will be the source of an athletic carni-val this afternoon when the Purdue and Illinois varsity and freshmen track teams compete in a dual meet. The varsity meet is conceded to the Illinois, but the freshman meet promises to be hotly contested. More than 100 ath-letes will take part.

Ball Passes for Preachers.

Portland, Or., May 8.—"For some time I have been thinking about it, and I have last decided I will give to each minister in Portland a season pass to the baseball games." is the announce-ment of Judge W. W. McCreedie, owner of the Portland teams in the Pacific coast and Northwest leagues.

"I believe they would enjoy going to the games, and are entitled to passes. If they care for them I am going to have them issued."

BAT AND PACKEY FAR FROM AN AGREEMENT

New York, May 8.—Bat Nelson and Packey McFarland are as far from a meeting as they ever were. The Dane is not anxious for any of the stock yards boy's game and deliberately backed out of a match after signing articles without giving a single good reason for doing so. The only infer-ence that can be drawn from Nelson's peculiar tactics is that he is a bit afraid of Packey, although he would be the favorite were he to fight.

Nelson glibly announces he will take on Cyclone Johnny Thompson July 5 in San Francisco, and Packey in Sep-tember, in all of which he is reckoning without his host, James Coffroth owns the club which has the signed articles of Bat and Packey for a bout on July 5. Nelson seems to think he can run this club to suit his own purposes, but Coff-roth has a different idea. He has an-nounced that Nelson must keep his word.

Johnny Thompson is anxious to fight Bat, but he would prefer the September date with the winner of the July 5 bout. Such an agreement would be more profitable for Johnny, although July 5 will be eagerly accepted if the Dane and the coast promoters can get together.

Thompson's manager, Larney Lich-tenstein, had a jawing match with the Dane recently and says arrangements are up to Coffroth, as Thompson had signed with him.

Nelson was the fall guy for three degrees in the Delmar lodge of the Knights of Pythias recently. Nelson was all in during the second degree and nearly took the count. When the ceremonies were all over Nelson was breathing hard. It was the hardest battle the great fighter had ever been asked to face and he was glad when it was all over.

Nelson is going to San Francisco, where he will start training for his battle with Dick Hyland. After he finishes with Hyland, Nelson says he will keep in shape for his ninety-nine-round battle with Johnny Thompson on July 5. Bat is determined to give the Cyclone first call over Packey.

Memsic Whips Picato.

Los Angeles, May 8.—George Memsic won on a hair-breadth decision over Frank Picato here last night in a 10-round bout at 123 pounds. Memsic fought like a tiger through the first part of each round and then slowed down, while Picato rallied only once.

Devlin and Goodman Fight.

Memphis, Tenn., May 8.—Tommy Devlin of Philadelphia and Danny Goodman of Chicago, fought eight rounds to a draw here last night. The fighting was slow and neither man suffered much punishment.

College Baseball.

Minneapolis—Nebraska, 0; Minne-sota, 0. (Called at the end of fifth. Rain.)

Fort Smith—University of Arkansas, 2; University of Texas, 3.

Saints Sell Flood.

St. Paul, May 8.—Tim Flood, second baseman, anl last year manager of the St. Paul Baseball club, was today sold by Manager Kelly to the Little Rock club of the Southern league. Flood left for Little Rock last night.

AT THE LYCEUM

RICHARD CARLE COMING FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY IN "MARY'S LAMB"—A MELODRAMA AND THE FIGHT PICTURES WILL FILL OUT THE WEEK.

"I am often asked the question, 'Where do you get all the nonsense you put into your musical comedies?'" said Richard Carle, the long and loose-jointed comedian who is to appear at the Lyceum next Saturday, May 15, as the hen-pecked hero of his musical frivolity, "Mary's Lamb."

"Where do I get my ideas?" he repeated. "Well, I can get some even out of Darwin. You know, it is only a step from the sublime to the ridiculous, from the serious to the frivolous. For instance, you take Darwin. Did any man ever live who took life more seriously? In his own serious way he observed the odd conceits of men and animals and set them down in his serious manner. Now, if you have an eye for the ridiculous, you can read Darwin and merely by a trick twist the serious into the laughable. Animals are jokers, and you can get the ideas from a dog. Nobody can look at a dachshund without smiling, and to me a French poodle is a born joke."

And Mr. Carle smiled as he spoke.

"Dickens is a never-failing inspiration," he continued. "No man that ever wrote the English language created so many types as Dickens. Why not use him for inspiration?

"I read the Bible sometimes to get at the value of words. I never realized the strength and beauty of that word 'acquainted' until I was reading the sacred book one day and came across this passage: 'He was a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.'

"I always carry a copy or two of poems with me, for one must read verses if he expects to write lyrics. One of my favorite collections of verse is 'Lyra Elegantiarum.' In that are some of the quaintest, smartest and most snuggable verses in the English tongue. I have learned some queer ways of rhyming from that book.

"But that's the more serious part of my work." Mr. Carle went on. "I study every sort of 'character' I meet, and go out of my way to meet them. You can't get much of a variety of types in the fashionable restaurant or in what is generally known as 'society.' In fact, there's twice as much 'character' in a cabman as there is in a clubman.

"So I mix—mix with all sorts and conditions of people. I have attended meetings of coachmen and railroad brakemen, gone into sweatshops, carried on lengthy conversations with bellhops, spent an evening in a Salvation Army lodging house. Those are the places where you get character in the rough.

"Of course, it's all off if the people I visit get an inkling that I am a comedian, or am there to study them. Then they try to be funny, and it takes a trained man to be funny when he's trying.

"Then you'd be surprised at the suggestions I get from people. I have a lot of friends and acquaintances all over the country, and, of course, they are always seeing some odd character or hearing some good story. Many of them take the trouble to write me, or they hunt me up and tell me about these things. If I get something I can use out of say every twenty letters, or out of twenty stories, there is so much gained when it comes to working out a new plot or some new dialogue.

"Here," and he picked up a notebook that lay on his dressing table, "are notes on three characters that are going into my next musical comedy. I know what the characters are to be and also have bits of dialogue for each. In my trunk I've got a dozen songs, some of them ten years old. They're all good songs, too, but up to this time they never have seemed to fit into any of my plays. But maybe they'll just fit a situation in the next piece, so in they'll go.

"I've done with forced writing," the comedian went on. "For one of my plays I did so much work every day, arising at an appointed hour and working until another appointed hour. When the piece was produced it lacked all semblance of spontaneity. Now, I wait for inspiration. Whenever it is possible I have a piano in my room. I always keep fussing around the keys. Sometimes it will be days and weeks before any tune worth setting down occurs to me. Then, all at once, something will suggest itself and before I'm even aware of it, I've got a fine song written. Sometimes I write the music first, sometimes the lyric. The 'Lemon' song in 'The Spring Chicken,' came to me as a sort of inspiration one day between rehearsals. I had had the words for three weeks, but couldn't seem to fit music to them until this particular day. Then the music just seemed to ripple out of the piano. That inspiration was worth many thousands of dollars to me, for the 'Lemon' song proved to be the biggest seller of all my music. In the same unconventional way I wrote 'I Fell in Love With Dolly;' the biggest seller from 'The Maid and the Mummy.'

"But, after all," said Mr. Carle, "the lines that get the biggest laughs come to me on the stage. I can always feel in a certain stage situation that there is a laugh coming for just the right line. I throw myself heart and soul into the scene and say just what I'd say in real life if such a situation should arise. Sometimes I put in a dozen different lines before the right one is found. The audience has to be the judge. When the people out there in the theater laugh at a line, the line is good. The people know; we on the stage only think we know."

"Is it harder to be a comedian than to be a tragedian?" Mr. Carle was asked.

"I don't know," he replied. "I never tried to be a tragedian. There's enough in trying to be a comedian."

"THE RIGHT OF WAY."

Klaw & Erlanger Production of Sir Gilbert Parker's Famous Novel.

One of the most important theatrical productions of the season, Klaw & Erlanger's own presentation of "The Right of Way" will be seen here on May 17, 18 and 19. This play comes fresh from a successful tour of the East and the South, where it was everywhere received with enthusiasm. It will be given here with the original cast seen in New York last season.

"The Right of Way" is a dramatization by Eugene W. Presbrey of Sir Gilbert Parker's most successful novel. It tells a story of Canadian life and introduces a number of characters that are in a way new to the American stage. Its scenes are laid in Montreal, at a low river men's saloon a few miles outside of the city, in a cabin on the lonely Vandrome mountains on the outskirts of a far away country village and, the last act, in the "Valley of Cooling Springs," a beautiful wooded glade in the mountains.

The play follows closely Sir Gilbert's novel, departing from it only at the end. It tells the story of Charley Steele, the brilliant, but cynical and unbelieving Montreal lawyer, who finds regeneration and peace through the power of a great love. The first act is laid in Steele's office in Montreal, the minute being immediately after Steele has brilliantly defended a French-Canadian "habitant" from a charge of murder and secured his acquittal. In this act Steele is shown as the cynic and the questioner, on his lips the constant "who knows?" He is a drunkard, a man selfish above all things, a man without a heart, and without a soul. The discovery that his wife does not love him, but still loves the man from whom Steele won her, and the further discovery that his brother-in-law has stolen funds entrusted to Steele, decides him to leave the old life and, if he lives at all, continue his existence at some distant place.

In the second act Steele, against the advice of his friends and the "habitant" murdered, Joe Portugais, visits the Cote Dorion, a low river men's tavern, to converse with La Belle Suzon, the barmaid, the only woman he has ever found who can answer his questions. While there he is attacked by the river men, whose religion he has insulted, and is left for dead. But he is rescued by the now devoted Portugais, and in the third act is found in Joe's mountain cabin. The blow on the head at the Cote Dorion has robbed him of all memory, and for three years he has lived in the mountains without recollection of the past. He has found work there, and he has found love, and he is perfectly happy and contented. But bits of his past life having been revealed to him, he determines to submit to an operation by a famous French surgeon who is visiting in the mountains. The operation is successful and memory returns. And with memory comes remorse and misery that almost drives Steele mad. In spite of the great love he has for Rosalie, he feels that he cannot marry her, for he has a wife living. He is about to leave her and renounce the happiness and peace he has long wished for when—and in this the play differs from the novel—many of the bars are removed and the conclusion is not hopeless.

In this powerful play Klaw & Erlanger present Guy Standing and Theodore Roberts in the roles of Charley Steele and Joe Portugais, in which these sterling actors do the greatest work of their careers, and in which they are this season repeating their last season's success. The supporting company is one of the strongest on the road and the scenic embellishment is of an unusually elaborate order.

MME. NAZIMOVA COMING.

Famous Russian Actress Will Appear in Duluth in June.

Announcement is made by the Shuberts that Madame Nazimova, their famous Russian star, who is now on a trip to the coast, will be seen in this city in June. Nazimova's success in Ibsen and the intellectual drama has been sensational, and there is great interest in her coming. She will bring her New York company and Bijou theater productions.

"JUST A WOMAN'S WAY."

A Lincoln Carter "Thriller" Coming for One Night Only.

Lincoln J. Carter's production of S. W. Pascoe's melodrama of real life entitled "Just a Woman's Way," will be seen at the Lyceum on next Monday night only. The play deals with a theme that is daring and delicate in conception, but is handled with a candor and naturalness that has won for it popular approval wherever it has been produced. The great central issue of national life and depicts with startling, yet attractive candor the trials and tribulations resulting from unfaithfulness to the marriage vows. Mr. Carter has probably never given to any of his many successful plays a more adequate scenic production, nor a better balanced cast than he has provided for the production of "Just A Woman's Way."

The Fight Pictures.

An attraction a little out of the ordinary will be presented at the Lyceum next Tuesday to Friday nights, of the moving pictures of the Burns-Johnson fight, taken at Sydney in December, and which have just arrived in this country, under the management of Hugh D. McIntosh, who was the promoter of the fight and its referee.

This listic encounter between Tommy Burns, the game little Canadian, and Jack Johnson, the gigantic negro from Galveston, which decided the heavyweight championship of the world in favor of the latter, was of special interest to the public at large and sporting men in particular, and the pictures, said to be the most perfect of their kind ever made, have attracted widespread attention wherever they have been shown.

Mr. McIntosh, who is in America in the hope of arranging a match between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson, brought the pictures from Australia himself, and it is under his direction that they are being exhibited. An expert lecturer accompanies the films, explains the various events of interest which are shown in the preliminaries and in the fight proper. There are a number of scenes which show the gathering of the crowds at the Stadium, which were larger than any similar event in history, some 40,000 people being turned away; the training quarters of the two men, and the entire fourteen rounds of the fight up to the time that the superintendent of police interfered to save Burns from further punishment.

The pictures were taken in the open air at 11 o'clock in the morning of a bright day, and the smallest detail can be easily seen, as though the spectator were actually present at the fight, 7,000 miles away. The entertainment, with the lecture covers the usual time allotted to a play at the theater, and is an attraction that is strictly first-class and well calculated to please ladies who are interested in boxing, but unable or unwilling to attend a contest in the prize ring.

THE COWGIRLS,
In "Mary's Lamb."

"The Incubus" is from the pen of Eugene Brieux, one of the French academicians. It was translated and presented at a special matinee at the Hackett by Laurence Irving, son of the late Sir Henry, assisted by his wife, Mabel Hackney. The two have been playing a popular tabloid version of "Louis XI" in vaudeville for some time, and arranged a production for two special matinees this week just to try it on an American audience, for I believe it has been presented in London.

The experiment was worth trying, and I shall be greatly mistaken if New York does not register its approval within the prescribed limits of two performances afford a chance for expression. And the reason people enjoyed it was because it gave them a chance to see a serious problem dealt with in a laughable manner. It is another of those simple little plays which catch the popular taste, as "The Climax" did.

In "The Incubus" Mr. Irving takes the role of a gray-haired, sedate, but only middle-aged, professor who is conducting a menage a deux with a shrewish but very piquant young woman named Charlotte. They quarrel daily; their bickerings keep the neighbors in a stew. She tyrannizes him like a Russian corporal and tantalizes him in a thousand ways. He is a henpecked husband, indeed, without being married. Remember, we are seeing the comedy through French spectacles. They have tried to break the bonds; they have tried in vain. Both would rejoice if circumstances separated them, and such a circumstance arises when the professor discovers that Charlotte has been visited during his absence by a boyhood friend of his youth, one Brochot, a veterinarian, and the neighbors believe that something is wrong between the two. Then comes the usual daily quarrel, mutual protestations of indifference and temper, and Charlotte picks up her things, takes her dog and leaves Pierre to rejoice in his recovered liberty.

And poor Pierre is indeed happy to be rid of his incubus, when Charlotte stages a sensational coup especially to work on his sentiments. She casts herself into the river after writing notes to all her friends, giving the exact time and place of her heroic farewell plunge, and waiting an extra hour to see if her solemn death notices would bring her friends to her rescue, though the fact is that these good friends mistook the hour of three for five and gave themselves too much latitude. But a brave old boatman was to hand with a hook. He fished Charlotte out of the water, handed her over to her friends, who took her back to Pierre's lodgings and—well, the force of habit is greater than any sense of injury or anything else. Pierre once more bends his back to the scourge of his Xantippe and is even rejoiced that she is with him again.

The object of the comedy is to illustrate that habit rules us completely, and that even when we may escape an irksome and oppressive fate it will draw us down into the vortex with an irresistible fatality. It was delightfully played by the two principals and their support, and Miss Hackney was so clever as Charlotte that she left an indelible impression behind.

The critics did not mince words in expressing their opinions of "The Writing on the Wall," and they were anything but complimentary either to the author, William J. Hurlbut, or to Miss Nethersole. The play was found too melancholy and the actress too artificial in her first memorable attempt to portray a virtuous matron. The plot deals with the slum tenements of Trinity church in general terms and concretely with the case of Irving Lawrence, who battens on rents derived from letting out death traps and ramshackle dwellings to the poor of Houston street. His wife Barbara, who is a good woman and mother, appeals to him to have new fire escapes put in place on these sunless houses, and he promises to do so. But secretly he gives orders to have the old ones repainted, and evades the law by bribing the inspector. The upshot of it all is that his own child, attending a Christmas tree festivity in the slums, is lost in a fire. Its whole piece is pervaded with a funebrial sense of tragedy, and the author piles one agony on top of another before he comes to an inconclusive and unsatisfactory end, a sort of reconciliation between husband and wife after the former has been shown to be an unconditional rascal, untrue to Barbara and to all mankind. The problem was treated with little evidence of originality in the introduction of incidents, and Miss Nethersole was unnecessarily heavy. The piece is in four acts and there is but one scene, that of Lawrence's library. Here and there it has some effective touches, and the arraignment of Trinity as a tenement landlord was vigorous and did not miss its effect on the audience. The house seemed to be in sympathy with the author on this subject.

Elsie Janis, in "The Fair Co-Ed," was moved to the Criterion in order to make room for "The Candy Shop," a make room for "The Candy Shop," a summer musical comedy, which opened at the Knickerbocker for an indefinite run. In the cast are Charles Rock, Maud Fulton, Marie Dresser and Charles Dillon. As a summer attraction it is likely to prove popular.

and as it was made to appear in last week's letter. The play, which, as will be remembered, is by Edward Locke, and scored an astonishing hit at a matinee at Weber's, was produced at Daly's, and will remain there until further notice. This change was decided on when Roy McCardell's farce of New York Bohemianism, "The Gay Life," after only a week's trial, proved so disappointing that Harrison Grey Fiske concluded to withdraw it. So, instead of "The Climax," Cook and Johnson, the colored comedians, were put into the Majestic. Locke's little quartet drama—there are but four characters in the cast—was well received at Daly's.

Some wild rumors of a rapprochement between David Belasco and Klaw & Erlanger helped to enliven an otherwise dull week in theatrical circles. Marked curiosity was aroused by the announcement that Blanche Bates would appear throughout the Northwest at an early date in houses controlled by the syndicate, and that, in order to bridge over the long-pending feud between the rival managerial factions, a happy expedient had been found in nominally giving Frederick Belasco of San Francisco, brother of the well known impresario of that name, the management of Miss Bates. While on the surface this looked plausible, in view of the fact that no denials were made by either side, Frederick Belasco told just what it all meant.

"The report is entirely misleading, so far as this arrangement is concerned," said he. "It is perfectly true that Miss Bates is to appear under my direction in theaters, usually described as syndicate houses, but the whole

AT THE BIJOU

THREE-THOUSAND DOLLAR MYSTERY WILL BE THE BIG FEATURE FOR NEXT WEEK—OTHER CLEVER VAUDEVILLE ATTRACTIONS ON THE BILL. :-: :-:

Patrons of the Bijou during the coming week, commencing Monday afternoon, will have a chance to see for the first time the great mystery illusion, "The Bridal Chamber," which is put on by the greatest of all illusionists, Albini, the Great.

Mr. Albini is considered the topliner of all magicians and illusionists, and his performance on this tour is by far the most pretentious he has ever attempted, either in Europe or America. The act is entirely new. His stage settings are gorgeous, and it is said the act cost $3,000 to produce. Albini acknowledges that with all the mysteries he has produced in the past, never has he given such a novelty as this season. Those who see this man of mysteries will see the same act of illusions that was presented by him at the Hippodrome, New York, for three consecutive weeks. His newest illusion, called "The Bridal Chamber," is considered his masterpiece, and must be seen to be believed. Albini will change the greater portion of his act nightly.

A big comedy feature for the week will be Earl Gillihan and Will Murray, better known as the emperors of black face comedy. Their act consists of some clean-cut comedy, good singing and some tanglefoot dancing.

Mabel Carew and company will introduce their original idea of vaudeville hits. Miss Carew is one of vaudeville's daintiest comediennes and will sing a number of her original character songs. She is assisted by Lucien Kesney, who is a pianist of exceptional ability. A very good act will be presented by Miss Bessie Allen, a dainty and pretty miss, whose catchy songs and expert dancing are always a big hit wherever she appears.

One of the few comedy sketches that has been a big success in vaudeville this season is presented by Mac M. Barnes, Louise Reming and company. It is called "Mrs. Potters First," and is written by Charles J. Bell. This act is one of the funniest sketches that has ever been played at the Bijou, and is what is termed a sure fire hit, and a laugh from start to finish.

Harry Webb, who made his first appearance in Duluth last week, and whose sweet singing made a big hit, will sing one of his latest successes this week, entitled "Nearing Home," a beautiful ballad, illustrated with colored views. Mr. Webb has an exceptional range, and a technique that shows most careful training.

The motion pictures will all be new and exclusive subjects. Matinees are given daily at 2:45, and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may reserved by either 'phone. A special school children matinee will be given Saturday, at 2:30, and performances Sunday afternoon and night.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

PRAISE AWARDED TO LAWRENCE IRVING'S NEW PLAY—SEVERE CRITICISM OF OLGA NETHERSOLE AND "THE WRITING ON THE WALL."

NEW YORK, May 8.—It is a relief to go to the playhouses and come face to face with the work of a playwright who does not take himself so mortally serious. Our younger dramatists have developed a remarkable fever for problems. Eight out of ten pieces that are not musical comedies are burdened with a message to the world, usually from the pens of melancholy young men who are tired of life before they have begun to live, and who write as though they feared their message would come too late. This is the sort of play Olga Nethersole gave us at the Savoy in "The Writing on the Wall," by William J. Hurlbut, and because Edward Locke was wise enough not to take himself too seriously "The Climax" was gladly accepted by the poor, tired

Duluth will be a mecca for promoters of dramatic entertainment Monday, when the annual convention of the Northwestern Theater Managers' association will be held in this city.

Representatives from theaters throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan will be in attendance to discuss plans for next season and talk over the affairs of the Northwestern circuit. Officers will also be elected.

Charles A. Marshall, manager of the Lyceum theater in this city, is president of the association, and he will preside at the sessions Monday. P. B. Haber of Fond du Lac, Wis., is secretary and treasurer of the organization, and W. J. Power is the attorney.

Represented in the association are the big theaters in all the principal towns in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, as well as several in Minnesota, and the circuit represents a theatrical field of no mean importance.

It is understood that most of the thirty or more managers who are members of the association, are planning to be present at the conferences Monday and the convention promises to be the most successful in the history of the organization.

Beside those already mentioned, the managers who will probably attend are Charles Tackacs, manager of theaters at Appleton and Neenah, Wis.; R. H. Wilson of Beloit, Wis.; P. M. Peterson of Escanaba, Mich.; Ray Kerredge of Hancock, Mich.; J. W. Power of Hibbing, Minn.; A. J. Rundle of Iron Mountain, Mich.; W. L. Pierce of Ironwood, Mich.; Edward J. Butler of Ishpeming, Mich.; J. G. Rhode of Kenosha, Wis.; P. J. Myers of Janesville, Wis.; M. Heinman of Madison, Wis.; Hancock brothers of Manistique, Mich.; William Steinle of Marinette, Wis.; A. WILL BUILD IN DULUTH Orpheum Circuit Will Have Vaudeville House in This City.

Manager of Circuit Arrives in Duluth and Confirms Report.

"We are of the opinion that an Orpheum will be appreciated by the people of Duluth, and that such a theater will pay in this city," said Martin Beck, general manager of the Orpheum company, at the Spalding last night.

"We have long had our eyes upon Duluth as a prospective field for an Orpheum theater. The field has been looked over before and we have found that Duluth is a good theater town, when the right sort of attractions are offered. It will be the ambition of the Orpheum company to bring to Duluth the very highest class of vaudeville acts that are playing before the American public.

"The extent of the Orpheum circuit not only enables us to secure the best talent in the country, but also enables us to give any one of our houses different acts from the opening of the season in August until its close, late in the spring. Because of the many houses upon the circuit, we are able to offer any one signing with us, work for fifty weeks of vaudeville. In this manner we are further enabled to get the very best acts in American and European vaudeville, as well as some of the stars of the legitimate.

"Duluth is ready for an Orpheum. Good vaudeville will pay in this city. The city is large enough and the people appreciative enough to patronize the best in the vaudeville line. That we will give Duluth the best at our disposal, goes without saying.

"The Duluth Orpheum will be one of the finest houses upon the circuit. All of the latest houses of the Orpheum have been built upon an artistic design, typifying the best architecture and adding to the beauty of any city. Duluth will have a theater building just as good as St. Paul and Minneapolis. In every way it will be up to the standard of the other Orpheum buildings over the circuit."

Mr. Beck admitted that there was a vaudeville war on at the present time. The Shuberts have placed vaudeville in the new Miles theater of Minneapolis. This vaudeville will run during the present summer. Mr. Beck, however, has no fear that the entry into the vaudeville field of the Shuberts will have any effect upon the Orpheum circuit. He says that circuit is the strongest circuit in this country, having a string of houses that extends from San Francisco to the border of Canada.

The Orpheum people are yearly adding to their circuit, according to Mr. Beck, and when the present plans are carried through there will be new houses in Winnipeg and in some of the further Western American cities, as well as in this city.

Mr. Beck does not know definitely at the present time just when the Duluth Orpheum will be opened. It is believed that it will be some time in the fall, providing the contracts and the leases of the ground for the building are signed in the immediate future.

He refused to say just where the new theater would be located, but it is rumored that the old Temple theater may be reconstructed for the purpose, and Mr. Beck is known to have looked over the building yesterday.

Mr. Beck was accompanied by G. E. Raymond, resident manager of the Minneapolis Orpheum, and Richard Ratherson, superintendent of construction for the Orpheum circuit. They arrived yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Beck left last evening for Minneapolis. Mr. Raymond and Mr. Ratherson remained in Duluth, and Mr. Beck is expected to return in a few days to close the contracts and leases.

BULLET'S STRANGE TRIP.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 8.—Traveling from her head to her foot in fourteen years, a bullet shot into Miss Elizabeth Farragher's head did no harm. Physicians called to the Farragher home at No. 1098 Clara street to inspect an ailing instep found the bullet in Miss Farragher's foot.

Miss Farragher was shot in the head in a Fourth of July celebration fourteen years ago, a bullet from a foreigner's revolver, a thirty-two, penetrating so far it could not be removed. An operation is to be performed to remove the bullet. Physicians are puzzled that the bullet in its travels did not cause even slight pain till it reached the foot.

MONEY IN HER CLOTHES.

Sum of $6,771 Found on Woman Placed Under Arrest.

Philadelphia, May 8.—That Mrs. Bridget Hughes has a horror of being caught short of change appeared when $6,771.14 in gold notes and coin were found in her clothing when she was searched in police station.

Two policemen had to hold her while the matron made the search.

Mrs. Hughes is 70 years old and owns a number of houses. She called on her real estate agent and broke up some of the furniture because he refused to pay the rents to her. He had her arrested and explained that he pays over the rents to the woman's husband because Mrs. Hughes is partially demented.

LAWN HOSE USED

By Irate Women to Drive Away Telephone Linemen.

Detroit, Mich., May 8.—Lawn hose is being used by women at Muskegon Heights as an effective weapon to prevent telephone linemen from demolishing shade trees.

Since the storms of last week, which leveled the telephone company's wires for several blocks on Beck street, the construction gang, which has been at work putting in new poles and replacing the wires, has hacked and cut down trees wherever the wires were interfered with.

Object to Strong Medicines.

Many people object to taking the strong medicines usually prescribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in any case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than one out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is only necessary to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely to get quick relief. Try it. For sale by all druggists.

matter will appear clear when I explain that I have never had any difficulty with the booking powers of the syndicate, and that I have booked other attractions in the same theaters in which I intend to present Miss Bates. Before the earthquake destroyed my San Francisco theater I always had two or three companies on the road, independent of my stock companies at Frisco and Los Angeles. I starred Florence Roberts for seven and White Whittlesey for three years over this circuit. That was before the great earthquake. Well, the plain truth is, the earthquake damaged me considerably. I have built a new theater and I wanted an attraction to help pay for it. I thought of Miss Bates, who is a California girl and a great favorite throughout the Northwest, and appealed to my brother. No one else could have made the arrangement, which was altogether a brotherly act, as any one must concede. So I shall present Miss Bates exactly under the same circumstances as I presented Miss Roberts. Of course, Miss Bates is not to pass permanently under my control. My contract calls for fourteen weeks only, during which I shall be her manager. This is during a season when she would be idle, anyway, or, at least, be idle most of the time. At the end of fourteen weeks she returns to my brother and resumes her regular tour under his direction, which was long ago booked for her in the theaters where she has always appeared."

It is understood that Mrs. Leslie Carter has been engaged at a large salary to appear for four weeks in a repertory of her plays at Delmar Garden, St. Louis, during the summer, thus following the example of Amelia Bingham and Virginia Harned, except that the latter two appeared at a rival garden, the Suburban. Both received $1,000 a week for a term of five weeks. Mrs. Carter's salary is said to be largely in excess of this figure.

This week the Broadway theater was turned over to Felix Isman, its new lessee, who inaugurated his reign with Lew Fields in charge of the local management and William Faversham in "The World and His Wife" as the attraction for this week only.

Globe, Ariz., May 8.—Excellent progress is being made by the principal companies which are developing the Miami district, and good results from exploratory work are reported almost daily. The Live Oak tunnel continues in good concentrating ore, which is improving wuth further distance. The tunnel is now in about 745 feet, the last few hundred feet being in ore, and indications point to the development of an ore body that will equal if not surpass the remarkable deposit discovered on Miami ground, which is adjacent to Live Oak.

Since the Live Oak development company has taken over the property, on what has been considered very favorable terms, a considerable amount of exploration has been accomplished. Under the supervision of General Manager M. McCarthy, development work has been prosecuted vigorously, and there is every expectation that the company will prove up one of the really big mines of the Southwest.

The Live Oak mine is really the pioneer of what has been known as the Miami district. Several years ago it was worked on a lease, and the lessees extracted over $500,000 worth of ore in a year from surface workings. The property, which consists of about 200 acres of mineralized ground, adjoins the Keystone group of seven teen claims which is being developed by the Miami company, and the surface exposures of both are very similar, being enormous bodies of siliceous ore, exposed vertiecally to heights of from 20 to 100 feet, and on the Live Oak covering an area of approximately 30 acres. There are two tunnels and two shafts on the property, and the silicate tunnel, from which shipments have been made, is the one now being driven to further distance and depth by the new company. The incline shaft has been sunk to a depth of 100 feet at the portal of this tunnel, and the other shaft, which is over 200 feet deep, was sunk to intersect the ore bodies found in the tunnel. The present management has sunk it to further depth as a winze, 66 feet of which is in sulphide ore. The Sulphide tunnel, which is in over 500 feet, shows mineralization almost the entire distance. This tunnel will cut the vertical shaft at a depth of 285 feet.

Work is progressing satisfactorily at the Eureka property of the Cordova Copper company, although it has not reached the stage where results in the way of ore discoveries are close at hand. At the Gem mine (Globe Consolidated) of the company there have been excellent developments recently, especially in the exploration of the Gem and Future Copper veins. The former vein is strong and looks exceptionally well, the ore averaging about 5¾ per cent. The vein is now over 700 feet from the shaft. The Future Copper vein is in 975 feet, and the face is broken diorite and shale carrying sulphide ore in bunches. It is expected to resume sinking in the Gem in a short time, the management having recently decided to sink from the 1,200 to the 1,500 level, at which large deposits of ore are looked for.

Ore of good commercial grade has been struck in the shaft of the Cactus Development company, which is bottomed at a depth of 430 feet. The ore occurs in the schist which is heavily grais with bis chloeclte and carbonates. The recent favorable developments at the mine have caused considerable strength to the shares.

THE CLARA CONSOLIDATED

Phoenix, Ariz., May 8.—George Mitchell, general manager of the Clara Consolidated mines, has left for London, Eng., where he will interest English capital in the Clara district. On his return in about three months he says that the work of construction on the road running from Bouse to the mines will be begun.

This road will be a standard gauge, about nineteen and one-half miles long. A survey of the road has been made, which makes the road a little under seventeen miles, but a somewhat longer road will be built to take advantage of topographical conditions.

Mr. Mitchell spoke of the development work going on at the mine. The smelter is rapidly nearing completion. The flue is up and everything is finished except the stack and the large dust chamber. The water line is laid from the fork of the Bill Williams to the camp, and pumping has been going on for the past week. The materials for a steel structures, 125 feet long by 68 feet wide, with an overhead traveling crane with a capacity of forty-five tons, all operated by electricity, will be shipped in about twenty days. The converting plant, that is being installed, will be of the most modern type and will be operated by electricity.

The ore in the south drift of the last 200 feet has been running between 16 per cent and 17 per cent during the past few days and a vein of new ore struck in Shaft No. 5 averages about 7.08 copper.

BIG ORE BODIES IN RAY MINE

Machinery for Big Concentrating Plant of 3,000 to 5,000 Tons Daily Capacity Being Purchased ---Mill Site Not Announced.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 8.—Indications of extensive activity in the Kelvin district within a very short time are abundant, and the reports received from various sources over that section are that something big is going to take place which will create considerable excitement in the mining world.

Several weeks ago it was announced that the Ray company was going ahead as rapidly as possible to perfect the plans for a big concentrating plant of between 3,000 and 5,000 tons capacity daily. It is now understood from good authority that these plans have been finished and the purchase of the machinery being negotiated. The Ray people are now employing about 250 men. The only delays that have occurred were to make repairs in the mill, though a false report went out several days ago that it had been temporarily closed down.

The company is not telling its definite plans in relation to the mill site, but it has located the new grade for the standard gauge railroad from Kelvin to Ray, to take the place of the present narrow gauge. A contract has been let for a hospital building and twelve cottages for the head employes to be finished on the mesa east of the business part of the town. The Ray people have over 15,000,000 tons of ore blocked out and 15,000,000 tons thoroughly prospected by drills. The ore will average 2½ per cent. From this ore can be recovered fully 70 per cent of values, or in other words, forty pounds of pure copper per ton. This zone of enrichment, some in touch with the mine claim, has a probably tonnage of 60,000,000. Even at a conservative estimate of 30,000,000, with copper at 13 cents, it would mean that there is $156,000,000 worth of copper in sight.

The ore can be quarried, being in flat or blanket formation, for about 8 cents, conservatively figured, by modern methods. More money has been made in low grade propositions, both gold and copper, than in the famed bonanzas. There are a number of other good properties surrounding the bay which will enhance in value with the development of that district. The Ray Central is now at work, and it is reported that the company has a fine power site on the river which will solve one great problem there.

RE-ENTERS SHIPPING RANKS

Keystone Mine in the Couer d'Alenes Has $200,000 Worth of Ore in Sight, and Contract for 50,000 Tons Closed.

Spokane, Wash., May 9.—The Keystone mine, once a prominent producer of lead-silver ores in the Coeur d'Alenes, will re-enter the ranks of the regular shippers in a short time. The property is included in a group of claims controlled by the Coeur d'Alene Investment company, which announces that $200,000 worth of lead-silver and carbonate ores have been blocked out on the lower level. It is also announced that 50,000 tons of iron croppings at $4 a ton have been contracted for by a smelting company, which will use the product in fluxing. The tunnel driven on the Keystone is now in 2,500 feet and lacks 300 feet of the point where the big ore body has been encountered in the upper workings. The shoot will be tapped at a depth of 900 feet. The Keystone shipped more than $200,000 worth of ore before it was abandoned several years ago, while the twenty claims in the group have paid $1,500,000 in dividends since the beginning of operations.

Charles Semple, superintendent of the Gold Medal Mining & Milling company, near Elk City, Idaho, advises the offices in Spokane that the vein in the tunnel, broken into at a depth of 132 feet, showed free gold after the first shot. J. J. Studebaker, one of the owners, gave out this statement: "We have expended more than $12,000 in this property, which has been declared by disinterested mining men to be one of the coming big mines. The 20-foot crossent is in $15 ore. This will keep a 10-stamp mill busy for ten years."

There are prospects of a paying property on Big Bear ridge, near Kendrick, Idaho, where a tunnel has been driven 300 feet, with a winze at the face fifty feet in depth, and another tunnel with crossents and drifts, making more than 1,000 feet of development work. The lead is eighty feet wide, forming a contact between granite and porphyry and apparently underlies an iron capping of sixty feet. The vein runs in streaks of ore and granite schist, consolidating as depth is gained. It is now within 200 feet of the water level. There are three carloads of ore in the bins and it runs $30 a ton, and a large quantity in the dump runs $12 a ton. Shipping will begin in June.

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Houghton, Mich., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The most important development of the week in the Lake Superior copper district was the disclosure of copper at depth in what apparently is the northern extension of the Baltic lode. The discovery was made in sinking a diamond drill hole on the lands under option to the New Baltic Lode Exploration company, lying next north of the Arcadian property. The drill core was taken from the west lode of the Baltic formation at a depth of ninety-two feet, and shows a very fair degree of mineralization. The main lode of this formation should be encountered within the next ten days. Both west and main lodes are disclosed by surface trenches and show widths of twenty-six feet and seventy-six feet respectively. They are separated from each other by about fifty feet of trap rock.

The Lake Mine.

Recent developments in the Lake mine disclose remarkable copper ground north of the shaft at the second and third levels, a particularly fine showing obtaining in the drift extending north from the third level crosscut. This drift has attained a length of fifty-four feet and is making a showing bordering on the sensational. The present showing in the face of the drift is richer than any previously had in the mine and probably has never been equalled by any amygdaloid mine in this district. The south drifts are not looking as well as they have, the ground at this end of the mine proving rather bunchy though much good copper ground is exposed. These drifts are driving in the hanging wall portion of the lode, and it is quite probable that the same regularity of mineralization noted in the north contracts will be found in the foot wall portion south of the shaft when the drifts are widened. The lode has been opened horizontally for a distance of 690 feet on the first level, and about 560 feet on the second level. The shaft has reached a depth of 550 feet, where the fourth level station is being cut preparatory to drifting at that depth. Opening work is progressing at the rate of 130 feet monthly.

Ojibway.

Ojibway's Nos. 1 and 2 shafts are temporarily bottomed at the 800-foot level and crosscutting to the lode at that depth is in progress. The No. 1 shaft is sunk within a few feet of the east hed of the Kearsarge lode, and less than ten feet of crosscutting will be necessary to expose it. The showing of copper rock in this end of the lode has been uniformly good. In the No. 2 shaft the crosscut at the 800-foot level has attained a length of forty-five feet, or approximately half the distance necessary to reach the lode at that point. The company has taken on several more miners and underground laborers, in anticipation of drifting about to begin on the 800-foot level, at which depth connection will be made between the two shafts. Drifting is confidently expected to reveal good copper ground, particularly in territory tributary to the No. 1 shaft.

Mass.

Mass has two machine drills engaged in stope drifting in the unnamed green epidote lode recently opened by crosscut at the seventeenth level from shaft A, and is developing copper ground of exceptional promise. The lode shows an average width of twelve feet, with six to eight feet carrying shot copper finely disseminated. The drift has attained a length of ninety-three feet, and is advancing at the rate of six feet daily. The company is mining fifty tons of rock daily from this opening, of which a mill test will be made this month to determine copper contents. Estimates of copper mineral contained in rock from the lode vary from 1 per cent to 4 per cent. Two crosscuts are being driven to this lode at the thirteenth level, and two at the fifteenth level. They are expected to make their distances by the first week in June and result in openings that will make possible the extraction of 500 tons of rock daily. Operations in the older workings of the Evergreen lode and Butler lode continue without interruption, and a normal output of copper is being maintained.

Michigan.

Michigan is opening exceedingly rich copper ground in the so-called North amygdaloid. The lode has been drifted upon for a distance of 183 feet, showing an average width of twelve feet, of which fully eight feet carries heavy shot copper evenly distributed from end to end. This particular stretch of ground is fully as rich in copper as is the portion of the Kearsarge lode opened in the Ahmeek mine, and from which a recovery of twenty-four pounds of refined copper per ton of rock is being made. The company expects to ship about 100 tons of rock daily from these workings within the next few weeks. Developments in the older Calico and Branch vein workings continue to reveal copper ground of average grade, though a betterment is apparent in the territory tributary to the "C" shaft.

Winona.

Winona's activities continue centered in opening work in the No. 4 shaft, similar operations in the No. 3 shaft having ceased several months ago. The company has blocked out upwards of 1,500,000 tons of first-class copper rock ready for stoping, a tonnage sufficient to keep one stamp head busy for several years. The plans for the new stamp mill have been drawn and a site made ready for it midway between the Winona and King Philip mines. Con-

APRIL PRODUCTION AT BUTTE

Ore Tonnage Was Reduced But Higher Grade Was Shipped to the Smelters—Relative Assets of the North Butte and the Butte-Coalition—An Interesting Comparison.

Butte, Mont., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The April copper production by the Butte companies aggregated 25,347,420 pounds, the mines averaging about twenty-eight days during the month. In spite of the talk that had been persistent about intended curtailment, there was not so much falling off in the month's output as had been anticipated. The ore tonnage was reduced, a higher grade being shipped to the smelters, but the curtailment of the copper production was not more than 2,000,000 pounds. Spreading the production over the twenty-eight days, the various producers contributed as follows:

Boston & Montana	2,500	75	7,350,000
Anaconda	2,600	64	6,451,200
Butte & Boston	640	61	1,128,960
Washoe	440	61	865,240
Parrott	403	58	649,606
Trenton	425	59	718,620
North Butte	1,326	80	3,295,000
Butte Coalition	1,300	89	2,912,000
Original	500	76	1,064,000
Pittsburg & Montana	340	72	694,800
Miscellaneous	100	80	224,000
Totals	12,630		25,347,420

The total average daily production was 365,265 pounds. There were 333,640 tons of ore mined during the month.

The North Butte.

In the opinion of Thomas F. Cole and John D. Ryan, Butte is still the greatest copper camp in the world, and will probably remain so for very many years to come. During the visit of Cole to Butte, Mr. Ryan entertained several hundred business men, who were gathered with him at a banquet, that mining in Butte had but fairly started. Mr. Ryan said Butte copper could be made as cheaply as any copper in the world. Although Mr. Cole came to Butte purposely to examine the North Butte lower levels, which have been persistently reported to be barren, or disappointing, he refused to give a statement of what he found, and declined to see newspaper men. Mr. Cole did say that "the North Butte development work is very satisfactory indeed," and that the impression he got from a careful look at the property was most favorable. He praised General Manager Carson and his assistants for the excellent work they have done in the North Butte and the Coalition mines, but declined to give any detailed information about the properties. Miners who work on the new levels of the North Butte say the vein at those points is poor only in comparison with the remarkably large and rich bodies of ore on the 1,800 level, and that taken alone they would be regarded as unusually good if found in any other mine.

Compared With Coalition.

The assessment records of Silver Bow (Butte) county disclose some interesting information about the relative assets of North Butte and Butte Coalition. North Butte owns twenty fractional mining claims, aggregating 161 acres, and Butte Coalition owns sixty-eight mining claims, or mineral tracts, comprising a total of 584 acres, the title to which stands in the names of the Coalition operating companies, the Red Metal and Alice Mining companies. The North Butte is limited to the Edith May and Jessie veins for its ore, though it is developing some ore on the lower levels of the old Speculator vein, and does all its work wor kthrough one shaft. The Coalition company has more than a dozen large shafts, though at present is operating only the Tramway and Rarus, through which the Tramway, Minnie Healey and Rarus mines are worked. In this ground alone there are ten or more large veins opened to a depth of 1700 feet. The Coalition has an arrangement by which the Boston & Montana company is mining some jointly-owned ground known as the Red Penn, and the Parrot is mining a portion of the Nipper ground and the Anaconda company is mining the Corra for the Coalition. The Alice properties are idle, but are extensively developed and only await an improvement in the metal and financial world to justify operations. At present the production of the North Butte and Coalition are about the same. The North Butte ships more first-class ore than does the Coalition, but the Coalition mines have an immense quantity of lower grades or second-class ore that assays much higher than the second-class in the North Butte mines. The daily tonnage of the two companies is about the same, but while the North Butte has reached the capacity of its plant, the Coalition is capable of increasing its production enormously. The North Butte has probably reached the acme of its importance, unless unexpected developments are made, while Butte Coalition has immense possibilities for increasing its mineral assets and earnings.

The Alice Mines.

There also is every possibility that the old mines of the Alice company will develop into big copper properties, and the Coalition company directors have never felt able or inclined to spend any money on development work there, in the old workings of the Alice mines there is an enormous tonnage—millions of tons—of silver, zinc ores in sight, assaying so high in zinc that it never could be mined at a profit because the metal could not be separated. Now, however, it has been discovered that the Butte zinc ores can be concentrated and that the concentrates are especially sought by zinc smelter men. A zinc concentrating plant of 300 tons daily capacity has just been completed at the Clark smelter in Butte and has demonstrated the success of the method. So far it has treated only the ore from Clark's

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

Mahoning Mine to Add Another Million Tons to Its Record—Ore Shipments Will Not Reach Maximum Volume for Many Weeks—Higgins on Active List Again.

Shipping now for fourteen seasons and producing for that time 11,000,000 tons of ore, the giant Mahoning mine at Hibbing will add to its record this year still another 1,000,000 tons. Its prospective outgo will be, in fact, even greater than that amount. A steam shovel proposition entirely, and with a mining pit that is the largest of its kind on the globe, the Mahoning is in excellent position to send out a heavy output. Its shipments last year, when the iron trade languished, were only 600,000 tons, but it has produced upwards of 1,500,000 tons a single season and it is prepared to better that achievement at any time. The mine has the distinction of having forwarded to the lower lakes the first Mesaba range product to be shipped from any of the Head of the Lake ports this year, each of the first two cargoes sent out, in fact, being constituted of Mahoning ore. The property is operated by the Mahoning Ore & Steel company, in which the United States Steel corporation has an important stock interest. The mine was discovered and opened in 1894 by W. G. Agnew, and it is of interest in the connection to note that Mr. Agnew has been the superintendent of the property ever since.

Ore is now moving freely to all of the upper lake ports, and principally from the Mesaba range, where dozens of mines are already on the shipping list; but the movement will not attain its maximum volume for weeks yet, not only because the strike of the lake seamen and marine engineers is keeping a large portion of the fleet tied up, but because trade conditions are still so unsettled that it cannot he estimated just what the needs of the furnaces will be. One of the leading Mesaba shippers will be the Steel corporation's Norman property at Virginia. Preparations have been made at this mine for an unusually heavy production, and it would occasion no particular surprise were the season's outgo to approximate 2,000,000 tons. The fact that the tracks of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern have been laid directly into the pit will materially facilitate shipments. The Morris mine at Hibbing will be another Steel corporation property that will send out more ore than last year. The Morris has been opened only since 1905, yet in the four seasons it has produced 5,500,000 tons, of which less than 500,000 tons were forwarded in 1908. No iron mine ever developed has shipped as much ore the first year of its existence as has the Morris, and it is likely that the record of the property in this respect—slightly more than 1,000,000 tons—will stand for a long time to come.

The Virginia Group.

The Higgins mine of the Steel corporation's Virginia group is on the active list this season, after a year's suspension, shipments being made for the first time since 1907. The deposit is of large proportions and is wrought both from underground and by the open cut method. Jones & Laughlin's Lincoln mine, in the same vicinity, will ship probably close of 500,000 tons this season. Ore is now going to the docks. The Lincoln, although entirely an underground proposition, is capable of very extensive production and is one of the very best equipped properties in the Lake Superior region. The tramming is done by electricity. Adjoining the Lincoln is the Commodore mine of Corrigan, McKinney & Co. This property has been changed from an underground mine to an open pit producer and will this season again be a scene of extensive stripping operations. Ore shipments are in progress and will doubtless exceed 250,000 tons for the season, or double the amount sent out in 1908. Corrigan, McKinney & Co. are doing nothing at the St. Paul mine at Keewatin, the Jordan at Chisholm or the St. James at Aurora. Their big Stevenson mine, in the Hibbing district, is sending out ore, however, and will produce some hundreds of thousands of tons this season.

M. A. Hanna & Co.'s new Sliver property at Virginia is being provided with better railroad facilities and will forward 250,000 tons or more the present year. A transformaton has occurred at the Steel corporation's Hull mine at Hibbing, where both of the former shafts are no longer in evidence, they having been demolished and the ground which contained them having been stripped. The stripping is now in progress at the edge of town. The sinking of the concrete shaft at Tod, Stambaugh & Co.'s new Morton mine, at Carson lake, two miles southwest of Hibbing, is making satisfactory progress. A depth of some 150 feet has already been attained. The ledge which caps the ore body will be encountered at a depth of approximately 190 feet, after which the shaft will be firmly anchored in the rock and the work of development will be undertaken. Shipments this season will hardly be possible, however. The Morton deposit is a large one and the mine will be one of the most important of the Mesaba underground producers. A particularly fine equipment is being provided for the property.

While both mines will be in condition to take out ore, it is not expected that the Bangor and Syracuse properties of Pickands, Mather & Co. will record any particular production this year, if, indeed, shipments are made at all. They will, however, be made ready to send out large outputs the following season. These mines are in the Lake Embarass district and, as is the case at the Morton, their shafts were sunk by means of the airlock system, the only possible method of successfully penetrating the heavy quicksand overburned. It is costing a veritable mint of money to open the Bangor and Syracuse, but the deposits are large and the ore of good quality and the expense is merited. The influx of water, although still of heavy volume, is by no means as great as it has been and the most of the troubles at these properties appear to be over.

Menominee Producers.

Oglebay, Norton & Co. of Cleveland, who brought the Chatham property to the producing stage in 1907 and the Berkshire property in 1908, will add still another shipper to their list of Menominee range producers this season. This one will be the Buckeye mine, near Commonwealth, in the Wisconsin portion of the district. Exploratory and development work has been in progress at the Buckeye for a number of years, as a result of which a considerable deposit has been found and is now being opened. The ore assays 54 per cent. Some 50,000 tons will be shipped this year, the product to be handled by the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, which has already awarded the contract for the construction of a spur line to the property. The spur track will be over a mile long and will be in readiness for traffic early in the summer. From the Chatham and Berkshire mines, both of which are in the Stambaugh district, at the western end of the Menominee, it is proposed to ship 100,000 tons this season, 50,000 from each propetry. Upwards of 150 men are employed at the two mines. Oglebay, Norton & Co. have more than 75,000 tons of ore in stock at their Bristol mine in the Crystal Falls district, and because stockpile room is limited, it has been necessary to cur-

AT THE SUPERIOR & BOSTON

Good Results Have Come From the Development Work Done by This Company---New Shaft Should be Completed by June 1.

Globe, Ariz., May 8.—The Superior & Boston company has been remarkably successful thus far in developing its fine property, situated three miles northeast of Globe, having opened upon the 400 and 450-foot levels of the Great Eastern mine one of the finest bodies of high grade copper ore in the district. The new McGaw shaft, through which the Great Eastern ore body will be developed and mined below the 400-foot level, is being sunk on a claim of the Collins & Doyle group, and the great value of this newly acquired property to the Superior & Boston company will be better appreciated when it is stated that the Great Eastern ore body will, if the present dip to the north of 60 degs. is maintained, be in the Collins & Doyle ground at a depth of 600 feet.

The McGaw shaft is being rapidly opened by sinking from the surface and raising from the 400-level, and should be completed to that depth by June 1. The sinking of a winze in the Great Eastern is also progressing and has reached a depth of seventy feet below the intermediate, or 450-foot level and should be down to the 600-foot level by the middle of May. At that depth the vein will be drifted on and connection made with the McGaw shaft by a crosscut. At the 600-foot level the length of a crosscut connecting the shaft and winze will be 210 feet long, and at the 800 it will be 105 feet long, while at the 1,000-foot level the McGaw shaft will cut the vein.

Both the McGaw and Gardner shafts are to be finely equipped and all of the machinery will be delivered before July 1. The Sterling boilers for the McGaw shaft have been received; also two storage tanks of 30,000 gallons capacity each. The equipment for the machine shop is en route from the East and the Nordberg hoist and compressor for the McGaw shaft will be shipped from Milwaukee, May 20.

At the Gardner shaft, on the 400-foot level, the west drift is being driven to open the Black Oxide ore body, which was developed by the tunnel above.

NEW STATION FOR DENN MINE

At the 1250-Foot Level Now Well Under Way and Drifting to be Started---Shipment Made by the Shattuck.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 8.—The work of cutting a station in the Denn shaft at the 1,250-foot level is now well under way and will be completed during the next few days. From this level drifts will be run north and west. In the north drift it is expected that the fault wil be encountered at 150 feet, judging from the exploration work on the upper leads. The recent discovery of good oxide ore in the drift running in the direction of the Denn from the Junction shaft is regarded as a favorable indication for the Denn. It is the intention to continue the Denn shaft after contemplated development work has been completed on the 1,250-foot level. Its present depth is about 1,275 feet, with the bottom still in lime formation.

Last week the Shattuck made a shipment of 600 tons of ore to the Copper Queen smelter at Douglas. This ore was all taken out during the week from the drift and upraised development work on the 600-foot level. The ore shipped is high grade and will give an average value of 15 per cent. A similar shipment made about the first of April from the Shattuck brought a return value from the smelter of 17 per cent. While exploration work is being continued on the 600-foot level of the Shattuck similar work has been started on the 700-foot level to catch the large and rich ore bodies at the depth. Crosscut No 11 on the 600-foot level has already cut 300 feet of the high grade ore.

EL TIGRE OPTION IS GIVEN

Two-Thirds of the Lucky Tiger Combination Company Stock Is Optioned for $3,900,000 to New York and London Syndicate.

Douglas, Ariz., May 8.—B. A. Seitz of the Lucky Tiger Combination Mining company, at present in the city, has taken exception to an interview given out in Los Angeles by C. W. Mitchell, purporting to be an engineer in the employ of the company, but at the same time confirms the statement in that interview that there is an option out on the El Tigre property, though the terms of it differ from the statements of Mr. Mitchell in some respects.

Mr. Seitz declares that Mitchell is not and has never been an engineer employed by the Lucky Tiger company, and adds that during the absence of some of the directors from Kansas City other directors employed Mitchell to obtain a purchaser for the property, but that on their return or himself and other directors this arrangement was set aside by them.

Mr. Seitz, and no one is in a better position to know than he, gives this statement of the outstanding option: An option on two-thirds of the El Tigre stock has been given to T. H Leggett and Fred Hillman, the latter a mining engineer of world-wide reputation, who are suppose to represent a New York and London syndicate. The consideration for this two-thirds of the stock is to be $3,900,000, the first payment to be made on Aug. 21 and the final payment on Nov. 21 of this year.

Mr. Seitz adds that he is not disposing of his stock, as he considers the price too low, but, on the other hand, neither is he opposing the sale by the others or putting any difficulties in the way. Instead of selling he will buy treasury stock in the new organization. He is pleased that the El Tigre will be pushed, and looks for $1,000,000 to be spent in improvements so that productions will run 125 tons per day.

THE OLD DOMINION COMPANY

Globe, Ariz., May 8.—The Old Dominion company is adhering to the scale of operations maintained during the past two months and will await an improvement in the metal market before increasing its output. The production last month slightly exceeded 3,000,000 pounds of blister copper, four furnaces having been in operation continuously. There has been very little curtailment of development and the work has brought into sight a considerable tonnage of ore in both the Old Dominion and United Globe properties. There has been no appreciable decrease in the volume of water flowing into the Old Dominion mine, which still measures over 5,000,000 gallons per day. Whether or not the diversion of the surface flow in Pinal creek by damming the channel and fluming the water to a point a mile or more below the Old Dominion property will materially lessen the volume of water in the mine will be determined within the next week. For the past several weeks there has been more water in Pinal creek than the flume could carry, due to the melting of snow on the mountains, but now all the water collected above the dam is going into the flume and the value of the diversion system will soon be demonstrated.

The most important construction work being done at present is the building of a large mine office at "A" shaft. Constructed of reinforced concrete, the new building is 51.4 by 57.4, and when completed will be one of the most substantial and best equipped structures erected by the company. The drafting room will be 26 by 31, and the main office will also be quite large. The floors will be of maple; large concrete vaults will also be constructed for the preservation of the maps and valuable papers; individual washstands and shower bats will be provided and all the appointments will be of the most approved kinds.

FINAL ACCOUNTING.

A last meeting of the Chisholm fire relief commission, appointed last fall at the time of the range forest fires, will be held within the next two or three weeks, and a final accounting of the distribution of the relief fund will be made.

This meeting would have been held before this, had it not been for the fact that nearly all the members were out of the city. They will be gotten together now as soon as a few bills, not yet checked up, are received.

About $50,000 in cash and supplies have been distributed among the fire sufferers, and there is still about $20,000 in a local bank to the credit of the fund. The total amount of cash put at the disposal of the commission was $76,000, but it was found that not more than $50,000 was necessary to carry out the work.

Trace of the expenditures has been kept in the minutest detail, and every cent will be accounted for in the final report.

VETERAN OF SEVENTY-SIX

Is Presented By His Fourth Wife With Twins.

Knoxville, Tenn., May 8.—Andrew Jackson, aged 76, a veteran of the Confederacy, has been presented with twins by his fourth wife, who is 48 years of age.

Both are boys and weigh nine pounds each and are so much alike that one was dressed in red and the other in white to preserve their identity.

The aged father is about the happiest man in Knoxville over the advent at his home, 307 Munson street, and he will name one for himself and the other for Gen. Lee.

Miller was a member of Company I, Sixty-first infantry, C. S. A.

WOMEN RIOT IN THE STRIKE OF THE BAKERS.

New York, May 9.—Women figured conspicuously yesterday in a street rioting incident to the bakers' strike. Most of the trouble occurred on the upper East side. A woman customer, leaving one of the bakeries in that section, was attacked by members of her sex. The policeman, who arrested one of her assailants, was in turn assailed by the mob of men and women, who threw bottles, bricks and clubs at him. The mob was put to flight when he drew his revolver and a reserve force of police arrived.

Another policeman had a similar experience with a crowd of fifty women who had attacked and slightly injured Rosella Teigert, young daughter of a bakery proprietor. The women followed him into a butcher shop with a prisoner he had made, attacking him viciously and having to be driven out with clubs by police summoned to the beleagured officer's assistance.

Several women prisoners were fined in the police courts for participating in the disorders.

DAYTON MAN IS CHOSEN

High School Instructors Named—Two New Men Principals.

The appointment of seventy-three instructors for the Duluth schools, the presentation of the budget providing funds for increased salaries and the salaries of new teachers, the selection of a high school, principal, and the lengthening of the school year were the principal matters brought up and settled at last night's meeting of the school board, held in the office of the Central high school.

Prof. George Buck of Dayton, Ohio, was the unanimous choice of the board to succeed the late C. A. Smith as principal of the Central high school. S. A. Foster was re-elected principal of the industrial school and the grades of the Irving school. The name of Prof. Buck has been under consideration for some time. He will be notified of his appointment at once. He is expected to take up his residence in Duluth during the summer, preparatory to taking charge of the high school at the commencement of the fall term.

Considerable opposition developed to the selection of E. A. Mooney and A. M. Taylor as principals of grade schools. The opposition was not aimed against their character or ability, but merely because they are men. Capt. D. E. Stevens started the argument by taking a firm stand in favor of women teachers and principals.

Supt. Denfeld was of the opinion that the men and women should be about evenly divided. He corrected Mr. Stevens' belief that it was the intention of the board to displace competent teachers now employed, to give their places to men, stating that all women who had demonstrated their ability would be retained. The discussion was carried on for some time, and the final result was the appointment of both men. Mr. Mooney was formerly superintendent of schools at Tower, and Mr. Taylor held the same position at Aurora, Minn.

Need More Money.

The estimated amount which will be required to meet the increase in salaries planned, and the salaries of new appointees, is about $26,000. This is approximately three-fourths of a mill on the property valuation of the Duluth school district.

In the future the school year will be two weeks longer. The idea is to provide extra time for a review of the year's school work and the holding of annual examinations. Hereafter the terms will be as follows:

First, opening Sept. 6, fifteen weeks, closing Dec. 17; second, opening Jan 3, 1910, eleven weeks, closing March 18; third, opening March 28, twelve weeks, closing June 17.

The matter of a truant officer was taken up and discussed. Truancy is a feature of school life that board and teachers seem unable to cope with single handed. It has been the common experience in other cities that a truant officer, who will devote all his time to the work, is the best solution of the problem. Both Supt. Denfeld and L. A. Barnes believe that attendance can only be enforced with the aid of a competent officer. The discussion arose over a proposed increase in the salary of the truant officer.

The West end schools, 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, June 2. The West end schools are the Adams, Bryant, Fairmount, Irving, Jackson, Lincoln, Longfellow, Madison, Stowe, Ely, Fond du Lac and Smithville. The East end schools will give their program at 2:30 o'clock, June 3. The schools are the Endion, Emerson, Franklin, Jefferson, Lakeside, Lester Park, Lowell, Washington, Whittier, Washburn, Colville and Nettleton. The Industrial high school will hold its exercises Thursday evening, June 3. In West Duluth, either in the auditorium of the Irving building or an auditorium to be rented later, the exercises of the Central high school will be held Tuesday evening, June 1.

WAIT ONLY FOR THE REVISION

Dun Says Mercantile Activity Will Be Completely Restored.

New York, May 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

With bank clearings outside New York 15.9 per cent better than last year and 24.5 per cent better than in 1906, and in New York 24.1 per cent larger than in 1908, and 1.3 per cent larger than in 1906; with railroad earnings for the month of April showing a gain of 13.9 per cent over 1908, and only 10.3 per cent decrease as compared with the banner year of 1907; with immigration 212,000 larger than last year; with imports much larger than in 1908 and nearly equal to 1907; with a distinct gain in the iron and steel trade in both orders and prices; with a hardening tendency in copper; with works of new construction going rapidly forward, the trade situation seems to afford ample grounds for the prevailing belief that as soon as tariff revision is out of the way, the last obstacle to a full restoration of normal industrial and mercantile activity will be removed.

Notable, indeed, is the better feeling in iron and steel. Favorable developments in nearly all divisions are reported, recovery is naturally slow, following the prolonged period of depression, but there is more than a suggestion of permanence in the steady revival, and the broadened demand has not been curtailed by some slight advances in price.

The primary drygoods market continues quiet, prices remaining at their present level in view of the firmness of raw material. In print cloth, yarn goods, some contracts have been closed on the finer count fabrics, but converters show no disposition to operate far ahead. Gray and finished goods are quiet and bleached goods and prints continue to be inactive. In the export division some inquiry is reported, but little business has been placed, sales to China amounting to only 1,000 bales of 3.25 yard sheetings, while some small orders have been entered from Africa and Australia and Manila has bought a slightly larger quantity of prints than its recent average. In wool and L. A. Barnes believe that attendance can only be enforced with the aid of a competent officer. The discussion arose over a proposed increase in the salary of the truant officer.

THE WEEK AT THE NORMAL

The Summer Session Will Begin on Tuesday, June 15.

President Jordan of Stanford University May Speak Here.

The summer session at the Duluth normal school will begin Tuesday, June 15, and be continued until Friday, July 30.

The change from the twelve weeks' session of the past two years to a seven weeks' term for the present year is due to the fact that only a very small number cared to remain for the second half of the session. The number was so small that the normal board has deemed it inadvisable to offer the second six weeks' work at Duluth, at least during the coming summer.

The program will embrace work in all subjects required in the state examinations for teachers' certificates of both the first and second grade, provided the number in each instance is sufficient to warrant the organization of classes. It is therefore desired that prospective students give notice, in advance, of the work they wish to undertake. Following is a list of the subjects which it is assumed will be demanded: English grammar, United States history, arithmetic, geography, physiology, music, drawing, civics and geometry, physics, algebra, psychology, pedagogy and school management.

The requirements for admission are those which prevail during the regular session, and credit on normal courses will be given for all work accomplished.

Although graduation time is still practically a month off, there is a feeling, especially among the seniors, that the time is rapidly drawing near. Arrangements for the graduating exercises are under way, and it is expected that President David Starr Jordan of the Stanford university will give the address of the morning, and that a number of the graduating classes have been busy making plans for the class day exercises.

The alumnae banquet will be given as usual at Washburn hall, and on two nights and one afternoon of the last week of school the class play will be given. The afternoon performance is especially for the benefit of the girls in the graduating classes of the high schools of Duluth and neighboring towns.

The next Bulletin, which is now being printed and will be issued next week, is one especially for students desiring information about the school. As soon as it is ready it will be mailed to school people generally throughout the state, especially in this part.

The literary societies are ending their first year with some excellent programs. Yesterday afternoon the members of the Greysolon Literary society gave an open-door meeting, which a large number of the Thalian society members and other visitors and friends attended. After the program, the special feature of which was a play entitled "The Piper's Pay," the guests were served with dainty refreshments in the rest room. Miss Alice Lang opened the program with two very pleasing musical numbers, followed by a pretty vocal solo from Miss Van Stone, accompanied by Miss Mable Fix.

Following was the cast of the play:

Mrs. John Burton...Emmeline Higgins
Mrs. Charles Dover..Annabelle Dunning
Mrs. Hereford Carr.....Irene Anderson
Miss Freda Dixon.....Ruth Raleigh
Mary Clark, detective..Margaret Grogan
Evelyn Evans, reporter.....Mable Fix
Katie, the maid.....Ellen Vandegrift

The credit for the good work done is due to Miss Olson, who spared no pains or time in coaching the girls. The last number on the program was a very well rendered piano solo by Miss Helen McKinley.

Yesterday seemed a busy day socially, for the Glee club also had an entertainment last evening in the school. The first part of the evening was devoted to a recital of most attractive and well arranged selections. Following the recital, a surprise in the nature of a spelling match, was announced, which took place in the lower hall. This proved to be very amusing, for the members of the faculty were victims as well as the pupils. Dancing was then enjoyed.

One of the most pleasing parts of the program was that in which little Miss Dorothy Patton read several selections. Her first selection, "How Tom Sawyer Whitewashed the Fence," was well given, followed by an equally good number, "The Little French Doll." At the close of the program she responded with two more excellent numbers.

(b) "Hark! What a Burst of Sound."
Glee Club.
(a) "Song of Love." .....
(b) "Two Little Lovers." .....

If ever there existed a well trained party of spellers it will be the normal school students by the end of this week for the final spelling examination comes off May 20, and there is a long list of hard words to master before then.

P. H. Johnson, state architect, is now at work on the plans for the new dormitory. It is hoped that the hall will be ready for occupancy next fall at the beginning of the new school year. The new hall is to be built on the campus to the rear of the school building and Washburn hall and a better place could not have been chosen. The normal school division is one of the most attractive parts of Duluth and the site for this new hall is the prettiest part of the division. It will overlook the glen on the right, the campus woods to the rear, and the front of the building will command a view, looking down Twenty-third avenue, of the lake and the East end.

Mr. Blair has been away all the past week on business, but his classes have been conducted by Mrs. L. W. Kline.

Invitations were issued yesterday to the students for a cotillion to be given by the faculty Saturday evening, May 22. Last year the faculty entertained the students at a May party and a more enjoyable affair was never given in the school, so they are looking forward with more than the usual amount of pleasure to this party.

Owing to the fine weather of the past week the students in the nature study classes have been able to proceed on their "Bird Hunt" with renewed vigor. The variety of birds seen this year is just about as large as it was last year.

The Doctor's First Question

"How are your bowels?" This is generally the first question the doctor asks. He knows what a sluggish liver means. He knows that headaches, bilious attacks, indigestion, impure blood, are often promptly relieved by a good liver pill. Ask him if he approves of Ayer's Pills. Then follow his advice.

ARBITRARY TAXES UNLAWFUL.

The Herald publishes tonight, in full because of its great importance, the opinion of Duluth's leading law firm, Billson & Congdon, on the constitutionality of a tonnage tax law under the present provisions of the state Constitution. The opinion has just been rendered to the Duluth Commercial club in response to a request from that body.

It settles, beyond cavilling, the fate of the tonnage tax and all other proposed arbitrary taxes that bear no relation to the value of the property taxed, such as the water power tax, the bushel tax on wheat in elevators, etc. They are not possible under the Constitution, nor is any other system of taxation that does not consider the value of the property taxed in arriving at a conclusion as to the ability of the owner to pay taxes.

The opinion should be read carefully by every lawyer and every student of taxation in this state. Particularly should it be read by those who have been advocating an arbitrary tonnage tax for state purposes, and by those who are interested in the law passed by the last legislature taxing wheat in elevators on a different basis from wheat in granaries.

The conclusions reached by Messrs. Billson & Congdon are supported by the Constitution itself, and by a recent decision of the state supreme court in a case involving the mortgage registry tax law, by which that law was upheld on the specific ground that it does consider the value of the property taxed. Those conclusions are that no arbitrary tonnage tax on iron ore, no arbitrary horse power tax on water power, and no arbitrary bushel tax on wheat, can be sustained under the Constitution.

That means that the so-called "wide-open" tax amendment is not wide open, but that it wisely restricts the legislature in tax legislation to a uniformity which must be based on cash valuation, and therefore upon the ability of the property owner to pay. Says the opinion:

> Taxes must be uniform on every subject in every class. In making such classification it is not sufficient that taxes shall be uniform upon all subjects in any class, as such classification would be arbitrary and unreasonable; as for example, that the property of one-legged men should be taxed double the rate of property owned by two-legged men, or that a bushel of wheat in elevator should be taxed one-tenth of a mill, while all other wheat is taxed in proportion to its value.

The constitutional provisions leave no doubt whatever as to their meaning—uniformity is to be secured only upon a basis of valuation. The two exceptions in the Constitution—railroad taxes and improvement taxes—were specifically excepted so that they might be levied without regard to valuation, thus making clear the intent that all other property must be taxed according to its cash value. The exceptions, in other words, prove the rule absolutely. The supreme court has substantially so held in the mortgage registry tax case.

To quote the opinion further:

> In measuring any number of things for the purpose of determining their relation to each other, it is of course necessary to apply the same measure to all, else the result of the measuring tells nothing. What is being measured is the ability of each taxpayer to contribute cash to the support of the government. That of course depends upon the value of what he has, not on its weight or size or location, though these three characteristics may affect the value. Since the cash value of the property of the taxpayer best measures his ability to contribute to the public burden, the framers of our present Constitution, in clear and unequivocal language, adopted it, with the two exceptions noted, as the best and practically the only just measure of the taxpayer's ability.

The opinion is lucid, logical, powerful—it sounds the death knell of arbitrary tax proposals which threatened not this section and its interests alone, but all sections and all interests, as the "bushel tax" on wheat in elevators plainly shows.

BE NATURAL.

"Be genuine and sincere; genius is not necessary to give us a good influence over others," said Dr. James B. Angell, president of Michigan university, to the 900 members of the class of 1909 the other day.

President Angell is about to retire after a generation of splendid service as the head of one of the country's best institutions of higher learning; and in all his career he never said a truer and a better and a more valuable thing than that.

Be natural and sincere. Scorn sham and pretense. Make yourself what your ideals call for, but don't pretend to be what you are not.

There is nothing in the world more silly, and at the same time more contemptible, than affectation and pretense. It is a very common failing, and a very human one; the children begin it in their playtime, when they "pretend" that they are pirates and robbers and Indians and cowboys and society ladies and mothers. But that is a different kind of pretending. There isn't a particle of harm in it, and it is good fun and stimulating to the imagination.

A very different kind of pretending is that which grown-ups use. The dishonest man pretending to be honest; the plain, ordinary individual pretending to be aristocratic and acting as though he—or often it is she—were made out of a different kind of clay than other folks; the money shark pretending to be a devout religionist; the child of honest poverty lately become rich, pretending to be "society" and denying its decent if lowly origin—these are some grown-up kinds of pretending that are disgusting and ridiculous.

The dishonest man oughtn't to pretend that he is honest—he ought to make himself honest, and then his character and his actions will show for themselves. The ignorant man, in pretending an erudition he doesn't possess, is making a silly mistake in which he is certain to be found out. He ought to study and get learning, and then let his learning show for itself.

No affected and falsely pretentious person fools anybody but himself. He thinks other people don't see through the sham, but they do. You know yourself of people who are affected, and who pretend to be that which they are not, and you laugh at them and despise them. Be sure that if you detect others in their false pretenses, others will detect you in yours.

If you are not satisfied with what you are, make yourself what you want yourself to be. You have the power to do that, but you haven't the power successfully to deceive others about yourself.

Besides, when you are trying to pretend you are what you are not, you are smothering the real good that is in you, the capacity for service that belongs to you and to you alone—for there is that good and that capacity in everybody, waiting to be dug out and developed. That is the way to go about it. Dig your personality out of yourself; don't borrow it and pretend. As well might the negro pretend to be a Caucasian, the sheep pretend to be a wolf, or the ass pretend to be a lion.

THE INCREASE IN DIVORCE.

Dr. Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, who is an uncommonly keen student of sociology with an uncommonly vivid faculty of expressing his conclusions, says that the increase in divorce in this country, alarming though it is, is not due to deterioration in the moral fiber of the people.

He finds a more fruitful source of divorce in the growing economic independence of women in this country, and in the disappearance of old household economic conditions. The idea seems to be that in other days, when women were limited practically to housekeeping as a means of livelihood, they had to put up with a good deal from recreant husbands because there was no way out of it. Now they can go to work and earn their own livings, so when domestic conditions become unbearable they simply pack up and get out, and a divorce follows. Also, the wife is no longer the economic partner, to be prized as such, but somewhat of a luxury, to be supported by the husband.

The present rate of increase of divorces in this country is, as many a statistician has shown, little short of appalling. Dr. Ross shows that at present probably one marriage in every ten results in a divorce, while in some states the proportion has risen to one in four.

Says Dr. Ross in the Century magazine: "Incessantly the factory planes away the economic basis of the family. In the time of our grandmothers the home was the seat of a score of productive processes, and the ideal wife was the 'virtuous woman' celebrated by Solomon. She might not be a 'soul-mate' to her husband, but she was a prop to the prosperity of the household. Now that the machine has captured most of the domestic processes and the middle class home is sustained by the earnings of the husband, the wife, from a helpmate, has become a luxury. If now, there is a rift in the lute, the husband becomes aware of carrying a burden and resents things that are overlooked when the wife is a true yoke-fellow. In a word, outside of the manual laboring class, the old economic framework of the family has largely fallen away, leaving more of the strain to come on the personal tie. Husband and wife are held together by love, conscience and convention, but very little by that profitable copartnership which once contributed so much to the stability of the home."

It cannot be doubted that there is much in this reasoning, and it is not clear what is to be done about it. Nobody would advocate a return to the old condition in which the household was largely its own manufacturing establishment, and when the wife did most of the manufacturing; it wouldn't be possible to do it, anyway. Yet with the wife no longer an economic partner in the old sense, with the field of labor open to women discontented with home conditions, the strain falls almost entirely upon the personal tie, and when that is broken there is nothing but conscience and convention between the family and the divorce court.

THE GOOD TIME A-COMING.

It proved the underlying soundness of financial conditions in this country, and it showed that all that holds back the good times is the uncertainty as to the tariff outcome. Under the present economic organization of this country, panics and their aftermath of depression seem to be as inevitable as measles and chickenpox in childhood. The country gets living too high when times are prosperous, and then gets a fit of financial gout that has to be worked off. The latest fit has been worked off, now, and the country is ready to go galloping ahead just as soon as the trusts get through with their marionette show at Washington, and everybody knows just what tariff schedules to figure on.

This New York dispatch spoke of one very significant thing—the relation of the increased and increasing production of gold to the world's prosperity. Not only are new mines being discovered and developed all the time, but the processes of extracting the precious metal from its native ores are being improved and cheapened constantly. This means a steadily increasing flood of gold. More gold means more money, and more money means additional capacity for business.

What is more important, the more gold and the more money there is in circulation, the higher prices will go. The existing supply of money and the existing supply of commodities, from real estate down to bread, figuratively occupy opposing scales in a world's balance. Take gold out of the one scale, and the other goes down—it then takes more commodities to get a given amount of gold, and prices are lower. Add gold to the money scale, and that side of the balance goes down—it takes more gold to buy commodities, and prices go up. Gold is being added in prodigious quantities to the money scale, and it is going down and the commodity scale is going up—prices will rise, and that means good, lively, flush times.

That is the situation, only as yet prices haven't begun to go up much. Everybody is waiting for the tariff to get out of the way. Then, look out.

But there is a very valuable lesson in that last paragraph. Prices haven't started up yet, but they will start very soon. Now, therefore, is the time for the wise man to buy. He won't buy stocks, either; he'll buy real estate. He'll buy a building lot for his future home, and he may, very likely, start building that home.

Real estate in Duluth is still on the bargain counter, but it won't be there very long, and when it is taken off it will be a long time before it gets back there again. Just as things stand this minute, Duluth can't help booming when the country starts up business in earnest. But other matters of more local interest are going to happen, too. Work on the steel plant will begin very shortly, and when that begins there will be other capital looking about for a location here. These things, and the new railroads and the general growth of Duluth's territory, will make things hum in Duluth. That includes Duluth real estate. Whether you buy for investment or use, you shouldn't delay your buying very long. Now is the time.

AN UNWORTHY SPIRIT.

Discussing with approval the law adopted by the legislature at its recent session providing for a certain number of agricultural high schools in this state, J. F. Jacobson of Lac Qui Parle county, a former member of the legislature and the most recent unsuccessful Republican candidate for the governorship, gave utterance in an interview with the Minneapolis Journal to the following characteristic remark: "Nobody ought to complain of the state supporting these schools. Why shouldn't the farmers get $500,000 a year for educating their children, when the cities get $1,000,000 for the state university?"

This is unpleasantly like the kind of thing Mr. Jacobson used to say when, as a member of the legislature, he cracked the whip of country prejudice against the cities over the representatives of the agricultural districts. It is unfair, unworthy, and wholly uncalled for; it presumes a dividing line between city and country which does not actually exist, and which would never exist even in the imagination of it were not for such remarks as that which Mr. Jacobson is quoted as making.

In the first place, it is not only true that nobody ought to complain of the state aiding in agricultural education in any form, but it is also true that nobody does complain. Though Mr. Jacobson's remark seems to be founded upon a belief that the cities have complained or are going to complain about state aid to agricultural high schools, there isn't the slightest evidence that anybody has complained or will complain.

As a matter of fact, it is largely due to the farmer representatives in the legislature that the session did not produce a larger use of state aid in behalf of agricultural education. Next to the agricultural high school bill the measure of chief importance along that line was the Hackney law providing for a correspondence school of agriculture in connection with the state agricultural college, and that came from a city member of the senate and was supported by the city members of both branches. Its author wished to appropriate $75,000 a year for this purpose instead of $20,000, but the country representatives forced the reduction.

If the state university is a city institution, it should be credited to Minneapolis, where it is located, and not to the three large cities. But it isn't a city institution at all; it is a state institution, and its attendance comes from the country as well as the city. It is an old theme with Mr. Jacobson, this use of the state university to stir up feeling between country and city, and it is time he was dropping it. The state university is a credit to the entire state, and its graduates are doing their part in the development of every community of the state. It is not a city institution, any more than it is a Minneapolis institution. The whole state is proud of it, and glad to support it; but that pride and support will not interfere with the fullest encouragement of agricultural education that the penny-wise economy of the farmer legislators will permit.

ANOTHER YOUNG FIASCO PETERS OUT.

The Duluth board of trade is not a trust. The supreme court of the state of Minnesota officially says it isn't.

Of course nearly everybody in the state except Edward T. Young of Appleton, quondam attorney general of Minnesota, knew it wasn't a trust all the time, but because Mr. Young affected to think it was, it has cost the board $15,000 in legal expenses to prove that it wasn't, not to speak of the expense to the state, which is not inconsiderable.

Mr. Young started his suit on the ground that the Duluth board had refused to admit to membership the representatives of a farmers' organization. On the trial he dropped that feature and offered no evidence regarding it, but based his suit on the theory that the "commission rule," which is like the commission rule that applies in every exchange on the continent, constituted an illegal combination. Without the commission rule, of course, there would be cutting of commissions, and the result would be that commission firms would frequently fail, leaving their farmer customers in the lurch.

Neither the district court nor the supreme court minced words in upholding this rule, and in declaring that the Duluth board of trade is in no sense acting in violation of the laws.

If Mr. Young had consulted his knowledge of law and common sense—or somebody else's knowledge of law and common sense—instead of his political ambitions, all this useless expense and annoyance would have been avoided. Mr. Young also has the credit of initiating and fostering the tonnage tax agitation that has caused such an alarm in the same section of the state that he picked upon for his atack upon the business of grain exchanges.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

The hotel managers of Duluth are planning to co-operate in the matter of saving themselves the expense of being beaten by the regular hotel bill jumpers. The other day the stalwart manager of one of the best hotels in this city walked with determined strides into the lobby of the St. Louis. He walked up to the desk and had a few quiet words with the clerk, and then he walked straight over to where a man was standing. He inquired his name, and when he learned that it was the name he expected, he presented the man with a bill of the vintage of 1907. The fellow turned red along the cheek bone, shifted his eyes and flogged his brain for some ready answer. But the answer was not forthcoming.

Now, it is very probable that if the hotel manager had not spotted him, he would also have beaten the St. Louis. The hotel deadbeat is a rather rare bird but the hotel men of Duluth have their share of them. The hotel managers have at last decided to co-operate in the matter of affording protection for themselves. It is probable that in the near future a Duluth Hotel Managers' Protective association will be formed, which will include the better hotels of the city, and whose object will be the protection of its members through a close tab upon those men who are known to be in the habit of leaving without decorating the mahogany.

E. R. Reneault of International Falls, at the Lenox yesterday says the completion of the Backus-Brooks power plant, some time in the present year, will result in one of the greatest power plants in this country. The power developed will be immense, according to Mr. Reneault, and will not only provide for the needs of the lumber and pulpwood mills at that point, but will further provide for additional manufactures that may come to International Falls in the years to come.

According to Mr. Reneault, the dam will be completed this year, and also the Backus-Brooks mill.

W. T. Plant of St. Paul says effort is being made to make the present state fair the greatest in the history of the Minnesota State Agricultural association. Business men of the Twin Cities are co-operating with this ambition on the part of the officers of the association, according to Mr. Plant, and the fair will receive the unstinted support of the business men of both cities.

Active operations in the Coleraine mining district will begin within the next few days, according to J. S. Pritchard of Coleraine, who is at the St. Louis.

The experimental washer, that last year was abandoned, is being remodeled and will be used for the washing of ore until the new washing plant, which is under way at the present time, is ready for operation. The old experimental washing plant will be ready for use within a few days, according to Mr. Pritchard, and then the operations at Coleraine will begin.

Ore will be taken from the Holman before the other mines, because that mine is in a better condition for mining right at the present time than the other mines. In a week or so, the time depending upon how much ore can be handled at the old washing plant, active operations will be under way at both Coleraine and Marble.

Mr. Pritchard says work is being rushed upon the concrete foundations of the new washing plant. This will be one of the largest plants in the world. The time of completion cannot be definitely set at the present time, but it is believed that it will be completed some time shortly after the first of the year.

Just as soon as the frost leaves the ground all the mines will be operated. The people at Coleraine, according to the statement of Mr. Pritchard, are of the opinion that the present season will be a prosperous one for the Western Mesaba range. Already preparations have been made at Coleraine for a heavy ore shipping season. Mr. Pritchard says the refusal of Governor Johnson to sign the Bjorge tonnage tax bill was the signal for active operations to begin. The signing of the bill would have meant decreased operations all over the Western Mesaba, according to Mr. Pritchard.

Guests of the Lenox hotel saw a novel sight early this morning. Those upon the fourth, fifth and sixth floors of the hotel can gain a clear view of the excavation of the Wisconsin Central, which is directly across the street from the Lenox.

Those boarders looking out of their windows at an early hour this morning saw a flock of ducks swimming around in the water in the excavation pit while workmen were busy upon all sides of the water fowl.

The ducks must have dropped from their flight to the northward. How they came to alight in the excavation of the depot site is a mystery. There they were, however, and the fact that there were workmen all around them did not seem to disturb them in the least.

One excited boarder upon the fifth floor telephoned down to the office for a gun. However, his request was not granted, and the ducks may be in the pond yet.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••Ely has organized a fire company, with P. R. Vail as chief and Sam V. Brown and Ed Cram as assistants. Mr. Golburg was elected treasurer and W. T. James secretary.

•••According to the city assessor, there are nearly 300 more business firms in Duluth than there were at this time last year.

•••Mayor Sutphin sent a communication to the city council last night appointing Aldermen Swanstrom, Thomas and Dingwall as members of a committee to take part in the opening exercises of the Spalding hotel. He also appointed F. B. Daugherty to be fire commissioner, F. B. Edwards to be a member of the board of public works, and Aldermen Dingwall and Louden to serve on the health board.

•••At a meeting of the Duluth Building & Loan association, Z. D. Scott, E. W. Matter and Edmond Ingalls were elected directors, and Mr. Scott was then unanimously chosen president for his seventh term.

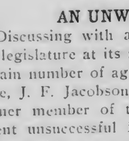
•••The Turner society will give a ball this evening, the proceeds to go toward defraying the expenses of a delegation to the National Turners' convention at Cincinnati in June. From Duluth the first gymnastic class, of which F. Haase is the instructor, will attend. The following are members: Messrs. Collatz, Nels Anderson, Henry Dworschak, L. Roos, M. Kratt, Max Levy, Joseph Dworschak, Julius Dworschak and Ed Russell.

•••John Wade, a carpenter, dropped dead on the sidewalk near the West Duluth car works, about 10 o'clock last night. Heart disease was the cause. His wife was killed several years ago while walking on the track of the St. Paul & Duluth road.

•••Ben Myers of Myers Bros., real estate, has gone to Watertown, Conn., where he will be married. He was entertained at a banquet last evening by his friends and presented with an antique Roman coffee server as a marriage gift.

•••A. D. Galusha has been dismissed from the position of railway clerk. His only offense consisted in being a Democrat, and he is removed to make place for a Republican.

THE WEATHER.



The weather man's "partly cloudy" came true in the literal sense of the term, but Duluthians could stand this kind of "partly cloudy" weather for an indefinite length of time, with a few fleecy clouds floating in a clear blue sky.

He repeats the prediction for tonight.

A year ago today the weather was summery.

The sun rose this morning at 4:40 o'clock and will set this afternoon at 7:27, making fourteen hours and forty-seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A trough of low barometric pressure extends from Lake Superior southwestward to New Mexico, with lowest readings over Southwestern Kansas. During the past twenty-four hours this disturbance caused warmer weather in the Mississippi valley and Southwestern states, besides rain in North Atlantic states, Northern Michigan, Minnesota, Manitoba, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Western Missouri. An area of high barometric pressure over Montana and Alberta is attended by colder weather. This latter condition will probably reach the Head of the Lakes tonight."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Sense of Wonder.

An intimate friend of the late Prof. Henry Drummond of Scotland told me not long ago that one of his most beautiful traits was his keen delight in new experiences. He never outgrew his capacity of wonder and surprise over the curious unfoldings of life. Yet he was a noted scientist who had penetrated into many secrets, who might have become, as many a college professor does, an unenthusiastic, academic sort of person. Nevertheless, almost to his last day Drummond kept the edge of his interest in the world and human life keen.

Over against him I would put a boy of whom I learned the other day, who at 14 is distinctively blase. He has traveled over a considerable portion of this country and of Europe, stopped at a great many first-class hotels, gone to any number of theaters, ridden on merry-go-rounds, owned a vast collection of automatic toys—in short, has had almost everything conceivable that might fall into the lap of a modern youth brought up in the midst of wealth and luxury. Now, at 14, the world has practically lost its charm for him. In comparison with him, the country lad brought up twenty miles from the railroad, who may not have seen a locomotive more than half a dozen times in his life, is to be greatly envied. For the sense of wonder is one of God's greatest gifts to man. Watch a healthy, merry child for half a day, and see how many exclamations of surprise and wonder escape his lips as he encounters one thing after another which to him are strange and extraordinary, but which have become to adults the commonplaces of existence. And he who can keep his sense of the wonder and glory of the world, as he goes on in youth and middle life, and even to old age, possesses a fountain of almost infinite hope and joy. Life cannot possibly become cheap and dreary and tawdry.

It is only the self-centered life that loses the capacity to feel and express wonder, for the universe is throbbing with interest for those who will look away from themselves and up to the star-studded night sky, or out upon the waving forests or the sparkling sea. Moreover the world is constantly growing more interesting as men discover more things in it and learn how to apply the results of their research to art and industry. Horseless carriages, the wireless telegraph—such inventions as these which our grandfathers could hardly bring within the reach of their imaginations—are enough to excite attention. There will be more such inventions, and perhaps even more remarkable ones as men become more skilled in handling the forces of the world. The possibility sends us to our daily papers constantly expecting startling news.

To one who does not let his sense of wonder fall into disuse the revelations of human personality become more and more fascinating, especially in these days when the sub-conscious mind is under investigation and psychical research is enlisting the powers of many trained minds. If we think that we have discovered all that is within us, it is because we have not looked deep enough to take the real measure of our emotions and aspirations, the fluctuation of our moods, the strength and weakness of our will.

Wonderful as is this external universe and the mind of man, the being of God is still more wonderful. If we have ceased to be moved by profound awe in the presence of that spiritual Being "whose dwelling is the light of setting suns and the round ocean and the pleasant air," it is because we have allowed this capacity of responsiveness to the divine life to grow weak within us. The last words of Frances Willard, the great advocate of temperance, were: "How beautiful God is." Any one who stops to reflect on the power that has brought this universe into existence is thrilled by the thought of His marvelous nature and His loving kindness to the children of men.

Blessed be the sense of wonder, the consciousness that we have not yet begun to explore the world and ourselves and God. It redeems our existence from monotony. It gives dignity to each new day, for at sunrise we say: "Some wonderful thing we shall see or hear; some wonderful experience we shall have ere sunset."

NELSON W. ALDRICH

BY SAVOYARD

Thirty years ago the visitor to Washington who went to the big edifice on Capitol Hill to see congress in session had pointed out to him by the guide he employed, or the friend who accompanied him, such men as Speaker Randall, Joseph R. Hawley, Alexander H. Stephens, William R. Morrison, Thomas M. Browne, James B. Weaver, Dudley C. Haskell, J. C. S. Blackburn, James A. McKenzie, J. Procter Knott, John G. Carlisle, Thomas B. Reed, George D. Robinson, Jay S. Hubbell, Julius C. Burrows, Hernando De Soto Money, Charles E. Hooker, Richard P. Bland, Aylett H. Buckner, Levi P. Morton, Ben Butterworth, John A. McMahon, Frank Hurd, James A. Garfield, William D. Kelley, John H. Reagan, LaFayette B. Culberson, Roger Q. Mills, John Goode, John Randolph Tucker, Eppa Hunton, George C. Hazleton, John E. Kenna, Edward S. Bragg, Gabriel Bouck and others already famous. Others were soon to become famous.

But not one visitor in ten thousand of all those in the galleries had pointed out to him Nelson W. Aldrich, then an obscure member of the house of representatives, serving his apprenticeship in the trade of United States solonism. He was then a rather dissipated looking man of 38, and I do not suppose his service had the slightest effect on the legislation of that congress, in any one of its three sessions.

This man was not an orator, not a lawyer, not a student of governmental systems, not a reader of miscellaneous books. He had an academic education, and his had been the trade of a merchant. He began his legislative career as a member of the common council of the town of Providence, and subsequently he was speaker of the Rhode Island legislature. Then he became a member of the Forty-sixth congress and was re-elected to the Forty-seventh, but Ambrose E. Burnside, a senator from Rhode Island, died in 1881, and in October of that year Aldrich was elected to succeed him and took his seat Dec. 5, 1881.

Let us glance at the senate as it was then constituted. Matt Carpenter and Ben Hill had very recently died, Roscoe Conkling and James G. Blaine had recently resigned, but there were left John T. Morgan and James L. Pugh, John F. Morgan and Thomas F. Bayard, Augustus H. Garland, Henry M. Teller, Orville H. Platt, Thomas F. Bayard, David Davis, John A. Logan, Daniel W. Voorhees, Benjamin Harrison, William B. Allison, John James Ingalls, James B. Beck, Eugene Hale, A. P. Gorman, Henry L. Dawes, George F. Hoar, William Windom, L. Q. C. Lamar, I. Z. George, F. M. Cockrell, George G. Vest, M. W. Ransom, Z. B. Vance, John Sherman, Don Cameron, H. B. Anthony, M. C. Butler, Wade Hampton, Ishom Harris, Howell E. Jackson, Richard Coke, George F. Edmunds, Justin S. Morrill and Henry G. Davis.

Nobody suspected that ere the expiration of the nineteenth century Nelson W. Aldrich would approve himself the most consummate parliamentary leader any political party ever produced, and the most successful lawgiver, touching economic things, in our history. Although a Democrat by descent he is of the cream of the Republican party and not Fessenden nor Sumner, not Chase nor Trumbull, not Conkling nor Morton, nor any other man of his party ever had so complete a mastery of the United States Senate as this merchant of Rhode Island, who would doubtless be bored by Burke's speech on the Nabob of Arcot's debts, or by Webster and Calhoun on the scope of constitutional prerogative, or by the speeches of Douglas, Sumner, Toombs, Fessenden, Benjamin or any other orator of that day on the slavery question.

In 1883 congress enacted the "commission tariff." Aldrich had more to do with the making of it than any other individual, though John Sherman had a good will to kill it for the advantage of the wool and woolen schedule gave the wool spinners of New England over the wool growers of Ohio. Aldrich knew the senate's response to the Mills bill. He "perfected" the McKinley tariff of 1890. He wrote the metal and cotton schedules of the Wilson bill and made the Dingley bill. He will make the "revised" tariff of 1909, if it is made. In short, Nelson W. Aldrich has made every tariff this country has had since and including 1883.

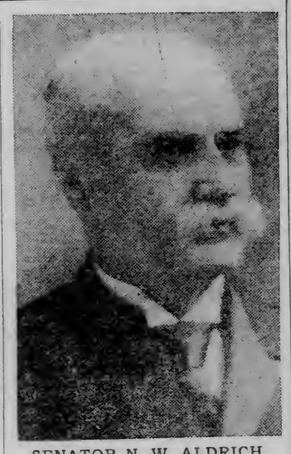
Aldrich made the famous "rate bill" there was such a row over a while ago, for he was the author of the famous "Allison amendment" that got every vote in the senate except three—Morgan's Pettus, and Foraker's. The president accepted it and it is the law of the land today; but it would take a search warrant to discover or bring to light any blessing that has come from it, but the country was in a frenzy.



SENATOR N. W. ALDRICH.

But at present Mr. Aldrich has the job of his life on his hands. The G. O. P. has undertaken a task from which the eternal old horned devil himself would shrink—it is going to "revise" the tariff, at the demand of the country for less and lower and honester taxation, "by the friends of protection." And the devil a monk would be. Joseph G. Cannon, Sereno E. Payne and John Dalzell sent an enacting clause over to the senate from the house for Mr. Aldrich to lick into shape. Mr. Aldrich has responded with a bill that Dont-Dingleys Dingley and even old Allison Aldrich. He even promises the reform of retrenchment of expenditures. If his dogma of protection is spared; but there is a big Republican revolt, and Keson and Dolliver have even assaulted the very citadel of protection—the infamous wool schedule that exacts more than 100 per cent on the comfort of clothing in daylight and covering in bed.

That is a cue for the Democrats. If every man in the senate averse to it will but oppose that schedule—concentrate all attack against it—it will fall, and with it will tumble the entire protective structure.

This wool schedule was written by S. N. D. North, an employe of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, which "made him a present of $5,000" for the work. He was an expert, and when Aldrich came to make the Dingley tariff, he accepted the work of Mr. North. In no other free country under the sun would special interests be allowed to write the taxes the people pay for the benefit of the protected. But with us the protected interests come to congress and are allowed to insert in a tax bill just such rates as will secure them a monopoly of the domestic market.

But the West is aroused, and my prediction is that Mr. Aldrich, to save this dogma of protection, will accept an income tax amendment. That will stop the clamor for tariff reform and save protection for another ten years if the supreme court will only have manners enough to put the seal of constitutional approval on the income feature.

Mr. Aldrich is a great man—an attractive man—with the finest eye in his head the United States senate has ever seen since John C. Breckinridge.

FISHY FLAVOR IN BUTTER

Butter makers in general have long suffered heavy loss from fishy flavor, a well-known depreciating factor in the butter trade of different countries. It is not uniformly present, but occurs more frequently in some countries than in others. For example, it is much more common in butter from Australia than in the Danish product. In the United States it is prevalent in certain sections of the country, especially in the newer dairy localities, and one such region is known to commission men as the "fishy belt." The cause of this trouble has been a mystery, and butter experts have been at a loss to account for its appearance, although many theories have been advanced. Since 1905 the dairy division of the bureau of animal industry has been working on the problem, and its investigations have just been reported by L. A. Rogers, who sets forth his findings in circular 146, which may be obtained on application to the bureau of animal industry, Washington, D. C. It is believed that his conclusions regarding the cause and prevention of the trouble will be of practical value to butter makers.

Of the undesirable flavors of butter the various oily flavors may be classed as the most objectionable and troublesome. They range from a slight suggestion of oil to a strong flavor of machine oil. In the latter case the inferior quality of butter becomes evident even to the indifferent consumer.

Fishy flavor, which is one of the most common of the oily flavors, gives to butter a peculiar oily taste suggesting mackerel or salmon. Butter is frequently described as fishy, which is merely oily or otherwise off flavor, but the typical flavor of fishy butter is never mistaken for any other.

While many things connected with the butter making industry have been ascribed as the cause, Mr. Rogers is of the opinion that fishy flavor is not produced by the action of any one factor, but so far as he has been able to ascertain the immediate cause is a particular substance produced by the oxidation of one of the combinations of the acid developed in the ripening of the cream. In other words, it is caused by a slow, spontaneous, chemical change to which acid is essential and which is favored by the presence of small amounts of oxygen.

It has been a generally accepted theory among butter makers that sour cream made the best butter. This idea is reversed by the investigations, which bring forth the conclusion that butter made from sweet cream does not contain the elements that go to make fishy flavor.

In all the experimental butter made in the last three years there has been no trace of fishy flavor in that made from pasteurized sweet cream churned without the addition of a starter. In butter made from pasteurized cream with starter added, but without any subsequent ripening, there had been no fishy flavor, with one or two doubtful exceptions. On the other hand, many lots of experimental butter made from well ripened cream developed marked fishiness.

It is evident, therefore, that there is a direct relation between the acidity of cream and the development of fishy flavor in the butter. However, as the work progressed it became apparent that the acidity, although having a determining influence on fishy flavor, was not the sole cause. With this factor controlled it was impossible to make butter with any certainty that it would become fishy. Frequently butter made from cream with a high acidity showed no trace of this flavor.

It was found that overworking the butter increased the tendency to fishiness, and this flavor could be produced with reasonable certainty of air, and this is increased by the working, thus producing conditions more favorable to oxidations.

Fishy flavor may be prevented with certainty, says Mr. Rogers, by making butter from pasteurized cream, without ripening. The addition of a starter to pasteurized sweet cream without subsequent ripening improves the flavor of the fresh butter without adding enough acid to cause fishiness. Pasteurization of sour cream will not prevent the development of fishy flavor.

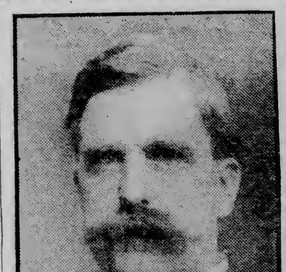
NO TONNAGE TAX IS POSSIBLE UNDER THE PRESENT STATE CONSTITUTION

Opinion Furnished by Billson & Congdon to Duluth Commercial Club—All Taxes Must be Based on the Value of the Thing Taxed, Save Railroad Taxes and Local Improvement Assessments, Under State Constitution as Amended.

WILLIAM W. BILLSON.



CHESTER A. CONGDON.

That no tonnage on iron ore is possible under the present State Constitution, is the opinion of Billson & Congdon, the well-known legal firm of this city.

At the request of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, Billson & Congdon made an exhaustive study of the question of the constitutionality of a tonnage tax, and their opinion has been furnished to the secretary of the club, as follows:

Duluth, Minn., April 23, 1909.—Mr. H. V. Eva, Secretary, Duluth Commercial Club, Duluth, Minn.: Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of this date, inquiring whether the legislature has the power, under the Constitution, to enact a tonnage tax, we say:

The power of the legislature, in the matter of taxation, is limited in the constitutional amendment, adopted in 1906. This amendment is found in Section 1, Chapter 185 of the General Laws of 1905. It reads as follows:

"Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public schoolhouses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property, not exceeding in value $200, for each household, individual or head of a family, as the legislature may determine: Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and, provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

This amendment in another place expressly repeals Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, and 17, of Article 9 of the State Constitution, but leaves unaffected Section 32, Article 4, relating to railroad taxes and laws thereunder.

The repealed sections required all taxes throughout the state to be as nearly equal as may be, and to be uniform on the basis of the cash value of the subject taxed, except:

Article 4, relating to railroad taxes and laws thereunder.

The repealed sections required all taxes throughout the state to be as nearly equal as may be, and to be uniform on the basis of the cash value of the subject taxed, except:

Article 4, relating to railroad taxes and laws thereunder.

(a) The subjects expressly exempted from taxation by Section 3, which are substantially the same as those exempted by the above amendment.

(b) Assessments for local improvements, which could be levied according to benefits or frontage, without regard to cash value.

(c) The inheritance tax, which could be uniform, or graded above the amount exempted from taxation, and was limited to 5 per cent.

(d) The taxes on the property of sleeping and other car companies; telegraph and telephone companies; express companies; insurance companies; car owners; boom owners; shipbuilders or owners.

The taxes on property in the classes found in (d) could be graded or progressive or both, and could be based upon the earnings or quantity of production of the property taxed; or the legislature could impose such tax "in such other manner or by such other method as the legislature many determine," but every tax was required to be "as uniform as reasonably may be with the taxes imposed upon similar property in said state."

It is of course apparent that, before the Constitution was amended in 1906, the legislature had a free hand in taxing the classes of property described in (d); the only limitation being that taxes on mining property were required to be distributed in the same manner as taxes on other real property were distributed, and the tax was required to be reasonably uniform with taxes imposed on similar property in the state.

Under the old Constitution, the property described in (d) was the only property in the state which the legislature could tax "in such manner" or "by such method" as it might determine. Part of the taxable in (c) could be exempt, and graded taxes imposed on the balance. The taxes on all other property were required to be uniform throughout the state in regard to the cash value of the article taxed, except railroad property, which by Section 32-a of Article 4, is taxed upon its gross earnings, and except assessments for local improvements.

A casual reading of the amendment shows a marked change in that the Constitution itself does not classify property for taxation, as did the old Constitution, save by the two exceptions withdrawn from the operation of the general rule.

The whole subject of legislative power of taxation is covered by the one section constituting the amendment. It can be analyzed as follows:

(b) The next sentence declares:

(1) That taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, save that the constitutional uniformity thereby required shall not apply to assessments for local improvements nor to taxes on railroad property.

(2) That taxes shall be collected only for public purposes.

(3) That certain property therein described is exempt from taxation.

All property save railroad and that assessed for local improvements is governed by the same rule, which is as follows: "Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects."

This rule applies to all taxes. Stinson vs. Smith, 8 Minn. 326 (Gil.); Drew vs. Tifft, 79 Minn. 182.

Taxes Must Be Uniform.

If there were any doubt upon this question, it is conclusively settled by the fact that two kinds of taxes are withdrawn from the operation of the rule, to-wit, assessments for local improvements and taxes on railroads.

To give the two provisos or exceptions any meaning or force whatever, it must be held that the rule of uniformity includes these two classes of taxes, and that those two exceptions were necessary to withdraw such taxes from the operation of the rule applicable to all other taxes, since it is a familiar rule of construction that an enactment must be so construed that no word, clause or sentence shall be superfluous or void. State vs. St. Paul, 36 Minn. 530.

It follows, of course, that taxes upon all property save the two excepted classes, are governed by one rule, to-wit: "Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects."

This means that the legislature can classify property for the purpose of taxation, and when so classified each tax must be uniform upon every subject in any class. In making such classification it is not sufficient that taxes shall be uniform upon all the subjects in any class, as such classification would be arbitrary and unreasonable, as, for example, that the property of one-legged men should be taxed double the rate of similar property owned by two-legged men,—or that the tax rate on horses in St. Paul should be different from that on all other horses in the state; or that a bushel of wheat in an elevator should be taxed one-tenth of a mill, while all other wheat is taxed in proportion to its value. In every classification regard must be had to the object sought to be accomplished by the legislation, and the common characteristics selected as the base of classification must be such as will afford a reasonable ground for and justify the classification. Nichols vs. Walter, 37 Minn. 279.

It follows that a classification on one basis may be appropriate for one purpose, but entirely inappropriate for another purpose. State vs. Britt, 76 Minn. 534. State vs. Justus, 90 Minn. 474. Hjelm vs. Patterson, 105 Minn. 256.

The object of all taxation is to compel contribution to the public expense.

It is a fundamental principle of justice observed in all free states, regardless of their Constitutions, that every citizen should contribute to the public expense in proportion to his ability. Therefore a classification of property for the purpose of taxation should be so made as to accomplish this end.

Judge Cooley has said that the fundamental principles of taxation require uniformity and equality, and our own supreme court has well said that while perfect equality in taxation cannot be attained, all tax laws should have that object in view.

Since a classification of subjects for taxation is a step in the collection of taxes, it follows that such classification should be so made as to secure uniformity and equality in taxpaying, and that a classification producing inequality in the payment of taxes would be contrary to the fundamental principles of justice, and therefore beyond the power of the legislature to enact.

When the legislature has properly classified property for the purpose of taxation, then every tax must "be uniform upon the same class of subjects."

The meaning of "uniform," as here used, defines and limits the power of the legislature in the imposition of every tax save those for local improvements and those on railroads.

Valuation Must Be the Basis.

When two or more objects are "uniform," it is because they have some common characteristic. There are no two things in the world that are in every respect identical, therefore when several subjects are put into one class, the characteristic which is selected as the basis of classification, is found in every subject of the class, and such class is said to be uniform in respect to the basic characteristic. Upon what basis, or in what respect, does the present Constitution require taxes to be uniform upon the same class of subjects? Fortunately the Constitution itself answers the question. After promulgating a rule for the taxation of all property, it excepts therefrom assessments for local improvements in the following language: "Provided that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation."

This proviso is not mandatory but permissive. It does not say that assessments for local improvements shall be without regard to cash valuation of the property taxed, but that the legislature may authorize such taxes without regard to cash value. The uniformity required by the first part of the section must still be had, but it may be based on some characteristic other than value, for example, frontage or benefits. Since the proviso relieves the legislature of the obligation of making this particular tax uniform on the basis of value, it follows that in the absence of this proviso such obligation would not have existed; and that is true only because the word "uniform," as used in the second line of the section, means uniform in respect to cash value.

To repeat: The proviso is an express declaration that the uniformity required by the general rule is a uniformity in respect to the cash value of the different taxables in a given class, because it says that as to this particular class of taxes, the cash value of the taxables may be disregarded. There would be no need of withdrawing this class of taxes from the general rule unless that rule made the cash value of the things taxed the basis of the required uniformity, because if mere uniformity on some basis were all that is required, it could be obtained in the case of local assessments by basing it on the frontage of the property taxed or the benefits accruing from the improvement to the property taxed. Consequently the exception of local assessments from the general rule of uniformity is meaningless and mere surplusage, unless the uniformity required is that based on the cash value of the taxables. It is an elementary rule of statutory construction that every word and sentence must be given a meaning, if possible. In this case there is not even any ambiguity.

Therefore, the first exception to the general rule of uniformity is a demonstration that the uniformity required by such rule is that based on the cash value of the thing taxed.

The second exception of the taxes on railroads proves the same thing, because such taxes were, when the amendment was adopted, and now are, uniform in respect to the earnings of the railroads. So railroad property also was excepted from the general rule of uniformity enunciated in the amendment in order that it might continue to be taxed, not in proportion to its value, but in proportion to its earnings; that is, that such taxes shall remain a ground of objection to the statute, is in fact, made necessary by the requirement of uniformity. As the tax is imposed upon the security and not the debt, there would have been an absence of uniformity if the statute had not provided for the reduction of the tax in proportion to the value of the foreign security not taxable in this state." This settles the law of this state to be, that the uniformity in taxes of subjects of the same class, required by the Constitution, is a uniformity in proportion to or based on the value of the thing taxed.

It therefore follows that the legislature has no power to impose taxes in disregard of the value of the thing taxed, save only the two taxes excepted from the general rule, viz., assessments for local improvements and those on railroad property.

Since the amendment of 1906 repealed those provisions of the Constitution, which authorized the taxes described in (c) and (d) supra, it necessarily repealed the laws authorizing such taxes unless such laws conform to the new amendment. The inheritance tax law does not so conform. It is settled that this tax is not on property, but the right of succession, though the tax is measured by the amount of property inherited. State vs. Bazille, 97 Minnesota, 11.

Part of this right is exempted from taxation, although the present Constitution does not allow any such exemption. Again, a graded or progressive tax is imposed on this right. The present Constitution does not permit any graded tax. Every tax must be uniform on each class. In each instance the tax is on a single right exercised by a single individual, and there is nothing in our present Constitution authorizing a graded tax on a single entity. On the contrary, the tax must be uniform in proportion to the value of the thing taxed, just as was required in the case of the mortgage security. We therefore have no inheritance tax laws now.

All the taxes described in (d) supra are without reference to the value of the thing taxed. They do not fall within the two exceptions of the present Constitution, and they are therefore forbidden by the Constitution and consequently are void.

> The so-called tonnage tax ignores the value of the mines and ore which it seeks to tax, and we therefore have no hesitation in advising you that the legislature has no power under the present Constitution to impose any such tax.

We are well aware that the popular opinion is to the contrary, but this is due to the fact that the law of the stump is rarely if ever in accord with that of the forum.

The only "wide open" tax amendment which this state has ever adopted was that of 1896, not that of 1906. Yours truly,
BILLSON & CONGDON.

"RAT" SAVED HER LIFE.

Bullet Fired By Husband Deflected By Woman's Hirsute Adornment.

Columbus, Ohio, May 8.—That much ridiculed hirsute adornment of women—the rat—was responsible for saving the life of Mrs. Anna Fairman.

The woman had trouble with her husband, who threw her on the bed and fired a revolver at her head. She went screaming to the street after the husband escaped, with blood flowing down her face. An ambulance took Mrs. Fairman on a run to a hospital, where the surgeons discovered that she had only a bad scalp wound. They declare that the woman's life was saved by the "rat," which deflected the course of the bullet.

Hoarseness, bronchitis and other throat troubles are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar as it soothes and heals the inflamed throat and bronchial tubes and the most obstinate cough disappears. Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by all druggists.

"UNIFORMITY" IN SPECIFIC TAXES.

Value Determines Ability to Pay.

In measuring any number of things for the purpose of determining their relation to each other, it is of course necessary to apply the same measure to all, else the result of the measuring tells nothing. What is being measured is the ability of each taxpayer to contribute cash to the support of the government. That of course depends upon the value of what he has, not its weight or size or location, although these three characteristics may affect the value. Since the cash value of the property of the taxpayer best measures his ability to contribute to the public burden, the framers of our present Constitution, in clear and unequivocal language, adopted it with the two exceptions noted, as the best and practically the only just measure of the taxpayer's ability. This question is already settled by our supreme court in its construction of the amendment of 1906 in the case of Mutual Benefit Insurance company vs. Martin county, 104 Minnesota, 179.

That case involved the constitutionality of the mortgage registry tax. The court held that the tax was on the security and not on the debt secured by the mortgage, and that the security was the same whether the debt was payable in one or ten years, and that consequently the tax was uniform upon all such securities.

Supreme Court Had Decided It.

It was argued that the tax was not uniform because the act provided that when the mortgage covered any real estate outside the state, the tax should be measured by such proportion of the whole debt as the value of the mortgaged real property in the state bears to the value of the whole real estate described in the mortgage. The court said that this "instead of being uniform on the basis of the earning capacity of the taxables.

That the proviso was intended to withdraw the taxes therein described from the general rule, is proven by the construction given to a similar proviso in section 17, article 9 of the Constitution, now repealed, by the court in State vs. Twin City Telephone company, 104 Minn. 387.

Mr. Justice Brown said:

"Provisos of this character are not intended to impair or destroy the main purpose, or to enlarge the meaning or effect of the statute to which they are added, but, on the contrary, to exclude from the operation thereof something that might otherwise come within its scope. * * * Such was the purpose of this proviso. * * * To make that end plain, and to preclude a possible ground of misinterpretation of the scope and purpose of the amendment, was the sole office of the proviso."

This construction of the word "uniform" accords with every principle of just taxation. As our tax commission has well said, "the golden rule of taxation is that every man shall pay taxes in proportion to his ability." And as our supreme court said in State vs. Canda Cattle company, 85 Minn. 461:

"Perfect equality in taxation is, perhaps, impossible. * * * But all laws providing for their (taxes) assessment and collection shall have that object in view. In an exercise of the power to tax, the purpose always is, that a common burden shall be sustained by common contributions, regulated by some fixed general rule and apportioned by the law according to some uniform standard of value. The power is not therefore arbitrary, but rests upon fixed principles of justice, which have for their object the protection of the taxpayer against exceptional and invidious exactions, and it is to have effect through established rules operating impartially." Cooley Taxation, 2d.

There is no reason in justice, logic or morals why one dollar in the form of wheat or pine trees or water power should pay any greater than is paid by one dollar in the form of railroad, or iron ore or horses.

Nor is there any reason why one dollar in the form of a cow on the farm should pay any less tax than one dollar in the form of a cow in the city. Nor why one dollar owned by a white man should pay less than a dollar owned by a black man. Nor why any dollar in whatever form or wherever found or by whomsoever owned, should pay any different tax than every other dollar in the same taxing district. Otherwise there will not be attained that perfect equality in taxation which should be the object of all tax laws, as our supreme court has so well said.

No Uniformity in Specific Taxes.

If some property were taxed according to the weight of its product, for example an iron mine, and other property according to its earnings, for example, a telephone company, and other property according to its location, for example wheat in an elevator, and other example wheat in an elevator, and other property according to its horsepower, for example a water power, it is self-evident that while each subject in each of such classes might pay taxes on a basis uniform with all other subjects in the same class, there would, nevertheless, be no uniformity of burden bearing between the different classes. Nor for that matter, between subjects of the same class. The burden to be borne is the contribution of cash. The property of output is a very poor measure of ability to make such contribution. The mine producing its last hundred thousand tons might have to pay the same tax as the mine producing its first hundred thousand tons. Location is a poor measure of taxpaying ability. A bushel of wheat in a country elevator would have to pay the same tax as a bushel in a terminal elevator though worth fifteen cents less. A hundred developed horse-power in Minneapolis, where the market is unlimited, is worth many time a like developed horse-power in Northern Minnesota, where there is only one sawmill to consume it.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

A critic recently bestowed the title of "Poet-Conductor" upon Emil Oberhoffer, conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, after one of the most inspired readings by him of Tschaikowsky's sublime "Pathetic" symphony, which will be played by the Minneapolis symphony orchestra in Duluth at the May festival.

It is probably not strange that a conductor with the fire and abandon of Oberhoffer should be able with such a work, to arouse an audience to the highest demonstrations of applause and approval—demonstrations such as are seldom witnessed save in foreign concert halls. Mr. Oberhoffer has had some notable triumphs in the readings of the highly colored scores of the modern French and Russian composers, but the real test of orchestral conductors nowadays seems to be the correct interpretation of the masters. The real musicianship is not so much at stake in modern compositions, with their unbridaled passions, as in the divinely beautiful symphonies of Mozart and Beethoven in which every phrase is wrought with meaning and where the slightest mishap offends the ear of the musical listener.

Emil Oberhoffer's readings of the classics have lately been approved by two of the world's greatest Beethoven interpreters. During a rehearsal for a concert at which Hugo Heermann, the world famous Beethoven player, was to perform the master's violin concerto, the artist entered the hall unnoticed. Quietly opening his violin case he took out his beloved instrument and to the great surprise of the orchestra took up his solo part at the back of the hall, advancing toward the orchestra, all the time playing. The movement ended, he grasped Mr. Oberhoffer's hand enthusiastically and declared that further rehearsal was not necessary, as he saw that Mr. Oberhoffer knew the concerto as intimately as himself.

No less enthusiastic than Heermann was Paderewski, the great pianist, after his playing of the "Emperor" concerto of Beethoven with the orchestra. Paderewski proclaimed Mr. Oberhoffer one of the six greatest conductors of the world.

It is a matter of pride and mutual congratulation among Minneapolis people, that after the recent first production of Beethoven's immortal "Ninth or Choral Symphony" in that city, an audience of nearly 3,000 persons cheered Mr. Oberhoffer for fully five minutes, the artists and chorus joining.

The dates of the concerts in Duluth are May 28 and 29. They will be presented at the Lyceum theater.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY
Appearance of 1910 Gopher Is Scheduled for Saturday Next.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday, May 15, is the date set for the appearance of the 1910 Gopher. This year the portable office, which is used in the library during registration week, will be set up in the center of the campus and Gophers will be dispensed from all sides. There is to be one cashier in charge, who will issue tickets upon receiving payment, which will entitle the bearer to the Gopher. Seventeen hundred and fifty copies have been subscribed for, of which number 425 are de luxe editions. The board of regents have subscribed for 250 copies, and many high schools throughout the state have also ordered copies.

Twenty-six instructors teach three students in the college of homeopathic medicine. This is probably a record never equaled in the world's history. The three students are to be reduced by graduation this year to two, who will be the only homeopathists in Minnesota. The regents are planning to abolish the course, which has not proved popular.

Last evening a farewell banquet was tendered Dean Jones by the students and faculty of the college of engineering. Dean Jones leaves this summer for Harvard, where he will be dean of the academic department. President Northrop acted as toastmaster, and members of the faculty and representatives of the various classes and of the engineers' society, responded. The Minnesota spirit prevailed throughout the evening and much feeling of gratitude and appreciation of Dean Jones' work while at Minnesota was expressed. A fine quartet of men's voices rendered several musical numbers.

Tuesday evening in chapel the Norwegian club of the university came before the public for the first time. They elected girls chosen are to give their May pole dance twice, once in the afternoon and once in the evening. The trouble was caused by delegating to each girl a man to bear her torch during the dance in the evening, and to accompany her to and from the scene of the dance. Now, each of the sixteen best-looking men in the university has his preference as to whom he shall accompany; each of the sixteen girls has her preference as to who shall accompany her, and the preferences do not always coincide. It is hoped, however, to adjust differences by May 21, when the fete is to come off. Almost all the organizations in college will have booths under the oaks on the campus, where flowers, icecream cones, candy and lunches will be served. The domestic science girls are to have charge of the regular refreshments. Four hundred votes were cast Friday for May queen, but the result has not been announced, as it is planned to be a surprise when the day comes.

William Jennings Bryan is to speak May 11, here, on "The Value of a Soul."

The Woman's league has decided what to do with the funds which "The Mikado" will bring in. Many plans for spending the money have been considered, but the one which commends itself most highly to the league, and which has finally been adopted, is the equipping of an infirmary for the new dormitory. Tuesday is to be "Parasol day" on the campus, when small Japanese parasols will be sold, as fans were sold last week. This is the newest and most popular method of advertising.

is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product, has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the appoval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed, because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States, in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

How Dean Swift Cured Her.

AN instance of Dean Swift's straightforward good sense, accompanied by amusing eccentricity, is related in connection with his visit to a farmer near Quilca, with whom he went to dine. The farmer's wife was dressed very expensively and her son wore gold lace on his hat. The dean of St. Patrick's saluted her as though she were a duchess, and, with low bows, handed her to a seat, proposing to her husband that they "look over the farmer's demesne." "The devil a foot of land belongs to me, or any of my line," replied the farmer. "But I have a pretty good lease from my Lord Fingell, but he will not renew it, and I have only two years left." Then Dean Swift asked when he was to see Mrs. Riley, wife of his host. "There she is, sitting before you, sir," replied Mr. Riley. The Dean raised his eyebrows and shook his head: "No, that is not Mrs. Riley, for I've always heard her spoken of as a woman of sense, and this lady is dressed in the fashion of a duchess. So, Mrs. Riley, the wife of a poor farmer, who only leases, would not wear silks and satins and costly ornaments, she would dress according to her station in life." Mrs. Riley, feeling the rebuke, arose and left the room, soon returning clad in a gown of plain stuff, and without jewelry. The Dean rising, advanced to her with outstretched hand: "Ah, this is the good wife of the farmer! Why, madam, your husband tried playing a trick on me awhile ago by presenting a gaily-bedecked woman of fashion to me as his wife. But I was not so easily taken in." He then took a penknife and cut the gold lace from the young son's hat, and threw it in the grate. Then resuming his good humor, he entertained the family till dinner was announced. When the hour for his departure arrived he took from his pocket a small bit of paper, neatly folded. Handing it to the son, he explained: "I do not wish to rob you of the value of your gold lace, but I give it you in a more useful form."

After the Dean had gone the young son opened the paper and beheld four shining guineas. Some months later Mr. Riley received notice from his landlord that Dean Swift had asked that his lease be renewed, a request which the Lord Fingell would gladly grant.

And Mrs. Riley and her vain young son were cured of their foolish fondness for dress which had led them into extravagances their poor circumstances could not well allow.

The Little Beggar and the Magic Umbrella

MANY hundreds of years ago there lived in a great city a poor little beggar by the name of Pietro. He was an orphan, and had not a friend in the world to care for him. After his mother and father died (they had been poor market gardeners in the country) Pietro could not stay on at the little rented garden, for the old landlord had said that he could not keep a pauper about his place, and that Pietro must look out for a home elsewhere. So, one rainy spring day the poor, heavy-hearted little Pietro wandered to the city, five miles distant from his former home.

Once in the vast city, where people took no notice of him, the child might have died of hunger had he not bethought him to beg for alms. He had heard how the poor begged for their daily bread in the great heartless city, and decided to try living that way till he could find some work. So he found a shadowy corner in one of the busiest streets, where he might stand in the angle of an immense show window and hold out his little hand for alms.

But after weeks of this sort of precarious living Pietro became much discouraged, for he hated begging and longed to do something to help himself—to earn an honest living, as he put it, for he could not think of living on food which was not earned by work. Both by nature and training he was industrious and honest, and asking for alms from the casual passerby humiliated him deeply, and caused the blush of shame to dye his cheek whenever a penny was dropped into his palm. But what could he do? He spent hours and hours each day hunting for work, and every employer to whom he applied would shake his head and say: "You're too small, lad. We must have those of experience. Why, you're such a little chap that it would seem like putting a baby to work."

And so Pietro became deeply discouraged, and one very windy and rainy day

stood, tears trickling down his face, in the corner behind the great show window, holding out his thin hand for alms. He was very, very tired and hungry, and he was heartsick from grief over the loss of his dear parents, who, though they had been very poor, had always given him a loving home, if not a fine one. And it was the loss of love more than the loss of home that grieved the little orphan so cruelly.

Down poured the rain, the wind carrying it into every corner about the great show window, and Pietro, trying in vain to shrink into the protecting angle, became drenched to the skin. His tears mingled with the rain on his cheeks, and rain dripped from the fingers of his little hand which was extended for alms; but the hurrying people did not pause to drop pennies into the open hand which was held out so pityingly. They were anxious to seek the shelter of their comfortable homes, and did not bother themselves about beggars when the rain poured down.

As the evening drew near the rain increased, and only one penny had little Pietro for the evening meal, to say nothing about the need of a few cents to pay for shelter in some cheap inn. What should he do. He glanced up, and as he did so beheld a great umbrella unfold over his head. This astonished him very much, and he was a bit afraid at first as there was no visible person holding the umbrella.

"Take this umbrella, child," said a low, gentle voice, "and walk to the outskirts of the city. By following this street to the west you'll soon leave the busy thoroughfares behind and find yourself in a beautiful suburb. I need give you no other instructions for you will find your way as I wish you to. I am a fairy speaking—a Rain Fairy—and it is my duty to look after the little helpless children in this city as far as I can do so. Today I have heard a cry from one of the finest homes in this country, a cry from a heavy-hearted couple who have lost their only child. You can take that child's place in their hearts. Turn to the right and follow this street, keeping this umbrella over your head."

"But—but—where shall I stop?" asked Pietro, much amazed that he should have heard a real fairy talking. But to his disappointment there was no reply to his question. Again and again he asked for more explicit directions, but not another word did the invisible fairy say.

"I guess she's flown away," mused Pietro. "Well, I have the umbrella, and I'll walk towards the west. The fairy said everything would happen as she had planned it. I'll go down this street and hope for good luck. No one ever heard of a fairy misleading one. Fairies are good and honest and the friends of the poor. Ah, how lovely and dry I am getting under this umbrella! I'll soon be very comfortable!" And smiling with pleasure and anticipation, little Pietro walked down the long street very rapidly.

And pretty soon he found himself in the outskirts of the city, the street becoming wider and better kept. A fine row of great trees shaded the pavement on either side, and the houses were large and far apart, being set in broad, well-kept grounds. Here and there Pietro could see happy faces of children looking out from the lace-draped windows, smiling at the rain. And again he would catch a glimpse of older faces, more serious, but happy.

Then of a sudden Pietro paused. There at a window—in one of the most magnificent of houses—sat a lovely woman, but her face was so sad, so sad. She was looking right towards Pietro, and a question seemed to be in her eyes. She seemed to be saying: "Who are you, little lad, and why are you out in all this terrible rain?"

Involuntarily Pietro turned in through the great iron gate which opened of itself as he approached it. Then to the house he walked, going in at the massive hall door, which opened of itself as he went up the steps. And into the very room where the lovely lady sat he walked, for some one seemed to lead him there.

The lady was standing, as if expecting him, with hands extended. "Why, child, who are you—and where did you come from?" she asked in breathless wonder. "I saw the great gate—which is always barred from within—open to admit you, though no hand drew back the bolts. I heard the hall door, always securely locked, open to admit you, though no servant was there to undo the bolt. And how strangely your little face appeals to me! It resembles the dear face of my own son who just died three weeks ago, and for whom I mourn. And my husband is ill of his grief over our loss, and nothing can comfort him."

While the lady spoke the door at the rear of the beautiful room opened and a stately but kind-faced gentleman entered. His face wore the signs of recent grief, but as he glanced at Pietro a smile of joy lit up his eyes. "How like our own darling this little boy looks! Who is he?" Then Pietro told everything he knew about himself, ending with the strange visit of the fairy to him, and of her giving him the umbrella, which, by some strange chance, had left him at the door.

"Ah, then he has come to occupy the place in our hearts made vacant by the death of our boy," cried the lady and gentleman, and they took Pietro to their hearts, saying that he was to be their "fairy-sent son." And that day Pietro found a happy home and loving foster parents.

Peter and Paul Go A-Hunting.

A STORY OF TWO BRAVE BOYS. BY MAUD WALKER.

PETER and Paul were twin brothers, nine years old. Their home was in a small town that lay in a pretty valley between long ranges of hills. And over these hills grew an abundant forest. And through the forest men and boys loved to go hunting for wild animals, though only a few of such now remained, and they were of the small and harmless variety. Squirrels, a few deer, badgers, coons and the like were the victims of the huntsmen. Larger game had been killed off many, many years ago.

One fine May morning little Peter and Paul were playing in the yard of their home when Paul's eyes turned on the deep blue, forest-covered hills a mile distant. "Say, Pete," he said, calling to his brother, who was at the moment riding a very fractious stickhorse, "wouldn't it be lots of fun to go a-hunting in the woods today? S'pose we ride over to Old Witch and shoot a bear?"

"Old Witch" was the name of the highest hill of one of the ranges that walled in the town where Peter and Paul lived. And hunters loved to drive into the woods that grew over the head of Old Witch, just as tree-enough hair grows on the head of an old witch or wizard.

"Sure, let's go," consented Peter, reining in his steed. Then for the moment forgetting his horse he threw him in the corner of the fence, not even taking time to remove the nice twine bridle. "I'll get my gun. You get yours. Then we'll ride Bounder and Plunger over to the great mountain, Old Witch, and shoot two bears."

"Bounder" and "Plunger" were the names of the fractious stickhorses ridden every day about the yard by Peter and Paul. It was poor Bounder who now lay in the corner of the fence, as gentle as any stickhorse can be, while Plunger stood tied to a small tree near to the gate, awaiting his master's pleasure.

Peter and Paul ran into the house and got their guns—pretty wooden weapons, as harmless as their horses, but very dangerous looking. Then they mounted Bounder and Plunger and were off, going down the dusty road like the wind, kicking up the dust into a cloud, their guns in place over their shoulders, gleaming in the sunlight. Both horsemen carried themselves with dignity and pride. No other twins in the town could ride and shoot as they could. There were no other boy twins in the town, and the two pairs of girl twins did not really count!)

"Did you ask mamma if we might go to Old Witch this morning?" asked Paul as they pranced across a little bridge which spanned a creek half a mile from home.

"Nope," replied Peter. "Didn't you ask her?"

"Nope. I left that for you to do while I got my gun." explained Paul.

"But I was getting my gun at the same time," replied Peter. "Sure, you should have asked mamma if we might come a-hunting on Old Witch."

"Oh, she won't care," said Paul. "We'll get home before dinner. And when we return with a bear—maybe two of 'em—mamma will be so proud of us that she'll call to Mrs. Jones next door to come in and see what her children have caught while hunting. And Mrs. Jones is such a gossip—mamma says she tells everything she knows and more, too—that she'll soon spread the news all over town. Then we'll be sure enough heroes. Won't that be great?"

"Sure, it will," acquiesced Peter. "But, gee, I'm getting tired, or, I mean, that Bounder is getting tired! It's a long way for a horse to travel without a rest."

"Oh, we'll soon be there," said Paul. "Plunger is a bit tired in his front legs, but his hind legs are strong yet. Let's trot up."

So Peter and Paul "trotted up," and soon entered the woods that grew over the sides of Old Witch.

Then the hunt began. Owing to the noise made by the horses' hoofs the twins decided to go afoot up the steep hillside, leaving their horses tied to a tree at the foot. They made rather slow progress, however, for they had already traveled a mile, and much of the way had been uphill.

Noon found Peter and Paul wandering about, much frightened, hunting for their horses. Not that they cared particularly for Bounder and Plunger, for any good straight sticks would prove as good horses as they, but because they knew their steeds were tethered right at the end of the road leading from town, and they were anxious to reach their home again. Somehow, they had lost their bearings, and did not know which way to go. They had traveled for a long, long time, and seemed to be getting into deeper woods all the while, and now they were thirsty, hungry, tired, and badly frightened. Suppose a bear really should come into sight! Paul declared that the proper thing would be to climb a tree smaller around than a bear's body, for then the bear could not climb after you. Peter thought it would be a good thing to build a circle of small fires, and get into the center of the burning circle should a bear or an elephant or a giraffe appear.

At any rate, the twins were lost and frightened, and wondered what was to become of them.

And just as Peter was on the point of tears, and Paul's voice was quivering, they heard a sound coming up the hillside. It sounded suspiciously like a human voice, and it said "Hello! Hello-o-o!"

"It's a man!" whispered Paul, fear seizing him. "What if it's a wild Indian? Ugh! Let's hide."

"It may be a wizard!" whispered Peter. "Yes, let's hide." Then they looked about for a hiding place, secure from the eyes and nose of the being, who, judging from sound, was approaching.

"Hello-o-o-o! Hello-o-o-o!" again came the cry. Peter and Paul dropped their guns, clasped hands, and together crouched behind a fallen tree. Then, discovering that the huge tree trunk was hollow, they crawled into it. It was close and smelly in there, and several bugs—frightful scarey things!—crawled over them. But better bugs than an Indian, or a real wizard, or, worse still, maybe a pirate!

"Hello-o-o! Kids, w-h-e-r-e a-r-e you? Hel-l-o-o-o!"

The voice was nearer and nearer, and resounded in the hollow tree, where lay trembling Peter and Paul. It sounds just like Uncle Tom's voice," whispered Peter. "Yes, it does," replied Paul in a whisper. "But it's some old wizard or witch trying to catch us by calling out in a voice that sounds like some one we know. It's what people call deception, you know."

"Yes," whispered Peter. Then both lay as quiet as they could, for they feared their trembling would shake the log and attract attention to their hiding place.

"Well, where do you suppose those terrible twins could have gone to?" asked a familiar voice, coming from some one within a few feet of the tree trunk. "Mrs. Jones said she saw them coming toward Old Witch this morning, riding their stick horses. And we've found their stick horses tied to a tree half a mile down the hillside. It's like the little scamps to get lost in this woods."

"Yes, they're already lost, I'll be bound," said another voice, also familiar.

"The other one talks like Uncle Tom's chum, Fred Smith," whispered Peter. "Wonder if it really could be——"

But he didn't finish his question, for at the moment a hand caught hold of his foot and a voice cried out: "Why, here's one of the rascals! I've got his foot! Well, 'pon my word!—crawled into a tree like a rabbit!" And the next instant Peter was pulled by main force into daylight, and there, laughing at him till the tears trickled down his cheeks, stood his Uncle Tom, and beside him, in open-mouthed wonder, was Fred Smith.

"Where's Paul?" asked Uncle Tom, as soon as he could find his voice, for Peter's aspect had been so comical.

"In there, too." And Peter pointed into the hollow of the tree. But, as he spoke, Paul began to make his exit, coming out feet foremost, and in a most ungraceful manner, his coat turned up over his ears and his face red from exertion and embarrassment. As soon as Uncle Tom could get him right end up and could control his laughter he asked: "Now, youngsters, why did you come here without first asking your mother's consent? And, coming, why did you hide?"

Peter and Paul stammered their excuses as best they could, ending by saying they had hoped to find a bear to carry home. But that they would be very glad to go home with Uncle Tom and Mr. Fred, even though they hadn't shot anything.

"Well, my little runaways, your mother is very much frightened about you, and we've been sent to fetch you. But the minute you get home you'll be put to bed without dinner or supper, for you'll have to pay the penalty of your naughtiness. Your mother was planning to take you to the woods for a picnic today; but now you'll have your picnic in bed—in a dark room, without the usual picnic spread. Come; one, two, march!" And Peter and Paul, declaring under their breath that they'd never run away again, followed their jolly uncle, who led them out of the wilderness.

"In there, too," and Peter pointed into the hollow of the tree.

Naughty Little Lucy's Lesson.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

LITTLE Lucy was an only child. Therefore, she seldom had to divide her playthings with other children. Of course, when her little friends came to see her, she said joyfully have given them her toys to play with; but such was not the case. She was a bit selfish, and not only wanted her company's playthings, but her own as well.

One day Bertha and Flossie Grey came to visit Lucy, and brought with them their dolls and little chairs. Also, Bertha brought her doll's little go-cart, with Dollie sitting so comfy in it. Flossie carried her dollie, for she had not been well, and the little mamma was afraid to let her out of her arms.

As soon as they reached Lucy's house they said to her: "Let's play in the back yard under the big tree, Lucy." But Lucy, not liking to have any one make a suggestion to her, at once said: "No, let's play in the carriage shed."

So, not wishing to be disagreeable, Bertha and Flossie went with Lucy to the carriage shed, and carried along their dolls and other playthings. But it was cold and gloomy in the shed, and the huge carriage—with its great black cover—took up nearly all the floor space, causing the little girls to crowd themselves into a corner where the wind came in disagreeable gusts from the big open door. "I want to play with your doll and go-cart," said Lucy, speaking to Bertha. "And I want Flossie's chair."

Bertha and Flossie gave up the playthings desired by Lucy, but Bertha asked to be allowed to play with Lucy's big doll. "Oh, no!" cried Lucy. "You might spoil her dress or muss her hair. No, I won't allow anyone but myself to play with my dollie."

"But you are playing with mine," protested Bertha. "I am not afraid to let you handle my dollie, and Flossie isn't afraid to let you have her chair. If we give our playthings to you, Lucy, you should allow us your playthings in return."

"No, I won't," said Lucy. "My playthings belong to just me, and I won't let others play with them." And she pouted disagreeably.

"Well, give back my dollie to me, and Flossie's chair to her," said Bertha. "If we can't have your things, you should not want ours. It isn't fair of you, Lucy."

Lucy began to cry, and declared her friends were very unkind to her, whereupon Bertha and Flossie tried persuading her, saying she might have their things if she would not feel aggrieved. But she kept on crying, and the more she was coaxed the more she acted naughty.

At last Bertha and Flossie decided to go home, and gathering up their playthings, made ready to start. Lucy, really wanting them to stay, began crying all the louder, saying: "Oh, you are bad girls, and I won't like you if you run home this way, so I won't."

"But you do not treat us nicely," protested Flossie. "No, you do not want to play fair," said Bertha. "We like to play with little girls who play fair, and who do not quarrel or cry. We'll just run away, and maybe go to Laura Snell's house; Laura is always so glad to have us play with her, and she never refuses to give us her playthings when we are visiting her."

Lucy was too stubborn just then to say she was sorry for her naughty conduct, and sat pouting while Bertha and Flossie went out of the carriage shed and off towards Laura's home. But the moment her company had gone Lucy ran into the house and begged her mother to allow her to go to play for an hour with Tommy and Myrtle Brown.

"But aren't Bertha and Flossie visiting you?" asked Lucy's mamma. Then, a little at a time Lucy's mamma drew from her the cause of Bertha's and Flossie's short stay, and, taking her little girlie on her knee, she explained how selfish children never had any friends, and how unhappy their unfriendly conduct towards others made not only themselves, but those most nearly concerned. "A selfish girl or boy," said Lucy's mamma, "cannot live a successful life, for she or he thinks only of herself or himself, and never tries to make others happy. Now, don't you think you would be much happier had you been nice towards Bertha and Flossie and allowed them to play with your dollie and other toys? They would give you anything of theirs to enjoy, and you should treat them just as you wish to be treated by them. Now, dear, run after Bertha and Flossie and tell them you are sorry for having been selfish and naughty, and ask them to forgive you and to return for tea."

Lucy jumped off her mother's knee and ran in pursuit of Bertha and Flossie. The little girls had just reached the gate of Laura Snell's home, but paused in response to Lucy's call: "Oh, Bertha and Flossie, forgive me for having acted so naughty a while ago. I'm awfully sorry I was so selfish, and I don't blame you for leaving me as you did. Mamma has told me how unhappy all selfish children are, and I know my being selfish was why I was not happy this afternoon while you were with me. Can you forgive me? And will you come back to my house? We'll play just wherever you like and you may have any of my playthings you want. I'll be so happy if you'll come—and forgive me."

"Of course, we'll forgive you, Lucy," cried Bertha and Flossie together, and, arms about each other, the three little girls returned to Lucy's house, where a nice time was had by all.

"A selfish girl or boy," said Lucy's mamma, "cannot live a successful life."

By E. J. EDWARDS

Every steamship that has sailed from the harbor of New York since the 1st of February has numbered among its passengers one or more of those Americans who are recognized as having such wealth as to justify speaking of them as multi-millionaires. A few years ago this annual movement of the millionaires from the United States to Europe did not begin until midspring. It is as well recognized a feature of American life, and from one point of view of American finance, as is that great movement of currency from the East to the harvest fields of the West, which begins in the late summer and continues until the crops have been brought to the markets.

But the greatest millionaire who crosses the water in the spring and early summer is the American public. A year ago the dealers in foreign exchange and in letters of credit made an estimate of the amount of exchange or letters of credit which had been bought by Americans who proposed spending a few weeks or two or three months in Europe it, of course, was impossible to obtain any accurate statistics of the total amount of money thus used. That information is, however, in the possession of the national currency commission of which Senator Aldrich is chairman, although it has not yet been tabulated.

But a fairly good estimate justified the bankers, who sell letters of credit in saying that that part of the American public, which went abroad a year ago spent not less than $100,000,000 for letters of credit or foreign exchange. This is so great an amount that it is necessary to reckon with it in forming any estimate of the international trade balance. It creates what is called an invisible balance against the United States. In early April of this year there were indications that this greatest of millionaires, the American public, might expend as much as $150,000,000 in the purchasing of letters of credit.

The first American millionaire to set the example of a regular yearly excursion to Europe was William H. Vanderbilt. Of course before he began to set apart two months of ever summer for this excursion other Americans of great wealth occasionally visited Europe, but not regularly. William E. Dodge, philanthropist, great merchant and member of congress, caused comment because he found it convenient to cross the ocean once every two or three years; for in his day it was thought a strange thing that any man should be persuaded to make that journey more than once or twice in the course of a lifetime.

William H. Vanderbilt went to Europe every summer chiefly because he was persuaded that the ocean voyage gave perfect rest. When the steamship Britannic was regarded as the queen of the Atlantic he was accustomed to engage passage on her some time in the month of June. His sailing was an event in New York. He was the first of the millionaires to be interviewed by the reporters on the eve of sailing, and it was the freedom with which he then talked that led to the custom of approaching millionaires for a brief chat when they are upon the steamship deck.

Mr. Vanderbilt always found a place reserved for him upon the bridge of the Britannic, where he stood beside the pilot and the captain as the steamer swerved away from the pier and headed down the Narrows, exactly as Theodore Roosevelt took a station on the bridge of the steamer Hamburg when beginning his hunting expedition to Africa. Mr. Vanderbilt, when sailing, was the picture of cordiality and good humor. He cultivated a style of beard colloquially known as the Dundreary sidewhiskers, and these, being his conspicuous feature, were easily distinguishable as he stood upon the bridge. He was fond of taking his uncle, Capt. "Jake" Vanderbilt, to Europe with him—an uncle who was blunt, frank, unconventional and, while proud of the great success obtained by his brother, Commodore Vanderbilt, was nevertheless not the slightest overawed by the fact that the Vanderbilts were second only to the Astors in the possession of wealth. While in Europe William H. Vanderbilt paid no heed whatever to business, excepting upon one occasion. This was when the sensational transfer of $25,000,000 of New York Central stock from the ownership of the Vanderbilts to that of British capitalists was under consideration; and Mr. Vanderbilt did so far depart from his custom as to give much time to the consideration of this, then the greatest of financial transactions involving the actual transfer of title from American to European capitalists.

Mr. Morgan's Visits to the Old World.

When J. Pierpont Morgan bought the great yacht, Corsair some of his friends were of the opinion that he contemplated making use of this steamer for his yearly European excursion. As Mr. Morgan, when in the United States in the summer season, frequently makes the Corsair his summer home, so it was presumed that he would bring this great yacht into service for his European trips. Instead of doing that, however, it became his custom to send the Corsair, in charge of captain and crew, to the Mediterranean, while he took passage on some one of the ocean steamers, with intent to cruise upon the Corsair in European waters. Mr. Morgan for many years timed his annual excursion to Europe so as to escape the fog and the tempests of the early spring. But with the construction of the modern steamship, whereby almost all the perils of the sea are reduced to a minimum, he began to depart from the United States earlier in the year, until now he usually sails some time in the month of February. So also he has prolonged his vacation season, and instead of remaining in Europe no more than six weeks or two months, does not return to the United States until midsummer.

The question is often asked, "What does Mr. Morgan do when in Europe?" His partners have good knowledge of the fact that he spends some time in supervision of or a personal association with the banking houses in Paris and London with which his firm is identified. But in recent years there has been no evidence that Mr. Morgan has given much time to business, excepting that when the cyclonic panic that followed the battle between James J. Hill and E. H. Harriman Mr. Morgan, control of the Northern Pacific was at its height the ocean cables were made hot with communications passing back and forth between Mr. Morgan and his associates. These dispatches resulted in the deadlock, or truce, which terminated that panic.

Much of Mr. Morgan's time, in recent years at least, is spent in the cultivation of his taste and the gratification of his fascination for works of art, for bric-a-brac, for rare antiques and for the choicer treasures whose value is recognized chiefly by bookworms so-called and bibliophiles. For some time Mr. Morgan has heard of the marvelous constructive work by which the Nile is controlled so that irrigation may be under command and possibly some day Egypt prove to be a rival of the United States in the production of cotton. But it has not been convenient for Mr. Morgan until this year to visit Egypt and make the journey up the Nile to inspect the great dam at Assouan. Some of his friends who know what the fascination of antiquity has for him wonder whether he will not find greater excitement in the prehistoric cities of upper Egypt—some of which have been partially unearthed in order to complete the constructive work upon the Nile—than he will in the massive engineering works themselves.

Stillman's Business and Pleasure Trips.

Not until three years ago did James Stillman, banker and millionaire many times over, begin regular annuel excursions to Europe. Mr. Stillman times his departure at an earlier date than that fixed upon by any of the other millionaires who regularly visit Europe. For three years he has sailed from New York for Europe within two or three weeks after the first of January, purposing to remain abroad until some time in the summer.

When Mr. Stillman first went to Europe upon a regular yearly excursion he was much occupied in an investigation of the methods by which the London joint stock banks have been brought to the highest perfection and especially in that system of co-operation which has been developed to so high a degree in London by which the joint stock banks act in association with the Bank of England. Upon Mr. Stillman's return from Europe that year he was asked to address the American Bankers' association, whose annual meeting was held in New York city. As he is a man of very few words and never had been known to make a public address, the invitation was given to him with small hope that he would accept it. But he did, and spoke briefly of the system of co-operation that prevails with the great banks of London, intimating that there cannot be perfect development of American banking until we in this country have imitated this method perfected by the London bankers.

At that time it was presumed that Mr. Stillman went abroad chiefly for the purpose of gaining at first-hand reliable information as to banking methods in London and upon the Continent. But the following year he sailed again and established himself in Paris, cultivating a fine taste for art, and especially for pictures, taking some part in the social life of Paris, and appearing to be interested especially in the personality and character of the men of affairs, political, financial and literary, who are the authorities in France today. It is presumed, of course, that Mr. Stillman also keeps in touch with the great currents of international finance as these are discovered in Paris, Berlin and particularly in London.

Jacob H. Schiff of New York city usually sails for Europe late in March or early in April. He has no other purpose in making this excursion than rest or recreation. And yet other Americans who have visited the Continent of Europe in the spring, and who have had occasion to call at some who have banking houses of Germany or of Holland, have observed Mr. Schiff in friendly association with the bankers who command the higher financing of Germany. It is assumed that his business with them is more social than financial, for the cable brings him daily into instant and constant communication with the foremost bank of Germany, with which his American banking house is identified.

Mr. Schiff does make good use of the opportunity his yearly European visits afford of obtaining accurate and first-hand information respecting the condition of the Jews of Russia and of Poland, and, in fact, of all of that race who are in need of the uplifting influence which he, James Speyer, the Seligmans and others of that faith have given so bounteously in recent years.

Seth Low on His Wheel.

Seth Low, formerly mayor of New York, and Nicholas Murray Butler's predecessor as president of Columbia university, is one of our millionaires who makes little or no display of his wealth. Although Mr. Low does not go to Europe regularly as the summer season comes, yet he is a frequent visitor there, and twice, at least, might have represented the United States as American minister at a European court. With Andrew D. White, who was also a college president, is a millionaire, and has been minister to Germany, he was named as one of the American representatives at the first Hague peace conference.

Mr. Law was constant in his attendance at the sessions of the conference, but unlike some of his associates, who spent their leisure moments in the society of distinguished delegates, he found recreation and health in excursions on his bicycle in the suburbs and outskirts of The Hague. The peasantry looked with admiration at the skill with which a stranger, garbed in the conventional bicycle costume, whom they knew to be an American, drove his wheel with speed and dexterity far away from The Hague, frequently in the early hours of the day, and almost always an hour or two before sunset. Whether the day was fine or showery was a matter of no consequence to Mr. Low. By means of these bicycle excursions he became familiar with the country extending twenty miles from the heart of The Hague in all directions, and was reported by one of his associate American delegates to have been the only delegate to the peace conference who brought along a bicycle and used it.

Joseph Choate in the Alps.

A family party whose home is in Connecticut, in the course of a summer tour of Europe, made some ten years ago, found themselves in one of the beautiful Swiss villages at the foot of the Alps. Presently there came to the hotel a gentleman of charming address; a handsome man a little past middle life, who seemed the soul of good nature, was wholly democratic in his association, and yet bore an unmistakable atmosphere of refinement and cultivation. He seemed pleased to make himself agreeable to this New England family. He, too, was a New Englander by birth, he said, although he did not mention his name. The family had surmised by his manner that he was an American, not judging him by any other characteristic than a certain subtle refinement as well as cordiality and affability. He took pains to explain to them the best method of ascending the mountain passes. He recommended certain guides. He seemed to take upon himself with pleasure the responsibility of so advising this little New England group that its members might see, with the greatest possible ease and KATRINE. By Elinor Macartney Lane. New York: Harper & Brothers. $1.50.

That the author of "Nancy Stair" died at the fullest tide of her literary powers is made clearly evident by this last novel, the publication of which preceded her lamented death by only a few days. "Katrine" is a sterling romance, lively, even brilliant, in its limpid flow of narration, and keen and unerring in its analysis of human character. In the course of an absorbing story the reader is introduced to some very charming people. First, of course, is Katrine herself—beautiful, brave, noble, generous, trusting Katrine. Then there is honey-tongued, steel-hearted but fine-ethered Dermott McDermott, with his riotous imagination, his loyal affection, his relentless pursuit of his purpose—McDermott, who loses his great light, indeed, but who comes out of it higher and finer than he who wins. It is hard to be so enthusiastic about irresistibly handsome Francis Ravenel, even though he is the hero of the piece. While his devotion in the end goes a long way toward redeeming him from his error of giving up trusting Katrine because of family pride, it does not quite re-establish him, particularly as the Katrine full of honors to whom he returns is a very different girl from the innocent country maiden whom he rejected. Nevertheless, it is an abundantly satisfying romance, and a worthy successor of "Nancy Stair."

CHERUB DEVINE. By Sewell Ford. New York: Mitchell Kennerly. $1.50. "Cherub" Devine, breezy, buoyant and resourceful stockbroker, is an original and a most diverting character. Almost absent-mindedly he buys a rich country estate, and when he happens to think of it again several weeks later he goes out to look it over. He buys it as he might have ordered a peck of apples sent up to the house, and he examines it as he might have idly sampled one of the apples. However, unsuspected events hinge upon this pursuit of a whim. He finds evidences that somebody is living in his house, and after it has been a pleasant mystery for awhile, made piquant by the appearance of a delightfully beautiful young woman about the place, he discovers that the former owners are still in the house, their stay made necessary by financial misfortunes that have come upon the muddled old aristocrat that heads the family. Also, the young woman turns out to be his daughter, a happily widowed American countess. Being exclusive and blue-blooded in a comedy kind of a way, and looking upon "Cherub" as a monster in human form because of the fanciful newspaper articles they have read of him, the family creates a situation that needs remedying. It is the business of this story to remedy it, which it does with an abundance of cheerful comedy and some good, red-blooded action, including a big stock exchange fight in which the hero plays the leading part. It is all done humorously, breezily and most entertainingly.

This very popular author is in an uncommonly hilarious and happy mood in this short novel. It is a romantic comedy, and both comedy and romance are done with feeling and insight. We are introduced to Mr. Van Pryche, a blue-blooded old sponge and cad, who is trying to bring up his son to be a "gentleman" after his own ideals of what constitutes a gentleman—that is, a useless loafer, marrying a fortune to support him in his idle waste of time. His son, however, has the real stuff in him, even if he does have to fall in love to find himself. He goes to work, much to the disgust of his father, who has been trying to arrange a wealthy match for him, and who goes off in a huff and marries an "old pelican," to quote his son's description of an elderly but ridiculously wealthy beldame. Meanwhile the son finds his way to real and satisfying happiness by the pure force of sane love and hard work, with a very wholesomely beautiful young woman to help him to enjoy it. It is a very delightful comedy, and Mr. McCutcheon is at his best in it. Also, it is contained in a very dainty volume, to which Harrison Fisher has contributed some excellent pictures and Theodore B. Hapgood some charming decorations.

Fifty-eight of Virginia's 100 counties were named during the Colonial times, so the story of these names makes up the entertaining history of Virginia. It traces the history of Virginia from the time of the first eight shires were formed in 1634 to the formation of Dickenson county in 1880, and the counties form a brilliant line of famous names, names of kings and queens, princesses, dukes, warriors and statesmen. Many came from royal families, some from Indian names and natural features, some from American warriors and statesmen, and others from Virginia governors and United States presidents. Dr. Long has made a valuable and an entertaining sidelight upon history out of his theme.

Here are poems of a very different type from this interesting writer's "Poems of Passion," which created quite a noise in the world some time since. Yet they are quite as tuneful, quite as vivid and luxuriant in thought and phrase, and quite as satisfying in their way as anything Mrs. Wilcox has done. The volume includes the best and most recent of her "talks in verse," adapted to the needs of each mortal in every walk of life, and the highest expressions of her experience and personal knowledge that God is love, and that the good in man far exceeds the evil that men do. There are also some "New Thought Pastels," a collection of thoughts on this subject formerly published in another volume. A cheerful optimism and a wholesome sanity of vision pervade the poems.

By a set of amusing circumstances a young man finds himself in a country house, mistaken for a clergyman, who has been summoned to perform the ceremony uniting in marriage the lovely daughter of the house and a rascal of an actor who has imposed upon her parents. The hero had taken the clergyman's berth in the sleeping car and had been turned out at the clergyman's station with the clergyman's grip in his hand. He finds himself compelled, after a thoughtless lunge into the circumstances surrounding him, to pretend that he is what they take him for, though the young woman, who objects strenuously to the marriage, confronting her, knows that he is not what he tries to seem. There is a good comedy situation in the attempt of a very worldly young man to act the part of preacher, and the author skilfully makes the most of it. This furnishes the basis for a light comedy novel which is deftly and humorously done. It is lively and entertaining, and while it is anything but profound, it will amuse, and that is obviously its sole object.

This tale reads like a conventional French novel—which means unconventionality so far as Western ideas are concerned— full of intrigue, which might have been transplanted—if not translated—and produced in this country under the guise of a divorce problem story. It throws no light on the divorce problem, yet there is much wholesome sentiment in it as well as some not so wholesome. It would be a better book for more careful punctuation, whether the lack of it is due to the author or the proofreaders.

In this little book there is much earnest, helpful encouragement, and many thoughts that it is good to get a grasp of when you fear that you are sinking in the stream of discouragement that awaits all who don't struggle to keep out of it. Strong and wholesomely optimistic ideas by the editor of the volume are interspersed with quotations from the great minds that have seen the truth, unclouded by pettiness or self—which is the same thing.

You ought of saw the way he looked at me;
And when I done my fancy kick—O, Gee!
He simply yelled, it seemed to please him so.
They say his father has a pile of dough
And he's the only son. I guess I'll see
If something can't be done. It ought to be An easy thing to get the boy in tow."

Again:

"Gee, I'm so darned refined I pretty near Have apoplexy when I hear a phrase that ain't grammatical."

There are thoughts on the New Year, on Christmas, on hope, on spring, on waning summer, on Thanksgiving, on harvest time, on "Good in Everything." An epitome of wholesome optimism.

WHEN SKIES ARE GRAY: With a Rift or Two. By Clarence Ward Headitt. New York: Neale Publishing company.

While professedly a document in opposition to capital punishment in every form, there underlies this powerful work by one of the most notable of Russian prose writers a strong protest against the brutalities of the Reign of Terror in Russia. Yet it passed the Russian censors, and its Russian publication was permitted. It tells of seven persons who were condemned to death, two of them women revolutionists, but some of them criminals of the lowest type. It is a powerful study of these seven contrasted types, and shows keenness and depth of analysis of human character. It is easy to see from this book why Andreyev has been called "the Russian Poe." With a special introduction to the American edition, Andreyev says: "Knowing the sensitiveness of the American people, who at one time sent American people, who at one time sent across the ocean steamers full of bread for famine-stricken Russia, I am convinced that in this case our people, in their misery and bitterness, will also feel understanding and sympathy. And if my truthful story about seven of the thousand who were hanged will help toward destroying at least one of the barriers which separate one human being from another, one human being from another, one soul from another soul, I shall consider myself happy."

Of Books and Writers.

An amusing interchange of compliments between Arthur Stringer, whose "wireless" novel, "The Gunrunner," published by H. W. Dodge & Co., is doing well and his friend, Sewell Ford, ing well and his friend, Sewell Ford, goes along with their respective publications. When Mr. Stringer's "Silver Poppy" came out Mr. Ford telegraphed: "I'll lose no time in reading your new book." Upon the appearance of the first Ford novel Mr. Stringer retorted: "Your book is rarely interesting. Mr. Stringer's 'Wire Tappers' called forth this encomium: "This is a wonderful and weighty novel. I'm lying under a great obligation to you." Mr. Ford's "Horses Nine" was praised in these words: "Your book proves to be a thing of sound and stable ideas." Then came Mr. Stringer's "The Woman in the Rain," which Mr. Ford acknowledged as follows: "Your poetry arrived today—am looking forward to reading it with much impatience." Of Mr. Ford's "Shorty McCabe" Mr. Stringer wrote: "I promise to give your book the minute examination it merits."

When she was a youngster Mary Roberts Rinehart spent her summers on a farm. There was an old wooden settle in the kitchen; the seat was hinged, and one day underneath it she struck a treasure trove. Under Fox's "Book of Martyrs" were about ninety-five of the Nick Carter novels, dripping with crime and oozing with gore. They had pictures, too. They belonged to the hired man, a pale-eyed, pale-haired creature, meekness itself, who reveled in crime on the sly and dreamed of making redskins tremble at the mere mention of his name. Some go to "The Iliad" for their inspiration, some to Shakespeare or the Bible. The author of "The Circular Staircase" and "The Man in Lower Ten" cheerfully confesses that she got hers from Nick Carter at the age of 9.

"Life's Day," by William Seaman Bainbridge, which Stokes published in April, is a manual of health for the busy man and woman, giving in an interesting form a program for the maintenance of good physical and mental condition in all periods of life. It is the finished and completed product of a series of popular lectures given by Dr. Bainbridge at Chautauqua. It is unusual because it covers the whole subject, not confining itself to one period or to one phase of hygiene, such as nutrition. It is also unique because it is a popular book by a recognized medical authority. Dr. Bainbridge being a very prominent physician in New York city, with many medical and surgical connections of importance.

Mr. Cornish visited the canal in 1907 and on the latter occasion he was afforded special opportunities for investigation and study. "The White Sister," the novel completed by F. Marion Crawford shortly before his death, will be published by the Macmillan company. It is a love story of modern Rome, the field which is more intimately connected with Mr. Crawford's fame than any other. The thousands whom Mr. Crawford made familiar with Italian life and character will be glad to learn that almost the last thing he wrote for publication treats once more of his old love.

Among the Magazines.

In the May number of the Survey, Jacob A. Riis, who has recently returned to the East from a winter's trip in the West, writes about the wonders of the "Grand Canyon of Arizona." Alice Bennett tells of the successful farm colonies of Italians that have been established in different parts of the country. In "A Modest Experiment in Foster Motherhood," Helen W. Rogers writes about a successful campaign for pure milk carried on last summer in Indianapolis. The playgrounds of Pittsburg are described by Miss Beulah Kennard, president of the Pittsburg Playgrounds association. Louise C. Odencrantz gives the results of an investigation of the irregularity of employment of women factory workers in New York city. It is a remarkable story of the difficulty that the woman out of a job has in finding work. Prof. Charles H. Cooley of the University of Michigan tells about the life and unique work of President Angell of the University of Michigan.

"The Hundred Worst Books" is the engaging topic with which Samuel Mc Crothers opens the May Atlantic. In this whimsical humor of his essay is balanced by the serious and suggestive paper that follows it, "Is Immortality Desirable?" by G. Lowes Dickinson, the famous autor of "The Letters of a Chinese Official" and other contemporary classics. In his article on "Railroads and Publicity," James J. Hill reaches the climax of the series, supporting the grave charges he makes against unionism in a way which will be difficult enough for the unions to answer. The other Atlantic series, "The Diary of Gideon Welles," provides an interesting installment on the gross mistakes of Seward during the early years of the war. The secretary's folly in the Trent affair, as his cussedness in the Fort Sumter, as his cussedness in the Fort Sumter, was, without the slightest reserve. Other telling articles in the number are a timely paper on "Charitable Aid in America," by Robert Hunter, and "Occupational Disease and Economic Waste," by C-E. A. Winslow and "Newspapers as Historical Sources," by the distinguished historian, James Ford Rhodes.

The special features of the May number of the Review of Reviews are two articles on the detection of the church in healing physical disease, one from the clergyman's and the other from the physician's viewpoint, by the Rev. Dr. Lyman P. Powell and Dr. John C. Fisher, respectively. The frank and searching exposition of Japan's financial condition and exigencies, by Adachi Kinnosuke; a chapter of the late Senator Allison's reflections of public men and affairs of the past; an illustrated account of important experiments now being conducted by the government to prevent the fearful loss of life in American coal mine explosions; a timely summary of the results of Antarctic exploration, including the "farthest south" accomplished by Lieut. Shackleton in January last, by Cyrus C. Adams; a statement by Dr. Ferdinand C. Inglehart regarding the successive political defeats encountered by the American saloon during the past twelve months; a report of the proceedings of the Pan-American Scientific Congress held last Christmas at Santiago de Chile, by Dr. L. S. Rowe; an interesting analysis of some of the results of the practice of thrift by the French people—"A Nation of Little Savers"—by Charles F. Speare; and an entertaining description of the Americanized ostrich, by Will Robinson.

The May Wide World is an excellent number and well maintains its reputation as the most unique magazine published. As a medium for keeping in touch with the different countries of the globe it is unsurpassed. Its tales of adventure are more about and one may learn from it more about nations and nationalities than by a week's study of a geography. The present number takes us to such widely separarted points as Northern Nigeria, the State of Bhutan, Hudson Bay Territory, Sydney, San Francisco, Switzerland, Australia, Japan, Tangier, Colorado, China, Bombay, etc. A particularly interesting article is that by the well-known war correspondent, Reginald Wyon, on "The Sportsmen of the Near East." An interesting account of the work done by the famous dogs of the Great St. Bernard Hospice is contributed by H. J. Stapstone.

The May Strand is an especially good number, containing excellent fiction by Hall Caine, Conan Doyle, W. W. Jacobs and others less famous. The articles deal with such widely different subjects as "Mountaineering Tragedies," "The Whirligig Beetle," "Mazes and How to Thread Them," and "The Light Side of Finance." Alma-Tadema, R.A., the famous artist of Greek subjects, contributes some chapters of "My Reminiscences," which are illustrated with many of his best-known pictures. An amusing story by Lloyd Williams regarding a trained donkey is embellished with some inimitable sketches by the animal artist, J. A. Shepherd.

Hannis Taylor opens the May number of The North American Review with a striking article on "A New Era in Legal Development." Gertrude Atherton describes the career of "Nicolai Petrovich Rezanov," showing how Russia nearly acquired our Pacific coast. In a contribution, entitled "Separation of Church and State: A Policy or a Principle?" the Rev. William Shoenfeld, replying to Cardinal Gibbons' article on "The Church and the Republic," endeavors to show that the Roman Catholic who is loyal to the teachings of his church cannot give true allegiance to the Republic. Frederick L. Hoffman seeks to interpret the significance of "The Decline in the Birth Rate." Edward Porritt, in "Canada and the Payne Bill," seeks to determine the influence of tariff revision on the trade between the United States and Dominion.

Early issues of The Century are to have a novel fiction feature in a series of three stories written around the superstition of thirteen at table. The three authors are Margaret Deland, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, and Owen Wister; and the names of the authors of each story will not be disclosed until the series is complete. The first of the stories, to be entitled "With the Coin of Her Life," will come in the June Century; and the editors say the chances are small that readers will guess correctly its author's identity.

The Pallett and Bench, and Keramic Studio, for May, published by the Keramic Studio company, are fresh with new designs and ideas, as well as studies for the art student in oil and china painting. The correspondent columns of both magazines are very beneficial in giving ideas and helping those who are in doubt as to procedure. The colored studies for May are both rich and soft in coloring.

The issue of Harper's Weekly for May 1 contains a number of notable articles. Harry A. Franck, continuing his description of his tramp round the world, contributes a humorous account of how he earned his living as a clown in a Ceylon circus. Another amusing article, by Sam Travis, tells of the Indian's habits as tenant, and describes how the author was dispossessed of his property by a community of tramp Indians whom he had permitted to squat on it. In an article entitled "Scouting for the Farmer," E. Alexander Powell describes the adventurous tasks of the government agricultural experts who are sent to the far corners of the earth to bring back new fruits and trees and plants. Florida Pier contributes an amusing and whimsical story entitled "The Little Man with the Safety Pin."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The seniors and the juniors clashed yesterday morning in a battle of wit and oratory.

The juniors sent out their best representatives in intellectual stunts to do up the seniors and succeeded in doing it. The annual junior-senior debate is always a matter of great interest, and this year was exceptionally so on account of the question to be debated. It is a strange fact that the juniors always succeed in defeating the seniors and popular sympathy is always with them.

The question was, "Resolved, That the women of the United States should be given full suffrage." The seniors upheld the affirmative and the juniors the negative. Both sides put up a very strong argument, as is shown by the fact that the vote of the judges was split. During the debate some very interesting and important phases of this question were brought up. The seniors argued in a way that won them the warmth and friendship of all the girls present, and juniors caused quite a bit of laughter on account of their efforts to square themselves with the fair ones. While the cause of the suffragettes was given a rude setback by the decision of the judges, which went for the negative, still they have not given up yet and soon a widespread movement will be inaugurated among the female enthusiasts of the school and a regular campaign undertaken.

Those who were on the senior team were John Skadberg, Erling Mostuc and Ralph Johnson, and on the junior were Harry Zaltkovski, Rupert O'Brien and Alfred Ott. The judges were Mr. Phillips, Mr. Kenney and Mr. Morgan.

Undoubtedly the most interesting event of the past week was the play given by the senior-junior division of the Philomathian society last Monday afternoon. The periods were shortened so that the play began at 1:30. The scenery effects arranged by Dan Shibuyo were very beautiful and realistic, and the girls in their pretty Japanese gowns looked very charming. Beulah Hubbard, as Mitsu, was the leading lady and looked and acted her part excellently, as did Goldine Kropanker, who acted the part of her mother. In the masculine roles were Constance Mitchell, Helen Hawkes and Loretta Tims, who did marvelously well in their difficult parts. The other members of the cast who appeared to advantage were Janet Bailey, Margaret Cant, Helen Prosser, Dorothy Gordon, Callie Merritt, Elizabeth Olcott, Louise Prosser and Marjorie Davis. A very delightful musical program was rendered by Miss Wright, Marie Agatin and Frances Burris, and a chorus consisting of Myrtle Pierce, Myrna Pressnell, Lena Ward, Winnifred Warner, Frances Dickerson and Marian Merritt. The cast of this play, which was given at Cloquet last week, returned the visit paid them by the Duluth troupe and attended the production Monday.

The junior class has shown its colors and in spite of all difficulties will give a ball in honor of the departing senior class. A committee has been placed in charge of this affair with Clifford Thorburne as chairman, and it is already beginning to make prepartions for the event. This year's junior-senior will be a very pretty one, although it will be along the simple lines laid down last year. The seniors are privileged to invite any of their friends outside of school, if their names are handed in Monday.

A very interesting meeting of the Public Speaking club was held Monday. A regular lesson in parliamentary order was given to the members, who went to the meeting armed with a Robert's Rules of Order and other equipment. Several mock elections and meetings were held, so that the members might become familiar with all such proceedings.

The seniors are preparing for the class day exercises and also for commencement. Rehearsal are being held for the play and those who will participate in the commencement program are also busy. As yet the names of those who will read their essays have not been announced, but they will be soon.

The date for the interclass track meet has been set for May 15. This year's meet ought to be an exceptionally fine one. The coach and members of the team have put forth every effort to arouse enthusiasm and pull off a very successful meet. So far, very little has been accomplished in the regular events on account of the weather conditions, which make it almost impossible to do anything on the track in Duluth. However, Mr. Hiestand has kept them out on distance work in spite of the cold wet weather, and his men are all in fine condition. During the last of the week the men were working at the regular events and are showing good form. A very large squad is at work now and more are coming out every day, so that the contests between the classes ought to be very close. The senior representation is very small and unless more men get out they will occupy the last place when the totals are made known. The seniors have the best athletic material in the school, but do not seem to have enough spirit to get out and work. The final arrangements for the Minneapolis meet are being made, and as soon as the class meet is held the team will be selected.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKeig of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

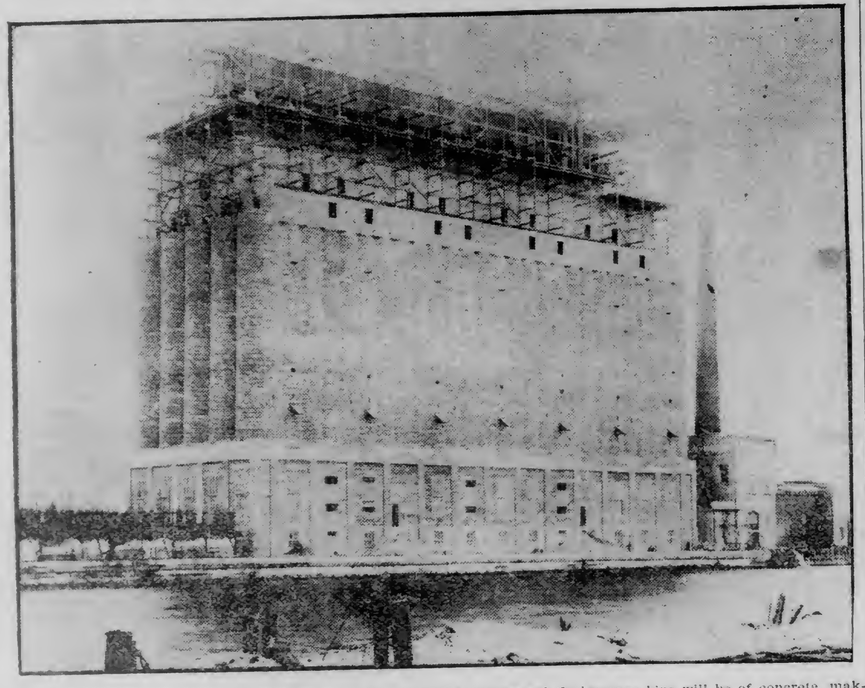
MAMMOTH NEW ELEVATOR IS RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION



Work on the new elevator being built by the Consolidated Elevator company to replace the structure which was burned last fall, is progressing in good shape.

The building is one of a group located between Garfield avenue and the bay front, and will be known as elevator D. Its cost, complete, will be $311,000.

In construction it is of tile, reinforced by steel and concrete. The storage bins will be of concrete, making the elevator absolutely fire proof. The old building, that was burned, was of wood construction, covered with iron sheeting.

PLANNING A CITY'S FUTURE

American Towns Are Beginning to Look Ahead and Lay Out Parks and Boulevards and Beautify Waterways—The New Science of City Building.

By CHARLES MULFORD ROBINSON
Author of "Modern Civic Art," "The Improvement of Towns and Cities" and "The Call of the City."

Definitely to plan a city's future growth instead of letting it develop as to the whim of the individual real estate owner and chance, direct, is something relatively new. But it is such a common sense procedure that cities and towns everywhere are taking up, not in the United States alone, but in England, Germany and France. In this country something like fifty cities have now had experts plan their future growth, and dozens more are agitating the subject; in England and Germany it has been made a national affair, regulated by the national laws, in recognition of its exceeding importance to the welfare of the state.

The movement is new in its widespread application. There have been isolated examples of it ever since men began to dream of cities beautiful. The beauty of Athens and its port were consciously planned. Nero rebuilt Rome in a comprehensive way; the splendor of Paris is not the result of chance; the streets of Washington were laid down on paper before the wilderness was broken. But generally speaking, the cities where business is done, where goods are made and sold, have been suffered until the last few years to develop haphazardly with what delays of traffic, cramping of business, crowding of people, and physical and consequent mental deterioration of human labor, and loss in its efficiency, all men know.

Doubtless a reason for this was an idea that comprehensive city planning would concern itself only with the spectacular aspects of the city. There was a feeling that it might be well enough for capital cities, like Washington, for great cities of pleasure, like Vienna and Paris, but that for cities which were meant not to be looked at but to do business in, it was likely to be an obstructional and visionary sort of thing. Then, gradually, as cities increased in number and in size; as, with the great development of commerce and manufacturing, their high destiny came to be realized; as their internal development, in water supply, sewerage, paving and lighting came to be more perfected, it was seen that they were like great machines, or vast organisms, in which all the parts were correlated and that to better their product, both in goods and in men, it was necessary to think in large terms and look to the future. It is not, of course, work that everybody can do. Along with respect for property rights, there must be elimination of the personal viewpoint, of individual prejudice, of private interests where these are antagonistic to the public welfare, of privilege if it be against common justice. There is need of infinite tact, even of consecration; need of great knowledge of municipal possibilities drawn from a wide personal observation, and above all the capacity to comprehend the community as a whole, get at its personality—for cities have this quality; and to love it, so that it shall not be simply an abstraction. He who studies a city to plan its future is dealing with tumultuous organism. His study is to better its framework, or skeleton, of streets and avenues; its lungs of parks; its arms of transportation system, by which it reaches the outside world, the hands with which it labors, its heart of civic center, the general physical condition that reacts upon its mind and spirit. There are only a few men, perhaps in this country a half dozen, who have taken up this work. They are greatly in demand. They labor in all cities, except their own. They cannot work there, where personal interest might be suspected.

Business men are taking up and now pushing along as never before the movement to secure the planting of cities and towns. They realize that it is scientific not only in the goal for which it strives, which is the best possible adjustment of a city to the work it has to do, but in its perfectly same method of trying to secure that adjustment. It does not seriously concern itself with purely ideal conceptions. Prior to any suggestion, there is earnest consideration of the local contour lines of the present street plan, and of value of property. There is study of the topography, of the waterways, of the character of the tributary country, of the natural scenery of the environs, of the present railroad facilities. The problem is how best to fit that particular city in that particular place to the special work which that city may do — man-building, physically, mentally and morally, instead of man-destroying, being interpreted as one phase of the city's work. Because of this dependence on local conditions the city-plan problem in no two communities is the same.

The attitude of the business community toward this movement is a recognition that merely to improve one's office system and sales department, to get better machines, to drum up new trade and try to hold it as well as the old, does not comprise all the possible breadth of successful business and industry, and that it falls far short of comprising the whole of life. Business acumen recognizes that to increase the efficiency of labor by bettering the employe's physical and social condition—for the true problem is not one of housing only, but of home building; that to facilitate the ready movement of merchandise within and without the city; that to increase the field of sales by so adding to the community's attractiveness that it shall grow in population, is wise. Common sense perceives that truly to beautify one's home, one cannot limit one's self to the narrow lot on which is the house in which one sleeps, since one really lives not in the house alone but in the town. So are joining in the movement all conditions of men and women, and those at first most doubtful of it are now its staunchest champions. And because for success there is required a widespread co-operation, the very making of the plans results in a growth of civic pride and civic spirit These are one of the first, but unlooked for, products of city-planning; and athwart the lengthening history of the movement gleam, in increasingly countless numbers, shining instances of public spirit and personal self-sacrifice. It has come to pass that they who reveal a city's improvement possibilities reveal also a people to themselves.

THE LABOR QUESTION

The wrongs that exist in the fields of industry are no less a menace to the welfare of all than are the wrongs that abound so largely in the field of politics or the seat of government. We may not feel ourselves free from wrongs that we commit daily, for commit them we do. Whether we are conscious of doing so, is not in the least an excuse for so doing, and so long as we ourselves are in error, it may not seem just to some that we should assume the right to criticise others. Whatsoever is right or wrong, is so only from the viewpoint of those who have the power of setting forth a certain fixed rule, or a code of morals, that favors the persons who brought them into being. It is considered to be very immoral for one person to steal from another. And yet it is considered moral for one person to shield himself behind the law in order to steal, for stealing it surely is when one person reaps interest from another for the use of money loaned to another. That both are immoral is the logical conclusion reached, when taken from the source that it is claimed our morals came from. Those who have the moulding of our morals claim that the code set forth by them are the ones that were taught by Jesus, and we use upon our metallic money the inscription "In God We Trust" but those of us who observe the tendencies of the times are prone to believe that such is not true.

Right is right so long as it is believed to be right. Wrong is wrong so long as it is believed to be wrong. Right is right because it is accepted by the majority, and wrong is wrong because it is condemned by the majority. The method used by the person who in the past was able to live in style was never questioned, but today things have changed. There are certain questions asked of him regarding certain things done by him, and then he is asked why there should not be some form of restraint placed upon his future actions. He may object for a time to this form of procedure, but he is considered as one against the many, and for that reason, if for no other, he must concede his rights if they are injurious to the many.

The laborer who labors hard and long under the most inhumane conditions who is but little more than a cog in the wheel, having little or no education, has no means at hand that can be used as a means of protesting against wrongs done him, and for the reason he is fearful at all times of speaking aloud, the fear of losing his job. There are many who will not concede the truthfulness of the statement, that we as workers are independent, and free from all restraint; that we have a right to speak freely our minds regarding conditions which surround us in either the political or industrial field. We are economically dependent upon the the owners of the tools with which we work and use. It is true if we are not suited we can leave our present position and seek another, but it is seldom we can better ourselves. We do not work because to work should be the highest aim of man, but because we must slave our lives away in order to earn bread to feed our wives and children, and while earning our own bread we are producing a large profit for those who hire us, and they for whom we make this profit do not use it in advancing the condition of us workers, but use it in their own behalf or place it where it does little good.

We cannot blame individuals as individuals, for these wrongs, but we must blame the system, and it is true there are certain individuals who have much to do in keeping the system as it is. We have not been taught the truth at all times, nor have we been given the best form of education. The things we should have known as workingmen have been kept from us, and the things that would have a tendency to keep us in ignorance, we have been taught most faithfully. We as workers must begin to think for ourselves. We must study the cause of these wrongs, and then we must make demands that will lead to the collective ownership of the tools we use, and equality of opportunity. This will place every man in the position of competing against every man, and will therefore bring out the best in man. This will give to the worker what he produces and to the shirker what is his, and then it will be possible to demonstrate to the world who the most useful worker is to society.

BARNES KING DOES BETTER

Ore Body Running About $10 Per Ton Was Recently Found on the 200-Foot Level of the South Workings.

New York, May 8.—The Mining Age says: Ira C. Kringle, who was one of the largest purchasers in the stock of the Barnes King Development company of Fergus county, Mont., at the time the company was promoted several years ago, has just returned from a visit to the mine. The company recently ran into some better ore along the 200-foot level toward the southern portions of its workings. The ore here for a width of five feet assays over $10 a ton, which is in excess of anything the company has been treating since the present organization took over the mine from the former owners. "This new ore," said Mr. Kringle, when seen this week, "adjoins the workings of the Santiago mine of the North Moccasin company and occurs in an undefined deposit of porphyry running considerably above what the company has been averaging. If this ore keeps up it will go a long way toward helping the company maintain a regular profit.

"The month of April will probably make the best showing since the present company took control and from now on the net profits are likely to average from $5,000 to $8,000 a month. During the last six months the company has actually earned a profit of $36,000 as compared to a deficit of $57,000 in 1907.

"The company has had a great many difficulties to overcome as it developed that soon after the property had been sold that the ore returns secured at the mill were running so low as to be non-commercial. Last month the heads showed over $5 a ton, the tailings yielding 48 cents per ton, showing how close the work of saving the gold is carried out."

There is no tonnage in sight of this ore yet to speak of, but the fact that they are working at it, gives them enough encouragement to look for better results.

It is learned that the company has recently closed a new power contract. Heretofore the organization was paying at the rate of $7 per horse power per month for its electric power, but a new company is now supplying them at about half that rate. This item represents a saving of $8,000 a year. There is about $230,000 in the company's treasury.

struction is expected to begin within the next few months.

Keweenaw.

Keweenaw's operations in the Medora mine continue without interruption, the present work being confined largely to the several lodes paralleling the Medora and to the so-called West cross fissure vein. The shaft is bottomed at the seventeenth level, and further sinking has temporarily ceased. The company has turned its attention to the Kearsarge lode and all details preliminary to sinking a shaft upon this bed are now being worked out. This lode traverses approximately ten miles of the company's property and apparently carries copper in commercial quantities, as evidenced by drill cores obtained in diamond drill explorations several years ago.

Elm Orlu mine and the mines of the Butte & Superior company. If it is found that the zinc ores from other mines in the district can be concentrated equally successfully a new mining industry will have been created for Butte, and a new possible source of big revenue opened to the Butte Coalition company. The old Emma mine, once the property of the Butte Mining & Development company, but now owned by the Butte Copper & Zinc company an inactive concern, has a vast amount of zinc ore. So have the Lexington mine of La France Copper company, the mines of the Butte & Superior company, the Elm Orlu and Poser mines owned by Senator Clark, and a number of other mines could be made to yield tonnage sufficient to supply a 5,000-ton zinc smelter.

The Ophir Mine.

The affairs of the old Butte Central and Boston Copper corporation have been cleared up and its successor, the Butte Central Copper Mining company, is ready to resume operations on the Ophir mine, in the southern section of the district. Walter H. Spooner of Boston, one of the directors of the new company, has been in Butte and straightened out the affairs of the old company. The new company has excellent financial banking in New York, Boston, Montreal and London, and with good management there is little doubt that the Ophir mine can be made to pay its way very quickly, and can be developed into a big copper and silver producer.

The Smelter Litigation.

It is probable that Montana has seen the last of the litigation to which the Amalgamated company and Washoe smelter have been subjected for years, in an effort to coerce them into settling damage claims with farmers in the vicinity of the smelter, on terms set by the farmers themselves. Judge Hunt has finally dismissed the injunction suit, and has taxed the costs to the farmers. He has also denied their petition for arbitration, and for an order directing the Amalgamated company to proceed under the state laws to condemn the farm land as for a public use. Judge Hunt has found that the damage done by the smelter smoke is not irreparable, nor permanent, and that the smelting company has done everything known to science to eradicate all of the deleterious substances from the smoke. He says the farmers' remedy lies in actions for damages. It has cost the farmers' syndicate more than $100,000 to prosecute their injunction suit, and the Amalgamated company has spent more than $500,000 in defending it.

tail mining work somewhat. The Bristol is capable of producing 400,000 tons or more per season, but just what the output will be this year is uncertain at present, little ore having yet been contracted for. The Empire mine, a Marquette range property, operated by Oglebay, Norton & Co., but in which other concerns are interested, is in condition to send out 200,000 tons this year, but is hardly expected to forward as much as that. The Empire's deposit is a large one and with the milling system in vogue the property is mined economically. The Montreal mine of Oglebay, Norton & Co. was the first Gogebic range property to send out ore this year, and the firm's shipments from that district will make a very good showing.

Find at Iron River.

An excellent find of ore has been made on the Donohue property, in section 23, 43-35, in the Iron River district of the Menominee range. The tract is being explored by the Rogers-Brown interests. Two diamond drills are in commission and some very fine cores are being extracted, indicating a large deposit of merchantable ore. What are known as the Tinsman-Ryan lands, comprising 5,000 acres, most of which is at the western end of the Menominee, have been taken over by Michigan Copper country capitalists and will be explored for their mineral values. A large portion of the realty lies in sections 29, 30 and 31, 43-33, between Iron River and Crystal Falls, and is considered very promising territory. The Buffalo & Susquehanna company has ordered a more powerful hoisting plant for its Hiawatha mine, at Stambaugh. Considerable other new equipment is to be installed. The Hiawatha has opened up as one of the largest mines in the district. It shipped 140,000 tons last season and will do better this year.

The Lake Superior Corporation's Helen mine, in the Michipicoten district of Ontario, will make a good-sized shipment the present season. Work was prosecuted vigorously by a force of 200 men throughout the winter and some 50,000 tons of ore were put in stock, ready to be shipped.

The next morning he was gone, having left his goodby for them, and upon making inquiry they discovered that this courteous American was Joseph H. Choate. In the occasional excursions that he took to Europe, Mr. Choate was fond of visiting Switzerland, preferring that scenery and tonic atmosphere to the heat and discomforts of the midsummer season in Italy. He did not dream at that time that within a few years he would make his home in Great Britain, remaining there six years while representing the United States as ambassador at the court of St. James's.

Mrs. Potter Palmer's Social Visits.

Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago is accustomed to make a yearly visit to Europe, looking upon the ocean trip as a no more exciting circumstance than a journey by an 18-hour train from Chicago to New York. Her visits are exclusively for the social life which her wide acquaintance in Great Britain and France has made it possible for her to enjoy. She is regarded in some of the social circles of Great Britain as a typical American woman, clear-headed, charming in her personal characteristics, of intellectual brilliancy, and having a peculiarly clear understanding of the strength, as well as some of the weaknesses of the American people.

Among the American millionaires who are well known in Europe, and who are accustomed to make yearly visits, are members of the Sears family of Boston, regarded as one of the wealthiest families in New England, as well as members of the Brown and the Goddard families of Rhode Island, whose possessions entitle them to be numbered among the richest family groups in America. These families do not visit Europe to travel, but for social intercourse which a wide acquaintance makes possible; and for that reason they are accustomed to go in the spring when the London season is at its height.

When Carnegie Goes to Skibo Castle.

As regularly as the appointed day comes, Andrew Carnegie takes passage for Europe, intending to spend nearly six months of the year abroad, chiefly at his now famous Skibo castle. So also with the regularity of a clock he fixes his departure from Scotland for the United States in the fall, returning here in mid-November.

Mr. Carnegie has entertained at Skibo castle some of the foremost members of the British nobility, as well as men of great intellectual power, who find in that gift a higher title to distinction than that which is conferred by any hereditary rank. He also has entertained King Edward at Skibo castle, and an anecdote not hitherto printed tells of the delight with which Mr. Carnegie escorted the king through the castle, showing the various treasures of art or of antiquity which he has collected there. Upon the wall of one of the rooms of the castle hangs the manuscript copy of a poem, quaintly humorous, written by Joaquin Miller, for whom Mr. Carnegie has long entertained admiration —admiration, at least, for his gift as a writer and for a certain quaint eccentricity of life. Joaquin Miller wrote this poem with intent to describe in rhyme and meter—and, if possible, with some poetic charm—Mr. Carnegie's career, and especially his association in these days of his great wealth with the great men of the world. Whatever poetic merit there may have been in this poem, it appealed greatly to Mr. Carnegie. He caused it to be framed and hung in a conspicuous place in Skibo castle.

When King Edward was visiting Skibo, Mr. Carnegie informed his majesty that he would reserve for his inspection until the last what he regarded as the choicest treasure within the castle. Finally the host led the guest to a convenient point where Miller's effusion could be easily read, and again declared to the king that he prized that poem more highly than anything else that was housed within the castle. The king read the poem with an interest that may have been assumed, possibly not understanding all the allusions to Mr. Carnegie which Mr. Miller made; and very likely he regarded what Mr. Carnegie said as a harmless exaggeration, and as a quaint illustration of some of the eccentricities of thought and speech in which Mr. Carnegie is fond of indulging.

Mr. Slater's Health-Seeking.

William Slater, the son of John F. Slater, who endowed an educational fund in the United States by the gift of $1,000,000, and whose great-grandfather established the first cotton mill in New England, is one of the multi-millionaires of New England, his home being in Connecticut. Mr. Slater inherited his great fortune while still a young man. He began to plan various benefactions with it, and did make two or three handsome educational endowments. Then his health failed, and he sought restoration of it in travel and treatment, at last discovering that a yearly excursion to Europe, with absolute retirement there for some months, was the best restorative. Not a few of our millionaires restore their shattered health by yearly visits across "the pond," so that Europe can truthfully be called America's summer sanitarium as well as its summer playground.

But where Mr. Slater goes when in Europe is known only to his friends; his mode of life is so modest and unostentatious, although of most generous disposition, that no suspicion is entertained by those who see him that he is one of the very rich Americans. His friends are of the opinion that he takes advantage of his European excursion to study educational institutions, particularly those which afford opportunities to youths of limited means, but of promising talent, for obtaining scientific education; so that it is inferred sometimes that Mr. Slater contemplates making some important endowments in the United States.

Sojourning At Battle Abbey.

For many years Michael P. Grace was in business association with his brother, William R. Grace, who twice was mayor of New York. Some twenty years ago Michael Grace, having entered into contract with the Peruvian government to finance it out of its difficulties, went to London to live. He, as well as his brother William, gained notable fortunes thereby, and with part of his wealth Michael purchased the historic Battle Abbey, so named because it stands practically upon the site of the battle of Hastings. This abbey Mr. Grace restored in some measure. Adjoining it is his country home, now esteemed as one of the show places of England.

Joseph P. Grace, the eldest son of William R., is now the head of the great international house established by his father and his uncle. He makes a yearly excursion to England, choosing usually the midwinter for that trip, and purposing a sojourn of some weeks at Battle Abbey. An expert polo player, an accomplished motor car driver, and a traveler who has visited almost all parts of Central South America, Mr. Grace, nevertheless, finds no greater entertainment or recreation than that which his brief sojourn at Battle Abbey affords him. He has made a study of the battlefield, has heard many traditions which are associated with it, and yet is of the opinion that if these yearly excursions continue until he is an old man he will not exhaust the pleasure or the information which this prehistoric spot each year gives him.

Taking Twenty-nine Millions Abroad.

Sometimes if it is not a millionaire in his own right, it is a multi-millionaire in his momentary trust, who makes an excursion in the summer to Europe. Some three years ago President Charles S. Mellen of the New Haven Railroad company negotiated in Paris a sale of $29,000,000 of the securities issued by his company. The negotiation involved the delivery of the securities by special messenger to the bankers of Paris who bought them.

To Isaac Bromley, formerly a newspaper man of Buffalo, was committed the responsibility of the custody and safe delivery of these $29,000,000 of bonds. Mr. Bromley is a member of the executive staff of the New Haven Railroad company. It was necessary for him to see to it that the bonds, in amount and in denomination as described, were placed in packages, and after that securely deposited in the strong boxes of one of the French steamers. For the time being he was in sole possession of $29,000,000, a larger amount of securities than were ever taken at any one time and by any one person from the United States to Europe. Even the $25,000,000 of New York Central stock which William H. Vanderbilt sold to the bankers of London was sent abroad in several parcels and at different times. Mr. Bromley was compelled to be vigilant night and day, from the moment the steamer docked at Cherbourg until the agents of the French bankers had received the securities and given to Mr. Bromley their receipt. It was no excursion for him until after this receipt was in his hands, when, of course, his responsibility for the $29,000,000 of securities ended.

President Butler's Chats With the Great.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, has for ten years spent the greater part of the summer vacation in Europe. He represents a millionaire institution, so to call it, for the resources of Columbia university are approximately $30,000,000. His visits are chiefly in the interests of the university. In this way Dr. Butler has been brought into personal relations with the foremost educators of Great Britain, of France and of Germany. Two memorable incidents of his trips to Europe were, first, the day he spent with the German emperor, and, second, the banquet given to him by the leading French educators and statesmen two years ago.

Of course, President Butler is not permitted to repeat any of the conversations he had with the German emperior, but he has felt free to tell his friends that the emperor's entire freedom from any affectation or assumed dignity, the perfect sense of good companionship which he imparted to Dr. Butler, the anecdotes he related and the information he gave as they strolled through the vast park, in which the greater part of the day was spent, revealed the emperor as a most charming personality. The kaiser laid aside the dignities and symbols of his authority, and any one not knowing these two, if they had chanced to meet them strolling through the park, would have judged them to be men of high cultivation on terms of intimacy, and without any distinction of rank.

The emperor astonished Dr. Butler by his familiarity with the careers of distinguished Americans, and especially those who have gained authority as educators. He understood American institutions, political and social, and American history. He varied his conversation with anecdotes that were of intense interest to President Butler, and some of the distinguishing characteristics of Germans of high authority, although not of any who were living at that time. And what particularly impressed President Butler were the emperor's expressions and views respecting the maintenance of peace in Europe and throughout the world.

One direct result of this afternoon's conversation was the perfecting of arrangements for the exchange of university professors, Germany sending her foremost educators to American universities for a year's service, and reciprocating.

ACTIVE WEEK REPORTED IN REAL ESTATE CIRCLES

Brisk Demand for Residence Property and Suburban Home Sites—The Home Building Boom Seems to Be On in Earnest—April Was a Record Breaker.

The gloom that has surrounded the Duluth real estate market for the past six months is fast fading away, and the optimism of last week and the week preceding is growing in strength each day, until now prospects for a busy summer, both in the building line and the buying and selling of property, never looked better.

There has been, so far as is known, no large deals made during the week, but the dealers report a brisk week, full of inquiry, mixed with some buying and a general good tone.

A real estate dealer said this morning that, while the feeling was of the best and the inquiry heavy, the sales were not so large as they might be. "It is hard to make the prospective buyer appreciate values," he said. "What seems to be a large price now fades into insignificance another year, and the prices loom up twice as large the next year, and the result is that the prospective purchaser, who has been planning for years to get hold of a piece of property, lets his chance slip away from him." He said, also, that the people generally seem to be waking up to this fact of late, and the result is an increased business.

The general trend seems to be toward the suburbs. Duluth Heights property seems to be on the boom and much property changed hands last week. In all there have been more than two dozen transfers in this little hilltop suburb during the week.

Glen Avon property is on the move, as is property in Woodland proper and in Lakeside.

Several lots have been sold on the hilltop. Out of town people are the chief purchasers along this line. They are held spellbound by the beautiful scene in front of them, and no other part of town looks good to them after they have a view of the lake from the hill. A number of cottages are to be built in this part of town the coming summer, and two of them at least are being built by outsiders, who plan on spending the summer months in Duluth.

A glance through the transfers printed below will show that there is some trading in West end and West Duluth property. A good deal of this trading is done between the owners themselves and the property is not bought as an investment, as some of the lots further uptown, but for residence sites.

There is some activity in Park Point property. Fond du Lac and some plots of ground near Spirit Lake are being sold for summer homes. The movement along this line is not as strong as it will be later, according to local dealers, but they claim it is satisfactory, considering the time of year and the weather conditions.

The building of homes is going right along. In every part of town residences costing from $600 upwards are being erected, and the record in the office of the building inspector shows that more permits were issued during the month of April than any month in the history of the city. The permits have come with a rush during the past week and May promises even greater things than April. During the month of April 138 building permits were issued. They represented $338,185, and the total fees collected were $429.75.

The architects report a busy week although very few of them are at liberty to give out any new plans that have come in during the week. They all claim to be up to their ears in work with first-class prospects of being kept in that condition all summer.

Austin Terryherry is making plans for a three-flat brick building to be erected on First street, between Third and Fourth avenues east. The plans are being made for James Curran and the building will be modern in every way.

The appraising of the Lenox hotel property during the week was watched with interest by local Superior street property owners, as well as the dealers. The appraisement of $160,000 or $950 for the inside fifty feet and $1,050 for the outside fifty feet, seems to meet with general approval.

C. L. Rakowsky & Co. report the sale of the north half of lot 277, block 112, Duluth proper, Second division, to Bernhard Sundquist. The consideration was $2,400. This lot lies on Third street between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues east, and is deemed valuable for residence purposes. Joseph M. Vondrashek, formerly of Winona, Minn., has associated himself with this firm. Mr. Vondrashek has had much experience in the real estate line, and he will no doubt prove a valuable addition to the working force.

The C. P. Craig company reports the sale of eleven lots on Duluth Heights. They were bought mostly by people who intend to erect homes, and in each instance the purchaser bought more than one lot. The prices range from $150 to $200 a lot. Among those who purchased Duluth Heights property during the week were: George Frame, C. J. Nelson, David B. Frame, John H. Tomlin and James C. Johnson. This firm also reports the sale of a Lakeside lot located between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth avenues east, to B. C. Peacock. Ella M. Day has sold to Robert C. Black a lot on the upper side of Dingwall street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues east. The deal was made through the C. P. Craig office, and the consideration was $1,000.

The property formerly owned by Richard Cobham at 431 Sixty-ninth avenue west has been sold to John Peterson. The consideration was $1,400, and the deal was made through the office of the Harris Realty company.

Little & Nolte report the sale of the house and lot at 723 West Third street to H. A. Matthews. The consideration was $2,150.

The L. A. Larsen company reports considerable activity in Hazelwood park property. Among the purchasers of Hazelwood park residence property during the week are: Victor Brastrom, M. Beaudevolen and E. L. Burdash. Mr. Larsen says also that there is much activity in farm and timber lands. During the week farms were sold to Gustav D. Anderson, Nels Anderson, Joseph Kreager, John J. Wangenstein, William C. Campbell and R. K. Doe. These sales comprise some 800 acres, part of which is in Itasca county and part of which is in St. Louis.

The Getty-Smith company reports the sale of two lots on Sixteenth avenue east between Fifth and Sixth streets. The purchasers were George W. French and J. S. Kriz. The consideration in each case was $775. The property will be improved by the building of two residences to cost in the neighborhood of $3,000 each.

N. P. Peterson, frame dwelling, east side of Twelfth avenue east, between Third and Fourth streets, to cost $6,000.

Joseph G. Harrison, frame dwelling on south side of East Third street, near Twenty-sixth avenue east, to cost $4,500.

C. E. Henderson, brick store, south side of West Superior street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, to cost $16,000.

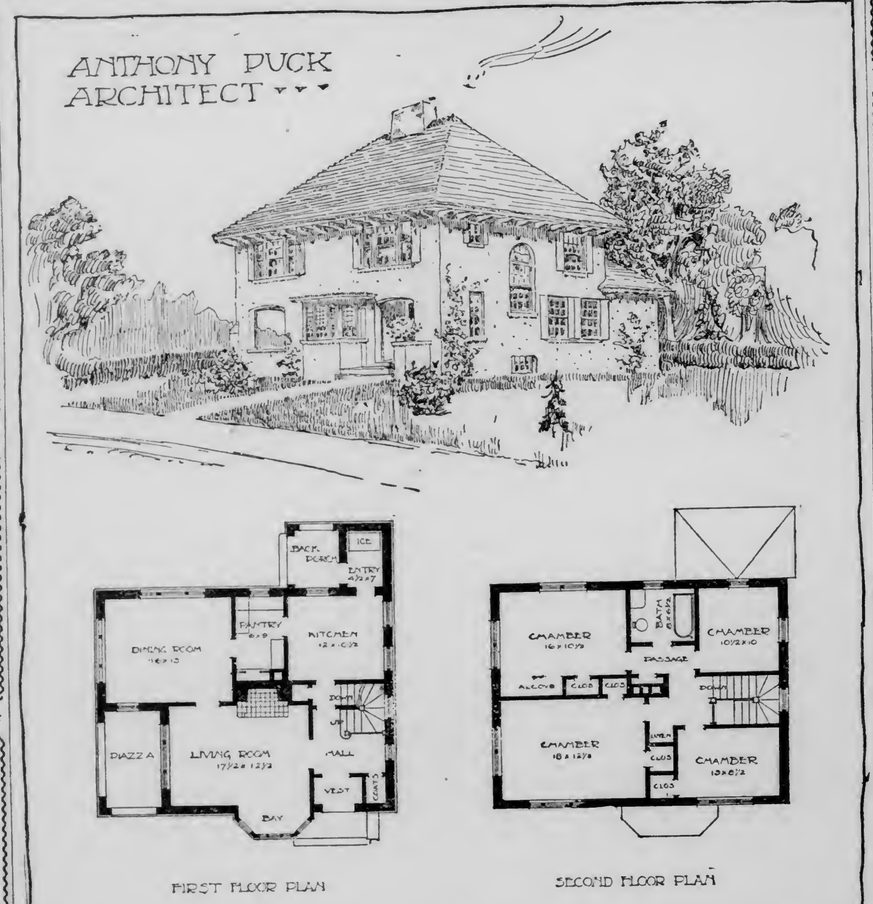
FIREPROOF HOME WHICH WOULD COST $6,500 TO BUILD IN DULUTH



There is a practical suggestion, both as to plan and design, for a fireproof dwelling. The plan is unusually compact and simple of outline and with its simplicity of exterior design, is well adapted to hollow tile or monolithic wall construction. The floors would be tile. Exterior wall surfaces would have a plaster finish, which could be lightly tinted, to harmonize with surroundings and add to the attractiveness of its appearance.

The rooms throughout both plans are of good relative proportions and convenient and interesting in arrangement. A small hall serves its purpose well and gives convenient access to all parts of the house. Interesting features of the living room are the fireplace and the deep bay window, also the piazza with French windows connecting. The dining room accessable from the living room has an interesting window grouping and is of ample size. A convenient pantry connects the kitchen which is well ventilated and well arranged for kitchen equipment. One chimney in the center of the house serves all purposes. The stairs occupy little space, are convenient of use and would be attractive in appearance.

In the second story are four corner bed rooms with windows on two sides thus assuring good light and ventilation. Ample closet space is provided. Seclusion of the individual bed rooms from the rest of the house and their convenience of access at the same time, is a good feature of this plan. The bathroom is of the average size and contains the usual fixtures.

With a concrete basement, hot water heat and plumbing, and a good grade of finish, a house as above described would cost to build in Duluth or vicinity, $6,500.

WORKINGMEN, ATTENTION!

We have acquired a large tract of choice farm lands in Pine county, Minn. Nicely situated in a settled country with good wagon roads and close to railroads, with plenty of good water and timber for fuel. Lands can be easily cleared. We are making a specialty of this tract and anyone seeking a good home cannot afford to overlook this offer. We have men and teams and will show lands free of charge at any time.

The value of the timber on some of this land suitable for logs and ties is greater than the cost of the land.

These lands will be sold very cheap on easy payments.

BIG DEMAND FOR BRYAN SEATS

The Commoner Will Be Given Warm Reception Here.

William J. Bryan will deliver the last lecture in the Star lecture course at the First Methodist church Monday night. Mr. Bryan has taken for his subject, "The Price of a Soul," a lecture that he has delivered to crowded houses in other cities of the country this spring.

Mr. Bryan's great popularity and his wonderful powers as an orator will serve to fill the house to overflowing. The demand for seats has been heavier than for any of the preceding events in the Star course.

A reception has been planned for Mr. Bryan on his arrival in Duluth. Mr. Bryan's tour of the country is merely to fill engagements on the lecture platform, and politics will probably not be discussed by him during his stay in the city.

big surprises. It is understood that the committee does not intend to declare a strike until next Tuesday, in order to give parliament, which will reassemble on Monday, a chance to intervene. Their manifestoes, which are couched in the phraseology of revolution, read as if they were martyrs to liberty. For instance, in announcing the refusal of seven postmen to appear before the council of discipline today on the ground that to comply would be an interference with their liberty, these men are described as "going to the execution in 'charrettes,' a term employed during the reign of terror to describe the carts which conveyed the victims of the revolutionary tribunal to the guillotine.

Many of the groups of railroad men in the provinces have voted sympathy with the postmen and announced their support of the railroad men's congress to go on strike if parliament does not vote a pension bill.

In the meantime, notwithstanding the excitement and the apparent approach of a crisis, Paris is as gay as ever. The social season is at its height, and the boulevards are filled with pleasure-seeking crowds. One newspaper describes the situation as follows:

"We are standing over a volcano, but Paris, as usual, only amuses itself."

When the council of discipline, composed of five chiefs of division and five delegates representatives, met today to consider action in the case of the seven postmen charged with attacking the government and parliament, only two of the advisory members were present. They asked immediately that the council declare itself incompetent, and upon refusal, they walked out and announced their intention of resigning.

THE FUNERAL OF WILLIAM EDEN

Services Conducted Under Auspices of the Palestine Lodge.

Palestine lodge, No. 79, A. F. & A. M., had charge of the funeral of William A. Eden yesterday afternoon. Preceding the impressive Masonic service at the temple there was a private service at the family residence, conducted by Rev. W. A. Ryan.

The deceased was one of the best-known men in the city, and the attendance at the Masonic services was very large. There was a profusion of floral offerings that seldom has been equaled in Duluth. Out of respect to the memory of Mr. Eden, who was in the cigar business up to the time of his death, the leading cigar stores along Superior street closed yesterday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock.

The deceased belonged to several lodges, among them the Elks, and these different organizations were well represented at the funeral. John Armstead gave the address of personal eulogy at the temple service and warmly praised the character of Mr. Eden. He said the man won and retained his large number of friends by the decisive element in his character.

Interment was at Forest Hill cemetery.

REFUSES DIVORCE.

Judge Dibell yesterday denied Mrs. Clara Benson's plea for a divorce from her husband, Alfred Benson, but decreed separation for a period of one year.

The case of the Bensons has attracted considerable attention, on account of the fact that the 10-year-old son, Edgar, was the chief witness.

Mrs. Benson claimed cruel and inhuman treatment. Some of her statements were verified by the little boy. Others were not.

The case occupied the attention of the court all day yesterday. Both husband and wife had a number of witnesses.

Judge Dibell declared that they were both intelligent people, and should have had better sense than to have allowed little petty troubles to interfere with their happiness. He said he hoped they would get together and patch up the differences.

CHINAMAN THE FIRST

Yung Sen Jek to Be Examined as to Sanity.

The first man to ride in the new police buzz wagon, which arrived from Winona yesterday and was put into practical use today, was Yung Sen Jek, who was taken to the county jail in the new buggy.

It makes a frightful racket and at times leaves a lot of smell behind it, but it works well in the hands of a man from the factory, and was the center of interest wherever it went this morning.

Yung Sen Jek, who is not young at all, but is 45 years old, was brought before the probate court this afternoon to have his mental condition inquired into. It is said that Mr. Jek entertains some peculiar notions regarding finances.

He is a Chinaman, who came from San Francisco about two years ago and located in Virginia. His mental oddities have been apparent for some time, but only recently did his condition become such that it was thought advisable to have a probate examination.

IT WAS LONESOME AND HE WAS CRUEL

Mrs. Ida Nevalainen, Wife of Homesteader, Wants A Divorce.

Mrs. Ida Nevalainen, the wife of John Nevalainen, a homesteader near the town of Lavell, is suing her husband for divorce, on the grounds of cruelty and inhuman treatment.

The case was on before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon, and will probably be finished some time today. Mrs. Nevalainen says that located out of the way of the world, as it were, with but few neighbors, and they miles away, life in the lonely cabin in the north woods would have been bad enough, but when, as she claims, she was dragged about the house by her hair, struck and abused in other ways by her husband, she says the life became unbearable.

She cites several instances where he threw her against an iron bed, swore at her, choked her and mistreated her in many ways.

She claims that her husband owns a quarter section of land, and this she wants divided between them. She asks, also, that she be allowed to resume the use of her maiden name, which was Simonson.

A number of homesteaders were present yesterday as witnesses.

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"Girls." (See notice below.)

"GIRLS."

Sprightly Little Fitch Comedy Presented at the Lyceum.

"Hands off him, girls, he's all mine," was the way Pamela Gordon, the heroine of "Girls," the Clyde Fitch comedy presented at the Lyceum last evening, pulled down her colors and surrended to the sex she claimed to despise.

"Girls" is a snappy little comedy, with some weak spots, but on the whole very amusing and novel in its theme. It tells of the adventures of three girls who swear eternal enmity to man. Two of them act under the compulsion of the rather domineering young "Pam," who is the head of the little conspiracy against the stronger sex.

A young man enters their apartment one night while fleeing from the jealous husband of a young wife, with whom he had been found in an embarrassing situation, through no fault of his own. He finally proves to be the person who upsets Pam's ideas of life.

The plot is a clever one, and many amusing situations are worked out. It is stretched out somewhat, but the clever lines and situations redeem it, and it never drags or fails to hold the interest of the audience.

Miss Bessie Tener, as "Pam," is a delight. She has a deep, rich voice, and a stage presence that fit the part admirably. Ethel Grey Terry as "Vi" shares the honors with her, and does some very clever work as the rather sentimental young girl, who tries hard to live up to the teachings of the independent "Pam."

H. S. Northrup, as Edgar Holt, the hero of the story, is a good looking young chap, with an infectious laugh.

Suzette Jackson as "Kate" is passably good, and Caroline Locke as Lucille Purcelle, the elocutionist, fills the bill. Somebody should lead Hevlyn Benson, the law clerk, gently aside and advise him to adopt another profession than acting. When one of his lines failed to draw an expected laugh from the audience last evening he had a fit of sulks and mumbled a disgusted aside.

The play might be described as a little Worcestershire sauce on the dramatic meal, and it is well worth seeing. The comedy is clean and the sprightly little theme is well worked out. It will be repeated this afternoon and tonight.

TELLS A SAD LIFE STORY

Says He is the Victim of a Gigantic Conspiracy.

Broken in health by his confinement in prisons, and asylums for the insane, W. G. French declared he is the victim of one of the greatest conspiracies ever directed toward any man and, for the sake of his children, he says he will spend the remaining years of his life battling for vindication from a charge of murder, and punishing his enemies.

W. G. French is no longer a young man. He is past 50 and the weight of trouble has told on him.

But despite this, there remains a spirit which refused to be downed and he is working to remove the stain of guilt from his name.

He told his story to a reporter for The Herald today, exhibiting documents as proof of his assertions and bearing, as an additional proof and evidences of his intentions, a quantity of manuscript, containing his life story. He intends to have the work published and scattered broadcast, exposing his enemies and setting himself right once more in the eyes of his fellow men.

In 1891, Mr. French was convicted at Ashland, Wis., of shooting and killing Garvin M. Steele. He was sentenced to life imprisonment, but the case was appealed.

At three trials was this case heard, and although in each case the plea of insanity was raised, Mr. French declares the jurors paid no attention to it and found him guilty.

For eight years he was confined in the Wisconsin state penitentiary at Waupun. Then, he declares, he was transferred to an insane asylum.

In the meantime, French, feeling sure that he was the victim of a conspiracy in which some of his relatives figured, was fighting valiantly for his freedom. Through every phase of the law he tried to unlock barred doors that separate him from freedom and his family, but he failed.

French was confined in three different asylums for the insane, being an inmate of one for

WHEAT HAS A DECLINE

Bearish Sentiment Prevails in All American Markets.

Has Drop of More Than Two Points in Duluth.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 8.—The grain trade was inclined to be bearish during the short session of the markets today, and closing prices were more than 2c lower in Duluth, and correspondingly in other American markets.

The outlook today seemed more favorable for the crops. The government report's effect had spent itself and foreign advices were bearish, so there was weakness here at the opening. The easiness prevailed throughout the session, the close being at the low level.

Antwerp closed unchanged, and Paris ½c to ¾c lower. The May option closed 2¼c lower in Duluth, 1¾c lower in Chicago, 2c lower in Minneapolis, 1½c lower in Minneapolis, and 1⅝c lower in Winnipeg. The July option closed 2⅜c lower in Duluth, 3c lower in Chicago, 1⅞@2c lower in Minneapolis, 1⅞c lower in New York, and 1¾c lower in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ¾c lower in Chicago, and oats ⅜c lower.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The wheat market here had a fine opening and values were ¾d to 1¾d higher than yesterday, with the principal strength in distant months. Strength was attributed to reports of manipulation in America and offerings were light and shorts nervous. Following the opening the market suffered a severe break, prices declining in a sensational manner on heavy selling of all positions, and especially July, which declined 3¼d. Spot markets were weak, from 1d to 2d lower. European crop advices showed an improvement. Indian first-hand offerings were liberal at a decline. Further rains in Russia and the expectation of a heavy movement from Russia this week, together with the liberal American shipments as indicated by Bradstreets, all contributed toward the selling pressure. The American bureau crop report was not considered so bullish when the abandonment acreage was noticeable in the smaller states. At the close the market was weak, and from ¾d higher for September to 1⅞d to 2d lower for May and July as compared with yesterday's close.

"Corn was quiet and ½d higher, due to steadiness in Laplata."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 14 against 29 last year, and at Minneapolis, 101, against 153 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 115, against 182 last year. Chicago received 4 against 51 last year. Winnipeg received 42 against 56 last year.

Wheat was fairly active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened 1⅝c lower at $1.25⅝, advanced to $1.26 and declined by the close to $1.25⅛, a loss of 2¼c from yesterday. July wheat opened ¾c lower at $1.26⅜, declined to $1.25⅝, rallied to $1.25⅝, declined to $1.24⅝ and closed at that price, a loss of 2⅜c from yesterday. September wheat opened ⅝c lower at $1.09⅝, declined to $1.08½ and closed there, a loss of 1⅞ from yesterday.

Flax was dull and firm. May flax opened unchanged at $1.65¼, advanced to $1.67 and closed at $1.67¼, a gain of 2c over yesterday. July flax opened ¾c lower at $1.65½ and closed at $1.67⅜, a gain of 2c. September flax closed 1½c higher at $1.45 and October flax unchanged at $1.29½.

Barley was ½c higher and other coarse grains unchanged.

KIDNAPER BOYLE GETS A LIFE SENTENCE; WOMAN 25 YEARS AND $5,000 FINE

Judge Deaf to Pleas of Counsel for Mercy.

Defendants Collapse as Penalties Are Inflicted Upon Them.

Mrs. Boyle Declares Evidence Against Her Was Flimsy.

Mercer, Pa., May 10.—James H. Boyle was sentenced today to life imprisonment in the Western penitentiary in Pittsburg for the kidnaping of Billy Whitla. Mrs. Boyle, indicted as Mary Doe, received a sentence of twenty-five years, with a fine of $5,000 and the costs of the prosecution.

Boyle did not create the scene in court that he had threatened, and did not utter a word prior to his sentence. His counsel, however, made a plea for both Boyle and his wife for leniency in both cases. He stated that until a recent period the extreme penalty for kidnaping in the state was ten years, and in view of the fact that the boy had been treated with every consideration, and that all care had been taken not to inflict unnecessary mental anguish upon the parents, he felt leniency might be asked for with propriety.

District Attorney Lininger, who visited Boyle and his wife in the jail yesterday in an effort to get information regarding the alleged third person implicated in the kidnaping, paid them

KILLING AS ACT OF GOD

Hains' Lawyer So Describes the Slaying of Annis.

Mother and the Defendant Embrace in the Court Room.

Flushing, N. Y., May 10.—John F. McIntyre, counsel in chief for Peter C. Hains, Jr., on trial for the killing of William E. Annis, began the closing plea to the jury today for the defendant.

There was an affecting scene when the defendant's mother came into court, just before the proceedings began. She walked to where Capt. Hains was sitting and caught him in her arms. The prisoner half arose from his chair, and mother and son embraced until she was led away by Maj. John Hains, another son.

Mr. McIntyre in opening his plea said:

"It was the act of God that directed Capt. Hains' hand when he took the life of the man who ruined his home. The meeting between Annis and the defendant was accidental; there was no intention to kill."

"The burden is now upon the people to convince you beyond reasonable doubt that he was sane. The law does not require us to convince you beyond reasonable doubt that he was sane. The law does not require us to convince you beyond a reasonable doubt that he was insane.

"The state intends to show that he was in a normal state of mind by a few cursory observations abstracted from a mass of matter, and even though his actions may have seemed rational at times, medical science shows that insane people often speak and act rationally.

"Was it a mental shock sufficient to unbalance his mind when this unfortunate man learned of his wife's infidelity from her own lips? It was then that melancholia seated herself beside the throne of reason and afterward tainted and tortured his brain, accelerated his mind and altered the emotions of his heart."

Mr. McIntyre criticized the state's hypothetical question and declared that the speech and conduct of the defendant as therein related was taken from unimportant incidents which may have occurred to any man, sane or insane.

Seattle, Wash., May 10.—The United States government has given permission to Horace G. Herold, a timber cruiser, residing in Tacoma, to remove from the Washington national forest a huge meteorite weighing nearly twelve tons. The meteorite was found by Herold in December, 1907. Because he feared that the government would not permit him to remove the prize, which is wanted by the Smithsonian institute, he has persistently refused to tell its location. It is supposed to be the largest meteorite in the world. Herold says it is 4 feet thick, 6 feet wide and 10 feet long.

Three Men Under Arrest Pending Police Investigation.

James O'Rourke, 30 years of age, a striking member of the Lake Firemen's union was shot through the heart and instantly killed about 8 o'clock Saturday night on board the steamer City of Berlin, while that vessel was lying at Northwestern Coal Dock No. 3 in Superior.

As a result of the shooting Capt. Fred R. Woodrow, master of the Berlin and Fred Reno and Lester Elmer, two special police officers, are held at the Superior police headquarters, pending a thorough investigation that will establish the responsibility for the crime. The authorities have so far been unable to determine whose hand it was that fired the fatal shot.

The City of Berlin arrived in at the Superior docks about 5 o'clock. The report had been circulated and had gained credence among union strikers, that she was fully manned with a non-

BATTLESHIP TO GO TO NATCHEZ

Passage Up the Mississippi River Is Declared Safe.

New Orleans, La., May 10.—Capt. Fremont of the United States battleship Mississippi has received from Capt. Burgess of the United States engineering corps a report, which shows the condition as to the depth and width of the river between New Orleans and Natchez to be satisfactory, for the navigation of the warship up the river for the greatest distance any vessel of the class will have ever proceeded.

According to Capt. Burgess' report, there is a minimum depth of forty-three feet and width between banks of 600 feet between New Orleans and Natchez. According to the report the river probably will fall five feet during the time the Mississippi is making her trip. This will, therefore, leave a minimum depth of thirty-eight feet, which is declared to be ample for the safe passage of the vessel.

M. J. Gibbons, one of the most expert pilots on the river, has been selected to take the Mississippi to Natchez and return. The battleship leaves New Orleans Wednesday on its upward trip and its first stop will be at Donaldsonville, La.

RHINOCEROS ROOSEVELT'S

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 10.—A bulky bull rhinoceros is the latest prize wrested from the jungle by Roosevelt. From the ex-president's camp near Machakos, word was brought down today that the luck of the Roosevelt party continues, and that fifteen varieties of game, including the big rhino, have been bagged on the last expedition.

The rhinoceros was charging Roosevelt when the hunter fired. The distance was fourteen paces, and the animal fell dead.

The naturalists of the party are kept busy preparing the trophies which Mr. Roosevelt and his son Kermit are bringing in daily. Forty-five skins already have been prepared for the Smithsonian institution at Washington.

FEARED SEIZURE AS WHITE SLAVE

Girl Coming Across Ocean Hesitant About Leaving Ship.

New York, May 10.—Stories of the white slave traffic in New York made such an impression on Miss Wanda Vera Helmann that when the steamer Duca Degli Abruzi, from Naples, arrived she refused to come ashore until assured she was perfectly safe.

Miss Helmann, who is 22 and remarkably pretty, was born in Egypt of German and Italian parents, and has lived most of her life in Italy. She has come to America to visit relatives in New York and Louisville.

She said she was told to look out for herself, as young women were seized in the streets of New York and sold as slaves.

NEW SULTAN ENTHRONED

Christians Barred From Edifice—Mohammedan Tradition Sustained.

Constantinople, May 10.—The ceremony of girding the sword of Osman upon Mehmed V, the new sultan of Turkey, in succession to Abdul Hamid, took place today in the Mosque Ayoub, the only sacred edifice in Constantinople which Christians are not allowed to enter.

The function was carried out according to the prearranged program, and at its conclusion his majesty started to drive through Stamboul at the head of an imposing procession.

This ceremony corresponds to that of coronation in Western countries. It lasted only a few minutes, and the ancient rites of the spiritual power conferring the temporal power to the sultan was witnessed by foreigners.

The sultan proceeded in a launch from the Dolma Bagtsche palace to the mosque which stands at the water's edge, where the rite was performed. Then, attended by the grand vizier, the Sheik-ul-Islam, the members of the cabinet, the chiefs of the army and the two higher grades of Ulemas and many other officials, he drove to the top Kopou palace, about six miles distant, to kiss the robes of the prophet.

At the Ayoub mosque Mehmed V drew the scimitar of his ancestor, Osman I, founder of the Ottoman Empire, from its sheath, and, standing in the square in front of the group of build-

TRAINMEN ON CONVENTION EVE

PATTEN NEAR TO WILSON

Both in Chicago But Both Are Mute About Wheat.

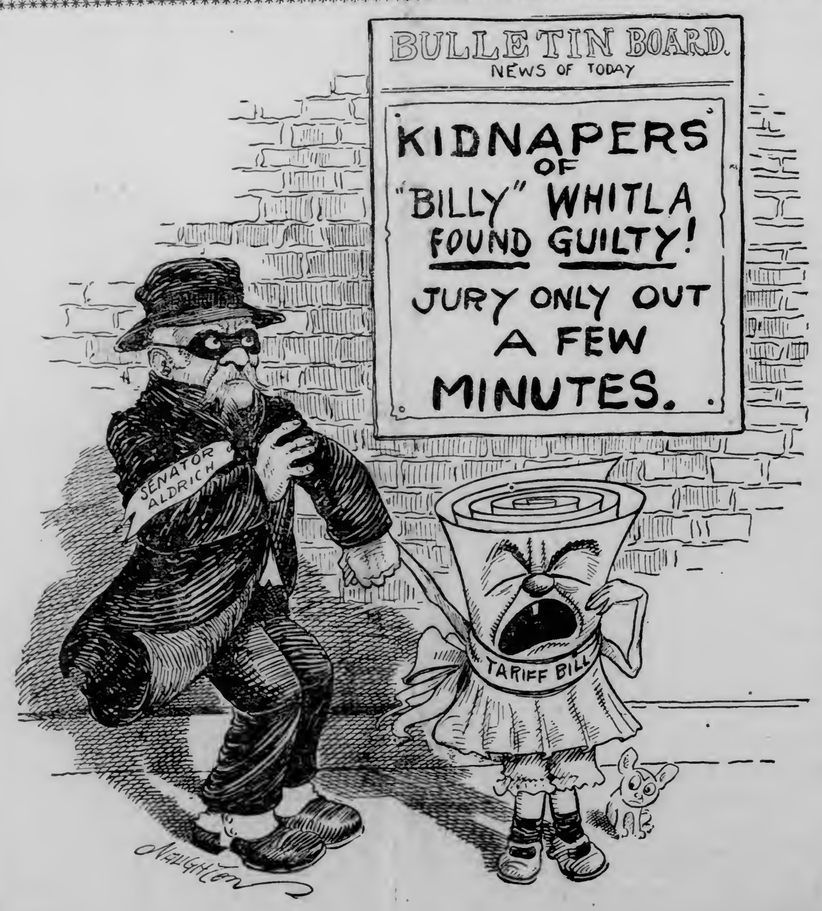
Chicago, May 10.—James A. Patten's return to the market today was not reflected in the course of wheat prices on the board of trade at the opening today. Quotations eased off a cent during the first hour, but the tone of the market was tranquil.

In another part of the city Secretary of Agriculture Wilson met with his meat inspectors from all over the country, discussing the inspection of meats.

Neither the cabinet member nor Mr. Patten had anything to say about wheat prospects. Both apparently were standing on their assertions of some weeks ago that "Time will tell."

TAKE WARNING, MR. ALDRICH.



RICH MAN, WHO ALWAYS RIDICULED MEDICINE, DIES SPURNING DOCTOR

New York, May 10.—Gilbert F. Ackerman, 82 years old, who for more than forty years had lived in strict seclusion in his home on Riverside drive, on the fortune he had made in the flour business, died yesterday, refusing to have a doctor. All his life he ridiculed medicine and doctors and would not permit either in his home. His eldest son became a physician and therefore had not been in the house for many years until after his father's death yesterday.

Mr. Ackerman built high fences about his property so that neighbors could not look in upon him, he said, but in recent years tall apartment houses were erected on either side and back of his home, and since then he had rarely left the house. Ackerman is survived by a number of relatives in Chicago, St. Louis and Denver.

NEW BATTLESHIPS TO COST NOT OVER SIX MILLION DOLLARS EACH

Washington, May 10.—Plans have been completed for the five torpedo boat destroyers authorized by the last naval appropriation bill and they now await the approval of the board of construction before the specifications are issued, inviting bids from builders. In about sixty days, bids will be opened and the contracts let soon after. These vessels are to have the highest practicable speed and are to cost, exclusive of ornament, not to exceed $800,000 each.

Work on the plans for the two new battleships, the Arkansas and the Wyoming also is being pushed, though it will be some time before the specifications are ready for the bidders. These vessels are to cost exclusive of armor and armament, not exceeding $6,000,000 each. Profiting by the experiences of the round-the-world cruise of the Atlantic battleship fleet, the plans for these ships are expected to include the latest developments in battleship construction.

LUCKY CLOTHES

"That's the luckiest suit I ever put on," said a man the other day, referring to a suit he bought here last fall. "I get everything I go after when I wear that suit. A friend of mine in another store wanted me to come there for my next suit, but I'm afraid I'll break the charm." Well, we've never claimed our clothes were lucky clothes, but we have claimed and do claim that it's a lucky day for any man when he first steps inside our store.

TWO LIVES END BY SUICIDE PACT

Vienna, May 10.—Ali Fahuy Bey, secretary of the Turkish legation at Belgrade, and Mlle. Ludovica Mlinecka were found dead in a room of a hotel in Semlin, across the river from Belgrade, this morning. The couple were lovers, and it is evident that the tragedy was prearranged. The secretary apparently shot the young woman, and then committed suicide. A sum of money was laid out on a table in the room with the request that they be buried in the same grave.

Organ Rehearsal.

The program rendered at the organ rehearsal given at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon presented the styles of composition of several composers not very well known, in addition to some selections from standard works. "Friend Fritz" by Mascagni, does not come up to his better known "Cavelleria Rusticana," although there were some fine pieces of harmony in the selection. The "Deutschland" portion of Moszkowski's Suite, "From Foreign Parts," was decidedly typical of the German folk song, as the other portions of the suite are of the music of other foreign nationalities. Lecoq's Fantasie from "The Oolah," was light, gay and sparkling and in decided contrast to the "Romanza Celeste Aida" from Verdi's opera of "Aida." This song sung by Rhadames is one of the gems of this stately, majestic and melodious opera and possesses much native coloring. The "Fantasie Dramatique" from David's cantata, "The Desert" was a notable piece, massive and descriptive, and abounding in exotic, oriental dances. The sixth number was tuneful, sprightly and decidedly modern and sounded strangely familiar to those who had reveled in the music of the "Merry Widow" earlier in the week. A selection from Auber's "Le Domino Noir," contained many of the well-known airs from that pleasing opera. The program concluded with Suppe's very brilliant overture to "Tricoche and Cacolet," a comic opera not well known, but the music is exceptionally catchy and inspiring.

A rehearsal will be given next Sunday at which selections from the "Stabat Mater," Pagliacci, "The Rose of the Alhambra," "Fidelio" and other notable compositions will be given. No efforts are being made to attract a large audience, although all will be welcome, the rehearsal will take place and any person desiring to hear the informal program can drop in and be assured of a comfortable seat and good music.

AWAKENED BY SMOKE, FAMILY HAS CLOSE CALL.

The house was gutted and no furniture was saved. The loss is $1,500. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Every effort is being made in preparation at the new building of the Young Women's Christian association for the serving of meals tomorrow. The workers are laboring under disadvantages, as the workmen are not yet out of the building, but it is hoped that this most popular feature, the cafeteria, will resume tomorrow. The business women and girls who are accustomed to getting their luncheons at the Y. W. C. A. rooms have sadly missed this feature during the week, and several hundred will be ready to file into the new room at the first possible opportunity.

The young women who have engaged rooms at the building are moving in today. There are seventy-three rooms in the building, and more than half of these have already been engaged. It is not expected that all of these rooms will be in use in the first few months, but those most interested in the building desired that provision be made adequate for the association needs for some time to come. The members will be busy moving in and getting settled during the week.

During the quiet campaign for new members which has been carried on during the last six weeks, more than 500 new members have been secured, as well as many renewals. The workers were so engaged with the business of moving and the many demands upon their time at the new building that the membership campaign was in a way allowed to conduct itself, and every one is greatly pleased at the splendid showing that has been made. All of the returns of the contest are not yet in nor tabulated, but the general secretary is greatly appreciative of the efforts that have been made by the members.

At the recent session of the legislature a law was passed allowing the Young Women's Christian associations of the state to incorporate, and last week the preliminary steps were taken, the members of the board of directors of the association being named as the incorporators. Formerly the association was governed by the laws relating to the Y. M. C. A., but the new law gives them an individual state organization.

A meeting of the active members of the association will be held this evening at the new building to elect four trustees, as required by the new law. This will be the first general meeting at the new building.

INSPECTOR NAMED.

Miss Jenkins of Duluth On State Board.

Miss Caroline Jenkins of this city has been commissioned an inspector in the state labor department, and will begin an investigation this week of the conditions surrounding telephone girls in Minnesota. She will begin her work in Duluth, where she has been a "central" operator herself, and later will continue the inquiry in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Miss Jenkins was at St. Paul yesterday and received instructions for the work from Labor Commissioner McEwen.

The telephone business is not singled out from all the rest. The conditions of women workers in every line are to be investigated, taking up one industry after another. The inquiry among telephone operatives will take in the question of wages, hours of labor, sanitary surroundings and home conditions. The inspector will get detailed information from each operator, and will tabulate it to show how many do night work, how many work part day and part night, how many Sundays in the month they work, how long hours are kept, the length of rest periods, and the time between rest periods. The allowance for vacations will be shown.

The report will show how many have sick benefit insurance, and what diseases are most prevalent. The kind of dressing and toilet rooms available, seats provided, ventilation and other sanitary considerations will be inquired into. The statistics will also show how many of the operators are married, how many are widows and have others dependent on their labors.

MOTHER'S DAY.

Daysey Mayme Celebrates All Day Long.

Saturday was Mother's day, and there are a few who were so busy they didn't observe it, says the Atchison Globe. But Daysey Mayme Appleton was not in that number; no, not she! Daysey Mayme arose early, and putting on her best clothes, ate a breakfast that mother had prepared, and then, leaving the dishes for mother to do, walked to the greenhouse, where she invested in a dozen snow-white carnations. "Some may wear only one," said Daysey Mayme, "that being the badge selected for Mother's day, but I think mothers can't be honored too highly and I will wear a dozen." Daysey Mayme paraded the streets till noon, when she went home, ate a dinner mother had prepared, grumbling because it didn't suit her, and then, after telling mother how to iron her shirt waists, went off to take a nap, leaving the dishes. Daysey Mayme felt guilty upon awakening. She had slept two full hours of a day that should have been spent in honoring mother. She got up hurriedly and dressed and left the house again, wearing her dozen snow-white carnations, and to every friend on whom she called that afternoon she told how sweet, how uplifting and how noble it was to set aside a Mother's day, and how she intended to observe it as long as she lived. Daysey Mayme was invited out to supper, and when she got home at 10 that night mother was still ironing shirt waists. "Dear mother is slow," said Daysey Mayme to herself in her mirror, "but she is a good woman, and I am glad I have honored her all day." Then she went to bed, satisfied that one good day's work was done.

TO FORM SOCIETY.

Daughters of Veterans to Organize in Duluth.

Mrs. Emma Campbell, a prominent member of the Bryant Relief Corps of Minneapolis, will be in Duluth on Wednesday of this week in the interest of an organization of a local tent of the Daughters of Veterans. Mrs. Campbell will receive the members of Culver Relief Corps at the Spalding Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock, and in the evening from 7 to 9. The local members are hoping that Mrs. Campbell will be able to remain in the city for the regular meeting Thursday afternoon Rowley hall.

The Daughters of Veterans is a society of the Daughters of Civil War Veterans. The wives and sisters are excluded. It is expected that years hence there will be much interest and pride in the organization, as there is now in the Daughters of the American Revolution, and while the history is recent and the ancestry easily traced, the beginnings of this society are being made throughout the United States.

There is much interest in Mrs. Campbell's visit to Duluth, and it is probable that a local society will be organized.

Violin Numbers.

The last group of numbers to be played by Shoygaard, the Danish violinist at the Flaaten auditorium, May 23, will include an Aria, Minuet and Gavotte by Pergolesi, Haydn and Bach, respectively. The program notes on these numbers are interesting:

"a. The Aria of Pergolesi is from an opera of that period. It brings before us a young man, Florello, standing by the couch of his inamorata, Nanina, on which she lies in a deep sleep which has already lasted three days and nights. Through the whole Aria one can hear Florello's agonized appeal as he calls first to Nanina and then to her attendants. But she hears him not and the utmost efforts of the girls cannot waken her from her mysterious sleep.

"b. The Haydn Minuet incarnates the stately spirit of the courtly ballroom, its precise and refined gayety, almost humor, gives us "Uncle Haydn" in one of his happiest moods.

"c. When we turn to the Gavotte of Johann Sebastian Bach we pass from the limited sphere of the ballroom to the sense of space and massive strength which might belong to some cathedral. There is a suggestion of repose and depth even in this dance music. Order and noble form are clearly felt below the measured charm of the Gavotte."

Annual Sale.

Drays were busy today going about the city collecting the contributions for the annual rummage sale which will be conducted Wednesday and Thursday at 107 West Superior street for the benefit of the Children's Home. A regular department store will be maintained by the members of the board during those days, as there are to be fourteen departments with a member of the board in charge of each. The contributions were many and of a quality to make the sale a help to many Duluthians.

POWER OF HABIT.

Should Be Used to Induce Greater Good.

Mental habits, such as worry, fear, apprehension, anger and weariness, become easily and needlessly established because we have not known how to use the fact that the nervous system is plastic and can be taught with comparative ease whatever we wish it to learn, says Anna Sturgis Dwyer in the June Delineator.

When we know that every single repetition of an act is, through this plastic character of nerve substance, wearing a path in the brain along which it will be very much easier for that action to move in its second occurrence than in the first, we have knowledge of practical importance which we should think about, understand and use. We have always known, in a general way, that harmful acts should not be repeated, and that good ones should be cultivated; knowing just why this is so and understanding how inevitably habits, good or bad, are being formed by a repetition of single acts, puts a very effective weapon into our hands. That old saying of our childhood, "Sow a thought, reap an act; sow an act, reap a habit; sow a habit, reap a character; sow a character, reap a destiny," is scientifically true and is a tremendous fact.

The constant or frequent repetition of an act gives it so absolutely a tendency to recur that it will after a while repeat itself without any conscious help on the part of the person performing it. This is a very dreadful fact in connection with bad habits, and a very encouraging and inspiring one when we consider it in relation to good habits. Evil habits become automatic, as we know too well in the case of the drunkard who will bow his head and weep tears of bitterness because of his slavery, and then, with the tears still flowing, lift the glass to his lips and drink. The act is done against his conscious will by an automatic mechanism which he has slowly, steadily, persistently cultivated and perfected so that it must and will work unerringly, independently of his conscious desire and volition. He has, like the maker of Frankenstein, created a monster, which he can neither control nor destroy. This tragic experience of the drunkard is the result of the plasticity of nerve tissue and the repetition of his act; he has put these facts to a destructive, rather than to a constructive use.

FULLER SKIRTS

Will Be a Feature of Summer Styles.

There is no longer any doubt about the fact that skirts are fuller for every gown, that this fullness will be obtained on short skirts by plaits. They will be inserted in panels or cover the entire surface.

These should not extend much below the hips. The tight-fitted hip line not only continues, but grows in favor.

These deep flounces, gathered or plaited, are seen on many of the French models, and are being introduced on many of the best American gowns.

They are such a relief from the over narrow skirt that women have worn on the street since last spring. There is no effect of crinoline about them. They do not stand out any more than they did, but they have enough fulness to be graceful and becoming.

They give the feet a chance to look smaller and daintier, whereas the narrow skirt made the foot conspicuous, and gave it a look of greater size.

About Women.

Columbia university is to have in connection with teachers' college a new $450,000 building that is to be devoted to the teaching of household arts. The building will be finished next September and will be sufficiently large to provide for all the seventy courses of instruction that are contemplated. Bangs in Style.

"What shall we do?" we ask in despair.

"Behold the bang," says the hairdresser, that would settle the matter.

So we have the bang again, or, as the English call it, the fringe.

It is not as simple as it looks, however, and cannot be done at home with the shears.

It is not cut straight across.

It is rounded, and then made into soft, loose little curls that are just visible under the drooping hat brim.

The hair must be wider at the sides and half low and full at the back.

Naturally, the "rat" must not cross the top of the head, nor can it be placed across the back.

GIBRALTAR

By Annie Hinrichsen.

Gibraltar and I are partners. Gibraltar is a dancing bear. Some people might say I am Gibraltar's owner, but between him and me there's never been a question of master and beast. We're partners, share and share alike.

We don't recognize the Circus trust or the Public Performers' union; we are free lances. We could get an engagement any time with a side show of a circus, but we prefer the simple life. We walk from town to town. We have enough to eat, and there is no sweeter sleep than the sleep one gets under the stars.

One day as Gibraltar and I were strolling along a country lane we saw a girl coming toward us. She stopped a little way off and called:

"Will your bear hurt me?"

"No, indeed, miss," says I. "He's as gentle as a kitten."

She came up to us, and my! she was pretty. Her eyes were like the sky and her cheeks were like the wild roses in the hedges. When she laughed her face was all dimples, and she laughed most of the time. It seemed as if the sunshine was in her and peeped out of her eyes and lips.

"Will he mind if I pat him?" she asked.

"No, miss," says I. "He'd be proud."

She patted old Gibraltar's head and pulled his ears. "I do love bears," she said. "What's his name?"

I told her, and she said that was a beautiful name for a bear.

I made him dance and she sat down by the road and laughed and clapped her hands. She asked a lot of questions and I told her everything about Gibraltar and me there was to tell.

After awhile she said she must go. She dropped a dollar in my money basket and took some flowers from her hat and stuck 'em in Gibraltar's collar. gave us a pretty good-by and went her way.

It was about sundown and we stopped at the first haystack and ate our supper and went to sleep.

In the night I woke up. There were people on the other side of the haystack. A woman was crying. It wasn't any red-eyed, sniffling, common folks' crying; it was the cry of a thoroughbred who was up against it and was trying to hold her feelings down. Then a man said he was sorry; that he couldn't help it; he didn't love her any more; change was the law of nature, and she must accept conditions.

She said something about the love of the old days and the claim it gave her. That seemed to make the fellow tired and he said he didn't care for hash love. He asked her to give him something—I couldn't hear what—and she said she wouldn't, it was hers and he should never have it. Then he got mad and said she had no right to it and she said she had, for he had given it to her when he loved her. He muttered something I couldn't hear and she gave a little scream.

"Oh, you brute," she said. "You've broken the chain and stolen it."

That woke Gibraltar and he groaned. The man came around the haystack. "What are you doing here?" he asked.

"Sleepin'," I says.

They went away and I looked around the haystack and in the moonlight I could see that the woman was tall and had yellow hair.

Next morning when I woke up I saw we were near a house and we ambled toward it looking for a breakfast. It as a big house with a long porch in front of it and on the porch were a lot of people. It wasn't a farmhouse, as I had supposed, but some swell's summer cottage and Gibraltar and I had butted into a house party.

When they saw us they called to us to come to the porch, they wanted Gibraltar to dance.

On the lowest step sat my little sunshine lady and beside her was the fellow I had seen the night before. Near them was a tall woman with yellow hair. The fellow never took his eyes off the little sunshine lady and she looked happier and sunshinier than ever. The tall woman watched them all the time and she didn't seem to like the way they laughed and talked to each other.

After Gibraltar had done his stunts I passed the money basket. The last person it came to was the fellow beside the sunshine lady and he was so busy talking to her that he never looked at what he pulled out of his pocket and threw into the basket.

I hung the basket on Gibraltar's paw and told him to make a bow. He bowed so low that the basket slid off and fell at the sunshine lady's feet. There was something in it which didn't look like money and she picked it up. The fellow reached for it and so did the tall woman, but the sunshine lady had it.

It was a gold locket about the size of a half dollar. On one side were a lot of letters twisted together. She put her little thumb nail in the edge of it and opened it and there was the the fellow's picture and some writing.

All the sunshine went out of the little girl's face and she didn't say anything for about a minute. Then she read the writing in the locket, but she spoke so low that only the man and the woman and Gibraltar and I could hear.

"To Beatrice, from George."

She snapped the locket shut and handed it to the tall woman. "This is yours, I think," she said.

The man looked as if he wanted to smash things, Gibraltar and me particularly.

The little sunshine lady put her hands in Gibraltar's fur and shook his big head. "Gibraltar," she said, "you have done a great deal for me today and I thank you, old fellow. Even out of the paws of bears—"

She kind o' choked then and I took up Gibraltar's chain and we went off.

Often I think of the little sunshine lady and wonder if the happy light has come back to her eyes, and I tell Gibraltar that even the swells have their troubles and for real happiness give me a dancing bear and a country road.

RETURNS TO HIS OLD LOVE

Duluth Best City in the Country, Says Henry F. Greene.

Says Civil Service Offers Little But Decent Living.

Henry F. Greene, who for many years was a resident of Duluth, previous to his appointment as a civil service commissioner by ex-President Roosevelt in June 1903, has returned to Duluth to live because he believes it has the most promising future of any city in the United States. He will resume his law practice here.

Since his appointment in 1903 Mr. Greene has been living in Washington. He came back to this city as soon as his recent resignation went into effect, which was May 1.

Mr. Greene says that while the civil service now covers about everything it can cover under the present law, it is not the most promising occupation in the world for a young man to enter. About the highest salary paid is $2,250 a year, and while he is always assured of a good living, there is very little chance for advancement outside of the ordinary civil service positions. Very few men break through into the higher government positions, he says.

Mr. Greene says that in his opinion the most interesting society in Washington is composed of the few literary and scientific men who are seldom heard from. They are people of moderate means, who do everything in a quiet way, and their names rarely, if ever, creep into the newspapers.

COUNTY TAX SALE IS BEING HELD

The sale covers lands on which the taxes for 1907 were not paid, and it is estimated that there is between $40,000 and $50,000 outstanding.

On this property a clear title cannot be given on account of the fact that the former owners have three years to pay up and claim their property. The buyers simply buy the property and take chances on being able to make the title good.

DEATH FOLLOWS STROKE.

After lingering between life and death for four days, Richard F. Phillips of 414 Nineteenth avenue west died late Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's hospital as a result of a paralytic stroke.

He was stricken very suddenly last Wednesday evening when returning home from his work at the Northern Pacific yards. Within a few blocks of home he dropped to the sidewalk and had to be carried the remainder of the distance.

The stroke which proved fatal was the second, the first one having occurred a week previous. It was of a trivial nature and but little attention was paid to it at the time.

Mr. Phillips was a well-known railroad supply man at the West end. He leaves a widow, three daughters, Ella, Ethel and Evelyn, and three sons, John, Harold and Charles. The eldest son, John, is now in Australia, and the rest of the family reside in Duluth.

The funeral will be held tomorrow from the residence, with interment at Calvary cemetery.

FIRST STREET SITE FAVORED

Reported That the New Theater Will Be Built There.

According to the statement of a well known Duluth real estate dealer, the new Orpheum theater will be located upon West First street, somewhere between Lake avenue and First avenue west. A site in this block has been looked over carefully both by Martin Beck, general manager of the Orpheum circuit, and by the superintendent of construction of the Orpheum houses. It is said that both Mr. Beck and his superintendent of construction are all but agreed upon the First street site.

Some sites upon Superior street were inspected by Mr. Beck. A corner location upon the latter street is under consideration by the Orpheum people, but those who are believed to be close to the movements of Mr. Beck are inclined to believe that First street will be favored as the site of the new vaudeville house. It was also reported that the old Temple theater might be built.

SKY PILOT GIVES TALK

Thinks Such an Institution Should Be Erected in Duluth.

"The lumberjack is not a tough! Come with me to the jails and I will show you a larger proportion of professional men, fugitive bank cashiers, dishonest clerks, convicted lawyers, and so on, than from the rank and file of the woodsmen."

This is what Rev. F. E. Higgins said yesterday in an address on his work as missionary for twelve years among the lumberjacks of the Northern Minnesota woods. He spoke at the Second Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon and at the Westminster Presbyterian church at West Duluth last evening.

Rev. Higgins is popularly known as the "sky pilot of the Minnesota lumber camps." In his address, he related his experiences and told how he came to take up the work with the lumberjacks. He says he enjoys his mission and that he visits thousands of the woodsmen every year.

"The average lumberjack has a big heart," declared Rev. Higgins, "and shrewd people who are after money know this. The lumberjack will give freely to charity, for he spends his money like water. None but a missionary visits the camps unless it is to take away some of their savings. They are imposed upon often."

He also advocated the establishment of a home for the woodsmen in Duluth similar to the Y. M. C. A. He gave considerable credit to the Bethel, but remarked that it was only beginning and $100,000 ought to be spent in the erection of a home for lumberjacks.

Rev. Higgins will make his headquarters at Bemidji next winter and will have a corps of five assistants. Next month he will speak before the general conference of the Presbyterian churches held at Denver, Colo.

DEDICATED TO MOTHERS.

Rev. J. L. McBride Pays Them Tributes in Sermon.

That mankind's debt to motherhood could not be paid by gifts and ordinary care was the declaration made yesterday by Rev. James L. McBride, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church at the West end, in his annual sermon on "Mothers."

The gist of his talk was that every man owes to his maternal parent an affection which is not to be measured by dollars and cents. His discourse was interesting and inspiring. The audience was large, the church being crowded to its capacity.

SVEA GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

Entertainment at Lincoln Park Auditorium Is Well Attended.

The Svea Glee club gave its annual May concert yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park. The weather was excellent and a large number turned out to hear the singers, who were never in better voice.

The male chorus gave a number of selections, and Miss Alice Sjoselius was heard in a vocal solo. Charles Helmer received an encore on his solo, and Dexter Ostergren gave an enjoyable violin selection. Miss Agnes Johnson gave a reading.

Adams Team Loses.

In an interesting game of baseball, played yesterday afternoon on the Thirty-second avenue west grounds, Larson's Sluggers trimmed the Adams bunch to the tune of 10 to 7. McFarlane and Olsen threw for the Adams aggregation, while Kelley and McKinon twirled for the Sluggers. Hard hitting won the game for the Sluggers.

There are to be several new theaters on the circuit during the coming year. At the Soo, Mr. Jordan is considering the building of a new theater to be known as the Jordan theater. NOT DRUGS

Food Did It.

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic and apparently incurable constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days.

"From early childhood I suffered with such terrible constipation that I had to use laxatives continuously going from one drug to another and suffering more or less all the time.

"A prominent physician whom I consulted told me the muscles of the digestive organs were partially paralyzed and could not perform their work without help of some kind, so I have tried at different times about every laxative and cathartic known, but found no help that was at all permanent. I had finally become discouraged and had given my case up as hopeless when I began to use the predigested food, Grape-Nuts.

"Although I had not expected this food to help my trouble, to my great surprise Grape-Nuts digested immediately from the first and in a few days I was convinced that this was just what my system needed.

"The bowels performed their functions regularly and I am now completely and permanently cured of this awful trouble.

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." "There's a Reason."

A POLICEMAN USES HIS FIST

Gust Ferman Sorry Now That He Resisted an Officer.

Gust Ferman willingly admits that there is neither pleasure nor profit in resisting a policeman. Last evening, while creating a disturbance on the Bowery, he was arrested by Officer Dickman.

Ferman objected to being taken into custody. The bluecoat used his persuasive powers, but to no avail, and when Ferman attempted to strike him, he, in self-defense, landed a fist over the right optic of the unfortunate woodsman.

This tamed Ferman down, and, after taking the count, he was hauled to the police station. This morning he was fined $15 in police court, and in lieu of the fine was given the choice of remaining fifteen days in jail.

AND THERE ARE SOME WHO HAVE GREATNESS THRUST UPON THEM

"Three cheers for Bryan! Speech! Speech!"

And thus do notoriety and enthusiastic receptions sometimes come to those who have not strenuously sought for fleeting fame.

Robert P. Payne, a representative of a St. Paul electrical supply and equipment house, was mistaken for William Jennings Bryan at a few of the stations of the Great Northern road. Crowds had gathered at the station, and when they caught sight of the smiling countenance of Mr. Payne and his thinly thatched dome, where the hair grows but sparsely as upon the distinguished head of the Peerless Leader, they set up a lusty hurrah and demanded that the commercial man enlighten them upon the needs of the age.

It happened that Mr. Bryan had been riding upon the Great Northern. He alighted from the train before Mr. Payne learned it. The coach that Mr. Bryan vacated happened to be empty. Into this coach strolled Mr. Payne. It had been passed along that the Commoner was upon the train, and when those gathered at some of the country stations viewed the countenance of Mr. Payne peering through the window of the coach, riding in dignified solitude, they jumped at the conclusion that the man who thrice ran for the honor of being a tenant of the White House was among them.

Though bewildered at the noisy and enthusiastic reception that he was being accorded, Mr. Payne, being a genial and cordial fellow, waved his hand gaily at the assembled villages and smiled, almost as expansive a smile as the famous Bryan smile.

But that is as far as his efforts went. He hasn't made a speech since the village school held a debate upon who was the greatest man, Washington, or honest Abe Lincoln. He didn't feel quite equal to the task of saying just what the crowd expected of him, so he remembered that silence has been listed with the highly valuable minerals of our country.

It was not until he reached Duluth that Mr. Payne learned the cause of the pent-up enthusiasm. He plans upon going to hear Mr. Bryan this evening, for if he is ever again mistaken for the great Nebraskan he may get some notes upon style and delivery that would enable him to make a short and informal speech to the crowds that have mistaken him for a great national character.

FAILS TO KILL SELF

Mercer, Pa., May 10.—Before the expiration of another day, if their apparent determination to commit suicide is not successful, James H. Boyle and his wife, convicts of kidnaping Billy Whitla from his home in Sharon, Pa., on March 18, will have begun long terms in the Western penitentiary at Pittsburg. Boyle will go to the institution under a life sentence, his only hope for release lying in a pardon. Mrs. Boyle is under sentence of imprisonment for twenty-five years. By good behavior she can cut this down to fifteen years, but even at that she would come out of the institution very nearly the "dreaded old woman" of her interview last night, in which she said death would be preferable to such a fate.

That dead his preferable to imprisonment, in Mrs. Boyle's opinion, was indicated by an attempt to take her own life last night by swallowing morphine, alleged to have been secured from a fellow prisoner. Her threats of a suicide might have been carried out but for the failure of the morphine to act and the discovery by the sheriff of a razor secreted in the clothing of Boyle, when he was searched this morning.

The severity of the sentence, each of which was the maximum penalty allowed by law, not only proved a surprise to the community which expected more leniency, but practically both the abductors. Both were so overcome that it was necessary to carry them from the courtroom.

J. P. Whitla and Frank H. Buhl were present in court when sentence was announced. Sheriff Chess is keeping to himself the time when he will take the prisoners to the penitentiary, but it is expected they will leave here tonight. Six months' time is allowed convicted prisoners in which to make an appeal.

New York, May 10.—Argument on the motion of counsel for Charles W. Morse for the setting of a day not later than June 30 for argument on the former banker's appeal from conviction, went over today for a week, the United States circuit court of appeals not assembling as was expected. It had also been the intention of Mr. Morse's attorneys to present to the court today a petition from a score of prominent men asking the prisoner's release on bail and pledging security for him to the extent of $100,000 or more.

OVERTAKEN BY LAUNCH

Oak Halls Defeated By Fast Cloquet Ball Team.

Struck by a motor boat speeding up the St. Louis river, and instantly killed, a large wild duck was picked out of the water by an outing party in F. H. Wade's new craft, the Gee Whiz, yesterday afternoon.

The ducks are very numerous in the river, but this is the first time on record this season that a motor boat has run down one of the water birds. The man who was guiding the craft saw the duck just ahead of him, but not in time to steer the launch out of the way. The victim did not even have time to murmur the last two words of the boat's name before passing into eternity.

OAK HALLS LOSE.

The Cloquet Team Is Victorious in Sunday Ball Game.

Slightly crestfallen from their defeat at Cloquet Sunday afternoon, the Oak Halls returned last evening to West Duluth. The Cloquet team was too speedy for the West Duluthians for the first game of the season, and slipped it over them to the music of 9 to 3.

The game was featured by heavy hitting on the part of the winners, who were in especially good trim for the occasion. Larson and Talbot were the twirlers for the Oak Halls. The West Duluth men made their one run in the second inning.

Manager Gram looks upon the defeat hopefully, as the boys had had but little practice for the occasion. The team will turn out every night this week and will make preparations for the Iron River game at Iron River next Sunday.

Speeches will be made by G. W. Boutin, good samaritan; L. A. Barnes, W. Hutchins, T. J. McKeon and others. Miss Horman and Miss Boutin will each be heard in a musical number. The latter is a violinist and Miss Horman is a pianist. A small class will be initiated this evening, after which refreshments will be served.

"SKINNY" MADDEN GOES TO TRIAL

Chicago's Labor Czar Faces the Charge of Extortion.

Chicago, May 10.—Martin B. ("Skinny") Madden, president of the Associated Building Trades unions of Chicago and generally referred to as the local "czar of labor," was placed on trial today before Judge McSurely, charged with the extortion of $1,000 from Joseph Klick for "settling" a strike. M. J. Boyle, business agent of the Electrical Workers' union and F. A. Poucnot, chairman of the business agents of the general organization are also defendants.

Indictment of Madden and his associates followed years of innuendoes among contractors concerning the calling and settling of strikes. Complaint was not made officially, however, until a few months ago when the contractors, who are building the new Chicago & Northwestern station told States Attorney Wayman that an attempt had been made to extort money from them on pain of a strike being called on the work. The investigation which ensued was followed by an indictment on which trial was begun today.

Mr. Wayman has made an exhaustive investigation of the records of veniremen who were in court today. They were carefully examined as to their relations to unionism.

Madden's career as a labor leader has been uniformly successful. He rides in his own automobile and for years his word has been law among the majority of trade unionists of this city.

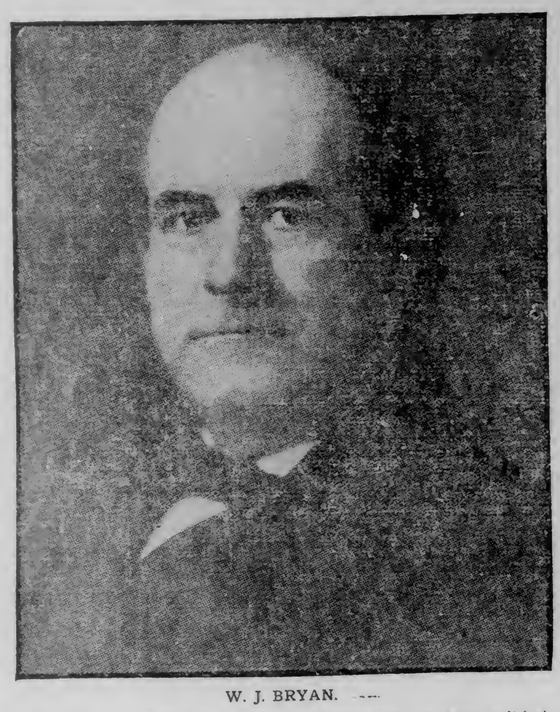
W. J. BRYAN, CITIZEN, IS STILL "THE COMMONER"--- HAS CHANGED BUT LITTLE



W. J. BRYAN. ---

W. J. Bryan left Duluth for Cloquet this morning. Mr. Bryan will deliver a lecture at the lumber village this afternoon, returning to Duluth in time for his engagement this evening.

The Commoner was escorted to the depot by a number of citizens, including W. I. Prince, representing the Duluth Commercial club, and T. T. Hudson, a close friend of the Nebraskan.

The famous Bryan smile was in perfect working order. As the train pulled out, Mr. Bryan beamed upon the Duluth friends with a smile that lighted up his stern countenance. Mr. Bryan looks in the very prime of good health, and stated that he never felt better in his life. He is gradually getting stouter, although his physique still retains the lines of rugged strength that have made the Commoner such an imposing figure upon the platform and the stump.

"I make it a habit to never discuss politics when I am lecturing upon subjects that have nothing to do with politics," said Mr. Bryan, in response to a query regarding affairs political.

"I believe that the West is better off in an industrial sense than the East. You seem to be better fixed out in this part of the country than the people of the Eastern states. Take it through Pennsylvania and other industrial centers of the East and they have more idle men and less industrial activity than you have right through the Middle Western and extreme Western states.

"Over in Canada, they are doing well industrially. I did not talk politics while in the dominion, and so do not know what they think of reciprocity with the United States.

"How little Mr. Bryan cares for dress was shown by the fact that he wore an old suit and the famous old black hat that is known from one end of the country to the other. He has been lecturing just a week and will return to Lincoln some time during the present week.

The Commoner's strong, fighting face, his sharp, piercing eye, and his firm, decisive handshake, are proof positive that his third defeat did not leave him downcast. He is still cheerful, still buoyant, and still the Bryan of old.

union crew. When the vessel tied at the dock she was met by a crowd of from fifty to 100 men, for the most part union men and union sympathizers. When the Berlin was made fast they bombarded the deck and upper works with rocks, glass, coal, pieces of planking, and other missiles handy.

Members of the crew replied profanely to the jeers and jibes of the union men on the dock. The latter made a frantic attempt to board the Berlin, but were fought off by the crew and officers. Acting under the advice of Special Police Officer Reno, Capt. Woodrow then gave orders to maneuver the vessel to an anchorage in the basin.

Fatal Shot Fired.

It was while the vessel was leaving the dock and the turmoil was at its height that the shot was fired that ended the life of O'Rourke. The missile, a .32-caliber bullet, as later disclosed, entered his right breast obliquely and penetrated to the heart causing instant death. O'Rourke dropped to the deck without a sound.

The body was removed at once to the undertaking rooms of H. F. Dudley. In one of the pockets of the dead mans coat a union card was found showing O'Rourke to have been a member in good standing of the Lake Firemen's union. The card also stated that he was born in Ireland and was married. The address named on the card, 71 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y., is supposed to be his last address. The Superior police have wired to the above address and also to the police of Cleveland where it is believed the dead man lived prior to coming to Superior, and where it is thought his wife is at present.

The arrest of Fred Reno followed close on the heels of the tragedy. Immediately after the shooting Reno came to Duluth and gave the details of the affair to Chief Troyer. The latter told him that the Duluth headquarters had no jurisdiction in the matter and Reno returned at once to Superior and reported to the police of that city.

Reno admitted that he had fired one shot from his revolver during the height of the trouble, but stated that he fired in the air, and that he believes it to have been impossible for the bullet from his weapon to have hit O'Rourke or any one else on the dock. The dock and even the heads of those in the crowd, were several feet below the level of the Berlin's deck. Reno was locked up, under protest, by the Superior police and will be held pending an investigation.

Two Others Arrested.

Capt. Woodrow and Lester Elmer were placed under arrest yesterday while both were attending to their duties aboard the City of Berlin. Elmer was taken to the Superior jail and given a cell adjoining that of Reno. Capt. Woodrow was not placed in confinement. He was permitted to attend to his ship duties, but under the close surveillance of a Superior policeman.

When asked by the police for a statement of his version of the affair, Capt. Woodrow said that he had fired the first shot, or believed he had, but that it was done in his own defense and the defense of the men and property under his care.

All Three Fired.

It is certain that the captain and Officers Reno and Elmer all fired one or more shots at about the same time, and while the strikers were hurling missiles aboard the Berlin and threatening the lives of those on board.

Fred Reno, the first man arrested, is 26 years old, and for the past six years has been a resident of Duluth. He is one of the special police appointed by Chief Troyer at the instance of the Lake Carriers' association to guard association vessels during the strike. He boarded the Berlin as soon as she arrived in port, as did also Lester Elmer, the other special officer. Elmer is also a Duluth man.

Reno's story, told after his arrest, is as follows: "I went aboard the Berlin shortly before 5 o'clock, with Lester Elmer. Elmer had asked permission to remain aboard until time for him to go on duty. He was to relieve me.

"It was dusk as we approached the dock to tie up. I saw a crowd of men, probably from forty to sixty, digging about in the darkness and coming toward the boat. I could see that they were armed with iron bars, chunks of rock and large pieces of coal.

"The Berlin sat low in the water, and it was easy for the men to board her from the docks. I imagined what was in their minds and ran to get Elmer. When I got back some of the strikers were on deck and beating the engineer. Several of us rushed to the assistance of the engineer, and it was then that the shots were fired.

"I did not fire until I considered that my life was in danger. My directions were to fire into the air, and I did so myself. The missiles were flying about the deck and threatening our lives at every turn. The idea was to fire into the air and frighten the men with the sound of firearms.

Strikers Driven Off.

"The strikers were driven off the vessel, and I suggested to Capt. Woodrow that it would be advisable to move out into the basin, out of reach of the crowd, and anchor for the night, which he did. I then went to Duluth and reported the matter to Chief Troyer, and later came here."

The Captain's Story.

When seen by a Herald representative Sunday afternoon, Capt. Woodrow stated that the stand that he and the detectives had taken was purely one of protection to the property on the boat and in defense of the non-union crew. "These strikers had murder in their eyes when they climbed over the railing and swarmed over the boat. They were ousted by main force on their first attack. It was only until after the bombarding of rocks, stones, coal and anything else that came handy that we used our guns."

"Have you any idea as to who fired the shot which killed O'Rourke?" was asked the captain.

"I have not the slightest notion," he answered. "I only know Reno told us to turn out with our guns, for there was trouble coming. I fired the first shot, aimed high. It was clearly understood between us that we were to shoot to frighten away and not to kill."

Capt. Woodrow did not seem much disconcerted yesterday afternoon, although under arrest, while in charge of his duties at the boat. He sat back in his easy chair, smoked a cigar and told his story to The Herald reporter without any hesitation. The story of the affair was substantially the same as that related by Reno to the police in Superior Saturday night.

Two of Crew Hit.

Two of the crew of the Berlin were struck by flying missiles, though neither of them seriously. William D. Wood, the second engineer, was attacked after Reno had gone for assistance. He was hit several times about the back and head with a piece of planking. His wounds were dressed and he was about in a short time. Reuben Warner, a seaman, was knocked down with an iron crowbar. He suffered some painful bruises about the hips. A stone thrown through the window of the galley narrowly missed hitting the chief cook.

The principal damage to the vessel consisted of broken windows. Nearly every light in the cabin and pilot house was broken. In one instance a shovel which was aimed by one of the strikers at a member of the Berlin's crew, missed its intended victim and struck the pilot house with such force that the outer panels were cracked. After the Berlin put out in the bay several sacks of the missiles were gathered to be used later as evidence.

After his arrest, Elmer said that he had not been looking for trouble, but that he had been stationed on the boat to see that nothing was molested. "I was just going to bed," he said, "when Reno rushed in to tell me to hurry on deck, as a mob was attacking the boat and there was trouble ahead. I know that none of our men shot to kill, but merely to frighten, and also that the first shot fired came from the ranks of the strikers."

Crowd Dispersed.

The Superior police have failed to locate any of the strikers who were present in the crowd when the shot was fired that killed O'Rourke. With the firing of the first shot the crowd melted away like snow in a noonday sun and the dock was utterly deserted within a few minutes. The best efforts of the police have failed to find any of them and the story from the dock side of the battle is still untold. The only eye witnesses who have given statements to the police are the men now under arrest.

Nothing that will throw any light on the gathering of the armed crowd to meet the Berlin, can be learned from the headquarters of any of the striking unions. Both the officers of the Lake Seamen and the Lake Firemen state that they had no previous knowledge of any such intention.

Seamen Issue Statement.

The following statement has been given out from the offices of the Duluth-Superior branch of the Lake Seamen's union in Superior.

"The first intimation that we had of any trouble was when the news of the shooting became noised about the streets. If some of our men were in the crowd it was without authority from the union. Our attitude has been peaceable and violence is the last thing we want to see. There is intense feeling in some quarters against the striking unions and to drag the names of the unions into the trouble that occurred Saturday night will have a tendency to militate against our chances of success. We are very sorry that death has resulted from the clash of opposing interests and we wish to discredit beforehand any statement that may be made charging the Lake Seamen's union with any connection with the affair of Saturday night."

Just where the crowd gathered before they marched to the dock to meet the Berlin is also a mystery. No one has been found who saw the men prior to their advent on the Northwestern dock shortly before 5 o'clock. Members of the firemen's union profess to believe that the crowd was not composed of union men, but a gang of unemployed malcontents, urged on by two or three of the more restless ones.

That violence was premeditated, the police are convinced, was clearly shown by the fact that all the men were armed when they reached the dock and before the Berlin had made fast. They are also inclined to believe that the shots fired by Reno, Elmer and Capt. Woodrow were meant to intimidate the crowd and prevent a repetition of such acts of violence as recently occurred down lake.

The remains of James O'Rourke will be sent to Cleveland after the post mortem and inquest have been completed. The Superior police have received a telegram from the dead man's widow in Cleveland, giving directions for shipping the body to that city.

Lester Elmer, one of the two special officers arrested in connection with the shooting of James O'Rourke, is 38 years old and has lived more or less in Duluth for the past ten years. He is a carpenter. For some time past he and his wife have lived on a homestead near Grand Marais. He came to Duluth the first of April and was out of work until about two weeks ago, when he was sworn in as a special officer.

Wife in Ignorance.

Mrs. Elmer is employed as a chambermaid at the Lenox hotel. The first intimation of the shooting and arrest of her husband was brought to her by a Herald reporter this morning. She could scarcely credit it. She at once made inquiries to find if the Superior police would permit her to visit her husband.

"He is the best tempered man I ever knew," she said, "and I can't imagine anything that could come up strong enough to make him shoot a man. He must have been fighting for his life or else it was an accident."

KEEPING BOYS ON THE FARM.

The farmer's worst troubles, he says, are the difficulty of getting help and of keeping his boys on the farm. These troubles are allied, because of course if the boys stay by the soil and take an interest their help is worth twice as much as that of hired hands.

The Outlook magazine publishes an interesting quotation showing what a Kansas farmer does to keep his boys on the farm. Knowing that the city has attractions hard to be resisted, he has set up counter attractions. The chief one is co-operation, partnership.

The farmer whose experiment is described is Charles Kirtland of Salina, Kan. He owns 250 acres six miles from Salina. He has three boys, 16, 14 and 6 years of age, and three girls. In the winter the family lives in town on account of school facilities and to enjoy the social life. Of course this feature is one that few farmers can imitate, but it is not so important as the co-operative factor. Indeed, if the appeal of this latter argument were not powerful, the boys would look forward in dread to the return to the country, and the winter in town would spoil them for the summer on the farm. It doesn't, in this case, however, for the entire family looks forward joyously to the spring and the return to the soil.

The Kirtland family is described as a pure democracy in which every member is a citizen, with the rights and privileges of citizenship. Ever since they have been old enough to be interested in any way the children have had some share, however small, in the farm. Each has something he can call his own. Mr. Kirtland has "toted fair" with his children. If they were not old enough to exercise judgment as to money or property, they were properly credited on the books. When they arrived at a proper age, they were given the management of their own share, which not only provided business and farming education, but created an honest self-interest that is wedding those children to farm life.

Last year the two older boys, having accumulated some capital from their share of the farm produce, rented an adjoining forty acres, using the family teams to break the ground and paying the father a fair price for their use. They bought seed wheat and paid for the thrashing. The venture netted these lads of 14 and 16 a nice profit of $450. They did this without neglecting their home work or their schooling, and this year they say they will do better still.

The 6-year-old lad last year bought with his savings two baby pigs. He fed them daily with his little pail filled at the farm separator, and a little while ago when Kirtland sold a bunch of hogs, the boy's two fattened swine brought $15, which went on the little fellow's bankbook.

That farmer is going to keep his boys on the farm because he is going about it in the right way.

IMPROVING THE MILK SUPPLY.

Coupled with the announcement in Saturday's Herald that the annual inspection of Duluth dairies would be taken up this morning by the health department, was the vastly important statement that since the beginning of the recent campaign for the betterment of the milk supply Duluth's dairies show an improvement averaging 100 per cent.

That means that there is not half so much risk in the consumption of milk as there was a year ago; that the milk being used in Duluth is twice as clean and wholesome as it was then; and that the city's health has been made that much better by the elimination of dangerous conditions formerly surrounding the milk supply.

Conditions in Duluth were never so bad as they have been in many communities, but the improvement noted shows that there was need for last year's campaign. The dairymen have shown a disposition to meet the health authorities half way, and in most cases all that was necessary was that their attention should be called to the need of improvement. Where more than that was required, the health authorities have not been backward in doing their duty.

A wholesome milk supply is vitally important, and it has a direct bearing upon the city's health and the city's death rate. The vigor with which this year's inspection begins indicates that the health department has a commendable appreciation of the fact that in this case, as in others, eternal vigilance is the price of success.

BEEF TRUST OR PEOPLE?

There appears to be no attempt to justify the imposition of a duty of 15 per cent upon hides. There is no answer to the strong arguments that are being put forth against the duty and for free hides. Yet Senator Aldrich still insists that the hide duty is necessary in order to get his bill through the senate, and that means that the beef trust is a part of the cabal of special privilege which is seeing to it, through Senator Aldrich, that all their interests shall be protected, no matter how much harm it does the people.

There was, at first, a faint effort to make it appear that the duty on hides is in the interests of the stock-raiser. As there is no case on record where the farmer or stock-raiser ever got a dollar from the beef trust for a hide, that argument is absurd. The duty will simply give the beef trust a tighter grip, make still more precarious the dangerous position of the independent tanner, and make the people's shoes more costly. It is the poor people that it will hit the hardest, too, which seems to be the usual result of duties secured by the trusts. It won't affect high-priced shoes very much, because they are made of calfskins. The laborer's shoes, however, are made from beef hides, and here the tariff shoe will pinch.

On a pair of shoes retailing for $2, the manufacturer now gets $1.35. The duty will amount to about 10 cents a pair. If the manufacturer adds only that 10 cents—usually he adds more—this will make his price $1.45. The jobber now gets $1.65, and if he adds but the 10 cents—the chances are ten to one that he will add more—his price to the retailer will be $1.75. Now the retailer can no longer afford to sell that pair of shoes for $2. He will have to raise his prices. Shoes increase in price, when they increase, in halfs and dollars, not in dimes and nickels. You don't find shoes selling, as a rule, for $2.10 or $3.15 or $4.85; they are $2, $2.50, $3 or $4. So the laborer's $2 shoe will unquestionably be $2.50 instead of $2.10. What makes that still more certain is the certainty that instead of adding to their prices the 10 cents that the tariff taxt amounts to, the manufacturer and jobber will each add a litle more than that. On heavier grades of shoes the tariff tax will be still more, and the increase in retail prices proportionately higher.

The packing trust buys cattle on the hoof at so much per pound. The hide is a by-product which is clear gain. Curing and drying amount to 3 per cent of the hide's value. Not content with this nice little profit, the beef trust has entered the tanning industry, and with the usual trust methods. It is using 60 per cent of the hides in its own tanneries, and it is using its power to drive the independent tanners off the face of the earth. It sells hides to them only when hides are high, and when they are low it uses them itself. The independents must go abroad for much of their raw material, and the duty on hides will simply make it that much more difficult to compete with the beef trust tanneries. If congress grants the beef trust's wishes, it is easy to imagine the result. The tanneries will go into a tannery trust, subsidiary to the beef trust. The price of leather will advance rapidly, and the consumer will, as usual, pay all the bills out of his ever-dwindling store.

In the case of the duty on hides, congress must choose between the people and the beef trust.

A GREAT PRIVATE CITIZEN.

Duluth, without regard to politics, is glad of the privilege of entertaining William Jennings Bryan, and of the opportunity to listen to his latest lecture. Those who hear him tonight will go well assured that he will have something to say that is worth saying and hearing, that it will be couched in felicitous phrases, and that it will be thoroughly wholesome, clean-cut and uplifting.

Mr. Bryan is the country's greatest private citizen—or at least he was until the event of March 4 gave him competition; as to which competition there will be difference of opinion, no doubt, and partisanship will not be lacking in the make-up of that difference. At any rate, Mr. Bryan is clearly the greatest private citizen who has never been president, and in all the history of the country no man ever gained a firmer hold of the affections of his countrymen. He is oftenest compared, in that respect, to Henry Clay, long well-beloved of the American people, who yet failed to make him president. But the country that loved Henry Clay, and yet withheld its highest tribute, was a much smaller country in area and population than that which loves Mr. Bryan and listens to his utterances with the utmost respect. Nowhere are there better or more loyal friends of Mr. Bryan's than there are in Duluth, and now that campaign bitterness has been quickly obliterated by the marvelous resilience of the American public mind, that circle of friends knows no boundaries of partisanship or of faction.

TWO STATESMEN IN WRONG.

Within a short time two members of the congress now in session at Washington have achieved sudden publicity by outbursts that were, no doubt, exceedingly well meant, but that have brought more ridicule than praise upon both.

Congressman Hollingsworth of Ohio was the first to find the spotlight. He discovered that it was proposed to put a picture of Jefferson Davis upon the silver service which the state of Mississippi is going to present to the new battleship that has been named after it. He didn't like this, and he said so quite violently. Jeff Davis was a "rebel," and president of the "rebel" Confederacy, so Hollingsworth thought it very objectionable that his picture should be exhibited in the messroom of a United States battleship.

Mr. Hollingsworth is wrong. There isn't a particle of harm in Mississippi's proposal. Jefferson Davis, though born in Kentucky, was for many years a distinguished citizen of Mississippi, which sent him to the senate and otherwise honored him. It is granted that he was wrong when he became a "rebel," but so were many others. Mississippi was and is proud of him, and it doesn't mean that that state harbors any of the old-time disloyalty when it sees fit to honor him again by putting his picture on that silver service. The Civil war is buried deeply under a generation of good feeling that has cemented the Union as it never was cemented before the war, and the North can well afford to overlook such a matter as that which has so excited the gentleman from Ohio. Jefferson Davis wasn't as fine a man or as great a man as Robert E. Lee, but his memory is kept green in the hearts of those who were once "rebels," but are now as loyal as any citizens that live in the North. If Mississippi wants to do this thing, let her do it. There isn't a particle of danger that the officers of the battleship Mississippi will be led to disloyalty by eating from a silver service bearing a picture of the civil leader of the Lost Cause.

The other outbreak was from Senator M. N. Johnson of North Dakota, who expressed violent opposition to the idea of erecting a statue of Alexander Hamilton at the national capital, on the ground that Hamilton was a libertine. It is not pleasant to be compelled to say it, because Senator Johnson is a near neighbor, but he is very wrong, too. Perhaps if Hamilton were to be judged by modern standards he would be counted quite a rake; but he should be judged by the standards of his time, and in that light he was a pretty decent fellow. Many people do not believe in the political ideas that Hamilton believed in, either, but that isn't a good reason for withholding the honor that is due his memory. Admit all that is charged against his personal character—and that isn't half true—and admit that he clung too tenaciously to monarchical and aristocratic ideals of government, and still Alexander Hamilton was a very great and a very admirable man—one of the greatest the world has ever produced. The only surprising thing about it is that there isn't a statue of him at the capital now, and that there should be any need, at this late day, of installing one.

Both Congressman Hollingsworth and Senator Johnson can easily find worthier objects of their animosities,

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Lane Adams, a mining engineer, who is at the St. Louis hotel, says that experiences in the mining camps are not ones calculated to broaden a man in the knowledge of the world's events or what is happening in the busy haunts of man.

For instance, Mr. Adams was at Dewey, Idaho, which is in the Idaho mountain mining region, when the disastrous Baltimore fire occurred. The fire occurred upon the ninth of February and on March 3, the inhabitants of the camp received the first news of the calamity. It is same with other important happenings out in the world. These men up there in the foothills of the mountains, shut off from about everything that gives a man pleasure in this world, are penned off from life at large. They hear but faintly the rumble of the big world.

Mr. Adams says that when the miners in the camp, many of the engineers being college men, learned, after the season was really over, that a very exciting race for the pennant had been fought out in the National league, they gambled upon the result.

Of course, the pennant had already been won, but these men did not know the result. Here they sat around and wagered coin of the realm upon an event that had already passed into history.

Some one was betting upon a sure thing. About two months after the Cubs had copped the rag by that deciding game in New York, the news wended its weary way out to the snow-capped mountains of Idaho, and these young engineers of the camp decided their bets and eagerly read the belated information of the game.

The two years Mr. Adams was in the camp he saw the railroad but once. It was over two years before he saw a white woman. He says that the mining regions of Idaho are very promising, that capital is pushing operations along at a rapid rate, and that some day Idaho will become one of the greatest mining states in the entire country.

According to Louis Steinberg, who represents a commercial shoe house and who is stopping at the St. Louis, the business upon the range is greater right at the present time, at least in Mr. Steinberg's business, than it has been for a number of years.

Particularly is this condition true of Chisholm. Mr. Steinberg says that every business man in Chisholm is a hustler, that new stores have been opened up and that the business of the practically new town is as good if not better than any town upon the range.

"I did the biggest business that I have ever done upon the range," said Mr. Steinberg. "I went up there before the veto of the tonnage tax. The outlook for business was very poor. It happened that I was one of the first men on the range to hear of the action of the governor. I went around to my various customers conveying the tidings to them. Honestly, most of them gave me orders right upon the spot. You never saw such a change of spirit anywhere. From discouraged and sour merchants, those range people became energetic hustlers ready to talk and do business with the first man that came along. I was right there at the right moment, and you may be sure that the veto of the tonnage tax was what is giving commercial men their present amount of business upon the range.

W. T. Healey, a railroad contractor, who has a sub contract upon the Soo Duluth extension, is at the Lenox hotel. In speaking about railroad contract work, Mr. Healey says that competitive bidding for big contract work is now a thing of the past. In the old days he says that contractors used to submit bids for big pieces of work, much as contractors in other lines of work. But that is something that is a relic of earlier railroading.

Now each of the big roads has some contractor or firm of contractors that does all of the work of the railroad. This man or his company may sub-let some of the contract, but this man is responsible for the completion of the work and the completion at the time specified in the conditions.

Mr. Healy says the reason for this giving of the work of one road to a certain man, who is in the confidence of the officials of the railroad, is that in the past many contractors have secured contracts who were not qualified to carry out the conditions. They were men who were not familiar to railroad work, and as a result they fell down.

For instance Mr. Healey points to Archie Guthrie, who does practically all of the contract work for the Great Northern railway. There are the Winston Brothers, who act in a similar capacity for the Northern Pacific railway. Foley Brothers do a great deal of the contract work for the Soo. Mr. Healey says that you will find this the same upon most of the railroads of the country. That is the way they are doing the work at the present time.

"Stop and think and try to remember if you have ever seen a Japanese or a Chinaman with a twisted limb, an amputated limb, or in any way the least deformed," said William Blackburn at the Spalding yesterday. Mr. Blackburn is from Seattle, out there where the Oriental is becoming a problem, and he says that he has yet to see either a Japanese or a Chinaman in any way deformed.

"That is because there is something in the religion of the two races that either compels a man to be killed when he is deformed, or to be killed at birth when it is known that he would. If allowed to live, grow into deformed manhood.

"I have often wondered what they did with all of the soldiers that must have been deformed in the Russian-Japanese war. I can't believe that these men were allowed to die when they had parts of their body shot away; yet I have seen thousands of Chinese and Japanese, and I have yet to see one that was in any way deformed.

"It may be that modern civilization has modified this part of the Oriental religious belief. I have been in Honolulu and in that country that is thickly populated with both Japanese and Chinese, have never seen one of the Orientals who had so much as a twisted or imperfect finger."

Another delightful spring day yesterday was followed by still another this morning, but the weather man says "rain" for tonight.

A year ago today it was fine and warm. The sun rose this morning at 4:37 and will set this afternoon at 7:30, making fourteen hours and fifty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Barometric disturbances of moderate intensity, which are centered this morning over Pennsylvania, British Columbia and Utah, caused light to copious rains over most of the states east of the Mississippi river, and over North Pacific districts during the past twenty-four hours, besides somewhat warmer weather along the Atlantic coast and over the Northwestern border states. The easterly movement of the Utah and British Columbia disturbances favor the development of showers at the Head of the Lakes during Tuesday. An area of high pressure that has moved its center from North Dakota to Kansas caused frosty weather this morning in those districts.

Minnesota Republicanism.

Sauk Center Herald: When so staunch a party organ as the Duluth News Tribune admits that there isn't very much left of the Republican party in Minnesota, there must be some cause for its tale of woe. The issue of that paper in which the record of Governor Johnson's veto of the tonnage tax appeared contained an editorial lauding the executive to the skies. The same issue admitted that the Republican party in the state was practically a negligible quantity. The next issue contained a first page cartoon of a "G. O. P." Minnesota elephant reduced to skin and bone and scarcely able to stand, and under it the words: "Wanted —A Leader."

That's about the condition of things in Minnesota republicanism today. And Minnesota republicanism has no one but itself to blame for the predicament in which it finds itself. Its blind leaders have deliberately led a blind party into the ditch, despite the protests of thousands of intelligent and honest voters in its own ranks. These self-respecting voters swallowed Dave Clough, they tolerated Bill Berriam, they writhed under the reign of Van Sant, and they finally bolted and placed a Democrat in the governor's chair, returning him twice to that high office. Yet the leaders were blind and deaf.

There was a chance for the Republican party to redeem itself when the 1909 legislature assembled. But the right kind of stuff wasn't in evidence. It is unnecessary to rehearse here the foolish and unwise tactics adopted by the Republican majority, aided and abetted by a number of self-appointed advisers in the statehouse and elsewhere. Instead of circumventing a Democratic governor they have simply played into his hands, and John A. Johnson stands today far stronger with the Minnesota voter than he ever did before.

Minnesota republicanism as a party organization that cuts any figure has indeed about reached the vanishing point. There are a good many thousand honest, intelligent, thinking voters, who would like to see it resuscitated. But in order to put life into the carcass the present manipulators must be displaced for those equal to the task. The party has in its ranks capable men, men who can place it again on its feet and pilot it to victory. Will the bosses let them have control?

The Tax on Grain.

St. Paul Dispatch: Minnesota farmers who were so enthusiastic for the bill placing a tonnage tax on iron ore are now protesting over the law passed by the recent legislature placing a tax on grain in elevators. The new measure provides for a tax of one-fourth of a mill on wheat or flax and one-eighth of a mill on other grains that are held or handled by elevators and warehouses in the state.

The farmers realize that the tax comes from them and object to it on the ground that it means double and excessive taxation. Owing to the methods of handling wheat and other grains, much of it passes through from one to a half dozen elevators before it is finally marketed for export or ground into flour. Opponents of the measure insist that this means double taxation as, under the law, each individual or concern operating an elevator or warehouse is required to pay taxes on every pound of grain handled during the year. The farmers insist that they can think of no good reason why Governor Johnson should approve the law taxing grain and veto the one taxing iron ore. If there's a joker in the law it appears to be on the farmers.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Moorhead Citizen: If Governor Johnson did not point out the defects in the tonnage tax bill then no one ever pointed out anything in any bill. He certainly did the right thing.

Brainerd Dispatch: The Southern Minnesota representatives squirm when they read the discrepancy in representation—it don't sound good to them to hear the comparisons. It's a case of taxation without representation in Northern Minnesota; and every paper in this section should take up the matter and discuss it until the next legislature meets. There is enough material to make make good reading for some time.

Le Sueur News: The bushel grain tax bill is open to every objection, almost, of the tonnage tax. It is unfair, unjust and a double tax.

Flattery is a drug that creates a craving for more.

Walker Pilot: The steering committee of the house of representatives woke up more than one morning during the session to find that they had steered the Republican ship into a Democratic harbor, without knowing it.

Hutchinson Leader: The legislature refused to give the people a chance to vote for United States senator. The Republican members calmly stepped right over the plank in their platform. They didn't propose to allow Governor Johnson to break into the senate.

Moorhead Citizen: We have not heard of any one wanting a tonnage tax in this section of the state. If Senator Peterson and Representative McGrath knew the bill was wrong they had no business to vote for it. Their constituents did not want them to do anything that they did not think was right.

Royalton Banner: No one can say that the Republican party has played politics in the past session. They have exhibited the most "simple" honesty in all measures, such as the tonnage tax, $200,000 grand stand, salary grab and creating new offices, and increased salaries in many minor offices. Bah!

Le Sueur News: Many men who are wise to the political situation say that Minnesota is in the Democratic column for a certainty if John A. Johnson is again a candidate for either governor or president. The late Republican legislature "sure did" Johnsonize the state. They might have done worse.

Roseau Region: Reapportionment is dead. The senate refused to grant the northern part of the state just representation. O politics, what wrongs are committed in thy name.

Death of Mrs. Tarkington.

Indianapolis Star: The sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. John S. Tarkington removes a woman who had been for many years a prominent figure in Indianapolis social life. Although advanced in years, her interest in affairs and people remained vivid and youthful and kept her in closer touch with the life about her than is the case with many younger women. She was very companionable, and, unlike most women of her age, made new acquaintances readily and willingly, being especially fond of young people. This made her, as one might say, a connecting link between the old and new social regimes, Indianapolis society having changed greatly in character and personnel since the city became her home. Her early years were spent in Terre Haute and the pleasant pictures of life in "Rouen" portrayed in "The Two Van Revels," written by her son, Booth, are understood to have been drawn from her recollections of her girlhood home. Mrs. Tarkington was a devoted wife and mother, was active in church and club life and in local charities, and in many ways will be deeply missed.

THE HERALD'S PROSPERITY EDITION.

Credit to The Herald and Duluth.

St. Paul Dispatch. The Duluth Herald, seeing confident that the future welfare of Northern Minnesota is assured has celebrated by issuing a special Prosperity edition of ninety-six pages. An interesting feature of the edition is a full-page map, showing the counties, streams, towns and railroads of the entire section of the state tributary to Duluth. The natural and industrial resources of the city and the surrounding country are written up in good style and timely illustrated. The edition is a credit to The Herald and to Duluth.

Judge Moer Gives Praise.

Judge S. H. Moer, formerly of this city writing from Brielle, N. J., acknowledging recent letters from Duluth copy of the Prosperity edition of The Herald. "While I have only had time as yet to glance over the special edition of The Herald which reached me here today it is evident that the paper has done itself proud as well as done a telling credit of the progress and growth of Duluth and vicinity that must of necessity prove of great benefit to the business interests of the Head of the Lakes. A glance at the many fine showing made by The Herald must excite enthusiastic as to its immediate future and I shall look it over more carefully."

"There With the Goods."

Anoka Union Herald. What we received at first as a couple of copies of the Grand Rapids Herald for want of something better after it had been announced from all over the state as a big success, turned out to be a copy of The Duluth Herald. That copy of The Duluth Herald is responsible for the publication of a ninety-six page edition devoted to boosting the twin cities of the north—Duluth and Superior, the iron country and the northeast in general. The Herald was there with the goods that time.

"A Crackerjack."

Rochester Post-Herald. Last Saturday evening's edition of The Duluth Herald was certainly a "crackerjack" in connection of ninety-six pages that was brim full of interesting articles about Duluth and the iron range cities, as well as statistics and general information that would naturally interest those who are unacquainted with the great strides taken by the Zenith City in the past few years. Despite the marvelous progress already made Duluth, as we firmly believe, as yet only in its swaddling clothes as compared with what the future has in store for it.

A Great Newspaper.

Ortonville Herald Star. No more handsome, complete and interesting newspaper was ever issued in the Northwest than The Duluth Herald's Prosperity edition of last week. It required sixty-six actual pages to tell the wonderful story which every one of every page was full of interest well written, beautifully illustrated and typographically perfect. The Herald is a great newspaper.

"One of the Finest."

Waseca, Star and Herald. A great Prosperity edition, consisting of ninety-six pages, was issued by The Duluth Evening Herald last Thursday. It was one of the finest editions ever circulated in the Northwest and depicted the wonderful progress of Duluth and the Northern country in a most graphic manner. As an advertisement for Northern Minnesota it could not be surpassed.

Credit to the State.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel-Press. The Prosperity edition of The Duluth Herald issued Thursday was one of the best specimens ever issued from any newspaper office in the state. To read it was an education in the wonderful development of Duluth and the whole range country. The paper was a credit to the state.

The Best of Its Kind.

Brainerd Dispatch. The Duluth Evening Herald, the representative paper of the lake region, came out April 29 in a handsome ninety-six page edition, setting forth in every line of business activity the wonderful growth of Northern Minnesota and the west in general. It reached us Saturday.

"Magnificent."

Preston Enterprise. The Duluth Herald issued a magnificent ninety-six page Prosperity edition last Thursday. The numerous advertisements, showing appreciation and enterprise of the business men of Duluth and Superior, were a credit to the enterprising city at the head of the lakes. The Herald and its progressive business men are to be congratulated.

"A Masterpiece."

Pine County Courier. The Duluth Herald issued a magnificent ninety-six page illustrated Prosperity edition, dated last Thursday. The number is devoted to the commercial, mining, agricultural and other resources of the Lake Superior section, and is a masterpiece of the journalistic engraver's and printer's art. A production of this kind is a big benefit to the city, and the efforts of its publishers should be appreciated.

"It Was a Beauty."

Swanville Review. The Duluth Evening Herald got out a handsome ninety-six page edition last Thursday, which was a beauty. The matter contained in the edition was full of interest to the people of the whole northwest, and the pictures were fine. It was a credit to the city and the paper. It was a surprise—a big surprise—to many people that Duluth could get out such a paper. It is a big city and has a big paper.

Difficult to Improve Upon.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review. On April 29 The Duluth Herald issued a special "Prosperity edition" that would be difficult to improve upon. It covers every industrial subject relative to the section of Minnesota and Northwestern Wisconsin. The edition contained ninety-six pages. It was a publication of vast value to the Northland and merits success.

"A Great Boost."

Gilbert Reporter. The Duluth Evening Herald gave Duluth and the agricultural district tributary to the northeastern capital of the state a great boost by the publication of its immense edition. The industrial edition of a hundred pages is worth placing in the library of any home as a book of reference. It is full of valuable information and as an advertisement for Northern Minnesota could not be surpassed.

Never Does Things By Halves.

Virginia Virginian. The Duluth Herald never does things by halves and the Prosperity edition issued last week was complete in its information as to Duluth. Duluth is still in the infant stage of development, but it is a mighty healthy infant. If James Proctorknott were on earth, he would drop irony and in all sincerity paint glowing word pictures of the prosperity, wealth and prospects of the Zenith City the gateway of the Northwest.

"Best Daily in the State."

Albert Lea Standard: The Prosperity edition, ninety-six pages elaborately illustrated, of The Duluth Evening Herald last week was a magnificent example of enterprise and an evidence of the greatness and prospects of Duluth and adjacent region that is a high credit to the publishers, the advertisers represented and to all that have shown their faith in the boundless resources of Northern Minnesota. Duluth has reason to be proud of The Herald, for it is not only the best daily paper of the state, but it is a surpassing exponent and advance agent of the interests of the city and the splendid empire of country that is tributary to it.

Worthy of The Herald.

Anoka Union: The Prosperity edition of The Duluth Evening Herald, issued Thursday contained ninety-six pages and was worthy of that great paper. It was well prepared.

"Right There With the Goods."

North Branch Review: The Duluth Herald got out another monster edition advertising Duluth and its advantages last week. It is getting to be a rather common undertaking for The Herald to get out one of these "booster" issues, and they are right there with the goods—issues very valuable and readable information.

Credit to the Publishers.

Fargo Forum. The Duluth Herald issued a handsome ninety-six-page Prosperity edition that is a great credit to the publishers. The advantages of the Zenith City and the country tributary to the Head of the Lakes are attractively set forth.

WANT SMOKE ORDINANCE

An effective ordinance to cover the smoke nuisance is the thing that the members of the Women's Council have set their hearts upon, and in this work they will receive the endorsement and help of women who have probably never before been moved to exert their influence and help in any civic movement. A housewife who puts out a clean, white line full of clothes as the result of a day's work, can realize very perfectly the need of an ordinance that will make it impossible for that line full of clothes to be marred and ruined by black, foul soot and smoke.

The present ordinance is ridiculously inadequate. By its rulings it is unlawful to run a locomotive along Superior street, or any street above Superior street, if it emits clouds of smoke. The ordinance is seldom violated, which can be easily understood when the railroad tracks are all south of Superior street. The last time the matter of such an ordinance was considered by the city council, its members declared as their opinion that Duluth was not a smoky city. The members of the Women's Council argue, that if that is so, an effective ordinance will work no harm, and will place the city in readiness to combat the first step toward being a smoke nuisance, so there can be no possible objection to having a good law.

And, they add, with direct and simple argument, Duluth has a real and very real smoke nuisance.

In one city, the officer within whose power it lay to enforce the law in this particular, had photographs taken at any place where the law was being violated. The finished photograph, with the date of the offense, was placed before the owner of the building, with a copy of the city ordinance, naming the penalty for the offense. The owner was told that at the next offense the full rigor of the law would be brought to bear upon him. In a few months a clean city was the result.

Those most deeply interested, and among them may be named the city health commissioner, Dr. W. B. Patton, expect to have the ordinance as a means of enforcing it in Duluth, before the furnace fires are started for another winter.

PLAYGROUNDS

Jane Addams, whose work in America has been among the most vital and splendid achievements of recent years, said, in a recent address:

"A boy without a playground means a man without a job. The modern city was built for adults, and not with the idea of giving children a chance to tear around and play. When you repress the boastful spirit in a boy, that spirit that makes him want to do things no one else can, you cripple him mentally and the habit of repression grows until in later life, when he meets a difficulty he has no initiative.

"The city gang can be trained for good. Instead of a policeman who represses the boy, let him direct the gang at their play; the bully is developed along the right lines. In some Chicago wards they say that no man can be an alderman unless he's had the training of a gang, and from the bully of the gang he becomes a bully in a larger civic sense, dispensing his favors to his constituency.

"Every city should have fieldhouses open winter and summer, where boys and girls can find the amusements they cannot get in their home, and the search of which leads them to dance halls and places of temptation. Women must lead in procuring proper sanitation, good schools, pure food and better child labor laws.

"The woman that says she will sweep before her own door either does not sweep at all or she sweeps her dirt into the street to the annoyance of others. The woman who says be good, all things will come out right, is stupid, she must see her larger obligations. Things are not right, conditions are not as they should be, and women should take upon themselves a larger responsibility and broader social obligations."

IS NOT A HUMAN HIVE!

BUT A HOTEL OF HOME COMFORTS

Modern hotels have been advertised as "mammoth," "vast," "palatial" and "magnificent" until these words have lost their significance to the public mind. The traveler of refinement and discrimination is seldom influenced by claims of this nature. Mere size does not attract, and elaborate ornamentation can never take the place of comfort. True it is that the modern traveler demands more than his prototype of a generation ago, and equally true is it that he receives more. With this refinement of taste has come a finer discrimination. He seeks the hotels that provide comfort in the highest degree, where cuisine and service alike leave nothing to be desired. Such a hotel he will find in the St. Regis, located at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, New York city, admittedly the most exquisitely arranged and luxuriously furnished hotel in America. He will receive there the most courteous treatment and attentive service, he will secure home privacy and comfort in delightful private rooms, and he will have prepared for him meals of a character and perfection unsurpassed anywhere in the world. He will not have to pay exorbitant prices, for the St. Regis charges are no higher than those of other first-class American hotels. In the matter of rooms a large, handsomely furnished single bedroom can be had as low as $3 and $4 a day; or the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people), while the charge for an elegant suite, consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath, is but $12 a day and up.

LYCEUM—"Just a Woman's Way."

"Just a Woman's Way."

Lincoln J. Carter's production of S. W. Pascoe's melodrama of real life, entitled "Just a Woman's Way," will be seen at the Lyceum tonight only. The play deals with a great moral issue of national life, and depicts with startling yet attractive candor the trials and tribulations resulting from unfaithfulness to the marriage vows. Lincoln J. Carter has probably never given to any of his many successful plays a more adequate scenic production, nor a better balanced cast than he has provided for the production of "Just a Woman's Way."

"Mary's Lamb."

Richard Carle and "Mary's Lamb" come to the Lyceum on Saturday, matinee and night. In this lively musical gambol, Mr. Carle is said to be at his best. The play enjoyed a run of three months in New York during the summer, and was presented for two long engagements in Chicago. Mr. Carle, who has the leading role of a henpecked husband, has the support of a big and capable company, including a chorus of exceptionally pretty girls.

IN DULUTH CHURCHES

TACT SUBJECT OF HIS SERMON

Rev. Gebauer Talks on Value of the Saving Grace.

Rev. George R. Gebauer of the First Unitarian church, corner of First street and Eighth avenue east, took "Consecrated Tact" as a subject for his sermon yesterday. He spoke of Paul's position toward mankind, and told of the lack of tact among individuals in all walks of life. He declared that the way of the reformer is often unnecessarily hard, because he lacks the saving grace of tact. Rev. Gebauer spoke, in part, as follows:

"Paul tells us to become all things to all men. This a good many are, but we fail to admire them. The politician generally tries that game before election time, and, while he may succeed by it in getting his coveted position, we cannot respect him. The man in business will sometimes follow this policy, but we cannot respect him for it, though we may excuse him. We meet with that type of men, too, in religion. They are the kindly sympathizers of every church. They will pat the Presbyterian on the shoulder and tell him that their great-grandfather was a deacon in that church and that their heart loves that unbending type of Christian manhood. Then they will turn to the Unitarian and speak of their sympathy for the free faith. They pretend to see goodness and truth in every church in Christendom, but they support no church, go to no worship and in their soul stand aloof from all. Do we not rather meet the fair and square opponent than the man who has not conviction enough to take a stand? There is always cowardice and self-consideration at the bottom of a position.

"Was such Paul's policy? No; what he recommends is that consecrated tact, that consideration for others' convictions and opinions which alone will be efficient to bring others to our own way of thinking. Is not selfish human and divine diplomacy.

"Supposing we are convinced of the great good of universal temperance—and who is not?—the bully is not the way we shall approach and convert the drinking man and the moderate indulger, whose social glass has given him comfort all his life, who has been a good citizen and a kind husband? Is it well to tell him that he is committing by his self-indulgence a crime, that he is leading others to ruin? Is it well to tell him that his forefathers' philosophy of social life was altogether immoral? No; this is true, might be honest enough, but it is not the kind of honesty which will win hearts. It is not Paul's way. In order to bring a man to our way of thinking we must go his way of reasoning. If we cannot sympathize with his mode and view of life in some measure we shall hardly be able to induce him to accept our truer way of life. As soon as ever we lay down our mode of conduct as a universal standard we most naturally arouse his opposition. People will often wrangle about points on which they almost fully agree simply because one of them assumes what to the other seems a dogmatic position. We want conviction, but it must be conviction which will respect the conviction of others.

"Violent assertion will call forth violent resistance; our denunciation will meet with defiance. The way of the reformer is so often unnecessarily hard because he lacks the grace of tact. He is so filled with his zeal that he cannot deal justly with any other view of life. Let a man approach the great problem of temperance with the feeling of justice and he will soon realize that the whole drink problem is not a thing by itself, which can be dealt with as a mere parasite on the tree of life. He will, I think, come to the conclusion that it is intimately connected with the whole problem of society. He will see, perhaps, that in order to do away with the terrible evil of drunkenness most effectively we must recognize the natural social demands of a large class of our population which is without our social opportunities. That does not mean that temperance legislation has not its place and its wholesome results to show. But as it is merely a negative measure, which does not consider the social desires of men, it needs positive supplementation. Provide the means of easy social intercourse without the necessity of strong drink and the most important part of the problem is solved. Give men on Sunday the opportunity for harmless enjoyment and the dramshop will not find the Lord's day the most profitable day in the week. But treat with disdain these natural demands of man and he will, in turn, disdain the law."

Lump of Sugar Served in Packets.

The better known restaurants in Europe are now serving their sugar in small packets, each packet containing two of the long flat lumps. This method insures the cleanliness of the sugar and protects it from flies. WAS CLAD ONLY IN SHORT SHIRT

A negro giving his name as Ben Feller sped along lower Lake avenue just before daylight Sunday morning, clad only in an abbreviated shirt. He was looking for a policeman, and when he found one he had a tale of woe to tell.

Feller said he had been ejected bodily from the Bethel, where he had paid for a night's lodging, and affirmed that enemies on the inside did not even allow him time to get his clothes, hence the scarcity of wearing apparel.

The officer sent to the man to the police station, and then investigated the complaint. The other lodgers said they did not draw the color line, and did not object to sleeping in the same room with a negro, but asserted that he was one of the fighting kind, and that after he had tried to stir up trouble with nearly every one in the room, it was decided best for the peace of all that he be put out. There was a concerted rush and Feller was hoisted into the street. He was roughly handled. The officer got his clothes and sent him on his way.

BODY IN COTTON BALE.

Babe Crawled Into Press and Met Death in Texas.

Galveston, Tex., May 10.—The disappearance of little Alfred Hartman, the 2-year-old son of George Hartman of Gillespie county, five months ago, has been solved by the finding of the dead body of the boy in a bale of cotton opened at gin in Liverpool, Eng.

It was early in December that Hartman, who is a prosperous farmer, took a load of cotton to a gin a few miles from his home and had it ginned. His little son, who was the youngest of several children, accompanied him on the trip to Fredericksburg.

The child crept into the press, and, falling asleep, was ginned in the bale of cotton.

The cotton was sold to a Texas concern, placed in a warehouse for several weeks and finally exported to Liverpool.

PRAISED ROCKEFELLER; DENOUNCES CARNEGIE.

New York, May 10.—Speaking from the same pulpit in which he praised, John D. Rockefeller, a week ago, A. D. Irvine, a socialist and lay preacher, bitterly attacked Andrew Carnegie in a sermon at the Church of the Ascension here last night. The address was principally in the form of an answer to what Mr. Irvine styled Mr. Carnegie's criticism of socialism in one of the ironmaster's books. "Mr. Carnegie," said the speaker, "scatters libraries broadcast for the workingmen, but works his laborers twelve hours daily, so they won't have time to read the books."

TRANSFERRING SOLDIERS' BODIES TO NEW GRAVES.

Hancock, Mich., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The task of transferring the bodies of the seven veterans of the Civil war and members of the E. R. Stiles post, Grand Army of the Republic, from the old Hancock Protestant cemetery on West Quincy street to the Grand Army plat in Lakeside cemetery will be taken up this week.

When Lakeside cemetery was laid out several years ago a fine plat of about a quarter of an acre was set aside in a circular form as burying place for the veterans of the sixties. Up to the present time no interments have been made there. The post, however, has decided to remove the bodies of seven members buried at different dates in a period extending back probably twenty years in the old Protestant cemetery to the new plat, where the graves may receive better attention.

S. is Nature's blood purifier, harmless in its action and certain in its good results. It is made from a combination of roots and herbs, each of which has a definite and specific action in purifying the blood. Years were spent in selecting and proportioning the different ingredients, but when S. S. S. was perfected it soon demonstrated its superiority over all other blood medicines, and now, after 40 years, it is still the one and only certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. While driving out the poison from the circulation S. S. S. builds up and strengthens the system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. If you are suffering with Contagious Blood Poison S. S. NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

GREAT BEAR RIVER DRIVE

Biggest in History of the Stream to Be Made This Year.

Lumbering Operations in Northern Minnesota Still Large.

International Falls, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The predictions made last year that lumbering operations in Northern Minnesota, and especially in this section, this year would be tame compared with former years, are not being borne out.

Nearly all of the big companies which operate in the woods of Northern Minnesota have carried on extensive operations during the winter, and the amount of timber sent to the mills will be far greater than the estimates of last fall, says the Virginian.

The biggest drive in the history of this section will be sent down the Bear river this spring. The Shevlin-Mathieu people, who control the Namakon Lumber company, have maintained camps all through the Northern woods, and will drive several million feet of logs down the Bear river to their mills at Baudette. The Sheldon-Mather interests of Duluth will drive about 7,000,000 feet down the Rainy river to the Rainy river, and individual loggers, who have been active during the season will drive several million feet more.

Reason For Activity.

The time allowed the Sheldon-Mather company for the removal of timber on large tracts of land expired with this season and that fact probably accounts for the unwonted activity. Individual operators will drive about 900,000 feet down the Little Fork.

Contrary to expectations, the forest fires of last fall did not cause any increase in the operations of companies owning lumber in the burned-over district. The general belief that scorched timber must be cut during the season following a fire, in order that it may be saved from rot, is said to be erroneous by lumbermen. The quick rush of flames, such as those which swept through Northern Minnesota last fall, does no great damage to the standing timber, and it is safe from rot for three or four seasons after the fire.

SOO ENGINEERS NEAR LAPORTE

La Porte, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A corps of engineers are running a preliminary line just north of here. Their course is in an easterly direction and the indications are that it is a line being run by the Soo road for their proposed route from Thief River Falls to Duluth. Some time ago a Duluth paper printed a map showing the line where this road was expected to run, which brought the route south of Leech lake. In this event, La Porte is on the direct line of the proposed route. It seems to be the opinion, however, that the line will pass through Bemidji in their route to Duluth.

AGED L'ANSE WOMAN.

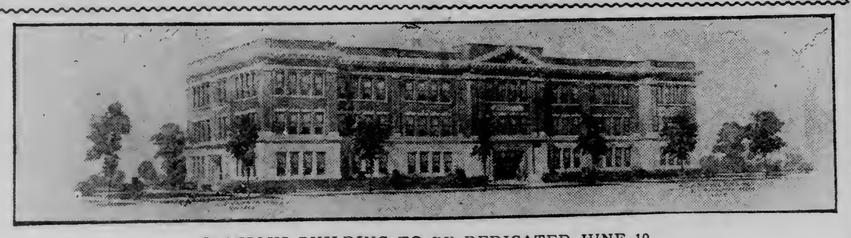
Cass Lake, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Thomas W. Barbour of this city, who was recently appointed president of the Northern Minnesota Home Mission Association of the Congregational church, has been pastor of the Congregational church for the past two years, and as an indication of his working ability he has successfully brought to completion one of the most costly churches ever erected in this section. Through his tireless energy he has won an enviable place among the clergymen in this section of the state.

As a speaker Mr. Barbour has few equals, and he is frequently called to some outside city or village to deliver an address. He will assume his new duties July 1 and will make Cass Lake his headquarters.

NEGAUNEE'S SPLENDID NEW HIGH SCHOOL



SPACIOUS BUILDING TO BE DEDICATED JUNE 10.

Negaunee, Mich., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prominent educators who have visited the new high school building recently erected in this city pronounce it to be one of the most modern and complete schools to be found north of Milwaukee. The building, when fully equipped, will cost in the aggregate about $185,000.

A great deal of comment has been made on the auditorium, which is one of the most attractive rooms of its kind to be found in any school in the country. Many new advantages are to be had in the new building not found in the other high schools in the upper peninsula.

The dedication will take place June 10, and the Hon. W. G. Mather, president of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, will deliver the principal address, while L. L. Wright, state school inspector, and other prominent educators from the lower part of the state and Wisconsin will be present.

SCHWITTAY INDICTED.

Suspended District Attorney Caught By Grand Jury He Desired.

Marinette, Wis., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.—Indicted by the same grand jury he fought for months to secure, Attorney A. E. Schwittay of Marinette, the suspended district attorney, appeared before Judge Hastings to plead not guilty to a perjury count. He furnished $1,000 bail and there is a possibility of his case being tried at the present term of circuit court, as Schwittay, who alleges persecution, is anxious to have the matter disposed of. Upon the result of the trial depends his removal from office or reinstatement by Governor Davidson.

STATE AID DESIRED.

Rural Schools of North Dakota Need Some Help.

Grafton, N. D., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual convention of the Tri-County Educational association adjourned Saturday evening after one of the most successful sessions ever held by the organization. The final session was devoted to the transaction of such business as comes regularly before the association.

State aid for rural schools is the hope of the educators of Walsh, Grand Forks and Pembina counties, according to the resolutions adopted. The teachers ask that the next legislative assembly make an appropriation for this purpose.

SEEKS HEAVY DAMAGES AGAINST SOO RAILROAD.

Marinette, Wis., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The $50,000 damage suit brought by S. E. Marcott of De Pere, Wis., against the Soo road will be tried at the present term of circuit court and the case will probably be started the first of next week.

Marcott caught a bad cold, he claims, while in one of the Soo sleepers, which incapacitated him from work for several months and he claims, prevented him from securing several important contracts. The suit is by far the biggest, as far as damages is concerned, that has been tried in the Marinette court in years.

FOR MEASURING STREAMS.

Secretary of State and State Engineer East on Big Mission.

St. Paul, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, and State Drainage Engineer George A. Ralph, in accordance with a resolution of the legislature, departed last night for the national capital, where they will confer with the government topographical department with reference to measuring the depth of all streams in the state.

The project will involve a great deal of work much of which will be done on government ground for the good of government lands. The government is expected to pay half the cost of the survey.

With the survey at hand the drainage of the state may be more readily and accurately accomplished. The government has signified its agreement with the work. Engineer M. O. Leighton of the topographical department will be the government representative in the conference with the Minnesota state officials. Mr. Ralph has had charge of a great deal of government work in the state before and will have entire control of the survey, if it is made.

Park River, N. D., May 10.—A very sad accident occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knollman, near Lankin, which resulted in the death of their little son, Ogden, aged 6 years. While an older brother was working with a shotgun, Ogden got possession of a revolver and shoved it into the barrel of the gun. In attempting to withdraw the revolver it was discharged. This exploded the load in the gun, the little fellow receiving the charge in the breast.

HENS WITH RECORD LAYS.

Crookston, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state experiment farm here has been doing a large business this spring. Two hundred cockerels have been disposed of to farmers in this immediate vicinity, who are improving their breeds. In addition to the sale of cockerels and hens, they have disposed of all their thoroughbred eggs, shipping hundreds of dozens of them to all parts of the country and to such distant points as Winnipeg, points in Ontario, San Francisco and Seattle. This indicates the standing the Crookston experiment farm has in the chicken line. They have several hens with records better than 225 and scores that have laid over 2,000 eggs during the past year.

DR. KOCH ON STAND.

Defense Denying Allegation in Big Damage Suit.

Bemidji, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The defense went to bat today in a sensational $5,000 damage suit of Mrs. Mary Johnson of Blackduck against Dr. Koch of the same place, to recover for the death of her son because of an alleged erroneous diagnosis of the defendant in prescribing for the boy. A large part of the day will probably be taken up with Dr. Koch's direct and cross examination, as he is being examined in detail in denial of the allegations of the plaintiff.

The case continues to draw large crowds. It may be completed this week.

BOY KILLS HIMSELF WHILE OUT HUNTING.

Kenmare, N. D., May 10.—William Madden, the 15-year-old son of C. J. Madden of Baden, a grain inspector under Governor Burke, shot and killed himself about half a mile from Baden.

The boy, with brother, a 9-year-old lad, was carrying a shotgun, when in some unexplained manner the gun was discharged. The younger brother was too frightened for a few minutes to give any alarm. He then ran back to the village and told his father and neighbors, but when they arrived Will was dead.

The full charge had entered his chest and the clothing was powder stained from the close proximity of the mouth of the gun.

The younger brother could give no coherent account of the cause of the accident. He was not with Will, but heard the report of the gun and looked about to see his brother fall over.

RED RIVER VALLEY SEEDING ABOUT OVER.

Crookston, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wheat seeding in this section of the Red River valley is practically over. Most of the farmers are entirely through, but some of the large farms will not finish seeding wheat until the last of the week. Half of the oats are also seeded, and with favorable weather there will be little ground unseeded by May 15.

Let Edison Furnish the Music

How else can you have music in the home unless you have the Edison Phonograph? You have a piano, but how many of the family can play it and how much can they play? You may be able to sing, but think what it would mean to hear the world's greatest singers singing the world's greatest songs.

The Edison Phonograph gives you your kind of music as rendered by the best musicians. When you play the piano you play a piece your way. With the Edison Phonograph you hear a march the way Sousa, who wrote it, would play it.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

THREE FROM THE CANUCKS

Local Team Did Not Allow Regina Crowd a Game.

The Saturday Contest Went Thirteen Innings--Big Sunday Crowd.

The team from Regina, Can., which has been lined up against Duluth's own White Sox for the past three days, was obliged to depart without having secured anything tangible in the way of a game, the victories of the Sox Saturday and yesterday making a total of three straight games for the Duluthians.

Saturday's game ran thirteen innings, the final score being 3 to 2 in favor of Duluth. Yesterday's event was taken by Duluth to the music of 9 to 7. In many respects, both were excellent exhibitions and the large crowds which were attracted to the league park to see them got their money's worth.

Until the seventh inning it looked as if the Canadians were going to romp away with yesterday's game. Mr. Peterson, who was delivering the shoots for the Regina men was very chary of hits at first.

In the first Duluth man managed to amass a tally. Smith was presented with free transportation and he managed to take a second and third when the Canadians weren't looking. D. O'Brien then knocked one to the shortstop, who juggled it long enough for Smith to get home, although Darby was nailed at the first station. The side was retired, McCrone's hit to first.

Gardner, the towering catcher of the Regina team, lifted one over the fence in their half of the first, bringing in two runs. Regina got another score in the third and did not score again until the ninth.

Mr Peterson's indiscretions in the seventh and errors on the part of his teammates allowed Duluth five runs. He allowed three hits, issued one pass and hit a player. A couple of hits and errors by Regina, gave Duluth three more runs in the eighth and in the ninth, Regina nearly tied the score by securing four runs. Hits by Summers and Collins at opportune times brought in Regina's runs.

In Saturday's game it looked as if the Canadians were going to do the victory trick, until the ninth, when Duluth collected two runs, tying the score. Regina had managed to gather two in the eighth, prior to which the score board had resembled a deck of doughnuts.

Klingebeil started off to do the pitching for Duluth and he did well, although the local crowd's chances were endangered during the early innings by some yellow playing. However, the men steadied down.

Thurson succeeded Klingebeil in the tenth and he was very wild. Things looked pretty black several times, but the locals managed to pull through. Taylor knocked a three-bagger in the Thirteenth, scoring McCrone and everybody ran for the street cars.

CITY LEAGUE PLANS GAMES

Unless Change Is Made, Season Will Begin Next Week.

Unless some action in decided variance of the plans that have been made, is taken at the league meeting Tuesday evening, it is probable that the City league of baseball teams will begin its season next Sunday.

The meeting will be held at the Northern hardware store, and all the teams will have representatives there. Three grounds have been arranged for and the players see no reason why games should not begin next Saturday.

Company E has decided not to join the league, and the postoffice team's place has been taken by the Duluth Reds. This makes a league of eight clubs, as first planned.

The teams are: The Adams Athletics, the Hustlers, the Union Match company (formerly the Crescents of West Duluth), the Union Clothing company, the Duluth Heights, the Cascades and the Duluth Reds.

MAROONS WIN DUAL MEET

Chicago Athletes Come Up From Behind and Defeat Badgers.

Madison, Wis., May 10.—Coming from behind with a tremendous finish the University of Chicago defeated Wisconsin in the opening dual meet of the Western outdoor track season here Saturday.

In the early events the Badger athletes piled up a lead which threatened to soon overwhelm Stagg's men beneath an avalanche of points, but later Chicago came into its own and scored often enough to have a lead of nine points at the finish.

It was a sensational work of Crawley which scratched victory from Wisconsin and turned the tide Chicagoward. Crawley far overshadowed his fellow athletes by compiling the masterful total of 21 points.

He was first in the low hurdles and high hurdles, tied for first in the pole vault and high jump and second in the shot put. Osthoff was next in the total number of points scored.

The Wisconsin strong man won the shot put, discus throw and broad jump.

The closeness of the meet was reflected in practically all of the events. Trouble was narrowly averted in the half-mile run when Timblin of Chicago was disqualified for the alleged fouling of Tillotson of Wisconsin. Three Chicagoans, Timblin, Comstock and Whipp finished in a row. Referee Delaney disqualified Timblin after a consultation. It appeared as if Tillotson were equally to blame but the referee did not see it that way. Another disqualification came in the 220-yard hurdles when Comstock, who finished second, was put out for running around a hurdle.

One of the best performances of the afternoon was Stopplet's work in the two-mile. He ran alone most of the way and finished in the time of 9:57.

Lethbridge Team Wins.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Lethbridge team of the All-Canadian Baseball league, defeated the Grand Forks Picketts yesterday afternoon by a score of 3 to 0. The inability of the Picketts to hit the ball, coupled with two costly errors, lost the game for the North Dakotans. Score: R. H. E.

BOAT CLUB ELECTIONS

Annual Meeting Will Be Held Tuesday at Clubhouse.

Officers and Directors for Coming Year Will Be Elected.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Boat club will be held tomorrow evening at the main clubhouse on Park Point. The attendance will probably be the largest ever, as the consolidation with the Yacht club gives the club a membership list of about 1,200.

Formerly, it was the custom to call the roll of members at the annual meeting, but with 1,200 names, it has been decided to do away with the practice, so those members who were planning to stay away from the annual meeting for fear of being bored by the reading, can go.

The most important business to come before the meeting will be the election of officers. The officers, whose terms expire, are Julius H. Barnes, president; Capt. Alex McDougall, first vice president; A. M. Marshall, second vice president; J. L. Washburn, third vice president; Albert S. Ames, secretary; I. S. Moore, treasurer; J. D. Mahoney, captain; C. D. Brewer, sailing captain; F. E. Church, lieutenant; S. D. Glass, Ray W. Higgins, W. D. Jones, ensigns.

It is probable that most of the officers will be re-elected.

Four directors are to be elected. The present directors are J. B. Cotton, A. P. Bruce, B. Murray Peyton, G. G. Hartley, M. H. Kelley, George Spencer, A. B. Wolvin and W. S. Telford.

Following the meeting there will be a smoker. John McGregor is chairman of a committee which is making arrangements for a musical program.

B. F. Caldwell, who is here ahead of the Johnson-Burns fight pictures, is of the opinion that James J. Jeffries can lower the colors of the negro, should Jeffries be in great shape at the time of the battle.

Since Mr. Caldwell knows both of the men and has seen them both in action, his opinion of the outcome of a battle between Jeffries and Johnson may be of interest.

Mr. Caldwell starts right out with the statement that Jeffries would have to be pretty near the Jeffries of old to beat the colored man. While stating that Johnson is not the punisher that Jeff is, he says that the Galveston mitt slinger has one of the greatest defenses that was ever mastered by a boxer.

In talking with Hugh McIntosh, the promoter of the Burns-Johnson fight, Mr. Caldwell gained some idea of the struggle in the Antipodes. According to McIntosh's version of the affair, and he should know whereof he speaks, there were 20,000 people in the huge arena that day who would have been perfectly willing to make an open demonstration against the colored man.

They hissed Johnson, groaned instead of cheering him when he was lacing stubby Tommy, and in every way showed that their sympathies were strongly in favor of the white man.

Yet for all this, McIntosh says that Johnson never paid the least attention to the vast assemblage. He smiled, and the more the audience showed its hatred of the big colored fighter, the more expansive grew his grin.

Taking Johnson's performance in the Sydney fight into consideration, Caldwell believes that he is the coolest fighter in the ring today. There is nothing that will rattle him. Down in Galveston, where the fight pictures showed, this Johnson person is cordially hated. If you want to get an opinion that will not flatter the character of the negro you should ask the Galveston policemen what they think of the tall Johnson man.

While in Galveston Caldwell talked with some of the older officers of the force, some of the grizzled veterans who were doing roundsmen duty when the world's champion was a tough buck nigger.

They used to run him in upon every possible occasion. And when taking Lil' Arthah to the callboose these officers did not hesitate to use their clubs over his expansive person. What they did to him, according to the story told to Caldwell, was enough. Yet they say that this Johnson was a game one, and that when they had beaten him all the way to the station and locked him in his little he would be in a fighting spirit and would not be tamed.

Many people have called the tall negro yellow. Many critics of the fighting game swear that Johnson has exhibited the saffron color upon more than one occasion. But in doping him as a prospective opponent of the champion it is perhaps not wise to count on this.

This is the way that Caldwell is looking at the chances of the two men. He is of the opinion that the old Jeffries could have beaten the present champion. The question in his mind is whether Jeff can come back. Mr. Caldwell, while stating that Jeff looked great upon his appearance in New York, does not believe that he can overcome those years of idleness and none too careful living that followed his fiasco with miner Munroe.

But Caldwell says that Jeff will be a great deal. He says that Johnson will play for the Jeffries kitchen, and that Jeff had best get his stomach in the best possible shape. It will be some fight when the pair meet, and Caldwell is of the opinion that unless Jeff is assured that he can get right he will never match himself with the big negro from Texas.

Today is fair and the face of Old Sol is fair to look upon. He beams benignly upon the world, sending down cheering warmth of comfort. Maybe some of the fair weather candidates of the Duluth junior eight can be persuaded to get out upon the water this evening.

Rising to the demands of the occasion marks the measure of a man. (Reference forgotten.) Yesterday the Sox proved that they were the original little scrappers, and in the lucky seventh did things that no kindly disposed ball player would do to a pitcher, who is a guest of our fair city.

Someone has written in, upon a piece of brown wrapping paper, inquiring why a certain person was not present at a little slugfest at the other evening. The Gleams in the Fog column can only answer that this person was probably also caught in a fog some place.

Poor old Joe Ghoyski has announced that he is ready to don the mitts and give battle to Jack Johnson. Since being married Joe has really been quite a peaceable citizen. But the comeback age is upon us. There is Young Corbett, the original comeback Kid; also Nell, out Frisco way, who some years back used to be a sparkling middleweight. Then there is the original Young Corbett, George Green, a corking welter in his day, who has also come back and is beating some fairly good men. With these examples before him, old Joe can't resist the clarion call of battle.

Fair fan: "Please, mister, tell me if Mr. Darby O'Brien is Irish. I think that he is cute, do you?" Answer of the first part. "Yes, fair fan, he is." Evasion of the second part. "Sometimes we think he's cute. Thursday afternoon he is the cutest."

YALE WINS FROM PRINCETON TEAM

Princeton, N. J., May 10.—Although Princeton gave a fine exhibition of sprinting and running, Yale walked away with the field events Saturday, capturing the dual meet by the score of 58 to 46. In the high jump, broad jump, pole vault, hammer throw and shot put, Yale scored thirty-nine points to Princeton's one. In the track events Princeton won over Yale by a score of 45 to 19.

W. L. Dawbarn of Princeton won the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds and the 220-yard dash in 21 3-5 seconds, the latter time establishing a new Princeton record. The previous Princeton record of 21 4-5 seconds had stood for eighteen years. McGee of Princeton distinguished himself in the mile and two-mile races, capturing the former in 4 minutes 38 3-5 seconds, and the latter in 9 minutes 55 seconds. McConiger's victory for Princeton in the quarter-mile and Lacid's in the half-mile were complete surprises.

Capt. Howe of Yale took the 120-yard hurdles by a few inches from Dwight of Princeton, but in the 220-yard hurdles he struck a hurdle which threw him out of the race. Spitzer of Yale was unable to compete in the half-mile and Robbins of Yale was not in condition for the hurdles.

AUTOISTS WILL RUN HERE.

Minneapolis Enthusiasts Will Come Here in Endurance Contest.

Many Minneapolis automobilists will race from the Flour City to Duluth and back again in August. This course has been selected for an endurance run to be given at that time under the auspices of the Minneapolis Automobile club. It is expected that about forty cars will be entered in the run.

A party of Minneapolis autoists arrived here yesterday in a car. They made the trip for the purpose of laying out a route and determining whether the contest should be held in June or August. They decided upon Aug. 17 and 18 as the dates.

The party consisted of Dr. C. E. Dutton, chairman of tours and contests committee of the Minneapolis Automobile club; F. W. Switzer, driver; W. P. Edgerton, J. J. Barkley and Dick Tucker.

The contestants will start from Minneapolis on the morning of Aug. 17, stopping at Sandstone for lunch. The start on the return trip from Duluth will be made on the morning of Aug. 18.

SPORTS FOR THE WEEK

The Big League Teams Change to New Scenes of Action.

New York, May 10.—Two series of events in the sporting world virtually monopolize the field this week. These are the inauguration of the racing season at the New York tracks, and the invasion of the West by the Eastern wing of the American league and the assault of the Western division of the National league on the Eastern clubs.

The New York racing season opens next Thursday at Belmont Park with the Metropolitan handicap, and twenty-nine of the best horses now in condition are entered. This is an unusually large field for so early a date. Just how the public will take to the new race track conditions after the long winter rest is problematical. The meetings at Belmont and Sheepshead Bay are expected to show whether the racing game will be maintained without general public betting.

The racing season also opens at Jamestown, Va., on Thursday.

The merit and mettle of the teams of the two major baseball leagues will be shown when the teams of the East and West meet this week. These long swings on hostile grounds will test the team play and develop their strength. The Chicago Nationals meet their old-time enemies, the New Yorks at New York on Tuesday, while St. Louis bats its way at Brooklyn, Cincinnati at Boston and Pittsburg at Philadelphia.

The American league schedules discover the reconstructed New York team struggling with the Detroits on Monday for leadership in the pennant race, Washington at Chicago, Philadelphia at St. Louis and Boston at Cleveland.

The first of a series of heavyweight fights in Europe will commence next Saturday at Paris, where Joe Jeannette and Sandy Ferguson of New England will meet for twenty rounds. Last September they battled for twelve rounds at Boston and Ferguson succeeded in getting the better of the argument. Ferguson believes, if he defeats Jeannette decisively, he can get a 20-round match with Sam Langford in London.

The unusual sight of two championships being fought for in a single night will be witnessed in London on the night of May 24, when Sam Langford, the negro, will endeavor to wrest the title of heavyweight champion of England from Ian Hague, and Little Jimmy Walsh of Boston will battle with Digger Stanley for twenty rounds at 118 pounds for the English bantamweight championship.

Hague recently has been the sensation of London with his heavy punches. He beat Gunner Moir for the English title in the first round.

Jiu Jitsu Match

Temple Roller Rink, Thursday May 13.

Capt. Leopold McLaglen will meet T. Yamagata of Tokio. Tickets, 50c and $1. $1.00 tickets on sale at Temple roller rink, Backoenda's and Howlet's cigar stores, St. Louis buffet, and Brotherton's barber shop, West Duluth. Twenty-five reserved seats at Temple rink, $2 each.

INSURES HIS BALL PLAYERS

Stanley Robison, St. Louis Owner, Is Taking No Chances.

St. Louis, Mo., May 10.—Stanley Robison, owner of the St. Louis National Baseball club, has taken out a $50,000 insurance policy on his manager and leading catcher, Roger Bresnahan. The policy runs for five years, and the annual premium is $1,300.

Bresnahan cost Robison four good players, valued at $50,000, when he was bought from the New York National team. He is under a three-year contract to play for $25,000. This makes Robinson's investment $75,000 in Bresnahan.

Bresnahan is known as a daring player and has been injured often. Two big agencies refused to take the risk, because of Bresnahan's chances of being injured behind the bat.

COLLEGE PLAYER GETS BIG SALARY

Princeton, N. J., May 10.—Bobby Vaughn, who for two seasons played second base for the Princeton team and was elected captain of the 1909 team, but not allowed to play because of faculty restrictions, has been signed by the New York American league club at a salary said to be the largest ever paid to a college player. He will join the team on June 15.

The contract calls for $800 a month, or $4,800 a season. Vaughn is 25 years old and is a fast and heady player. He hit over the .400 mark in college.

ST. YVES WINS MARATHON DERBY

Plucky Little Frenchman Takes Gruelling Race Before 20,000 People.

New York, May 10.—A gruelling race before 20,000 spectators, in the course of which runner after runner collapsed, only to stumble on again, Henri St. Yves, stocky little French marathon runner, who jumped into fame a month ago, by defeating such runners as Dorando, Hayes, Shrubb and Longboat in the first great professional out-door Marathon derby held in New York Saturday, took the measure of twelve competitors in an international Marathon at the Polo grounds and romped home a winner by a handsome margin of five laps, or five-sixths of a mile.

The once mighty Doronda, considered a likely winner before the start of the race, finished sixth, his many halts in the latter part of the race proving too great a handicap for him to overcome at the end.

The fourth and fifth men, Fred Simpson, the Indian, and Fred Appleby, the English entry, plodded their patient way to the end. John D. Marsh, Canadian entrant, after running second to St. Yves for fifteen miles, found the pace too much for him and gave up in the twenty-fifth mile when all hope of qualifying for the purse money had been lost.

Of the other contestants, Tom Morrissey of Yonkers, only recently turned professional, collapsed utterly in the sixteenth mile and had to be carried from the field. Pat White and Mat Maloney, running for Ireland, Louis Orphee, running for France, and Felix Garvajal, running for Cuba, plodded on to the end.

St. Yves' time, 2:44:05, was almost four minutes slower than the mark set by him in the Marathon derby of a month ago. The pace at which the first ten miles were run, however, was much faster than that which has characterized former events, the five miles being negotiated in 27 minutes, 56 seconds, and the ten miles in 56:52. The race brought the Polo grounds a crowd of 20,000 enthusiasts.

The winners in the order of their finish, follow:

John Svanberg, time, 2:50:54; second.

Ted Crook, United States, time, 2:52:10, third.

Fred Simpson, American Indian, time, 2:54:13; fourth.

Fred Appleby, England, time, 2:56:17; fifth.

Dorando Pietro, Italy, time, 2:58:19; sixth.

Erward Cibot, France, time, 2:58.19; seventh.

FITWELLS TO MEET Y. M. C. A.

Big Bowling Event to Be Held This Week.

The Fitwell bowling team, champions of the City Handicap Bowling league, will play a matched game with a picked team of Y. M. C. A. players, at the latter's alley Thursday evening.

The game will be open to the public, and arrangements have been made to enable members of the fair sex to watch the games.

The tournament recently held at the Y. M. C. A. was very successful. Carl Berlin won the first prize in the singles with a score of 568. Zimmerman and Brown won the doubles with a score of 1,193.

Weights Are Announced.

New York, May 10.—The weight which the twenty-nine horses which entered in the Metropolitan handicap, the first important race to be run in the East this year, and which will inaugurate the season at Belmont park next Thursday, were announced last night by Handicapper Vosburgh. The highest weights are given to horses which have been campaigning on the California tracks. Following are the allotments of weights, penalties accruing from noon today:

Milwaukee, Wis., May 10.—An international heel-and-toe walking match will start in Schlitz park pavilion at 8 o'clock tonight, and will continue three hours each night until next Sunday, when the final six hours of the twenty-four will witness the windup.

The entries include such walkers as W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N. Y.; George Brown and Lewis Weston of Auburn, N. Y.; Jim Harrison of Peterboro, Can., Canadian champion; Tom Slater, Oswego, N. Y.; George Gale, St. Louis, Mo.; Jack Oddy, London, Eng.; Albert Corey, France; August Raddatz, Germany. Milwaukee has three representatives, B. Van Tessell, Thomas Regan and William Booth.

Moran Sails for Home.

New York, May 10.—Owen Moran, an English featherweight, has just sailed for his home in Birmingham for the purpose of forcing a match with Jem Driscoll. Before sailing, he failed to get Abe Attel into a third match because the latter injured his hand. In this country Moran and Driscoll could have fought had it not been that both were under the same management. On the other side, however, things are different, and the much-discussed problem as to their relative abilities is likely to be settled. Moran believes the National Sporting Club of London will match him with Driscoll for twenty rounds.

U. S. Engineer Office, Duluth, Minn., May 7, 1909. Sealed proposals for furnishing stone and pebbles for Superior Entry, Wis., will be received here until noon, June 7, 1909, and then publicly opened. Information on application. GRAHAM D. FITCH, Lt. Col., Engrs.

BALLINGER IS UPHELD BY TAFT

Roosevelt Had No Warrant of Law for Withdrawing Land.

Washington, May 10.—It may be stated on high authority that the president is convinced, as a lawyer, that the wholesale withdrawals of land in the Far West, made by order of President Roosevelt, with a view to furthering his conservation policy, were made without warrant of law, and consequently that the recent restorations of parts of that land to public entry by Secretary Ballinger has the president's approval. Mr. Taft has gone over the legal phase of the matter with great care, and satisfied himself that the president, while clothed with authority to withdraw public lands from entry, has not as free a hand in that matter as Mr. Roosevelt took.

There is also authority for saying that the president believes that there has been much exaggeration of the danger that the water power trust possesses such detailed information as to the location of water power sites in the mountain states as to enable it to secure sites on the restored lands before the geological survey can have time to locate them for rewithdrawal, under a future act of congress.

In the meantime there can be no doubt about the intention of the president to carry out to the letter the Roosevelt policy as to conserving the water powers on the mountain streams of the West. He feels quite as intensely as did Mr. Roosevelt about this. He has no use for the men who would secure these sites and divert them to private use. The public is clearly entitled to the use of these powers, and the president intends that the public shall in fact have the use of them.

EVERY MAN WAS A RAKE IN TIME OF HAMILTON

GERTRUDE ATHERTON.

New York, May 10.—Senator Johnson of North Dakota recently introduced a resolution repealing the resolution authorizing the erection of a statue to Alexander Hamilton, on a public square in Washington. The senator is quoted as saying: "I want that man forgotten as soon as possible. I do not want an effigy of Hamilton put up here as a model for any young man. Alexander Hamilton was one of the most contemptible rakes we have ever known in this country."

This statement has brought a hot reply from Gertrude Atherton, the well-known author. No one in the United States has made as close or as sympathetic a study of the life of Alexander Hamilton as has Gertrude Atherton. She brought her full literary genius into play in her novel, "The Conqueror," which is concerned with the dramatic events of his career. In order to gather her material, she spent some time on the island of Nevis in the West Indies, where Hamilton was born. Her novel traces the revolutionary patriot through his years of statesmanship to his tragic end. The gifted Californian writer is an authority on all that pertains to Hamilton. She is a member of the commission which has charge of the movement to erect a statue to his memory. In reply to Senator Johnson, she says:

Calls Him Ridiculous.

"Really, this Senator Johnson is too insignificant to deserve notice. He is probably a ridiculous radical Jeffersonian Democrat, no doubt talking for the benefit of his constituents—they always are when they say things of this sort.

"I don't believe he cares 2 cents about the character of Alexander Hamilton. It is more than likely that he doesn't know anything about Hamilton. He is the sort of dog who thinks this a good chance to have his yelp heard.

"As to Alexander Hamilton being a rake, well, every man was a rake in his time. That was the convention of the time and it was perfectly accepted everywhere. In these days it happens to be the convention not to be rakish, but whether or not men are less rakish is quite another question. There is no use combating the convention of an age, but you must not be found out.

"Alexander Hamilton has been 100 years dead; his sins might be buried with him. And posterity has indorsed him. The country today runs on Hamiltonian wheels; the Jeffersonian Democrats, with all their rows, haven't been able to get back into power.

"Being rakish didn't detract from the usefulness of Hamilton. Any little affairs he may have had were incidental; he never allowed them to interfere with his career. His wife condoned these few little things and adored him. He was a devoted husband and father.

The Greatest American.

"All the great men of his time looked upon Hamilton as their great leader. He became famous in Europe long before Washington, and in Europe today he is regarded as the greatest man America has produced.

"The enemies of Hamilton made abominably shocking plots to attack his financial honesty, but they found it unassailable. Surely if his integrity is unimpeachable, nobody has the right to attack his private life.

"Really this latest attack is too contemptible to require answer. Must a man of Hamilton's time conform to the convention of today? No doubt that convention is justifiable; it prevents young men from plunging into dissipation.

"But at what cost is it enforced? A scandal twenty-five years old has absolutely ruined the career of Sir Charles Dilke, acknowledged by all to be the man of men in England to lead the Liberal party. A convention has destroyed him. Parnell was ruined in the same way. We have become so deadly proper in the last fifty years!"

FOREIGN SHORT CHANGE SYSTEM NEW TO DULUTH

Some of the Italian shoe-shine artists along Superior street have adopted a system of short changing customers that is new to Duluth.

The key to the scheme is the fact that certain foreign coins of generous size are worth about one-tenth as much as American coins of the same size. This, and the American's carelessness and hurrying methods, make it easy for the shine man to substitute an Italian, or other European coin for an American bit of cash, and the customer does not detect the fraud until he comes to pay a street car fare, or pay out some other small amount.

The substitutions, in the main, are for nickles and dimes. One coin looking almost exactly like a nickle at first glance, and the exact size of one, is shoved off on the unsuspecting victim in place of the usual 5-cent piece. In paying 5 cents for a shine, the customer, for example, tenders the proprietor a quarter, and in making change the Italian gives two American nickles and two of these foreign coins.

The value of the Italian coin is about one-half cent, so the shine man makes about 9 cents by the transaction. If he is especially bold, perhaps he substitutes three, or even four of the Italian pieces, increasing his profits that much. About one out of twenty times the customer notices the fraud. In this case he demands a good nickle, and the Italian, with an apologetic smile, explains that the strange pieces of money must have gotten into the wrong compartment of the cash drawer.

While the coins of a size of a nickle are the most frequently used in this short-change system, a smaller coin, looking very much like a dime, and worth even less than the larger foreign coin that substitutes for a nickle, is handed over to the unsuspecting customer. It is seldom that the substitution is discovered until it is too late to demand a correction. Even when the victim does discover the fraud, he often is satisfied to retain the coin as a pocket piece, for the chances are it is of a description which he has never before encountered. If he isn't so satisfied, he has a good chance of working off the bit of money on a street car conductor, if he is so inclined.

Misses His Drinks; Dies.

Marshall, Mich., May 10. Theobald Townsend, aged 50, had been accustomed to drink about a quart of whiskey daily. When the county went "dry" he was unable to get it, drugstores refusing to sell because of his habits. Without his accustomed stimulant, physical exhaustion grew upon him and he died.

KEEP THE BATH TUB BRIGHT.

Whether the bath tub be porcelain, enameled iron, or zinc, it may be kept always bright and smooth by merely washing it lightly, after each using, with warm water and Gold Dust.

If any rough places or dark spots appear in the tub, sprinkle a little of the Gold Dust powder on the cloth and rub briskly, until the surface is bright and smooth.

Other plumbing fixtures, such as wash basins and water closets, may be kept perfectly bright and white, if thoroughly washed with Gold Dust once a week.

As the Gold Dust is a good disinfectant, its use is a protection against disease and odors. It cleanses the drain pipes and "traps" as well as the visible fixtures, cutting out adhering grease.

Reminiscences From the Initial Number of the Minnesotian.

Memorable Picnic That Was Addressed By Dr. Thomas Foster.

The St. Paul Dispatch, in its column of "Forty Years Ago Today," said on Saturday:

Duluth in 1820—Dr. Foster, in his initial number of the Duluth Minnesotian, April 24, 1869, publishes an interesting column headed: "Local Reminiscences of Nearly Fifty Years Aga," as follows:

Henry R. Schoolcraft, the historiographer of the Cass expedition by way of the St. Louis river to the sources of the Mississippi in 1820, says:

"Three miles above the mouth of the St. Louis river there is a village of Chippewa Indians. Among these we noted a negro has been long in the service of the fur company and who married a squaw by whom he has four children. A short distance above this village, on the opposite side of the river, are the ruins of one of the old forts and trading houses of the Northwest company, which was abandoned in 1814. The site is elevated and pleasant, but the company decided to fix their establishment for the Fond du Lac department about six miles above, where the first portage commences. By this change of site they save the labor of loading and unloading their canoes at the mouth of the river."

The Indian village that Schoolcraft speaks of has been legally removed to the St. Louis river reservation above the falls, but several lodges still make it their annual summering place. It is on Minnesota Point, about two miles south of Duluth. The negro spoken of was named Bungo. He is long since dead, but his children have again intermarried with their mother's race and are scattered from here toward and are scattered from here toward the head waters of the Mississippi. One of them, Stephen Bungo, lives with his family over in Superior City. He is now quite old. A brother named George Bungo is a trader of skill and influence at Leech lake. The old Northwest post alluded to was on the Wisconsin side on Connor's Point, not far from Howard's sawmill. There are some evidences of former English occupation about Vincent Roy's.

In 1679, 190 years ago, the first sailboat was introduced upon the Great Lakes. It was built by La Salle, near Niagara Falls, and called the Griffith. and on its first voyage up the lakes reached Green Bay in September of the same year, carrying La Salle and party on their expedition to discover and explore the Mississippi; but on returning to Niagara, the boat was wrecked and lost with valuable cargo of furs and skins.

In 1818, about forty years ago, the first steamboat was launched upon the lakes. She was called Walk-in-the-Water, and made the first trip to the Island of Mackinaw in 1819.

On the Fourth of July, 1868, a memorable picnic was held on Minnesota Point, attended by a large assembly of people from both Wisconsin and Minnesota. Dr. Thomas Foster, editor of the old St. Paul Minnesotian several years ago, and now editor of the Duluth Minnesotian, favored the audience with one of his stirring addresses, in which he forecasted the city of Duluth nine years ahead. On this topic he said:

"At the time of the grand centenary of American independence, July 4, 1877, the city which will have been built up at the western extremity of the lake will have become already a city of no small magnitude, surpassing, I dare predict, the capital of our state in size and trade, though it will be allied to it by many business ties—the two cities, in my opinion, bearing to each other about the proportionate relation that New York and Philadelphia do to each other. It will be a manufacturing as well as a commercial, city. Iron foundries, the rolling mill to reroll the track iron of the various railroads of Minnesota, machine shops, saw and planing mills, shipyards and hundreds of factories, all driven by unstinted steam, fed by cheap fuel furnished by our inexhaustible forests or by the coal of Pennsylvania brought here in ballast by the returning fleets of grain ships, will have displaced the evergreen groves of these embayed 'Points.'

"In the Vermilion gold and iron region a thriving town of thousands will probably then be in existence, and this will be connected with our metropolis city by a railroad of eighty miles in length for the carrying of the gold and silver bullion of Vermilion, or for the nearly pure pig iron of the Missawba Heights."

WALKER MAKES MONEY.

Contract With Lumber Company Proves Very Profitable.

Walker, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two years ago it took $3,600 worth of fuel to run the municipal water and electric light plant. The village then had midnight light service. During the past fiscal year, which ends May 15, the fuel cost at this plant has been less than $1,800. And along with this the city has had an all-night light service and nearly a third more electric light patrons in the village. The city pays the Leech Lake Lumber company $1,500 for fuel for this plant. Allowing between two and three hundred dollars for extra labor such as piling wood, extra hauling, etc., the whole amount is about half the expense of previous years. Even with the cost of the blower and the shaving shed, the cost for the year just past is less than it has been heretofore. The blower and shed are permanent fixtures and that expenditure will not have to be repeated.

HEAVY BUSINESS VOLUME PLACED

Cut in Price of Wire and Nails Stimulates Trade.

New York, May 10.—Since May 1 interest in steel circles has been largely centered in structural and fabricated steel and wire products. A heavy volume of business has been placed, the cut of from $7 to $10 in the price of wire and nails stimulating the demand from jobbers and manufacturers, who are replenishing stocks. The prospect is that orders placed in May will greatly exceed those placed in March and April. The wire consumers' spring trade, although about two weeks later this year, is fast waning. Recent low prices have been made without guarantee of time limit and only for immediate specifications; hence the large distributors are availing themselves of the opportunity to lay in supplies as an advance is almost sure to be announced in the next month or two.

Contracts for about 60,000 tons of fabricated steel were placed last week, and in some instances the lowest prices of record have been made, notwithstanding that some of the largest companies have endeavored to realize an advance. The principal contracts of the week include 11,000 tons for the Missouri Pacific, 5,500 tons for the Lorillard tobacco warehouse, 4,500 tons for the Seaboard Realty company, New York, and 3,000 tons for the Horn building at Pittsburg.

No important rail contracts have been placed since the St. Paul tonnage noted two weeks ago, but business is now pending for about 150,000 tons, including 40,000 tons for the Harriman lines and 12,000 tons for the Seaboard Air Line. Business in pigs is less active, but contracts placed in the East have aggregated about 25,000 tons, pump manufacturers being the largest buyers. Locomotive shops and steel plants, as well as pipe works, are now in the market, calling for about 40,000 tons of foundry and basic iron. There is still irregularity in prices, but the tone of the market is gradually hardening.

NASHWAUK HAS LIGHT TROUBLE

Village in Darkness Two Nights Because Engine Breaks Down.

Nashwauk, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The light supply was cut off in this village Saturday and Sunday nights. Parts of the engine were disabled. The plant is overloaded and cannot furnish sufficient light for the needs of the village as many lights have been installed within the past two months. Supt. George A. Lindsey has made a general overhauling of the engines and motors and it is expected that lights will be had this evening.

The grounds at the baseball park are in good condition, and many baseball fanists were at the grounds Sunday taking the kinks out of their arms. Nashwauk expects to put a fast team in the field, composed entirely of home players.

Jerome Depiro is erecting a barn and will soon build on Second street. He has purchased a new horse and buggy, which adds to his livery barn equipment.

Bids on the scavanger work of the village will be opened and considered by the council at the village hall, May 17, at 8 p. m.

PATENTS DEVICE TO SAVE CABLES

Former Negaunee Man Living in Virginia Has a Cable Grip.

Negaunee, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Hutchings, a former well-known resident of Negaunee, now located at Virginia, Minn., has perfected another invention upon which he has filed application for letters patent.

Mr. Hutchings has already secured a patent on a diamond drill core shell and later and the Lake Shore Engine Works at Marquette is making these articles on a royalty basis and the device is finding ready sale. It works well and in the Minnesota iron field especially it saves a much larger percentage of cores than the mining companies ever obtained before.

The latest item to which Mr. Hutchings has turned his ingenuity is the handling of head or support cables, such as are used by telephone and telegraph companies, particularly and which are used for many other purposes as well. The grips, which are ordinarily used for hanging and stretching these cables, either in underground conduits or an overhead pole, usually tear the cable around the gripping point in a manner that spoils from three to six feet of cable on each pull. Mr. Hutchings' grip is a quick method of getting a firm hold upon these cables, requiring but a minute or two of time to attach as compared with the labor of eight or nine men for an hour or more as at present.

MERIT IN SOCIALISM.

Eveleth Minister Discusses Present Day Industrial Problems.

Eveleth, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large audience heard Rev. R. C. Johnson at the Methodist church last night speak on "The Church and the Workingman; Is It for Or Against Him?"

He sagely contrasted the condition of the workingmen and the few great monied men.

The speaker contended the church was false to its principles if it did not recognize the present inequalities in the industrial world and did not accept some of the tenets of Socialism.

Evangelist L. Swerkmo conducted the services yesterday morning at the Swedish Mission church, where the Norwegian Lutheran congregation is holding services.

BRYAN SPOKE TWICE.

Commoner Addresses Two Large Audiences at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Jennings Bryan Saturday night, at the high school auditorium, delivered his lecture on "The Price of a Soul." Every seat was filled, and the speaker was received with great enthusiasm. Sunday morning union services of the church were held at the auditorium, at which time Mr. Bryan gave his celebrated lecture on "The Prince of Peace."

INSPECT STATE MINES.

State Auditor and Attorney General Visit Mesaba Range.

Hibbing, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor and George T. Sompson, attorney were, were in Hibbing last week. In company with Frank A. Wilcox, state mine inspector, they visited the state's iron holdings in the Hibbing district.

Thomas J. Godfrey, secretary of the board of education, spent much of the past week at Virginia, where he served as a member of the petit jury in the range district court.

P. H. Holliday of the Winston-Dear company, was a Duluth visitor on Wednesday and attended the play, "The Merry Widow," at the Lyceum theater in the evening. Mr. Holliday is recovering from a severe and prolonged attack of rheumatism.

John H. Pearse is in the city for a few days from Dubuque, Iowa. Mr. Pearse was mining captain at the Stevenson mine in the early days of its development, and has been absent from Hibbing about five years.

RATHER A MUDDLE.

Doubt Whether Hibbing Has a Legal Head or Not.

Hibbing, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although Trustee F. Ansley was ostensibly elected president of the village board last week, succeeding President Weirick, resigned, there seems to be some doubt about the legality of the council's action because of the refusal of Trustee McHardy to vote and his leaving the council chamber.

If Trustee McHardy does not resign or refuses to vote, it is the opinion of attorneys that it will be impossible to elect a successor to President Weirick, for the reason that if Mr. Ansley does vote for himself, he will have to resign as trustee before he can qualify as president, and upon his resignation there will be but two votes remaining on the council, which is one short of the majority.

Mr. Ansley states that he is not particularly anxious to serve as president of the village, and that he is of the opinion that a president should be taken from outside of the present council.

Mr. Ansley, however, is vitally interested in the well-being of the village, and his strong desire is to clear up the present muddle and get things in shape to handle the big and fast accumulating affairs of the village.

Jamieson of Duluth, who will have charge, will put the constitutional question and deliver the charge to the people. Rev. J. F. McLeod of Two Harbors will preach the installation sermon, while Rev. Henry Neff of Virginia will give the charge to the pastor-elect.

In connection with the installation, A. O. Sisson and W. J. Matthews, who have been elected elders, will be ordained.

Rev. Mr. Schwartz comes here from Red Lake Falls. He has been occupying the pulpit for about a month now, and has made a splendid impression on his congregation.

Fleet-Footed Animals Are Killed By Wild Beasts In Heavy Snow.

Aurora, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports from the farming section south of the village are to the effect that the carcasses of deer, which have been killed by wolves, are being found in considerable numbers.

This section of the county is thickly populated with the fleet-footed denizens of the forest and the wolves appear to have found out the fact. The snow was from three to four feet deep the past winter and the wolves seemed to have no trouble in running down their quarry, and have killed a good many. A farmer from Town 57 reported this week that a large female wolf with four cubs had passed across the road in front of his team while on his way to Aurora. He had no gun with him, and so failed to get them.

KIDNAPER BOYLE GETS LIFE SENTENCE

another visit today without obtaining any additional informaton. Both prisoners refused to talk to the official.

Boyle and his wife collapsed completely upon hearing their sentences pronounced. When they were started back to the jail from the courtroom, Boyle managed to walk with assistance down the steps, but upon reaching the front door he became limp and unable to stand. He was lifted into the old-fashioned omnibus in which the prisoners have been transported for several days, between the courthouse and the jail. When he was placed upon the seat inside the vehicle, he was left for a moment unsupported, and fell nearly out of it before he was caught. He was utterly unable to support himself and had to be held all the way to the jail and carried to his cell.

Mrs. Boyle was in even worse condition. She was unable to walk down the steps from the courthouse to the street, and was carried by Sheriff Chess and Chief of Police Livermore down three flights of stairs to the streets. She was lifted in the omnibus, and when the jail was reached she was again lifted out by the officers and carried to her cell, where she went violently. No handcuffs were placed on either prisoner on the journey back to their cells, and it was considered unnecessary to manacle them in the condition they were in.

After Mr. Miller of counsel for the Boyles, had completed his plea for leniency in behalf of his clients, Judge Williams told Boyle to stand up and asked him if he had anything to say as to why sentence should not be pronounced upon him.

Boyle merely said: "I have not," and shook his head.

Judge Williams then addressed the prisoner and told him of the heinousness of the crime of which he had been convicted. The court said:

"Mr. Boyle, the crime of child stealing in ancient times was punishable by death. In Pennsylvania the law is more lenient."

The judge then described the different acts passed by the legislatures on kidnaping, bringing it down to the present time. He said it had been stated by the attorneys "You took good care of him because he was your prize package. You had to treat him well to get what money was demanded.

"Since your arrest we have investigated your record. We find you have been convicted in Mercer county court previously to your arrest for kidnaping. You have been charged with larceny, receiving stolen goods, assault and battery and escaped from jail and many other shady transactions. All these have had their influence with this court in making us come to the decision that we have reached that your punishment shall be the maximum sentence, imprisonment for life."

After the sentence had been imposed on Boyle, he arose and said to the court:

"Your honor, you are wrong about my record."

"I think not. It is a matter of court record," replied the judge.

When Mrs. Boyle was ordered to stand up to receive sentence, she was asked if she had anything to say.

"I did not do it and I think the evidence upon which I was convicted very flimsy," she said.

"That was a matter for the jury to determine," said Judge Williams, and then after a brief review of the case he imposed the sentence.

ings called the sublime porte, he raised the weapon on high, and by this immemorial act took possession of the Turkish empire.

The action of the sultan was followed by an outburst of shouting people massed beyond the lines of surplus standing troops, together with a fanfare of trumpets and a rattle of musketry as the soldiers fired a salute; but above all this noise rose sharp and clear voices of a chorus of schoolboys chanting Midhat Pasha's hymn of liberty.

The scene was a strange admixture of historical Eastern observance and modern Western civilization. Mehmed V. the first sultan in four centuries who had blue eyes and fair hair, was dressed in a Western uniform of olive green khaki. Within sight of the square were the bizanti walls surrounding the city and the Genoese tower of St. Sophia, two striking suggestions of thirteenth century history. In further contrast was the fact that his majesty, chosen by the Constitutionalists to rule the empire, stood upright in an open carriage fresh from the most fashionable manufacturer of Paris, and raised on high with a dignified gesture the ancient sword worn by thirty-four of his ancesters and carried by twenty-eight of his forebearers since the conquest of Constantinople. It was remarked also that Mehmed V was the first beardless ruler of his line; he wore only a pointed mustache.

WOULD CURB PORTO RICO

island without support after June 30."

Porto Ricans have forgotten the generosity of the United States, the president says, in the desire of certain of the island's political leaders for power. He adds that the present situation indicates that the United States has gone too fast in the extension of political power to the Porto Ricans, and he concludes that the absolute power of appropriation should be taken away from "those who have shown themselves too irresponsible to enjoy it."

Submit to Committees.

The president suggests to congress the wisdom of submitting to the appropriation committees the question of qualifying some of the provisions of the fundamental act as to the respective jurisdictions of the executive council and the legislative assembly. But no action of this kind, the president says should be begun until the Foraker act is amended so that, when the legislative assembly shall adjourn without making the appropriation necessary to carry on the government, sums equal to the appropriations made in the previous year for the respective purposes shall be available for current revenues, and shall be drawn by the warrant of the auditor on the treasurer and countersigned by the governor. Such a provision applies to the legislatures of the Philippines and Hawaii and "it has prevented in those two countries any misuse of the power of appropriation."

The president reviews the establishment of the present government for Porto Rico by the Foraker act. He says the statute directing how expenses of the government are to be provided leaves some doubt whether this function is not committed solely to the executive council, but in practice the legislative assembly has appropriated for all expenses other than for salaries fixed by congress. The president adds: "It is too late to reverse that construction."

The president says that ever since the institution of the present assembly, the house of delegates has uniformly held up the appropriation bills until the last minute of the regular session and has sought to use the power to do so as a means of compelling the concurrence of the executive council in legislation which the house desired. In the last regular legislative assembly the attitude of the executive council in refusing to pass bills led the house of delegates to refuse to pass the necessary appropriation bills.

Subverting the Government.

Mr. Taft discusses the acts of the legislature and of the council in detail, and says the facts recited demonstrate the willingness of the representatives of the people in the house of delegates to subvert the government to secure the passage of certain legislation. The question whether the proposed legislation should be enacted into law was left by the fundamental act to the joint action of the executive council and the house of delegates as the legislative assembly. The house of delegates, says the president, proposes to secure this legislation itself without respect to the opposition of the executive council, "or else to pull down the government."

This growing spirit shows that too great power has been vested in the delegates. The message presents an exhaustive economic review of conditions on the island, its trade and its wealth, its improved educational facilities.

It points out that "there never was a time in the history of the island when the average prosperity of the Porto Ricans was higher, his opportunity greater, his liberty in thought and action more secure." For the first time in its history, Porto Rico, he says, is living under laws enacted by its own legislature.

The president points out that if the Porto Ricans desire a change in the form of the Foraker act, it is a matter of congressional consideration, dependent upon the effect of such a change on the real political progress on the island. Such a change, he says, should be sought, in an orderly way, not brought to the attention of congress by "paralyzing the arm of the existing government."

The president says that the fact of the Porto Ricans "forgetting the generosity of this government should not be an occasion for surprise, nor in dealing with a whole people can it be made the basis of a charge of ingratitude."

Have Gone Too Fast.

The message concludes:

"When we, with the consent of the people of Porto Rico assumed guardian ship over them and the guidance of their destinies we must have been conscious that a people that had enjoyed so little opportunity for education could not be expected safely for themselves to exercise the full power of self-government and the present development is only an indication that we have gone somewhat too fast in the extension of political power to their own good.

"The change recommended may not immediately convince these controlling the house of delegates of the mistake they have made in the extremity to which they have been willing to resort for political purposes, but in the long run it will secure more careful and responsible exercise of the power they have."

HIS SOFT HEART CAUSED TROUBLE

Believing that M. J. Widdis was using cruel and unnecessary means to keep a balky and fractious horse under control, David A. Phillips protested so hotly and vigorously yesterday that Widdis descended and gave him a sound beating.

The incident occurred at First avenue east and Sixth street yesterday afternoon. Widdis was driving a balky horse, or rather trying to. Phillips claims he was using the whip unmercifully.

Phillips, who was passing at the time, watched the proceedings with fast growing anger. When he could stand it no longer he went out and berated Widdis soundly.

The balky horse and the Phillips lecture were too much taken together. The driver turned his attention to Phillips and gave him a sound beating.

Phillips swore out a warrant against Widdis, and both men will appear in police court at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

ALDRICH IN TILT AGAIN

Hoosier Has Part of the Speech of Senator McCumber Read.

Washington, May 10.—A tilt between Senators Aldrich and Beveridge was the opening feature in the session of the senate today. That body had no sooner been called to order than the senator from Indiana took the floor. He spoke of the address of Senator Carter last Saturday, in which the Montana senator referred to the abundance of information on the pending tariff bill available to senators.

"I think the senate understands this speech," said Mr. Beveridge, "but in order that the country may understand it, I will ask the clerk to read an extract from the Congressional Record."

The extract read was from a speech by Senator McCumber, in which complaint was made that no information was available for senators, showing the comparative cost of articles in the tariff schedules in this country and abroad, and in which it was suggested that a bureau to provide such information should be created.

Mr. Beveridge then sent to the desk another extract from the statement of Mr. Aldrich to be read by the clerk, the chairman of the committee on finance being quoted as saying: "I have no knowledge whatever of anything that transpired in the ways and means committee," etc.

Mr. Aldrich said his statement had related only to the hearings on "orange mineral" under consideration when he spoke and did not refer to the hearings as a whole, because he had read much of the report of those hearings.

"I have given thirty years to the consideration of these matters," said Mr. Aldrich, "and while I may not have the ability of the senator from Indiana, yet such as I have, I have brought to this question and if the senator will give a fraction of the time to the consideration of the matters that I have given he will serve his constituency and the country better than by proclaiming to everybody the lack of information."

Mr. Heyburn having the floor, declined to permit any further interruption. He spoke at length to demonstrate the necessity for a differential duty on pig lead and other products of lead.

DULUTH WOMAN WAS PASSENGER

On Board the Burlington Train Wrecked in Nebraska.

Mrs. Fanny B. Owens of Duluth was a passenger on the Sioux City-O'Neill Burlington passenger train, when it was wrecked near Goodwin, Neb., last week. Aside from a bad shaking up, the Duluth woman was not injured.

One person was seriously injured, six slightly hurt, and four passenger coaches were overturned in the accident, due to a spreading of the rails. The train was making about thirty miles an hour, when a spread in the rails ran it into the ditch.

Passengers were thrown from their seats and showered with broken glass and other flying debris. The baggage car was one of the coaches overturned, and it was necessary to cut a hole in it before R. E. Tinkham, baggage master, could be liberated. He was uninjured. There was wild excitement for a time, the passengers stampeding for the doors, and many jumping through the windows.

YOUNG CHICAGOAN HELD BLAMELESS

Is Declared Not to Have Murdered a Girl in Mexico.

El Paso, Tex., May 10.—Harold Sanborn, a young Chicagoan, in a Mexican Sanborn plantation near Vera Cruz in prison as the result of a riot on the which six Mexicans were killed, is exonerated of any blame in a detailed story of the riots received here. The riots started with the arrest of a drunken Mexican on the plantation by Vicentee Espinosa, a peace officer. A brother of the arrested man came to the place and killed Espinosa, whereupon Macario Vilces, keeper of the plantation store, slew the murderer. This brought about a general fusillade and young Sanborn was shot in the neck. He returned the fire and when the smoke cleared five men and a woman were dead.

Sanborn went immediately to Rincon Antonio, where he surrendered. The authorities at first charged him with the murder of the girl, but a Mexican woman who saw the rioting, declared the young man did not fire in the girl's direction at any time.

Bearish Sentiment Prevails in All the American Markets.

Flax Is About Unchanged at End of Quiet Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 10.—Wheat declined during a fairly active session in the American markets today. Crop news was more favorable than it has been, and there was a general disposition to realize on the part of the trade.

The visible supply of wheat decreased 2,998,000 bu.

The May option closed 1½c lower in Duluth, Chicago and Winnipeg, 1⅝c lower in Minneapolis, unchanged in New York, ⅜c higher in St. Louis and ½c lower in Kansas City. Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"The market was quiet at the opening with the nearby months steady and the distant months under selling pressure and ⅜d to ¾d lower than Saturday. Pressure was the result of the weakness in American cables on Saturday and the fact that Indian shippers were offering larger quantities at a decline. Following the opening there was a rally, July gaining ¼d and September ¾d on the light shipments to the United Kingdom and continued decrease on passage. Toward mid-day, July broke ¼d with sympathetic declines in the distant months due to the lack of support and continued favorable weather report from Russia. Again there was a reaction and at 1:30 p. m., prices showed ½d to ¾d lower than Saturday. May was neglected while the other months were erratic, with frequent broad price changes.

"Corn was quiet at the start and unchanged. Later July lost ⅜d on the cheaper Plata offerings of both cargoes and parcels and the heavy increase on passage."

Primary receipts of wheat were 639,000 bushels; last year, 459,000 bushels. Shipments, 438,000 bushels; last year, 719,000 bushels.

Primary receipts of corn were 393,000 bushels; last year, 343,000 bushels. Shipments, 263,000 bushels; last year, 632,000 bushels.

Wheat was only fairly active in the Duluth market. May wheat was inactive and closed 1⅛c lower than Saturday at $1.25⅝. July wheat opened ¼c higher at $1.25¼, declined to $1.24⅜, rallied to $1.25⅝ and went off by the close to $1.23½, a loss of 1⅝c from Saturday. September wheat opened unchanged at $1.08½, declined to $1.08, rallied to $1.09¼ and declined by the close to $1.07½, a loss of 1c from Saturday.

Durum wheat closed ½c lower.

July flax opened ¼c lower at $1.67 and closed unchanged from Saturday at $1.67¾. September flax opened late at $1.45 and closed there, unchanged from Saturday. October flax declined from $1.39½ to $1.39 and closed unchanged from Saturday at $1.39¼.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Cables Weak; Northwest Weather Is Favorable to Seeding.

Chicago, May 10.—Wheat prices declined more than 1c during early trading today on selling, much of which was credited to the former leader of the bulls. Private advices reported additional rain in Kansas, but the official map failed to show any precipitation in that state. Cables were weak, and weather in the Northwest favorable for seeding. The market opened quite firm, with prices a shade lower to ⅝c higher, July being at $1.14⅞@1.14¾, and September at $1.05⅝@1.05¾. During the first half hour, July sold off to $1.13, but rallied again about ½c. September declined to $1.05⅜.

The market continued heavy the remainder of the day, the local crowd hammering it persistently throughout the entire session. The low point for July was reached at $1.12½. September sold off to $1.03⅝. The close was weak, with prices almost at the bottom. July was down 1⅝c at $1.12⅝. September was at $1.05¼@⅜.

Impending increase in receipts was again a depressing influence in the corn market, sentiment in the pit being bearish early in the session. Some of the leading commission houses were free sellers, while support was poor. July opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 68⅛@68¾c, and declined to 67⅝c.

Sentiment was bearish all day, and the market closed weak, with July off ⅛@⅜c at 68¾c.

Favorable weather for the new crop prompted considerable selling of oats and the market turned weak following a steady tone at the opening. July, which opened ⅛c lower to ¼c higher at 51⅜c to 51¾c, declined to 51c.

Provisions were dull and steady. The market was influenced to some extent by a 5c decline in live hogs.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Rains and Lower Cables Are Factors in Easier Conditions.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 10.—Rains in Kansas and other portions of the winter wheat section, favorable weather throughout the Northwest and lower cables were all factors in an easier market today. Local stocks decreased 225,000 bushels for two days. There was a break of 2½c from high to low today. Minneapolis today received 245 cars, against 263; Duluth 18, against 14; Winnipeg 41, against 92. May opened at $1.27; high, $1.27¼; low, $1.25⅛; close, $1.25¼. July opened at $1.25⅛; high, $1.25¾; low, $1.23⅞; close, $1.24. Cash wheat was in fair demand. Some traders considered the market easier, while others said it was steady. Local millers were the principal buyers. No. 1 northern sold ⅜@½c over the July option, and No. 2 northern for 1½@2c over. No. 1 northern spot to arrive, $1.27¼@1.27¾; No. 2 northern spot and to arrive, $1.25¼@1.25⅝; No. 3 wheat, $1.23¼@1.24¾; No. 3 yellow corn, 73¾@74¼c; No. 3 white oats, 55⅞@56⅞c; No. 2 rye, 84⅜@87¾c.

Flax—Receipts 3 cars today against 26; shipments, none. Light offerings again made the market dull. Prices were generally quoted 1c over the Duluth July option. Closing price, $1.68½.

Barley—Receipts 23 cars today against 10; shipments, 3. The market was steady with a good demand. Feeding grades had a strong inquiry on account of the high oats market. Prices were unchanged. Closing range 65@66½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,586; strength continued to be the feature and millers expected no change in future. Shipments were light and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $24.00@24.50.

Flour was in fair demand. Eastern orders were for small lots, but this trade is expected to improve soon. Output of the light stocks in that section. Shipments over Sunday were light and prices remained the same. Shipments 52,360 barrels. Quotations, $6.10@6.30; second patents, $6.00@6.20; first clears, $6.25@6.95; second clears, $2.35@3.55.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Market Opened Irregular, Advanced, But Weakened Under Realizing.

Stocks Which Were Strong Lost Gains and Closed Easy.

New York, May 10.—The tone of the opening stock market today was irregular and the dealings were active. The disinclination of the London market to follow Saturday's advance here pulled down prices in some of the internationally listed stocks. There were sharp advances in some of the industrials as an offset. United States Rubber rose 1, the first preferred 1¼ and American Smelting and Distillers Securities large fractions. Amalgamated Copper declined ⅝ and Bethlehem Steel 1.

Advances in several of the railroads and specialties had some sustaining effect on prices but the demand became languid at the recovery. Atchison, Rock Island, St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Bethlehem Steel, Hocking Coal, American preferred, National Biscuit, United States Pipe preferred, and International Paper preferred gained about a point, American Cotton Oil 1¾, the preferred 1⅜, Pittsburg Coal preferred 2¼, and the Federal Mining stocks 2¾. Pressed Steel Car preferred declined 1½, and United Express 4. Bonds were irregular.

The market became weak. The copperstocks led the decline and were joined in turn, later by Union Pacific and the rest of the active stocks. After Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Delaware & Hudson, Amalgamated Copper, Anaconda and Tennessee Copper had been depressed 1 to 1⅞, there was a sharp rally. St. Paul sold 1⅜ above Saturday's closing, Northwestern 1¼, and Central of New Jersey 3.

Fluctuations became narrow, and there was a marked falling off in the volume of business. Reading and American Can advanced 1, and the preferred 2 points. International Pump preferred declined 1.

Purchases of Brooklyn Transit which carried it up a point to 80 stimulated buying of other local stocks. The market generally was heavy. American Snuff preferred improved 4 points, and American Tobacco yielded 1¾.

The market closed easy. The signs of persistent realizing in important stocks made the traders suspicious and they sold the whole market to lower prices. Stocks which had been strong lost their gains. Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Kansas & Texas, Wabash preferred, Denver & Rio Grande, Chesapeake & Ohio and the United States Steel stocks, the American Locomotive stocks, Colorado Fuel, American Agricultural Chemical, General Electric and Western Union fell 1 to 1½ below Saturday, Amalgated Copper 2 and Metropolitan Street railway 3.

BUTTE-BALLAKLAVA COPPER COMPANY

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, 315 SELLWOOD BUILDING.
DULUTH, Minn., May 7, 1909.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company was held in the office of the company, Wednesday, May 5. There was a good attendance of shareholders and the reports of the officers of the company were exceedingly gratifying to all concerned.

President R. B. Dear gave in detail what has been accomplished in the way of development during the past year at the mine. In brief, the shaft on May 1, 1909, had attained a depth of 1,400 feet and the work of putting in a sump and cutting of a station was in progress. During the year crosscuts and drifts have been made on the 300, 500, 700, 1,000, 1,200 and 1,300-foot levels to the extent of about 2,500 feet. Many of the drifts and crosscuts have been logged and timbered for a total of hundreds of feet.

Substantial stations have been cut on all the levels and commodious sediment tanks installed. In short, the mine development work has been done in a thoroughly workmanlike manner and at a minimum cost. President Dear announces that the shaft is to be raised from the 500-foot level as soon as the crosscutting of the 1,400-foot level is completed, thus making it a modern full three-compartment shaft from the surface down. A complete and technical description of the equipment at the mine was given, and the announcement made that a new pump capable of handling all the water of the mine from the 1,400-foot level was on the ground ready for installation as soon as the work of raising out the shaft from the 500-foot level is completed.

In regard to the ore development, President Dear says: "On all of the levels we have encountered bodies of ore, some of them very rich. The veins have rich streaks running through them from six inches to three and four feet wide. Averaging the high-grade ore, with the low grade ore, good shipping ore has been uncovered in large quantities."

Speaking of the large vein opened up on the 1,300-foot level, Mr. Dear states that for a width of from four to six feet ore averaging from 4 to 10 per cent copper and much higher value in silver can be mined. Continuing, President Dear says: "I have had some of the best mining engineers in the country look at this level, and one of them expressed his opinion of it by saying it fairly took his breath away. After making a close examination of the whole vein, it is evident to my mind that two or more veins have come together between the 1,200 and 1,300-foot levels."

From careful estimates President Dear concludes that the cost of mining ore as shown from the tonnage already taken from the mine, including loading on the cars and allowance of 5 per cent in the wear and tear of machinery, is $1.45½ per ton, which will be reduced to $1.28 per ton when the ore bins already ordered are in place.

Continuing further President Dear says: "I am fully prepared to state that when we make regular shipments and a business of mining ore, we can reduce the cost of actual mining to less than $1 per ton. The only ore that we have shipped and are shipping, is the ore that we have to take out to carry on our development, as outlined by our consulting engineer, but as soon as the shaft is raised the company should be able to start and make continuous shipments of ore. This should be in about ninety days."

On the subject of the company's relations with its big neighbor, President Dear says: "It is with great pleasure that I can say to our stockholders that the Amalgamated Copper company's property surrounds us entirely, and there is nothing but the most cordial feeling existing between the two companies, and I am more than convinced from the many courtesies extended to us by the Amalgamated officials that we will never have any trouble whatever, provided our company continues to follow the open policy adopted with them. All the officials I have met are broad-minded and generous men, not looking for cash, but are willing to give it. All they want is what belongs to him in trouble or caring to give it. All they want is what belongs to him in trouble or caring to give it. All they want is what belongs to him and nothing more, and I am assured that should any cause for dispute arise in the future, it will be adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned without any trouble whatever, or court litigation."

The treasurer's report shows the financial condition of the company to be excellent. On May 1 the cash balance in the bank was $19,240.31, added to which the notes drawing 6 per cent interest and amply secured, the last of which will be due and paid June 10, amounting to $27,250, the last of which will be due and paid June 10, amounting to $27,250, making a total of immediately available cash assets of $16,490.31. In addition to this there is in the bank at Butte subject to the order of the president four ample funds with which to pay the April expenses at the mine. The company has no liabilities. In addition to this there is due the company from the sale of stock recently allotted to the stockholders $137,114, all of which will undoubtedly be paid into the treasury before the close of the current fiscal year. This makes the total unpaid cash due the company $273,604.31, which is more than is cash in hand and due the company sufficient for the further development and equipment of the property and to put it on a dividend-paying basis.

Full reports of the officers of the company will be issued after the adjourned meeting of the stockholders to be held July 14, at which time the reports will be brought down to date.

In conclusion, I wish to say that the affairs of the company were never in as splendid a condition as now, the mine never gave such promise of rich returns to the stockholders and the directors and officers of the company were never in such full accord and working with such a unity of purpose to attain the desired end—the making of the Butte-Ballaklava mine one of the largest and most profitable producers in the Butte Camp. Very respectfully yours,

BUTTE-BALLAKLAVA COPPER CO.,
JOHN A. PERCIVAL, Secretary.

Chicago, May 10.—Fire, which was quickly brought under control, broke out on the trading floor of the board of trade this afternoon. The blaze, which was quenched by apparatus in the building without calling on the fire department of the city, was caused by cross electric wires.

Washington, May 10.—Frank B. Kellogg, the special assistant attorney general in charge of government prosecutions, informed President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham today that he would close his relations with the government when he has completed the work he now has in hand in connection with the effort to have the Standard Oil company declared a com-

It probably will be a year or more, however, before these two important cases can be cleared up. Mr. Kellogg said he was anxious to return to Minnesota to devote his personal attention to his law practice. He will also give more attention to politics, being the Republican national committeeman of his state.

SUPERIOR NEWS

THEIR SIDE OF STORY

Member of the Seamen's Union Gives Another Version of Shooting.

Claims That They Were Ordered Off the Steamer.

Another version of the shooting of James O'Rourke at the Northwestern docks Saturday night was told this afternoon by a man who claimed to be an accredited representative of the Lake Seamen's union, but who refused to give his name. He said:

"Three other union men and myself went to the Northwestern dock a little before 8 o'clock. Our object was to see the engineer and one or two members of the crew that we knew to be union men, and try to persuade them to leave the Berlin.

"We had no difficulty in getting aboard. Before we had gone twenty feet, however, we were met by two special officers, who, without inquiring our business, ordered us ashore. We tried to argue with them, but they were firm and, rather than have trouble, we went.

"On the dock at this time were about thirty men. When we told them we had been ordered off the Berlin they began to throw rocks and coal at the boat. The first rock struck the cabin. Everyone seemed to have something to throw.

"It was during this time that the shots were fired. Then the cry, 'Somebody killed,' rang out, and the crowd dispersed in a minute or two.

"I knew O'Rourke and went at once to a telephone and called up the hospital. The ambulance was down in a few minutes and took the injured man away. He was alive then, but died during the trip, and instead of taking him to the hospital, the body was taken to the morgue. I have no idea who fired the shot, but know that it came from the deck of the Berlin."

May Accept Plans.

Stockholders and officers in the Superior Theater company are today considering the plans of a Chicago architect in regard to the rebuilding of the Superior Grand, which burned a few weeks ago.

The specifications call for a seating capacity of about 1,700, with two galleries, a larger stage than the old Grand and more dressing room facilities.

Anniversary Services.

The members of the Superior lodge of Odd Fellows celebrated the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of the order Sunday afternoon at the Cumming avenue Methodist church, a large number attending the ceremonies. The sermon for the occasion was p reached by the pastor, Rev. E. F. Court. He spoke on "Thought and Action."

Milford Wants Addition.

An agitation has been started in Superior for an addition to the Lake Superior Mission, and a campaign is now to raise $15,000 for that purpose. Supt. Harry W. Milford is at the head of the movement.

STATISTICS ON CANAL SCHEME

Stillwater Man Is Here Boosting Project of a Canal to Mississippi.

C. E. Cowles, who represents the Stillwater committee that is interesting itself in the projected canal from Lake Superior to the Mississippi river, is here today gathering statistics in connection with the shipping at the Head of the Lakes.

It is the plan of Mr. Cowles to gather data and statistics upon the shipping of the Duluth harbor as a basis from which to gain some idea of the amount of traffic that may be expected to pass through the canal, if the plan of the deep waterway to the river is carried out.

Mr. Cowles presented a letter from Mayor Armson of Stillwater to Secretary H. V. Eva of the Commercial club, and the Commercial Club of Duluth will give him every assistance in his gathering of the desired information.

When Mr. Cowles completes his work he will present his figures to the members of the Stillwater committee.

Blanchard, the recently appointed general superintendent of the road, and George Ross, superintendent for the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific, reached Duluth this afternoon in a special car attached to the regular Northern Pacific train.

The officials come to the Head of the Lakes for an inspection of the terminals here and the branch lines. The party did not come direct to the city, getting off at West Duluth. The plan is to go to Ashland and over some of the branch lines, returning to Duluth tomorrow night and taking the late Northern Pacific train to St. Paul.

POLICE "LAND" MME. GAIN AGAIN

Another step in the police campaign to drive Madame Mary Gain from the city was a fine of $100 imposed this afternoon in the municipal court. Ever since the closing of the red light district the police have been energetically trying to close up the Clifton hotel, which she has been operating. On Saturday she was fined $100 and costs on the charge of keeping a disorderly house, and two of the inmates were filed $50 each. Today she was given another fine of $100 and costs, as a result of the charge lodged against her April 1. The assistant city attorney made a strong plea for a straight jail sentence, but owing to the fact that she has leased the hotel, the court let her off with a fine.

WARM WEATHER THE ONLY HOPE

Washington, May 10.—Speaker Cannon is of the opinion that it will take a temperature of from 96 to 110 degs. in the shade to get the tariff bill out of the senate. The speaker was at the White House today, and after talking with the president, he said:

"If you will tell me when the senate will pass the tariff bill, I will give you a petty good guess as to when congress will adjourn. The only thing that can move the previous question in the senate is hot weather."

Other congressional callers at the White House today expressed the belief that the earliest possible date of adjournment was July 1.

BACK FROM SOUTH.

Business Is Quiet Down in Dixie, Says G. S. Richards.

George S. Richards, proprietor of the National Employment agency, returned yesterday from a trip through all the Southern states. Mr. Richards was in Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and Georgia. All through the South, Mr. Richards says, business is very quiet, but there is a belief that greater activity will be shown within the next month. They are not employing a great many men in the Southern states at the present time, according to Mr. Richards' observations of the labor situation, but it is believed that railroad operations will materially increase the employment market in the South.

While in Louisville, Mr. Richards witnessed the running of the Kentucky Derby. They do not permit pool selling, betting upon the ponies in the Colonel state, but they have a system by which it is figured that the better has a more even chance. Under this system the wagering upon the races goes merrily on.

Mrs. Richards remained in Louisville.

NORTH BUTTE HAS A SLUMP

Its Weakness Is the Feature of Copper Stock Market.

North Butte attracted considerable attention in the copper stock market today, going off from $63.50 to $59.75 during the first hour of trading. It rallied to $63 and then declined to $61, closing at $61.12½ bid and $61.37½ asked.

Butte & Superior, at which property a strike of ore was reported last week, was a feature of the local curb again today. It advanced from $1.62½ to $2 and closed strong at $2 bid and $2.12½ asked.

ENGINEERS MAY ASK A RAISE.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 10.—Unless the strike on the Great Lakes is settled before Saturday next, employers will have to pay their engineers more when work is resumed finally.

The Marine Engineers' Beneficial association has determined to demand an increase of 15 per cent in wages to take effect May 15. Up to this time the question of wages had not entered the controversy between the mariners and the Lake Carriers' association, the former only objecting to the so-called general welfare plan, or open shop clauses in the contracts which were offered by the association. Indications are that there may be a general strike of marine engineers to aid those out now.

SENATOR VAIL ILL.

Virginia, Minn., May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator P. R. Vail is critically ill at his residence here, having been taken down suddenly last week.

TELEGRAPHER'S CRAMP.

Dundee Advertiser: An interesting feature of telegrapher's cramp is that certain letters are nearly always the stumbling block. The most frequent are C and Y—that is, the code signals used for these letters. When a sender begins to be "conscious" 'about so common a letter as C his case soon becomes hopeless.

Another form of cramp attacks the receiver of the message. It takes the form of inability to write fast enough to take down a message quickly transmitted. This is easily understood when it is remembered that a receiver often has to write continuously to code dictation, so to speak, for hours at a time. The strain involved is enormous and leads fairly commonly to what is practically a form of nervous breakdown.

THE CHORUS GIRL'S PAST.

Showing There's a Divorce Court That Shapes Our Ends.

Maizie Montreal was one of the ornaments of the profession, commonly called a squab, pony, broiler, etc. Stage managers sometimes use other epithets not quite so endearingly diminutive—but that has nothing to do with this story, says the New York Sun.

Maizie made her debut in—well, never mind the year; but her last New York engagement was in "Nadji," back in the old Casino days. She was the third girl from the right when Jansen made her first entrance. She was a blonde then, but Providence moves in mysterious ways and her locks are Titian now.

After "Nadji," Maizie thought she had a future and trekked into the provinces to do Serpollette in the "Chimes." Making due allowance for professional jealousy, it is evident that playing leads was not her forte for even bosom friends pronounced her Serpollette the saddest spectacle since the massacre of Glencoe. After that Maizie went into eclipse for a time, but eventually, like Kipling's ship, she found herself.

She was a natural leader, a born commander. Never in his palmiest days did Napoleon display half the ease and grace with which Maizie directed a grand march. When it came to evolutions she was all to the mustard. Ninon de l'Enclos had nothing on Maizie in the Father Time handicap. She remained as fresh and charming in 1908 as in the days when John L. won the championship.

Perhaps the atmosphere of the chorus is a preservative, like the air of the catacombs. With this theory we will let Maizie retire to the wings and allow George to make his entrance. A little cue music, professor!

George was a gay young dog. His pa owned reams of Steel stock and pa owned a cotton press to bale up his long green. He had enough to buy several dukes for his daughters and still have scads left over. George was the only son—the heir apparent.

Whoopee! Clear the track, here comes George.

At an early age George had to be called to the bar and he was never known to leave until they turned the lights out. When he entered a palace of Bacchus it was a signal to bar the front door and knock off the necks of wine. Inanimate—no time for corkscrews when Georgie boy was around.

As a devotee of the tender passion George was the original Paris of America. He had Helens in Troy, Albany, Youngstown, Peoria and Omaha. While not a student of mythology, he was well up on the muses, confining his attention mainly to Thalia and Terpsichore. This will give you a line on George and we will now return to Maizie.

She went out this season with "The Alderman," and a warm show it was; nine furiously funny comedians and fifty dashing heartbreakers.

It was a peaceful Sabbath morning when suddenly the Baltimore & Ohio station at Pittsburg exploded with a terrific bang—and no wonder. From the Washington express erupted fifty dazzling beauties, whose costuming would have given the lilies of the field a chill if they had happened around. In the van pranced the nine furious comedians, each armed with a killing smile.

The fifty-nine varieties filed past the Monongahela house in serried column, the comedians generously cracking and distributing jests as they went. The head clerk of that ancient hostelry refrained from polishing his diamond and gazed fixedly into space for fully five minutes. The bootblack at the corner forgot to shine and stood open mouthed, his brush suspended in midair. News venders ceased from vending and trolley cars involuntarily stood still. The sun made a frantic attempt to pierce the bituminous pall, and many of the haut ton joined in the parade and were late at church in consequence. It isn't every Sunday morning "The Alderman" company arrives in town.

On Monday night the curtain rose on an assemblage of Pittsburg's fairest daughters and gallant sons. Many of the sons had come direct from the rolling mills and might have been mistaken for Lew Dockstader—but they all paid to get in, so it made no difference.

All was as merry as the proverbial marriage bell. The comedians convulsed the daughters, and the maidens cavorted to the intense delight of the sons. Along about the middle of the second act was an interruption—George.

He was loaded to the Plimsoll mark and his cargo had evidently shifted, for he rolled heavily in making his way down the aisle. It was Kismet. If he had arrived ten minutes later there would have been no story to tell.

George started in to do the Little Nemo act, but Maizie burst upon the scene like Biela's comet and she roused up. She was in fine form that act—blue and silver—and put her fillies through their paces with a dash and abandon that evoked thunders of applause.

George was having trouble with his eyesight, but by closing one eye, managed to focus the other on the proceedings. He held his breath for fear the vision in blue would vanish.

Cupid mischievous spirit, occupied a front seat in the balcony, and beholding an old friend trained a 12-inch gun on George's devoted breast and blazed away. It was a deadly wound and George disturbed the entertainment by falling from his chair with an alarming clatter. The fair daughters and gallant sons waxed wroth and George was removed by a flying squadron of ushers.

The next morning he arose with a dark brown taste and a swelling in the center of circulation. The taste yielded to treatment, but the heart trouble remained. The only cure seemed to be Maizie, so he went to the theater every night that week—George was stung for fair.

When "The Alderman" company left for Chicago George was on the train. He trailed the outfit to St. Paul, he stuck for three weeks of one night stands on the Northern Pacific—and greater love than that hath no man.

Maizie consulted all the comedians, the manager, forty-seven of the girls, the property man, Dun's and Bradstreet's, but she couldn't figure out where to get off. She tried a ouija board and the cards with very little success. Ouija seemed to think George was a good thing; but the cards could see trouble brewing through a light young man—it certainly was a difficult position for a lone woman.

And mind you, George's intentions were honorable.

One hates to dip up the past on a poor defenceless girl, but Maizie had serious cause to doubt the felicity of married life. About the time George was weaned she had embarked on the sea of matrimony with a knockabout comedian. The comedian reserved his comedy for the stage and brought the knockabout end home every night; consequently it was a rough passage, full of waterspouts, whirlpools, typhoons and coral reefs. So Maizie landed as soon as she could dig up the price of a decree.

At that she was sensible and realized that the time was approaching when the sword and spear must be laid aside. One can't lead marches forever without acquiring a stiffness in the joints. Maizie observed that George was a gentle soul even if he did contribute lavishly to the support of the internal revenue bureau, and the comedians were unanimous in his favor owing to the way he ladled out refreshments.

The ladies rallied around the flag, master and they wanted to get rid of her. Port Arthur held out for six months and Maizie surrendered in four weeks. But look at the difference—they had an army in Port Arthur and Mazie was all by herself.

There was one final glorious time for the comedians, then happy bridegroom and blushing bride departed for Pittsburg and the paternal blessing.

Did they get it? Not so, Rollo.

Talk about Eliza crossing on the ice! George's parent put on a "Driven From Home" production that had one of Frohman's looking like a moving picture show. By the time the turtle doves got the rumples out of their plumage they were on the Jersey City ferry.

The chill gray dawn of the morning after. This "hand in hand we'll face the world together" thing is all right in one of Bertha Clay's novels, but in reality it's a shine story. Maizie had it all planned to lead the grand march in society and George needed money to buy lizz. The old man had landed a solar plexus wallop on both parties.

They took one of those straight front flats where you swing a cat vertically instead of horizontally and George went around looking for work. Picture it; a millionaire's son looking for work! And he found it, too. It was cold weather and a kind hearted man gave him a job at selling ice on commission.

In her travels around the country Maizie had acquired the spark collecting fad and she really had a nice assortment—nothing like the English crown jewels, of course, but enough to make a dandy flash. It costs money for the eats in New York, and George required his toddy at regular intervals, so naturally some of Maizie's jewelry went on a long visit to uncle. She didn't care any more for a diamond than Hetty Green does for a million, and here is where complications are due. Maupassant could construct a Garrison finish for this thing, but unfortunately Guy is a dead one.

Maizie, being a timid little thing, had neglected to inform George of several trifling events in her past life, including her marriage and its results. One of the results was Mike. He was red-haired, twice as husky as George and drove a delivery wagon.

One dark and stormy night around Christmas George came rolling up to the happy little home with a glad Christmastide on. He opened the door, and what do you think he saw? No, not pink elephants. There was Maizie in the arms of another.

George came from a long line of gallant moulders, and he sounded the Pittsburg battle hymn.

"Nix on the scrap thing, George. It's my son!" shrieked the beauteous Maizie.

Alas, her voice was unheard in the roar of conflict. The combat equaled the celebrated passage-at-arms between Brian de Bois Guilbert and Ivanhoe, but eventually Mike succeeded in hanging a right hook on the edge of George's maxillary and the proceedings adjourned sine die.

When a policeman arrived most of the furniture was holding a levee in the middle of Twenty-eighth street, and the rest looked like refuse from a match factory.

And now for the epilogue. Maizie is out with a burlesque show. She was going to do the Salome dance, but something interfered—moles, perhaps—and Gladys Meringue gets the extra $5 per. Mike is on the police force and a terror to evildoers. George is back in Pittsburg, where his pa keeps him on a low diet.

Here is the moral: There is a divorce court that shapes our ends, rough hone them how we will.

THE BALANCED SNORE.

Pullman Porter Makes Use of His Experience As An Artist's Model.

New York Sun: "Well, I've been traveling a good many years," said a prosperous looking passenger to the Pullman porter, "and last night was the first night I ever slept in a sleeper where there wasn't at least one man that snored."

The porter smiled a pleased, self-satisfied smile, as though responsible for the night's sweet silence.

"Dat's all due to de equal distribution ob—no, suh; no, suh, I ain't no socialist!" he replied, "I was formerly a artis's model befo' I took to railroadin'. Dat's where I got de idea.

"Yassuh—artis's model. I used to pose as a Kaffir scout fo' one ob dem movin' picture machines durin' de Souf African wah, you see.

"It was sort ob low, natchully unhealthy ground ober in dem Jersey meadows where we used to pose, an' we hadn't been at it mo' 'n a couple of weeks befo' one poor niggah got de malaria.

"He was a-tremblin' an' a-shakin' wuss 'n a nervous jelly in a dinin' car, but it was jes' right in de busiest part ob de wah an' we had to pose him anyhow. Hones', suh, you'd like to hab died to see dat po' niggah! He looked jes' like he was scared to deat'.

"When dat pertickler picture was put on over in New Yawk I went to see it jes' to hab a good laugh. But what do yo' suppose? Yo' know how dem picture machines keep a-wobblin' an' vigratin'? Well, true as I'm tellin' you, while dey was playin' dat pertickler picture dat low down, tremblin' manlarious niggah was de only pusson in de whole business dat didn't look like he was goin to shiver himself off de sheet any minute!

"An' den I suddenly figured de whole thing out. You see, suh, his tremblin's was jes' opposite to de vibrations ob de picture machine, so dat dey exactly neutralizationed each other an' made him look like he was de only one dat was standin' still. Dat's what I meant by de equal distribution ob—"

"Yes, I see," interrupted the passenger, "but what's all that got to do with there being no snoring in the car last night?"

"I was comin' to dat, suh. I was comin' to dat. Yo' see when I first took up railroadin' I noticed dat, mos' gen'rally speakin', dere was always at least two or mo' gen'lemen on every trip dat disturbed de rest ob de car by snorin'.

"So I figured it out dat by shakin' one ob dem jes' de least mite—not enough to disturb their slumbers—I could change de rhythm ob his snore so it would fit in jes' where the other gen'leman's snore left off, dereby makin' one constant sound, which am no mo' annoyin' to de other passengers dan de ordinary rumblin' ob de train.

"It's de simplest thing in de world to arrange when yo' hab two snorers, fo' snorers, six, eight, or any even number, but ob course when yo have an odd number of gen'lemen to deal with it, it requires considerable jedgment. I usually arrange to have de odd gen'leman snore wif de weakest side.

"Well, you certainly are a public benefactor," laughed the prosperous looking passenger. "The company ought to pay you extra."

"Oh, gets paid extra all right, suh. It makes de passengers feel better in de mawnin', an' when a gen'lemen's had a good night's rest he's mo' apt to —thank yo' suh. Thank yo' very much."

THE CREW OF THE CITY OF BERLIN.
Capt. Woodrow Is at the End of the Line, Wearing a Stiff Black Hat.

A post-mortem examination was held this morning at the Dudley undertaking rooms, Superior, over the remains of James O'Rourke, who was shot and killed at the Northwestern docks Saturday night.

The bullet was located near the spine at the center of the back. It was a 32-caliber bullet. All three men under arrest had 32-caliber revolvers.

Coroner Giesun of Superior has empanneled a special jury for the inquest, which is being held this afternoon.

No more arrests have been made today in connection with the case. The best efforts of the police have failed to locate any of the men who composed the crowd that assaulted the crew Saturday night.

The police are awaiting the verdict of the coroner's jury, which will place the responsibility for O'Rourke's death.

The steamer Berlin was brought back to the Northwestern dock yesterday afternoon. Toward evening the vessel was taken to an anchorage in the bay for safety. She returned to the dock this morning to finish discharging under the protection of several special officers. No one is allowed aboard the vessel or on the docks.

NO ACTION BY LONGSHOREMEN

Buffalo, N. Y., May 10.—After a big meeting of members of the Longshoremen's association yesterday afternoon, President T. V. O'Connor said:

"We did not discuss a sympathetic strike. Our men are not at present involved in the lake trouble, and I am not prepared to say what action will be taken. We talked over our own troubles. Meetings of our councils will be held at all lake ports this week."

Other leaders present were Martin Cole of Duluth, president of the licensed tugmen; T. J. Dolan of Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the dredgemen; Charles McCarthy of Cleveland, president of the tug firemen, and Claud Worth of Detroit, president of the drill workers.

President O'Connor left for Detroit late last night.

Leaders of the longshoremen here yesterday will visit all lake ports this week. Men now on strike have not asked these workers for assistance, but it is said the purpose of the meetings is to solidify the longshoremen as much as possible and be ready to stand with the engineers, firemen and sailors.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, who met the strike leaders here Saturday, left yesterday for Philadelphia.

A fleet of seven lake carriers' boats, loaded with ore and grain, arrived from upper lake ports yesterday. Big crowds of strikers met them at their docks, but, except for jeering the non-union crews, there was no trouble. All boats are guarded by the police.

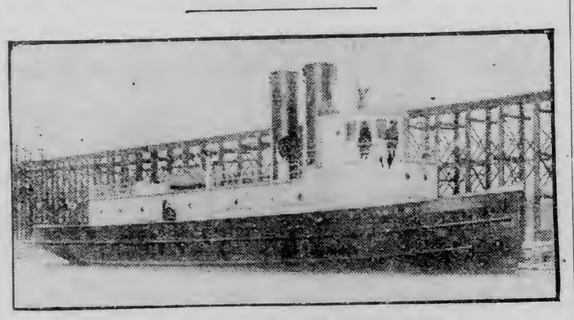
NEW FIRE FIGHTING TUG WILL PROTECT ORE DOCKS



THE NEW FIRE TUG McGONAGLE.

The new fire tug William A. McGonagle, built for the protection of the Steel company's water-front property in Duluth and named in honor of the president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, entered the canal a few minutes before noon today.

She made the trip from Two Harbors in exactly two hours. Mr. McGonagle and a party of invited guests had gone to Two Harbors to meet the new boat and accompany her to Duluth. Those in the party were: W. A. McGonagle, president of the Missabe road; F. E. House, president of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad; H. W. Brown, Duluth agent of the Pittsburg Steamship company; Maj. H. V. Eva, T. W. Hugo and John T. Black, chief of the Duluth fire department.

The trip was made in beautiful weather, and all of the party were enthusiastic over the new boat. She tied up at the foot of Fifth avenue, and was given an informal test in the presence of several hundred persons.

All three of the boat's metallic water pipes were put in use. One of these is on the main deck, one on top of the pilothouse and the third is astern. The test was entirely satisfactory and proved that the new tug can be depended upon to do her full duty in case of fire.

President McGonagle is justly proud of the vessel that bears his name. He said this afternoon: "The boat not only comes up to, but far exceeds all the promises of her builders. She is unquestionably as fine a fire tug as there is in the United States."

The keel of the McGonagle was laid last September. She was built at Lorain, Ohio, by the American Shipbuilding company. From grow to rudder the vessel is entirely of steel, no wood being used in her construction. She is 120 feet in length, 28 feet beam and has a draft of 15 feet.

The boat is equipped with Curtis steam turbine engines, driving Morris centrifugal pumps, and is guaranteed to throw 12,000 gallons of water per minute. She fulfilled this guarantee at the informal test this morning. If all the pressure is turned through one four-inch nozzle that nozzle is capable of throwing a stream 400 feet.

There are twelve deck attachments for rubber hose. The boat also carries a powerful searchlight. The McGonagle is under the command of Capt Harry Ditzell, and James Ditzel is chief engineer. Capt. Ditzel was in command of the America while that tug was in the service of the Steel company. He brought the vessel from Lorain and reports that the trip was quiet and uneventful. The trip was made by easy stages. She put in every night, there being no accommodations aboard for the crew of twelve men she carried.

The McGonable will have fire drills at frequent intervals to familiarize the men with the workings of the fire machinery and the handling of the hose. These tests will be made in the presence of representatives of the Duluth fire department.

The McGonable was taken to the ore docks this afternoon and from this time on will remain on duty there.

WILL PROSECUTE BOYS WHO BROKE OPEN BOXES

Tag Day Promoter Will Bring Young Thieves to Justice.

Returns to Milwaukee, But Says She Will Come Back.

Every boy who broke open his tag-day bank Saturday afternoon and kept the money contained in it will be taken before the juvenile court, according to A. E. McManus, the attorney for Miss Anna Burnham Fellows of Milwaukee, who was instrumental in holding the tag day for her school for blind children in Milwaukee.

Miss Fellows will leave for Milwaukee this afternoon, but her attorney states that she will return in a few days and assist in prosecuting the boys who "went south" with the tag-day funds collected from the good citizens of Duluth.

According to the figures given out by Miss Fellows there were 181 of the boxes, and eighty-three of these were either not returned at all or broken open. Only ninety-eight, or a little more than half, were returned intact.

It was a great day for Duluth "kids" and many of them made a "killing." After breaking their banks open, many of the boys auctioned off their badges to the highest bidders, and the purchasers started out to see what they could get for the "blind babies."

Not Running Away.

"I wish it to be plainly understood that Miss Fellows is not running away," said Mr. McManus this morning. "There is urgent business in Milwaukee, calling for her immediate attention, and, unless it can be otherwise adjusted, she will leave on the Omaha limited this evening. The business will require only a brief stop in the Wisconsin city, and she will be able to board the next train back to Duluth.

"As soon as she returns, these cases will be taken up, and every individual who kept his box or bank, and broke it open, will be prosecuted. I have not yet acquainted myself with the methods adopted in bringing children of this age to justice, but shall look into the matter when the proper time arrives. Miss Fellows has the name and home address of every boy and girl guilty of keeping one of the banks, and steps will be taken to prosecute the offenders. It is a plain case of larceny in each instance, and the criminals will be brought to justice, regardless of name and age.

Will See It Through.

"Miss Fellows intends to see this affair through to a finish, and will come back to Duluth for that purpose. We claim that she has not been given a square real here. If The Herald so much as intimates that she is leaving the city, with no intention of returning, I shall personally demand an explanation. Justice shall be done whether local people want to see it or not. The boys and girls guilty of breaking faith with Miss Fellows should be punished."

The method of procedure in a case of this kind will be for the authorities to notify parents of the offending children to have the latter appear in juvenile court at a given date. The court will carefully consider evidence submitted by both sides, and will then render a decision.

"I know nothing about the merits of this case," said Mayor Haven, this morning. "Miss Fellows came to me with a letter of introduction and recommendation from Mayor Rose and the city attorney of Milwaukee, and I naturally concluded that she must be responsible, and be working in a worthy cause, else why should these two city officials indorse her work? Farther than this I know absolutely nothing about her.

"I told her at the beginning that she would be working against heavy odds in Duluth, and that she would likely meet with opposition, because of the fact that Duluth's own worthy charities require so much public assistance that local people do not care to contribute to outside charities, feeling that each community should care for its own institutions of this nature. I told her that to make her work successful here, she would have to secure the support of certain women interested in this sort of thing, and recommended that she call upon them. That ended my connection with the affair.

All the money collected by the tag day children, and turned in to Miss Fellows, has been placed in the Northern National bank. At the bank today it was announced that the cash had not yet been counted, and that no one knew just how much there was. It was further announced that no statement would be made by that institution until authorized by Miss Fellows.

CASES OF INTEREST

EXPULSION OF WATERS-PIERCE OIL COMPANY FROM TEXAS.—The United States supreme court in Waters-Pierce Oil company vs. State of Texas, 29 Supreme Court Reporter, 220, without a dissenting vote, has affirmed the decision of the state court forfeiting the permit of that company to do business in Texas, other than interstate, and imposing a fine of $1,623,500. The statute makes it unlawful to enter into any agreement or understanding to fix or regulate the price in Texas of any article of manufacture or merchandise, and defines a trust to be a combination of capital, skill, or acts by two or more persons or corporations to create or carry out restrictions in trade or commerce in Texas. The state courts found that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Waters-Pierce Oil company were under a common management, which fixed the prices of oil in the state, and carried out restrictions to prevent or lessen competition in its sale. The anti-trust acts, under which the prosecution was begun, were assailed as being retroactive in effect, and as depriving the company of its property and rights without due process of law, and it was argued that the fines imposed were so excessive as to constitute a taking of property without due process of law. None of these contentions were sustained. It appeared that penalties were assessed at $1,500 a day for 1,033 days, and at $50 a day for 1,480 days. The company carried on an extensive business in Texas. Its property amounted to more than $40,000,000, and its dividends had been as high as 700 per cent per annum. It had continued its course of business notwithstanding a judgment of ouster in a former case.

UNEQUAL PUNISHMENT FOR SAME OFFENSE.—Appellant in City of Wichita vs. Murphy, 99 Pacific Reporter, 272, alleged that the ordinance under which he had been imprisoned for violating a liquor law was void, as it provided unequal punishment for the same offense. He urged that a dissipated city is the condition of jails would as effectively destroy the uniform operation of law as an express difference in punishment. Some jails may be reasonably comfortable, while others are so ill supposed to the weather as to imperil the lives of the inmates. The logic of this argument seems to go to the extent that incarceration in a clean, comfortable city jail would be less repressive upon offenders than in one which might be offensive and unhealthy. The Kansas supreme court held that it was impossible to make all prisons uniform in character or equally comfortable but the law permits a jailkeeper to establish his business, wherever he may find a jail that may seem satisfactory as a prospective residence.

BRIEF SHOULD CONTAIN AN ARGUMENT BUT NOT SCOLDING.—In the brief of respondent in Rabbs vs. J. Thompson & Sons Mfg. Co., 119 Northwestern Reporter, 289, appeared assertions that the court, by designating questions of fact as questions of law under the guise of correcting errors of law, would abolish trial by jury in personal injury cases where the gist of the action is negligence. The Wisconsin supreme court, characterizing these expressions as scolding, remarked that every person who aspires to practice law should be able to distinguish between argument and mere scolding. "Argument is a connected discourse based upon reason, a course of reasoning tending and intended to establish a position and to induce belief. Scolding is mere clamor, railing, and the swine had no notice that while and invective and impugns personal reproof. Argument dignifies the orator and instructs and convinces the auditor. Scolding relieves somewhat the hysteria of the scolder, but only amuses or irritates the hearer. Argument is the professional weapon of the lawyer; scolding that of the communis rixatrix. Argument is enjoyed and welcomed in a brief for rehearing; scolding has no proper place therein."

IS A TOY PISTOL A WEAPON?—A dealer in toys sold a child a crude contrivance bearing the inscription "pistol," in the manipulation of which the child suffered a wound resulting in tetanus. An action was brought against the dealer wherein the statute providing that any person knowingly selling or furnishing any minor with a pistol shall be guilty of a misdemeanor was set forth. The main question was whether this mechanism was a pistol or a toy which the trial court decided as a matter of law, but the appellate judges frankly admitted they could not decide. It seems they were a little gun-shy, but that the clerk, having a mind turned to experiment and a penchant for firearms, had embedded a bullet from the contrivance in an oak-en table in the courtroom, and they had seen the effect and could not say that the toy was a dangerous weapon. In Mathews vs. Caldwell, 63 Southeastern Reporter, 250, the Georgia court of appeals, remarking that jurors are chosen, not only for uprightness, but also for intelligence, being able to bring into the box knowledge of the common things of life, decided that they were qualified to look at this mechanical creation, and to determine whether it was a firearm.

"THREE WEEKS" IS INDECENT AND IMPURE.—Defendant was convicted of selling a certain printed book entitled "Three Weeks," alleged to contain obscene, indecent and impure language manifestly tending to the corruption of the morals of youth. The characters in the book were involved in what would be termed illicit relations in law, but were designated as "love" by the author. In Commonwealth vs. Buckley, 86 Northeastern Reporter, 910, the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts sustained the judgment, concluding that an author who raises the curtains of the adulterous bed can find no fault if the jury say that not the spiritual but the animate, not the pure but the impure, will appear most conspicuously to the general reader. It may be that the literary style of the book is such that many a reader finds that the most attractive feature, and the thinly veiled allusions to the desire for sexual intercourse and to the arts of seduction leading to it may be unheeded by him, but the reading public as a whole will probably not so regard it.

CONFLICTING JURISDICTION OF STATE AND FEDERAL COURTS.—In the proceedings to forfeit the permit of the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas, a receiver was appointed in the state court, and subsequently an appeal was taken to the court of civil appeals, and supersedeas bond given. On the same day application was made in the federal circuit court for the appointment of a receiver. The appointment was made, and the receiver was put into possession of the property in the city of Houston, but proceedings in the state court left the property no longer in custodia legis, but liable to seizure by adverse proceedings. The state applied to the circuit court, asking it to set aside its order appointing the receiver. This is refused, an appeal was taken, and the case in due course reached the United States supreme court. Palmer vs. State of Texas, 29 Sup. Ct., 230. The court lays down the broad proposition that if the state court had acquired jurisdiction by the proceedings to appoint the receiver, and had not lost it by subsequent proceedings, the federal court had no right to intervene. The conclusion is reached that the state court did not lose jurisdiction by the appeal and supersedeas in the receivership proceedings, and the federal court ought not to have appointed a receiver to take possession of the property.

MALICIOUS KILLING OF HOUNDS.—While the cattle and swine of appellant were comporting themselves with propriety within his corral, a pack of hounds with riotous bursts of music came again and again through the lot, to the consternation and injury of the stock. The cows retreated to the wall, showing signs of distress and sounding the bovine call for help; the hogs broke the fence. Appellant in State vs. Churchill, 98 Pacific Reporter, 853, after repeated and fruitless efforts to dissuade these visitations, shot one hound and wounded others while they were pursuing his pigs. The Idaho supreme court held that one may assume that the fox hound, when he gallops and cakewalks up and down the barn lot to the confusion and consternation of his cattle and hogs, is bent on mischief. Even were the hounds kindly and amiable to stock, the cows they were baying, bawling, and yelping they would not bite, maim, or destroy them. The dogs were either chasing the live stock or trailing a wild animal, neither of which their master owned. Appellant cannot be convicted of maliciously slaying them.

CRUELTY TO PLOW-MULE.—A diligent, tractable mule was given to a negro with which to plow. Thereafter it was discovered that the animal had been most cruelly treated. The darky had remarked that he would either make her do as he wanted, or kill her. Death came before the requisite obedience. In Tally vs. State, 63 Southeastern Reporter, 543, the negro appeals from a judgment of conviction of cruelty. "No matter how hot is the bottom, ty, his attorney arguing thus;

And the mule is beset with the flies,
Let the negro at work in the cotton
Never slap with the lines if he's wise,
Though the lines may be tight on the nigger.

And the contract enslaves, he's a fool
If he slaps and then thinks he's bigger
In the eyes of the law than the mule.

The court of appeals of Georgia, affirming the judgment in verse, said in substance:

"The law holds the driver far bigger
Than a conscienceless mule to be,
Yet the law should avenge with all vigor
All driver's acts of wanton cruelty."

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS A YEAR IS SUFFICIENT ALIMONY PENDENTE LITE.—Pending a divorce suit, the husband voluntarily allowed his wife $25,000 a year for her support. She deemed this insufficient, and sought to have the amount raised to $120,000, on the theory that through her husband she had acquired tastes and a station that this latter amount was unnecessary to maintain. In Gould vs. Gould, 114 New York Supplement, 331, the New York supreme court, while expressing no doubt as to the petitioner's ability to spend the amount desired, remarked that no rule has been adopted by the courts entitling a wife to one-third her husband's income, irrespective of that income's relation to reasonable expenditures by the person who possesses it. In the case of an income which is many times excessive of all reasonable needs, the principles of apportionment for the wife's support, which have been applied to cases of ordinary living incomes, have no real cogency. The sum granted is amply sufficient as alimony pendente lite in accordance with the rule which requires that, pending a matrimonial action, an award of alimony should be limited to the real necessities of the wife's proper and reasonable support.

RIGHT OF TRIAL BY JURY.—A woman, who had been living in meretricious relations with a married man was confronted with the undesired cessation of them by his permanent departure to resume cohabitation with his wife. Thereafter she sent a box of poisoned candy from California, her residence, to the man's wife in Delaware, which caused her death. Accused was tried and convicted in California. In People vs. Botkin, 98 Pacific Reporter, 861, in second trial of the case, accused used every imaginable legal technicality to gain a rehearing. One claim was that by trial in California of a crime committed in Delaware she was deprived of her right to trial by a jury selected from the vicinage or county where the crime was alleged to be committed. It remarked that as on one side of a state line there may be a right of trial by jury, and on the other side no such right, accused was denied no right or constitutional privilege, as each state prescribes its own modes of judicial proceedings.

WANTS THE PRICE OF HIS CAB

M. C. Miller Is Suing Street Railway Company for $775.

The case of M. C. Miller against the Duluth Street Railway company for $775, the price of a cab that it is alleged was demolished in collision with the street car on Christmas eve last, was begun before Judge Hughes in district court this morning.

Miller is the owner of the hack, but a man by the name of McCue was driving it at the time of the accident. The action is simply for the recovery of the value of the hack.

Judge Hughes came down from the range this morning to take Judge Cant's place for a week or so, that the latter might be given a chance to catch up with his back work.

WILL OPEN STORE IN ZENITH CITY

J. J. Friedman Leases Building at 8 West Superior Street.

J. J. Friedman, formerly a prominent merchant of Saginaw, Mich., will open a store at 8 West Superior street about June 1 with a complete line of women's suits, coats, skirts and furs.

It is Mr. Friedman's intention to make his new store as up-to-date as any in the Northwest, and to this end he says that he will not spare expense.

A new front is being put in the store, and carpenters are busy remodeling the inside. The inside furnishings will be of mission style, and this idea will be carried out throughout the entire store.

Mr. Friedman comes to Duluth well recommended. He was in business in Saginaw for a number of years, and only lately sold out. He believes Duluth is one of the greatest cities in the United States, and is already a member of the boosters' club.

BOYLES' CASE IS CLOSED INCIDENT, AUTHORITIES SAY

Latest Charges Probably Will Not Be Acted Upon.

Kidnapers Spend Their First Night in the Penitentiary.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 11.—After the exciting and wearing incidents of yesterday, Mrs. James Boyle had a good night's rest in the Western penitentiary last night and awoke today much refreshed. She is in good spirits and has regained much of her old-time vivacity. Her arrival at the penitentiary last night was after the hour for retiring and she was given only a night dress, while all her other clothing and ornaments were taken from her. She awakened this morning to find only the prison garb in her cell.

Marching in line with the other prisoners, Mrs. Boyle smiled as she went to her first prison breakfast and ate heartily. She was given permission by the matron to make cushions and other fancy work for the cell, and materials were promised her if she cared to do so. It will be determined today, after a physical examination, what character of work she will be given. Probably she will be placed either in the kitchen or in the sewing room.

Boyle, too, slept well last night. He ate heartily at breakfast and submitted gracefully to the barber, who cropped his hair closely. Bertillon photographs and measurements of the pair will be made today.

From all reports that have been received here it is not believed any action will be taken following the statement of Boyle last night. The Mercer county officials discredit the statement and the whole matter probably will be allowed to drop and be forgotten.

CHINESE SIGN UP WITH RUSSIA

Pekin, May 11.—An agreement between Russia and China providing a method of government for the Russian railroad zone in Manchuria was signed today.

It consists of eighteen articles, is based on the guarantee of Chinese sovereignty, and fixes the principle of joint administration. It provides for Chinese and Russian municipalities in Harbin, and the participation of foreigners in the administration on an equality.

The president of the Chinese Eastern railway is to act as referee for foreigners in all disputes arising. One clause of the understanding especially guarantees foreign interests. The agreement is to become effective on condition that detailed administrative regulations be completed within one month.

CLASH ENSUES OVER THE MONEY

Constantinople, May 11.—A difference of opinion has arisen between Schefket Pasha, commander of the Constitutionalist army that entered Constantinople April 24, and the present cabinet.

Schefket Pasha is of the opinion that the cash found in the imperial palace at Yildiz after the expulsion of Abdul Hamid should be used to pay the expense of his army, while the ministers want the money turned into the national treasury.

The funds amount to almost $8,000,000 in cash and marketable securities. Schefket Pasha has one advantage in the controversy, inasmuch as the money is in the possession of the military and has been deposited in the war office.

LINCOLN MONUMENT TO BE UNVEILED MAY 31.

Louisville, Ky., May 11.—At a meeting of the Lincoln tablet commission in the office of Col. L. B. Nall, the secretary, it was decided to unveil the Lincoln monument at Hodgenville, May 31 instead of May 28, as had been originally intended. It is planned to have speakers of national reputation at the unveiling ceremonies and it is expected that the attendance will be equal to that at the cornerstone laying at the Lincoln memorial by President Roosevelt in February.

CINCINNATI IS VOTING ON A HUGE BOND ISSUE.

OHIO RETURN REBEL FLAGS TO ALABAMA.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 11.—Nine veterans of the Civil war, two of them official representatives of Ohio, left last night for Selma, Ala., to return with proper ceremony the Confederate flags captured by the Fourth Ohio cavalry on the battlefield near that town. The flags belonged to the Rifle Scouts, a part of Gen. Forest's command.

House-to-House Search Has Been Instituted at Adana.

American Relief Committee Is Well Supplied With Nurses.

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, May 11.—The local authorities have ordered a house-to-house search with the object of recovering and restoring the loot taken from Armenians during the recent disorders.

The American missionary relief committee announces it has on hand enough nurses to care for the present number of sick and wounded.

The local mills have resumed grinding and the importation of flour is no longer necessary.

Relief Sent to Adana.

Constantinople, May 11.—A medical commission with a large quantity of medical supplies for the relief of the suffering left here today for Adana.

Ijeved Bey, former governor general of the Adana vilayet, arrived here with the object of explaining to the minister of the interior and origin and cause of the race conflicts in his territory. Ijeved Bey has been dismissed from office.

EPISCOPALIANS ARE IN SESSION

Boston, Mass., May 11.—With many of the leading bishops, rectors and laymen of the Episcopal church present from all parts of the country, the twenty-seventh annual national Episcopal church congress was opened in this city today. The congress will be in session four days.

The congress, which has no legislative function, is held principally to provide a forum where subjects of interest to the church may be discussed.

Among the many leading clergymen who are attending is Canon Hensley Herbert Henson, canon of Westminster and rector of St. Margaret's, London, Eng. Canon Hensley is one of the strongest advocates in the English church of the doctrine of closer relationship between the Episcopal and other Protestant churches. He will speak before the congress on this subject.

The congress assembled for its first meeting at Trinity church shortly before noon, where a holy communion service was held.

JOHNSON WILL BE AT CONGRESS

Many Governors to Attend Trans-Mississippi Show's Opening.

Denver, Colo., May 11.—The trans-Mississippi commercial congress, which will be held in Denver Aug. 16 to 21, will bring together the largest gathering of eminent men ever assembled in the West. President Taft will be present and will press the button that will turn the waters into the Gunnison tunnel, the great government reclamation project. The governors of the trans-Mississippi states will attend with but few exceptions, acceptances having been received from Governors Brooks of Wyoming, Brady of Idaho, Gillette of California, Curry of New Mexico, Stubbs of Kansas, Hadley of Missouri, Campbell of Texas, Sanders of Louisiana and Johnson of Minnesota.

Among the former presidents of the congress who will be present are William J. Bryan and David R. Francis.

The railroad interests of the West will be represented by E. H. Harriman, James J. Hill, President Ripley of the Santa Fe and President Winchell of the Rock Island-Frisco system.

WRIGHTS ARE BACK HOME

Aeronauts Reach New York After Winning Laurels Abroad.

Have No Intention of Making Experiments in Secret.

New York, May 11.—Wilbur Wright and Orville Wright, the aeronauts, were passengers on board the steamer Kronprinzessin Cecille, which arrived here today. Considerable concern as to the accident which befell Lieut. Calderara of the Italian navy in falling from the Wright aeroplane at Rome on Thursday, last, was manifested by the Wright brothers on reaching the quarantine station.

After satisfying themselves as to the extent of the lieutenant's injuries, the brothers said that they would go as soon as possible to their home in Dayton, Ohio, where the aeroplanes intended for use of the government service are completed. From Dayton, they said, they intend to proceed to Washington to test the aeroplanes under the direction of government representatives. The Wright brothers united in saying that they had no intention of making secret experiments. Following the completion of their work in Washington, they announced, they expected to return to Europe to continue their contracts already made with private individuals.

IMPALE BOY UPON SPEAR

Bagogobos Offer Human Sacrifice to Appease Evil Spirit.

Horrible Ceremony Performed at the Instance of Widows.

Washington, May 11.—The bureau of insular affairs has made public a special report of an investigation into a human sacrifice offered up by the tribe of the Bagogobos, in the Davao district of Moro province, in the Philippines. It reminds one of the practice of human sacrifices offered by ancient Greeks some 3,000 years and more ago. The datto of the tribe, as well as two men and two women, were sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime, but they were paroled upon the solemn pledge of the entire tribe never to repeat such a sacrifice. District Governor Allan Walker, who made the investigation prior to the formal trial, had recommended that the case be not taken into the courts, but that it be left to "religious instruction."

Blame Put Upon Women.

The blame for the whole trouble is put upon the women of the tribe.

"In this case," says the report, "it appears that two widows, Addy and Oddy, went to Datto Ansig and requested that he arrange sacrifice to appease the spirits of their departed husbands, who were bothering them.

"Ongon, a henchman of Datto Ansig, purchased a slave, about 8 years old, and who was deaf and cross-eyed and had other defects of vision, making him of little or no value as a laborer.

"Datto Ansig, as chief of the sacrifice, made an oration which was about as follows:

To Appease Wrath.

"'Oh, Mandarangan, chief of evil spirits and all other spirits, come to

TRAINMEN RANKS SHOW INCREASE

Columbus, Ohio, May 11.—The ninth biennial convention of the National Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen opened at Memorial hall today. Grand Master W. G. Lee of Cleveland called the 600 delegates to order. There has been a gain of over 2,000 members during the last two years. The membership now numbers 101,000.

The most important question to come up at the convention, which will last three weeks, is a proposed increase of the insurance of the members. An effort will be made also to change the titles of the officers. Much interest is manifested in the report on constitution.

The members of the woman's auxiliary are up in arms at their exclusion from the memorial hall next Sunday, when William J. Bryan is scheduled to speak to the men of the organization. They say today that they will ask Mr. Bryan to make a separate address to them.

PETER C. HAINS CONVICTED OF THE MURDER OF ANNIS; JURY OUT BUT SHORT TIME

MRS. P. C. HAINS, JR.

CAPT. P. C. HAINS.

Issue of Insanity Dwelt On in Closing Argument.

Prosecutor Criticizes Witnesses for Answering "I Don't Know."

Defendant's Parents Are Again in Court as Trial Closes.

Flushing, N. Y., May 11.—After being out but a short time, the jury in the case of Capt. Peter C. Hains, U. S. A., tried for the murder of William Annis at the Bayside Yacht club, last August, this afternoon returned a verdict of guilty of first degree manslaughter. Hains took Annis' life because he believed Annis had betrayed Mrs. Hains, his wife.

Flushing, N. Y., May 11.—In the case against Peter C. Hains, Jr., charged with the murder of William E. Annis, ex-District Attorney George A. Gregg today concluded his argument after which came the charge of Justice Garretson, occupying about one hour.

Gen. Hains and Mrs. Hains, the defendant's parents, came into court soon after Mr. Gregg resumed his remarks. They did not greet the prisoner, but took their seats near the table at which he sat. Mrs. Hains sat between her husband and her son, Maj. Hains.

Resuming his remarks to the jury Mr. Gregg read from the testimony of the defenses' alienists in which they said the defendant was suffering from "impulsive insanity" when he shot Annis and that the attack subsided as soon as the act was committed.

"Now what kind of insanity do you call that?" said the prosecutor. "I ask you to use your own good common sense, in determining whether this man was insane on Aug. 16, 1909."

Dr. Houghton, physician who attended Annis on the Yacht club float after the shooting, continued Mr. Gregg, "was in a position to observe the defendant closely at that time and he did not see any drawn faces, or glassy eyes or twitching muscles or any irrational action."

The prosecutor declared that Gen. Hains and Thornton Hains had taken refuge behind the answer "I don't remember," while under cross-examination.

"We could never get any of the rational speeches of Capt. Hains out of them," said Mr. Gregg. "Only the glassy

FIGHT DUEL IN CHURCH

Two Men Seriously Wound Each Other During Service.

Monterey, Mex., May 11.—While around them scores of people were kneeling at mass, Ricardo Quiroz and Alfonso Farias, members of wealthy families and students of Marista college, fought a duel with pocket knives in a pew of the cathedral. Both were seriously wounded.

There had been ill-feeling between the two for some time and Quiroz had challenged Farias to a duel. It was not accepted and when they met today Quirox taunted the man he had challenged, accusing him of cowardice.

Farias at once drew his knife and began slashing. In an instant Quiroz's knife was also at work and before the combatants were separated both were bleeding from a number of wounds.

PERFUMED SOAP TAXED

Senate Agrees to Rates on a Number of Articles.

Definite Scale of Zinc Duties Submitted by Committee.

Washington, May 11.—As soon as the tariff bill was taken up by the senate today, Mr. Aldrich stated that the committee on finance would submit to the senate a definite scale of duties on zinc, ore and products of zinc, and asked that that schedule, as well as sections unacted on, relating to lead products, be passed over for the present. The request was conceded, Mr. Bristow announcing that when the white lead schedule should be reached he would wish to be heard on it.

The committee's amendment striking out the house duty of one-half of 1 cent per pound on refined nitrate of

MAY YOHE IN NEW ROMANCE

Portland, Or., May 11.—May Yohe, actress, formerly Lady Francis Hope, and later Mrs. Putnam Bradlee Strong, whose matrimonial adventures have attracted wide attention, is in the limelight again. This time she figures as the principal in a secret wedding with a Canadian lumberman, said to be named Murphy.

Miss Yohe came into prominence in London music halls. She married Lord Francis Hope, but soon went to the Orient, where she met Maj. Strong, son of a former mayor of New York. Their affairs became an international scandal. Strong was forced out of the army, and after Lady Hope had got a divorce they were married.

PROHIBITION IS GIVEN A DELAY

Jefferson City, Mo., May 11.—Without debate and by a viva voce vote, the Missouri house today refused to concur in the senate amendments to the state wide prohibition resolution and sent it back to the upper house, asking that body to recede. As the senate probably will decline to give up its changes in the measure a conference committee will be appointed.

The senate amendments, establishing prohibition, were two. The first erased the house provision that prohibition, if adopted, would not become effective until 1913. The second was a tax rider, increasing the lawful rate for all taxing bodies 100 per cent over the present rate.

HALL RELEASED; NOT MURDERER

Grand Forks, N. D., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Hall, a Finlander, who was arrested at Bismarck just after being discharged from the penitentiary, was released at Hillsboro yesterday afternoon after Edward Laine of Sebeka, Minn., and John Johnson of Superior, Wis., had failed to identify him as the murderer of Charles Laine. Laine was murdered at Blanchard, Traill county, nearly three years ago by a fellow workman, and it was supposed Hall was the man wanted.

CONDEMN CASTRO TO SETTLE RENT

Caracas, Venezuela, May 11.—Dr. Carlos Grisanti was today appointed Venezuelan commissioner to The Hague.

Vasquez Cabo, Colombian minister to Venezuela, has arrived here and been received with marked attention by the Venezuelan foreign office.

Cipriano Castro, deposed president of the republic, has been condemned by the courts to pay six years' rental and heavy damages for the arbitrary occupation of the Miraflores palace in this city. This building is the property of Senorita Joquin Presco, wife of a former president.

FIND ALCOHOL IN THE BREAD

Chicago, May 11.—On the theory of many persons that the partaker of any food containing even a slight quantity of alcohol is likely to acquire the liquor habit, those wishing to guard against such a result must cease eating bread.

Experiments conducted in London establishing the presence of 7.2 grains of alcohol in every bun weighing two and one-half ounces have been repeated in Chicago with more impressive results. Chicago bread of the 5-cent loaf variety has been found to contain from three to four-tenths of 1 per cent alcohol. The proportion found in the London buns was 068 per cent.

The experiments were made by Dr. Max Henius. Dr. Henius insists that the percentage of alcohol in any bread is far too small to create an "alcoholic taste," while, as for acquiring what is commonly called a "jag" on bread, he merely calls attention to the vast amount of loaves it would be necessary for the candidate for a "jag" to consume before attaining his desire.

STRIKE OF POSTMEN IS UP TO FRENCH PARLIAMENT.

Paris, May 11.—Whether the French postmen are to inaugurate a strike probably will be decided on the result of the debate in parliament this afternoon. The leaders of the men are proclaiming that unless the Clemenceau cabinet falls, which would involve the disappearance of Under Secretary of Posts and Telegraphs Simyan, a strike will be ordered at a meeting to be held tonight.

In spite of the intrigues of the Socialists and the followers of M. Coombs to unhorse the premier, and the machinations of the opponents of the income tax proposals, headed by Poincard and Delcasse, with the same object in view, it is believed that M. Clemenceau is assured a vote of confidence from the chamber.

IRISH GIANT HERE TO TRAIN

Capt. Leopold McLaglen, the jiu jitsu champion, reached Duluth this morning and immediately began training for his match Thursday evening.

This morning the captain took a long walk and run over the Duluth hills. He modestly announced that he had covered eleven miles. He says he is in excellent condition and never turned a hair during his running. If the captain can secure permission from the directors of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium he will take his tapering off work in the big gymnasium of the association.

It is probable that the referee of the match will be selected today. The referee of a jiu jitsu contest has really little to do. The contest continues until one of the men is decisively beaten, signifying his defeat by tapping upon the floor. All the official has to do is to recognize the defeat of one of the antagonists.

The Irish captain is one of your real camera fiends. He carries a fine camera with him upon his travels, and to some of his friends here he displayed photographs he has taken in all parts of the world. While in Duluth he expects to add some fine views to his large collection.

When asked today, if he expected to defeat Yamaguta, the big captain, replied that he would never give in while he was able to stand upon his feet.

"I have several times come so near to being beaten that I thought that it would be impossible for me to endure the strain a second longer," said the captain this morning. "Yet I have always believed that a man is a good or poor athlete, just so far as he has will power and determination. I have come through some pretty fierce matches, because the Japanese are one of the gamiest people in the world, but I have never quit until I was unable to stand it any longer. For that reason I think I will beat my Japanese opponent. I have always held that the Caucasian race was the grittiest and gamiest race of people in the world, and I have generally proved this assertion in by many matches against the yellow men."

The big athlete will continue his training until the day of the match. He is in great condition at the present time and only needs light work to keep him in shape.

OLD HUNTER RUNS AMUCK

Sheriff Sends Out Deputy to Place Him Under Arrest.

After holding up several men at the point of a gun for more than two hours, an old trapper by the name of Brooks has disappeared from his claim near Hornby, fifty-six miles from Duluth on the Duluth & Iron Range road.

Friends and acquaintances of Brooks believe the man has gone insane and is now wandering about in the northern woods. Sheriff Bates was notified today and sent a deputy north to aid the people of the vicinity in their search.

Brooks is about 55 or 60 years old, and has lived a hermit's life in a hut near Hornby station for several years. He has made his living by trading and trapping.

Sunday he met Ole Elfson and several others near Hornby. Brooks was carrying a gun. Without warning he aimed it at the party and for about two hours held them at bay. He either tired of holding the gun or was driven off.

Brooks has not been seen since the incident. The people near Hornby fear that the man has become demented, and that it is dangerous to leave him at large with his gun. They notified the sheriff today, with the result that a thorough search will be made.

KISSED HANDS OF INTERPRETER

Jacob Nelson Delighted When Court Decision Is Rendered.

Kissing the hands of the interpreter and declaring that the moment was the happiest in his life, Jacob Nelson, a Hermantown farmer, received the court's assurance that he would not be required to live with his wife any longer, when he was examined this afternoon in probate court before Judge Middlecoff.

According to the findings of the court, Nelson is a sane man. Information was filed against him yesterday by his divorced wife, Betty, who after the divorce was granted, consented to come back and live with him as a housekeeper.

In her story told in court, she claims that she has received nothing but abuse for her services, and stated that she had taken care of the house and children for some months.

"She is only after my farm," was all that Nelson had to say. He also says that two of the children which are in the family were hers by a former marriage.

LOST JOHN ORTH FOUND

Archduke Johann Salvator of Austria Reported Discovered.

Disappeared Years Ago After Marrying Opera Singer.

Chicago, May 11.—The Journal today devotes its entire front page to the elaboration of an unequivocal statement that it has discovered "the lost John Orth," otherwise Archduke Johann Salvator of Austria, prince of the house of Hapsburg, who disappeared nineteen years ago after marrying Ludmilli Stubel, an opera singer. Briefly sketched, the Journal story says:

"John Orth" was discovered at Painesville, Ohio, working as a machinist at $15 per week. Previously he had followed this occupation in Grand Rapids, Mich., and Cleveland, Ohio. His reason for making his identity known at this time, the Journal states, is due to his age and his desire that he may be buried in Austria.

Johann Salvator, as the alleged archduke has always been known since the court at Vienna, was married in London, and he and his wife afterward sailed to South America on the Santa Margarita, a schooner which he had chartered. It has always been believed that the archduke lost his life when the schooner sank off the coast of Chile.

According to the story of the Painesville machinist, he and his beautiful wife were not aboard the ship, as was generally thought to have been the case. They went ashore at Cusavana, a small port on the La Plata. It was planned that they should meet the ship at Valparaiso, but the craft sank en route.

The romantic couple drifted all over the world, finally taking up a plantation on the Island of Martinique. When the first rumbling of Mount Pelee gave warning of the catastrophe which followed, Johann Salvator made a hurried visit to the city to arrange to get his family away. But the warning had come too late. His wife and their two children were killed. Salvator, according to the Journal's story, was rescued by a French gunboat and came to the United States.

Mr. Kellogg refuses to give his reported candidacy confirmation, but friends of the man selected by Former President Roosevelt as his chief "trust buster," confirm it and say their energies will be directed from now on to making his selection a certainty. While refusing to admit his candidacy, Mr. Kellogg does not deny it. He is non-committal.

Several schemes have been submitted from America to King Victor Emmanuel and the duke of Aosta. One was worked out by Louis Klopsch of New York. Another American proposal is that this international organization be connected with The Hague peace tribunal.

CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The Butte-Superior Suit Against John McAlpine Is Ended.

The suit of the Butte-Superior Copper company for the balance due on the stock purchased by John McAlpine, which was set for Monday morning in district court, was this morning settled for $4,531.20. The $4,000 represented the amount due for the stock and the $531.20 represented the interest and costs.

Mr. McAlpine subscribed for 2,000 shares of stock, in two subscriptions of 1,000 shares each. He paid $2,000 in cash and gave his note for $2,000. This was just half the cost of the stock, which was sold to him at $4 per share. He refused to pay the note and the company brought suit and received judgment.

The remaining $4,000 was never paid until this morning, when the case was settled out of court.

There will be no developments in the case until Miss Fellows returns from Milwaukee, where she was called on urgent business.

WANT CANAL FROM LAKE TO THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER

It Would Mean Lower Freight Rates for Minnesota Points.

SENATOR GEO. H SULLIVAN.

Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, one of Northern Minnesota's good friends, is in Duluth today, interesting business men in the proposed Lake Superior-Mississippi river canal, from Duluth by way of the Brule and St. Croix to the Mississippi, forming a waterway from the Head of the Lakes to the Gulf.

Stillwater has assumed the initiative in interesting all of the river towns in the promotion of the canal. What the gentlemen of Stillwater want at the present time is a final survey of the proposed course of the canal. That is the mission that has brought the senator to this city, and during his stay in Duluth he will take the matter up with the various business interests of Duluth.

With Mr. Sullivan is C. E. Cowles, editor of the Northwestern Magazine, who is gathering statistics as to the probable amount of commerce that would go over the canal.

Lieut. Col. Graham D. Fitch has asked for opinions on the proposed canal and statistics on the amount of commerce it might handle.

Senator Sullivan is confident that the proposed canal would not only stimulate through commerce by way of Duluth, but that it would also help all the interior towns of this state. In addition to the value of the canal as a water route, the senator points out that it might be further utilized as a means of generating electrical power for manufacturing purposes.

Preliminary surveys of the proposed route have already been made. In March of the present year, congress made an appropriation for a final survey and estimate of the cost of the construction, if it were deemed necessary or advisable. It is this final survey that Senator Sullivan is advocating, and in his work for the canal he earnestly seeks the co-operation of the citizens of Duluth.

Benefits To Duluth.

Senator Sullivan points out clearly and in a logical manner the benefits that would accrue to Duluth through the construction of such a canal. It would mean that more freight would come by the way of Duluth for Minnesota points, as the canal would furnish an all-waterway to St. Paul and other points in Minnesota. Through freight from Eastern rate points could thus be shipped to Minnesota points by a much cheaper route than the all-rail route, or even the lake and rail route.

The construction of the canal would mean a direct route from the Head of the Lakes to the Gulf, providing Duluth with an outlet to foreign commerce, something that the senator points out Duluth will need when it begins to manufacture steel.

Some people have raised the objection that the Mississippi river should be deepened and channels provided before the proposed canal is agitated. The senator holds that the canal is a co-ordinate part of the scheme for deepening the bed of the Mississippi, and that commerce should be assigned to the river before steps are taken to deepen it.

The plan of the Stillwater men is to get all the towns interested in the route to have each town investigate what advantage the canal would bring to that section of the country, and all unite in the agitation for the final survey and estimate for the canal.

The movement is being organized at the present time. St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Superior, Hudson, Winona, Red Wing and Stillwater are being shown what benefits would come to them from the construction of the route to the gulf. At each of the mentioned points Senator Sullivan points out that rates would be reduced, and therefore the cost of commodities would be decreased.

For instance, Illinois and Iowa coal would be cheaper for the Duluth consumer, for the reason that this coal could be shipped to the Head of the Lakes by a route that would be nearly all by water. In the same manner the freight rate between the Twin Cities and Duluth would be reduced.

Mayor J. G. Armson of Stillwater and the city council of that city are fully alive to the benefits to be gained from the construction of a canal. They have appropriated $300 for the work of promoting interest in the project, and with part of this money they are collecting the statistics that Lieut. Col. Fitch has requested.

Congressman Stevens is greatly interested in the scheme, and did his share toward securing the appropriation made by congress last March. This appropriation will provide for the final survey and cost estimate of the canal, and it is this first step toward the securing of the water route that Mr. Sullivan and the citizens of Stillwater are after. They feel that the co-operation of Duluth is of vital interest in securing action upon the final survey.

Six-Foot Canal.

Senator Sullivan is in favor of a canal of a depth of six feet, as the proposed channel in the Mississippi river is estimated at that depth. The canal would be of sufficient depth to admit of the traffic of barges of heavy tonnage capacity. In the East at the present time they are operating canal barges by an overhead trolley. It is possible, if not probable, that the motive power for the waterways route to the gulf would be supplied in the same manner.

It is necessary in securing the final survey and estimate, that statistics and data be furnished. This will call largely on the towns and cities along the route of the proposed canal, and that is what the citizens of Stillwater, who have shown so great an interest in the work, are trying to secure from the various localities. That object brought Senator Sullivan to Duluth, and he will visit other towns upon the same mission.

Senator Sullivan is one of the men who came to the aid of Northern Minnesota so nobly in the fight against the passage of the Elkins tonnage tax bill. He spoke against that bill upon the floor of the senate and did everything in his power to defeat the measure, not because his constituents were so vitally interested in it, but rather because he believed it was wrong and an injustice to this part of the state. Everyone who took any part in the fight against the bill for Northern Minnesota, has a warm spot in his heart for the Stillwater man, and he will be given every assistance in his mission here.

WAS VERY BADLY FRIGHTENED

Mrs. Koski Fled Upstairs When Officers Entered Her Home.

The case of Mrs. Selma Koski against the Oliver Iron Mining company for $3,000 for being badly frightened in her home, near Hibbing, last fall when a number of deputies entered her home to arrest some strikers, was continued before Judge Dibell this morning.

Mrs. Koski took the stand this morning and, by the aid of an interpreter, told how the men rushed in and how she flew to an upper room with a baby in her arms.

The doctor who attended Mrs. Koski testified as to her nervous condition and what an effect the fright had upon her. She claims never to have recovered from the shock.

Mrs. Koski is unable to speak English, and when asked the names of the officers who entered her house, she rose suddenly to her feet, glanced nervously about the room until her eye rested on one of them and pointed at him crying in Finnish that he was one.

The case will probably go to the jury tonight or tomorrow morning.

Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, is allayed by this liniment. For sale by all druggists.

WHENCE THE MONEY?

Chicago, May 11.—The announcement that Sidney C. Love and his wife, formerly Miss Marjorie Burns, intended to ship their polo ponies to England for a few months' pleasure jaunt comes as a surprise to society and clubmen and raised the question, "Where did Love get the necessary money?"

When Love closed out the brokerage firm of Sidney C. Love & Co., both in Chicago and New York, it was understood he was on the verge of financial ruin and was only saved from the disgrace of bankruptcy proceedings by the Moores.

The question has arisen whether the friendship of the Moores has remained strong enough to finance Love in his European trip.

Love's polo ponies, which will be shipped in a few days from the Onwentsia club, Chicago, where they have been stabled during the winter, are considered among the most valuable in America.

GOOD ROADS AGITATION

West Duluth Anxious for Improvement of Grand Avenue.

Unsuccessful Attempt Is Made to Burglarize C. J. Johnson's Store.

An agitation has been begun for better roads in West Duluth, with particular reference to Grand avenue, between Thirty-ninth and Fifty-seventh avenues west.

Property owners along this avenue will circulate a petition next week asking that the city improve the highway by paving it.

The street is in very poor condition for the large amount of traffic that passes over it. There are a number of ruts and holes in the road, making it a difficult thoroughfare for a heavily loaded team.

An effort is being made to interest the West Duluth Commercial club in the matter. The club has always gone on record for improvements in this line, and it is thought that it will take a hand in the matter, and, if possible, influence the city to authorize some expenditure on the street.

WAS A FAILURE.

Burglars Enter C. J. Johnson's Store But Are Frightened Away.

What is believed to have been an unsuccessful attempt at burglary by juveniles occurred last evening, or early this morning, at 110 North Central avenue, where a grocery store is conducted by C. J. Johnson & Co.

The rear door of the place was broken down, and was found in this condition at 6 o'clock this morning by Officer Noren of the West Duluth police force. As far as can be learned nothing was disturbed in the store and no losses were reported this morning.

The police believe the work to be that of small boys who, after having broken into the store, became frightened at something and threw up the job.

BAD BEGINNING.

The Clipper Launched in Morning and Stranded in Afternoon.

Launched in the morning and stranded in the afternoon was the brief story of the Clipper, a new 28-foot boat, belonging to Walter Holmberg.

The Clipper is a new gasoline launch and is good for eighteen miles an hour, having a 20-horse power engine. Mr. Holmberg launched his craft yesterday morning.

In the afternoon a member of the family took out the boat for a spin up the river and was getting nicely started when it struck a sand bar. After working for an hour and a half in an attempt to get the craft off the bar, it was found necessary to get out of it and push it off the sand.

OUT FOR A TIME.

Gust Vigelius Falls Into Clutches of the Police.

Because Gust Vigelius of 115 South Fifty-seventh avenue west wouldn't give an account of himself for being out at 3 o'clock this morning, and was even then in no particular hurry to get home, he was taken to the West Duluth police station by Officer Ek.

Inquiry brought out the residence of the man, and the fact that he was employed at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway docks. He said that he had been out that evening for a good time. The police sent him home.

BOOST THE GAME.

West Duluth Modern Samaritans Trying to Get New Members.

A very successful "boosting" rally was held last evening by the Modern Samaritans of West Duluth, who are attempting, with the other Samaritan orders in Duluth, to raise a class of 500 for initiation in June, before the imperial council.

Last evening speeches along the lines of a membership campaign were given by William A. Hicken, supreme scribe; W. B. Henderson, Mrs. Purdy, Miss Irwin and G. W. Boutin, Good Samaritan.

The musical end of the program was not slighted, and there were several good numbers given. Miss Boutin gave a mandolin selection, accompanied by Miss Horman at the piano, and L. A. Barnes was heard in a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Mary Barnes. Both numbers were well received.

Miss Willesen gave two very pleasing recitations, and an excellent reading was rendered by Mrs. Wilson. A small class was initiated last evening.

LISTS ARE REJECTED

Secretary Affirms Ruling Against Northern Pacific Railway Company.

Another Chapter in the Indemnity Land Grant Cases.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Many of your readers will be pleased to learn that the land department has considered the appeal of the Northern Pacific Railway company from the rejection by the commissioner of the general land office, of the railroad company's recent selection list filed in the office of the commissioner, involving a large quantity of land embraced within its former selection lists Nos. 14 and 15, dated Oct. 17, 1883. Such decision of the secretary affirms rulings of the commissioner, rejecting said list of selections made and filed by said company.

The facts presented in these cases illustrates the difficulty in the acquisition of a title by any individual to lands that fall within the lateral limits of the grant to the Northern Pacific Railroad company. There were some 10,000 to 15,000 acres of the public domain involved in this controversy. These lands were selected by the Northern Pacific Railroad company Oct. 17, 1883, as indemnity for lands lost within the place limits of its grant, by reason of a prior grant of lands to the state of Minnesota in aid of the construction of a railroad from St. Paul to Lake Superior. The date of this grant was May 5, 1864; the date of the grant to the Northern Pacific Railroad company was July 2, 1864, some forty-seven days subsequent to the grant to the state of Minnesota. The line of the Northern Pacific railroad, when constructed, crossed the grant to the state of Minnesota at nearly right angles. The Northern Pacific Railroad company claimed a right to be indemnified for the loss of the quantity of land that under the prior grant went to aid in the construction of the railroad from St. Paul to Lake Superior, under the grant to the state of Minnesota, and in consideration of said right the Northern Pacific selected the lands which were in part included in the preliminary selection lists Nos. 14 and 15.

In preparing the case of Humbird vs. Avery, I became convinced that the Northern Pacific Railroad company was not entitled to select these lands which were within the second indemnity of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, nor, in my opinion, was said railroad company entitled to any indemnity for these lands claimed to have been lost to it, for the reason that the charter of the Northern Pacific granted from said Northern Pacific grant lands thus situated, but that all such lands should be charged to the Northern Pacific and no indemnity for their loss allowed. But the land department did not agree with me in this respect, but held that the Northern Pacific was entitled to select indemnity for the loss of these lands, but the selections, however, must be made within the first indemnity limits of its road. The indemnity for the loss having been selected within the second indemnity—the commissioner of the general land office held all such selections made by said company for cancellation.

This action of the commissioner was in 1900, seventeen years after the Northern Pacific had filed its list of selections. By reason of such selection by said company the lands embraced therein could not be purchased or settled upon. The land was claimed to have been segregated, and did not then belong to the public domain. The Northern Pacific Railroad company appealed to the land department from the decision of the commissioner cancelling its selection list, and on Aug. 15, 1901, the secretary affirmed the rulings of the commissioner. The Northern Pacific then made its motion for review and requested the secretary to suspend action on said motion for review until the courts had passed on the correctness of the decision of the secretary. This was granted. In the course of time a suit was brought in the United States circuit court, in which the question was raised as to the rights of the Northern Pacific to select indemnity for lands lost in the manner above stated. The court held that such selections by the company were void. The Northern Pacific appealed from such decision to the United States circuit court of appeals. That court affirmed the rulings of the circuit court, and on appeal to the supreme court of the United States that court held that the former decisions in the cases were correct. This last decision in the supreme court was rendered Jan. 14, 1907, being twenty-four years after the selections were made by said company.

After the Northern Pacific had run the gamut of land department and through all the courts, it came back to the land department with a motion for a rereview of the case and asked the department to suspend further action until a decision was rendered on its motion. While this motion was pending, the attorneys for the Northern Pacific squatted like a toad at the ear of the officers of the land department, and by their lamentations convinced the secretary that something should be done in order to prevent this poor railroad from losing some of its land, that might have gone to it. Through their manipulations, the secretary appeared willing to further any scheme that the railroad company could suggest that would prevent such an awful calamity. So it was agreed that the Northern Pacific Railway company might file its list of selections, embracing the same land as indemnity that had been held for cancellation in 1900, but with a new basis for the same. Such new basis was tendered, being for lands lost in the state of Montana, 1,500 miles from the lands selected. Such basis could not be valid for lands within the second indemnity limits. These selection lists were filed in the office of the commissioner. On examination the commissioner rejected the same. The railroad appealed from such decision to the secretary of the interior, who on May 3, 1909, affirmed the rulings of the commissioner. What may come after this, nothing as yet has been revealed, but sufficient has been shown to indicate how hard it is for a poor man to acquire a title to land within the limits of the grant to the Northern Pacific, when everybody knows that the reorganization of the Northern Pacific Railroad company was a great swindle on the people of the United States, in which they had a direct interest, and overshadows all other schemes in this age of frenzied finance.

It is expected the case will go to the jury tonight or tomorrow morning.

FOUND HANGING NEAR HIS HOME

Foley, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Andrew Solberg, aged 30, unmarried, who lived with his father on a farm near Maywood, in Benton county, was found hanging yesterday within forty rods of his own home. The body's condition indicated that death had resulted several days ago and its discovery explained the mystery of young Solberg's disappearance, a few days ago.

He was a young man of good habits, had no known affairs of the heart and there was apparently no reason for his act, which made the act all the more heartrending for his family.

Coroner Friesladen looked into the case and said it was plainly one of suicide, the presumption being the young man took his life while in a fit of despondency.

ON THE IRON RANGES

VICIOUS STAB MAY BE FATAL

Hibbing Man Attacked and Cut By an Unknown Assailant.

Hibbing, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sunday night a man giving the name of Haugen was stabbed four times in the body at the Hull bridge and probably fatally wounded. Haugen, who, after the stabbing, walked in as far as Second avenue, refuses to give a description of his assailants. He was taken to the Rood hospital, where an examination revealed three cuts near the shoulders about an inch long, while one of the thrusts penetrated his side and may possibly cause death. As yet no one has been arrested who can possibly have had a hand in the affray.

Dan Vitch and George Orlich, two Austrians, were arrested Sunday night in Brooklyn by Patrolmen Moore and Cole. The two men, in the company of several others, were engaged in some dispute, and during the argument the arrested men are alleged to have drawn revolvers and commenced shooting promiscuously, one of the bullets going through the front window of one of the residences. The defendants will be tried today.

ATTEMPTS LIFE WITH HIS KNIFE

Voluntary Prisoner in Virginia Jail Gashes His Throat.

Virginia, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gust Jewel, a prisoner in the city lockup at his own request, attempted suicide early yesterday morning and he lies at the hospital with his windpipe severed and his chances for life exceedingly slim. Jewel, who is a well known character here, had been on a drunk for some time and he came to Virginia from Eveleth, where he had been working for some time. Saturday afternoon he asked Chief of Police Walsh to lock him up, and the request was complied with. Sunday afternoon he was cheerful and evidently recovering from the effects of his spree, but remorse overtook him yesterday morning and with a pocket knife he cut a deep gash in his throat.

He was found by the officers soon after he did the act and was taken to the hospital immediately. He is about 43 years old and unmarried.

MAYOR HALTS A CRIPPLED HORSE

Three Brutes Driving Animal With Broken Leg in Limbo.

Eveleth, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three Austrians were arrested last night for driving too fast and for abusing a mare they had hired from Eddy's livery.

They had started to go to Sparta, but turned back after going out of town a short ways. They seemed to be partly drunk and were not able to hold the horse very well. As they came down the Payal road to town and were about to turn into Grant avenue, the horse suddenly turned while going at full speed and broke its leg. The Austrians nevertheless kept driving the animal, which kept going on three feet until it came to the Miners' National bank in front of which Mayor Smith was standing, talking with some friends. As he saw the horse was limping he rushed into the street and grabbed the mare by the bridle stopping her. A crowd gathered around and Mr. Eddy was cancelled. He led the injured animal down the side street and shot it. The mare was valued at $200 and the three men will have a trial today. Only one man was in the rig when it was stopped by the mayor, but as a couple of policemen who tried to stop the horse before saw the three men in the rig. All were arrested. The men had tried to get a rig from another livery, but were refused. The accident happened about 8 o'clock when everyone was going to the theaters and the sidewalks were full of people.

HIBBING NINE WILL BE STRONG

Hibbing, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The baseball candidates were out yesterday for the first practice of the season, and from all indications Hibbing is to have the fastest team that has ever represented it.

The infield is practically the same as that of last year, while in the outfield and pitcher's box new faces will be seen. Just what the old men are capable of is known, while much is expected from George Sage and Dave Williams, who last year managed the Duluth White Sox.

The dates from May 20 on are practically filled, while Manager Brady will endeavor to arrange a game for next Sunday with one of the fast Duluth teams. The players and their positions, who are most likely to represent Hibbing this year, are as follows: Chaffee, catcher; Leo, George Sage and D. Williams, pitchers; Booth, first base; Calligan, second base; Moynihan, shortstop; Brookings, third base; Geiselman (captain), center field; Williams, right field. For the left field position there is at present about six promising youngsters, the most likely of whom will land the job.

On May 20 the season will be really opened by a game with the colored Gopher team of St. Paul. Arrangements are being made for an automobile parade and band concert at the park.

MUCH MINING ACTIVITY.

Underground and Many Open Pit Mines Are Shipping.

Hibbing, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—While the marine labor trouble has caused the Stevenson and some other mines to curtail ore shipments temporarily, the mines in the section as a whole are pretty busy.

The La Rue mine at Nashwauk sent out seventy-five cars yesterday, the first shipment from that property this season. The Leetonia at Carson lake is shipping between 200 cars and 300 cars daily. The Stevenson shipments have been reduced to forty-five cars daily.

All of the Oliver Iron Mining company's underground mines are shipping as usual. The Missabe road is carrying the ore from the Buffalo and Susquehanna mines this year. Heretofore the Great Northern road has carried the ore. The ore is taken to the Mitchell yards and held there until there is enough for a train load, when it is shipped.

MUCH DRILLING ON STATE LAND

Auditor and Attorney General Found Things Lively on Mesaba.

St. Paul, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—One thousand forties of state ore lands under lease, the whole representing nearly 1,000,000,000 tons of iron and many of them undergoing development is what Attorney General George T. Simpson and State Auditor S. G. Iverson found as the result of their visit to the iron country last week.

This land is leased on a basis of 25 cents a ton and, as it will take fully fifty years to exhaust it, Mr. Simpson estimates for the state in that time a revenue not far short of $250,000,000. One forty alone is estimated to contain 80,000,000 tons of ore.

The two officials found active operations all over the range. On the state lands many drills were at work, and on a large number stripping had commenced.

Simpson's and Iverson's visit to the range was for the purpose of inquiring into private encroachments on meandered lake beds, the ownership of which was vested in the state by a law passed by the last legislature. In the case of one lake, the company at work was found to be working far in advance of the meandered line.

In order to stop encroachments, suits will be necessary, but no action will be taken until Mr. Simpson is fully assured as to the state's rights. There is some dispute in that respect, which will have to be looked into thoroughly.

EVELETH FEELS STRIKE.

Ore Shipping From That Section Is Slightly Curtailed.

Eveleth, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—On account of the marine strike now declared on the Great Lakes ore shipping here has been slightly affected. Shipping from the stock piles has stopped for the present, though the shipping from the pockets is still going on. Stripping work in the Adams pit and the new stripping near the Virginia road is going on steadily.

General Superintendent R. J. Mitchell of the Adams Spruce mines, formerly of Hibbing, who has succeeded J. H. Hearding, is staying at the Globe hotel for the present as his family is still in Hibbing. Mrs. J. H. Hearding and children will remain there until the school term is over in June.

MAYOR RAISES POINT.

New Two Harbors Official Questions Validity of Licenses.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Knauff sprung a surprise on the city council last night when he raised a point as to the manner of granting saloon licenses. He said that the council had been granting such privileges by an aye and nay vote, while he believed it should only be by resolution. This would afford the mayor an opportunity to approve or veto any license granted.

The matter was deemed of such importance that the city attorney was asked for an opinion.

The library board requested that an appropriation be made for the purchase of a lot adjoining the library grounds to increase the library holdings to 100 by 140 feet. The lot will cost about $650 and will enable the board to make more attractive grounds. The request was referred to the committee on bridges and grounds.

TOOK CARE OF HER OWN CHILDREN

Divorced Wife Entered Former Husband's Home as Housekeeper.

Jacob Nelson, a Hermantown farmer, will be examined as to his sanity before Judge J. B. Middlecoff of the probate court today.

Information was filed against him yesterday by his divorced wife, Betty Nelson. The couple were divorced some time ago and soon after the decree was granted, Mrs. Nelson went back to live in the house of her former husband in the capacity of housekeeper.

She says that she has taken care of the house and the children for some months, and for her work has received nothing but abuse and ill treatment.

Mrs. Nelson says also that he is shiftless, refuses to work to support his children, and that in addition he has on a number of occasions locked the family out of doors, not allowing them to enter for several hours.

our feast and accept our sacrifice. Let this sacrifice appease your wrath and take from us our misfortunes, granting us better times."

"After this the boy was brought forward by Ongon, placed against a small tree, his hands tied above his head and his body tied to the tree. Ansig then placed a spear at the child's right side. This lance was grasped by the widows, Addy and Obby, who, at a signal from Ansig, forced it through the child's body, it coming out at the other side."

PRISONERS RELEASED

Jury Unable to Fix Blame for Shooting of Fireman.

All Three Had 32-Caliber Revolvers and Fired in Air.

Capt. Fred R. Goodrow, master of the steamer City of Berlin, and Fred Reno and Lester Elmer, special police officers, were released from custody by the Superior police last evening.

The inquest over the remains of James O'Rourke, the union fireman who was shot and instantly killed at the Northwestern dock, Superior, Saturday night, was held at the Dudley undertaking rooms, Superior, yesterday afternoon.

After the testimony was all taken the coroner's jury promptly exonerated all three men and they were allowed to go. The evidence given by Capt. Goodrow and the two officers at the inquest was substantially the same as the story told by them immediately after the shooting.

Each said that he had a .32-caliber revolver, and each fired two shots in the air.

James Reynolds, a fireman on the steamer Troy, volunteered to testify. His statements corroborated those of the three men under arrest. He said that O'Rourke was standing on a coal pile on the dock, shouting "scab" to the men on the Berlin at the time he was shot. Reynolds said that the shots were all fired above the heads of the men on the dock, but did not express an opinion as to whether a shot above the heads of the crowd might not have hit O'Rourke.

O'Rourke fell to the dock and was placed on a grain door and taken to a near-by saloon.

Gus Lindquist, a bartender, testified that he had called up for an ambulance, that O'Rourke was breathing at the time, and that he did not know the names of the men who brought the injured man to the saloon.

Peter Eastman, the dock watchman, said that as soon as the trouble began he locked himself in the engine room and remained there until it was over.

William Jones, business agent of the Lake Seamen's union, said that the union had nothing to do with the affair and that none of his men appeared to know anything about it.

The jury deliberated but a few minutes, and on their findings the three men were released.

The body of the murdered man will be forwarded to Cleveland this afternoon. The Marine Firemen's union, of which O'Rourke was a member, will have charge of the funeral and a committee of that organization will accompany the remains to the place of interment.

CASE OF HAINS

The case was given to the jury at 12:05 p. m.

During the delivery of the charge of Justice Garretson to the jury, which followed the conclusion of Mr. Gregg's argument, no one was allowed to enter or leave the courtroom.

Warns Against Sympathy.

The jurors arose and remained standing during the first part of Justice Garretson's charge. The court warned the jurors against being swayed one way or the other by the sympathy. He said the jurors were the sole judges of all the facts.

"The jury has the right from the results to find an intent to kill," said Justice Garretson, "but there must not only be an intent, but also a premeditated and deliberate design to kill."

The court defined murder in the first and second degrees and manslaughter. He said there was nothing in the record on which the jury could assume that the defendant's act was justifiable or excusable.

"Is there premeditation in this case?" asked the court. "That is for you to decide after a careful study of all the evidence. If you find no premeditation, it is your duty to consider whether the defendant's act comes within the definition of murder in the second degree.

"One may be guilty of manslaughter in the first degree who kills on the impulse of the moment in a heat of passion or in a particular set of circumstances."

Judge Garretson said a reasonable doubt would not be a mere impression, but a moral certainty of doubt.

"If you believe this defendant has established a legal irresponsibility, no matter what your findings on the general issues may be, he is not guilty of the crime," said Justice Garretson; "but the law has set down simple tests and standards in regard to insanity, and it is for you to apply these tests in considering the evidence. To be insane under the law, the defendant must have been in such an unbalanced state of mind as not to have known the nature and quality of his act, and that it was wrong."

Presumption of Sanity.

Justice Garretson said the presumption of sanity existed and it was for the jury to say whether that presumption had been removed by the evidence, referring to the testimony of the alienists. Justice Garretson said the law did not permit even learned men in medical science to come into court and furnish oracular and dogmatic opinions. "They must show how they reached these opinions," said Justice Garretson, "and it is for you to decide the efficiency and soundness of these opinions."

Speaking of the domestic relations of the defendant, Justice Garretson said the truth of the allegations against Mrs. Hains and Annis did not have to be shown. It was sufficient, in considering the defendant's mental condition, if he had been told of such relations and he believed them to have existed. "In fairness and judgment Mrs. Claudia Hains should have her say in court to answer such grave charges," said the justice. "Neither she nor the dead man Annis are on trial in this case."

The court declared that the neglect or refusal to testify in his own behalf did not create any presumption against him.

In conclusion of his remarks Justice Garretson told the jury they might bring in any one of the following verdicts:

Guilty of murder in the first degree; guilty of murder in the second degree; guilty of manslaughter in the first degree; not guilty or not guilty on the ground of insanity.

The lawyers on both sides requested Justice Garretson at the conclusion of his remarks to charge the jury on certain points, to which he readily consented.

saltpeter was agreed to. It is understood that the product will be placed on the free list.

Mr. Aldrich then requested an agreement to the committee amendment increasing the duty on all salts of santonin from 50 cents to $1, stating that the proposed duty was the rate of both the Dingley and Gorman bills.

There were but few senators present, and Mr. Overman suggested the absence of a quorum, a roll call bringing into the chamber sixty-one senators.

The section relating to salts of santonin was then agreed to as amended.

On motion of Mr. Aldrich, the section relating to soap was amended so as to place a duty of 50 per cent ad valorem on perfumed soaps, which he said was revenue purposes.

The house provision on sulphur was further amended so as to place crude sulphur on the free list and to provide a duty of $4 a ton on refined sulphur, the present law and the house bill providing for a duty of $6 a ton.

The section relating to limestone rock asphalt was at first amended by reducing the duty 50 per cent under the present law, but later, on motion of Mr. Beveridge, who suggested that perhaps that article should go on the free list, the paragraph was temporarily passed over.

The schedule relating to mica was also passed over, Mr. Aldrich saying the committee desired to reconsider that paragraph, as it was not now satisfied whether the duty should be increased or whether the article should be placed on the free list.

DIFFERENTIALS ARE ORDERED

Washington, May 11.—Two decisions of notable importance to the railways and to the lumber interests of the Northwest were handed down today by the interstate commerce commission, the complainants against the railroads being victorious in each instance.

Many months ago the Kalispell Lumber company and others and the big Blackfoot Milling company and others, engaged in the lumber manufacturing business in Montana, instituted complaints against the Great Northern and other lines asking that they be accorded differentials on the rates established in the Spokane case. The differentials requested were an average of about 2½ cent per 100 pounds.

In the opinions announced today the commission sustains the contentions of the complainants and issued orders that the differentials are to be established by the railroads not later than Aug. 1. The orders have the effect of lowering the rates on all lumber and forest products from the Montana mills east and west and will afford them an advantage of approximately 2 cents per 100 pounds over the mills in the Spokane group on Eastern shipments. The rates established are required to be maintained by the railroads for at least two years.

FLORIDA MAN WANTED TO KNOW THE TRUTH

Put Cooper's Claim to a Test and Proved Its Genuineness.

The theory of L. T. Cooper that most of the ills of mankind emanate from the stomach, and that it is only necessary to restore that organ to normal condition in order to enjoy good health, is rapidly being accepted as correct by people in all parts of the country. His further claim that his New Discovery medicine will effect this change quickly and permanently is supported by a vast army of followers.

One of those to put the Cooper theory and medicine to a test is F. W. Ross, living at 205 Irvine street, Orlando, Fla., and an honored resident of that community. Mr. Ross has made a statement for publication with reference to the result of his experiment, in which he says:

"For the past ten years I have been unable to do any work, and on numerous occasions when I tried to work, I became ill from exhaustion. I had little or no appetite, and the small amount of food I did eat distressed me. My digestion was bad, my bowels in a miserable condition. I was nervous, weak, tired and worn out all the time. I could not sleep well, and would arise in the morning feeling all worn out. I tried numerous remedies, but instead of getting better, I continued to decline, and felt that it would not be long until I would end my misery in the grave.

"Several months ago I read about the Cooper remedies and was so impressed that I went to my druggist's and bought a bottle of the New Discovery medicine. I immediately noticed a beneficial effect, and continued the treatment. It thoroughly cleansed my bowels, made my stomach feel easier, and I began to get some strength.

"In a little while I developed a splendid appetite, and found that I could eat anything I cared for without suffering any ill effects afterward—my digestion was perfect. My sleep became sound, restful and refreshing. As I gained in strength I began to work again, and found I could do considerable without becoming exhausted.

"In two months' time I was a well man. I can do as hard work as ever, and have virtually taken a new lease of life. I make this statement in grateful appreciation of the benefits I have derived from the Cooper medicine, for I honestly believe I owe my life to its marvelous curative properties."

Cooper's New Discovery is sold by all druggists everywhere. A sample bottle sent free upon request by addressing The Cooper Medicine company, Dayton, Ohio.

BRYAN SMILES AND SAYS SOUL SHOULD BE PLACED ABOVE ALL

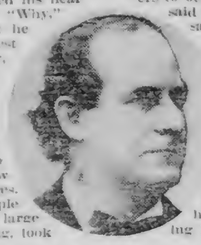
SOME LATTER-DAY BRYANISMS IN POCKET EDITION FORM



He is often charged with injecting politics into his lectures. In New York he spoke, taking the text "Thou shalt not steal," and he offended more in that audience than in any other he ever addressed.

Once in a Nebraska town he advised his hearers to be sure to vote for the best man, and the next day a Republican criticized him for it. "Why," said a Bryan friend "he didn't mention any names." "No," replied the critic, "but he said to vote for the best man and everybody knows the Democratic candidate is the best man."

At least two parties are necessary, each to watch the other. The existence of the Republican party when the Democrats are in power is proof of this, and when the Republican party is in power, no proof that watching is necessary is needed.

The ancient John told of in Joseph us, who cornered all the olive oil, formed one of the first trusts known to history, and Bryan wonders if "our John" of present day oil trust fame did n't take a tip from his early predecessor. Years ago, when Carnegie started to make money, his workmen lived in little cottages near where they labored. Now Carnegie has retired with millions—but the workmen still live in the little cottages.

Many a newly-married young couple pinch and scrape along, looking forward to the time when they can occupy a fine large house, and when they finally get into the fine large house they pinch and scrape along, look ing longingly back to the time when they lived in the more humble dwelling.

The present tariff legislation mixup in Washington gives evidence that each congressman and senator is trying to further the interests of certain particular constituents and is not working for the general good of the nation. A man down East, who had one lone sheep used to write the congressman from his district every time tariff legislation was proposed not to let the tariff on wool be affected. Finally the one sheep died and the man wired the congressman: "Bill's dead; vote as you please."

"What do you do," asked a priest of a lawyer, according to Bryan, "when you make a mistake in a speech?"

"It 's a big mistake," replied the lawyer, "I go back and correct it; if it's a little mistake, I don't stop to rectify. What do you do?"

"I follow the same rule," answered the priest. "Recently I meant to say that the devil is the father of lies, but I misspoke myself and said the devil is the father of lawyers. Being only a little mistake, however, I didn't stop to rectify it."

Bryan told an informal reception after the lecture, when hundreds grasped him by the hand, and when the famous Bryan smile was put to its best advantage.

After the lecture Mr. Bryan was the guest of honor at a little banquet tendered him in the Spalding cafe by C. W. Bradenthal, who was a member of the quartermaster's staff in Mr. Bryan's regiment in the Spanish-American war. Among those present were Bert Fesler, Alfred Jaques, T. T. Hudson and George Webb of Aurora.

LOUIS D. WILKES DIES OF APOPLEXY

Well-Known Insurance Man Passes Away at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis D. Wilkes, St. Paul manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and prominent clubman of this city, died at his apartments at 657 Grand avenue, shortly after noon yesterday, of apoplexy. He was 53 years old.

Mr. Wilkes had been ill and under constant medical attention since the first of the year. Yesterday morning he suffered an apoplectic stroke, and, in spite of the strenuous remedies administered, sank rapidly, till he was forced to give up the fight against death.

Mr Wilkes came to St. Paul twenty-five years ago, as manager of the Equitable Life. He was formerly connected with the International Harvester company of Milwaukee. Mr. Wilkes is survived by a number of relatives in this city. He was a cousin of Robert Dean of the Mutual Life company and also of Mrs. M. D. Edwards, wife of the pastor of the Dayton Avenue Presbyterian church; Miss Richardine Hand, a teacher in the Van Buren school, and Mrs. Mary Oakes.

Mr. Wilkes was a Shriner and a Knight Templar. He was also enrolled with the Elks, the Commercial club, the Minnesota club, the Town and Country club, and the Life Underwriters association.

Mr. Wilkes was divorced a few years ago. His former wife, who later married Edward Clapp, a nephew of Senator Moses E. Clapp, is at present traveling in Europe.

There have been no funeral arrangements made as yet, but it is probable that the services will be conducted Wednesday or Thursday by the Masonic order.

Mr Wilkes was well-known in Duluth, having been a frequent visitor to the city for many years in connection with the business of the Equitable Life, the Duluth office being under his direction.

"AND A PLEASANT TIME WAS HAD"

Miller, Bede and Hughes Meet and Discuss the Weather.

Congressman C. B. Miller, ex-Congressman J. Adam Bede and Judge Martin Hughes chanced to meet in the lobby of the St. Louis hotel last evening, and many interested glances were cast in their direction by others in the lobby.

Judge Hughes and J. Adams had been to hear William Jennings Bryan lecture, and they were very well pleased over the eminent Nebraskan's remarks. Both agreed that he was a good talker, and that he could set forth facts in an interesting manner.

Congressman Miller had not been to hear Bryan, so switched the conversation into other channels, and observed that fishing would be good this spring if the trout were plentiful enough, and hungry enough, and fishermen few enough. The others thought this looked reasonable, and Mr. Bede said that if he raised enough potatoes this year to make a profit, he would be money ahead on his potato crop at the end of the season. Politics was carefully avoided in the talk.

DESERT MADE GLOBE DUSTY.

But Secretary Knox Wanted Atlantic Ocean Wiped Off.

Washington, May 11.—In the private office of the secretary of state there is a large globe. Secretary Knox was examining it when he discovered by means of certain indisputable evidence that the globe was not clean.

"See here, Eddie," he shouted to his colored messenger, "why do you not keep this globe clean? Look at the dust."

Eddie looked and then gave the secretary proof that his course through the colored high school of Washington had not been altogether in vain.

"That's all right, sah," he replied. "That's the desert of Sahara you are pointing at."

"Well, perhaps that lets you out as far as that part of it is concerned," retorted the secretary, "but I must insist that you keep the Alantic ocean wiped off."

VIRTUE NEARLY TOOK THE COUNT, BUT CAME BACK STRONG IN THE LAST ACT

In a contest filled with exciting moments and thrilling incidents, Virtue again triumphed over Villainy, at the Lyceum theater, last evening.

Right after the beginning of the contest Villainy had Virtue groggy and holding on to the ropes. All through the contest it seemed as if Virtue must take the count. He would be crushed to earth, but like truth, would rise and come back at Villainy.

In the third round of the contest it looked as if it was all but over for Virtue. But the last session changed the aspects of things. The round opened bad for Virtue, but toward the latter part of the round Virtue got Villainy into a corner and put over a fatal poke that took the house by storm.

"Just a Woman's Way" is some drammer. There is a villain, a lurking adventuress who conceals her slyph-like form from everybody but the audience, and laughs languid leers at the struggles of the wronged wife to exist. And then there is a springtly soubrette, who has a hop, step, and jump motion that would make Martin Sheridan, a very proficient performer in this style of ground covering specialty, open his Irish eyes and stare with amazement. By actual count this little hopping movement carried the golden haired dear on and off the stage eighty-nine times.

A Weak Fool.

But Jack Wellington was the real, honest to goodness hero. Jack came down stage in the very first act and took us into his confidence. "I am a weak, miserable fool," cried Jack, as wrinkles of anguish welted his pale, white brow; "but this woman has some strange hold upon me."

Just as Jack said this well worded speech, the Camille De Forrest person came down the stage and placed her beautiful white hands over Jack's orbs. If that was the strange hold Jack referred to, it must have been a lead lock, such as Fred Beell uses occasionally.

Jack and a beautiful wife. Right in the first act she offered to go on for an impromptu battle with the Camille De Forrest woman, whom we all suspected was going to make trouble.

But Jack—by his own confession a weak and miserable, foolish person—couldn't see it that way. When his frau left the stage to give the author an opportunity to let the villainess accomplish her designs upon poor old Jack, he took the adventuress in his arms, and implanted a resounding kiss upon her ruby lips.

Just as the author planned, Jack's wife came rushing down the stage, wringing her hands and heaving vituperation upon the poor cranium of Jack. It was here that it looked bad for Virtue. Mrs. Jack Wellington swept from the stage, turning anon and giving us a pathetic look from her beautiful brown orbs, more beautiful still when steeped in trouble.

The second act found us admiring some of Mr. Marshall's interior scenery. The "Just a Woman's Way" company don't carry its own scenery, so Mr. Longstreet, who directs the workings back of the footlights, had to put something upon the stage that looked like the interior of Jack's new home.

Jack moved one of the house chairs, a Louis De something chair, right up to the footlights, took one of Rosalie Wellington's photos, cabinet size, from his pocket, and to slow music told that he had divorced her to marry this Camille De Forrest person, but that he was tired of it all. This new love was but an earthly love; shallow and tempered with mercenary consideration.

Let in on the Plot.

Then we got another flash of the plot. We knew that Jack had cast aside his true and faithful wife, and that she was working in a canning factory.

We hoped to have another look at Jack's cast-off wife. Soon, as answering the pent-up longing of the audience, a dark change shifted the scene to the little attic where Jack's cast-off frau repaired after her eighteen hours of labor at the factory.

Jack's cast-off wife was pale and limb weary when she came down the stage. She advanced to the footlights and informed us that money was coming but slowly, and if some kind providence didn't put some money in her kick she would have to listen to the birds in Central park, for she would be turned from her attic retreat.

Gerty Hopeful.

We all expected—and Gerty, who sat next to us, was sure of it—that succor would aid the beautiful factory girl at the last moment. Some one suggested that she pawn her diamond ring, but Gerty frowned at this suggestion, and we let the subject drop.

The beautiful factory divorcee found some money in her Bible. She suspected that Jack's new wife was sending her money to taunt, and with a rousing speech, delivered down stage, she informed us that she would spurn the lucre, even if she starved. She started out the back door, reconsidered, came on the stage again and informed us that now she knew why women became outcasts.

It certainly was a strong speech, and white cambric handkerchiefs flashed distress signals from the various portions of the house.

The next act found us viewing the front lawn of Jack's city home. Although Jack was a weak and foolish man, he must have had a good job.

We were let in on the plot for the third time of the evening. We were told that Jack's cast-off wife had wandered from her little room, had become faint and had fallen into the arms of a good Irish policeman. He had taken pity upon her and instead of taking her to the police station, he took her to his good auld mother's home.

And then when Jack, torn with longing love for his cast-off wife, was searching little old New York for her, she turned up on the front lawn in her —honestly—robe de nuit. You know, night gown.

We all wondered why Dr. Parkhurst would stand for such a thing as that in New York. The poor ex-wife was nutty, as the experts for the defense would try to make Capt. Hains.

She came up stage, and stretching a tragic hand toward the bass drummer, informed us in rasping tones that she had gone clear to the foolish state. More white signals greeted this speech, and Gerty turned her head away.

But the play was coming to an end. We knew that Virtue was getting stronger all the time. They kidnaped the wife, right in her robe de nuit, and took her away. But Jack, weak and foolish that he was, chased the carriage for the full Marathon distance, and recovered his wife. Then they changed the scene to allow Jack to recover his breath, for Jack, the rascal, was rather fat, you know. Then we all came back to Jack's home, the inside of the Wellington mansion, mind you, and by consulting our programs we knew that we had but a few more moments of feverish excitement.

Then Jack and his cast-off wife had a strong talk. She informed Jack that she would think the matter over, and we knew that they would reunite, despite the cruel adventuress and her black-mustached husband.

They did, right up stage, in a loving embrace, that brought additional tears. Then we discovered that the beautiful adventuress was a bigamist, and that she was in cahoots with the villain, whom the soubrette slapped in the first act. The villain and his cruel wife were sent upon their way; Jack kissed his wife four times; the soubrette and the fellow who tried to imitate George M. Cohan were betrothed; and the curtain dropped with a picture of a happy home that would make a bachelor sigh with fervent regret.

CUTICURA CURED CHIEF OF POLICE

Canadian Officer Poisoned by Weeds —Eczema Developed and Legs Became Scaly—Ankles were Very Sore and Itchy—For Weeks He Could Not Wear Shoes.

FREED FROM ITCHING BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I have been successfully cured of dry eczema. I was inspecting the removal of noxious weeds, it being part of my duty, from the edge of a river and was constantly in the dust from the weeds. At night I shook out my trousers and cleansed my limbs, but felt a prickly sensation. I paid no attention to it for two years, but I noticed a scum on my legs like fish scales. I could scrape it off, and yet I did not attend to it until it came to be too itchy and sore and began getting two running sores. My ankles were all sore and scabby and I could not wear shoes. I had to use carpet and felt slippers for weeks. I was then on particular police duty and was compelled to be on duty. I got a cake of the Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment. In less than ten days I could put on my boots and in less than three weeks, though on duty all the time, I was free from the confounded itching. I tell you frankly that Cuticura saved me from what the doctors called a bad leg. Capt. George P. Bliss, Chief of Police, Morris, Manitoba, Mar. 20, 1907, and Sept. 24, 1908."

PRISONER IN HOTEL.

Young Girl Involuntarily Detained as Result of Mistake.

New York, May 11.—A young woman was allowed two days' leave of absence from her boarding school and was held a prisoner in the Hotel St. Regis for two days last week, through no fault of hers or of the hotel management. It was simply the result of a peculiar mistake. Miss Nash, daughter of Edward Nash of Savannah, Ga., stopped at the St. Regis. She brought only a handbag containing one evening dress as baggage.

After dinner she talked of sending her street dress to the hotel valet to be pressed, but neglected to give the order. That evening a man knocked at her door and asked for the suit, which she handed to him at once, thinking her chaperone had given the order. At noon the next day she sent a request to the office for her dress. No one there had heard of it.

Yesterday a cleaner's agent appeared with the goods, and when asked to explain, said he had been sent to room No. 1409 in the Plaza and got to the same room number in the St. Regis, mistaking that hotel for the Plaza.

Tornadoes
— AND — Wind Storms

Man has no adequate defense against such storms. He may build with the utmost care, construct his home and office structure of the most approved material and with the most competent workmanship, and use every precaution experience approved; yet comes a puff of wind and man's puny works are undone. He can temper the storm, but not conquer it. The elements are still supreme.

Millions of dollars in property are destroyed annually, many lives lost, men and women maimed and crippled for life—it is usually a sorry story written in letters of ruin and devastation. Great manufacturing plants crumbled beneath their furious blasts, churches wrecked, their spires wrenched off and toppled into the naves, residences crushed and pushed from their foundations, streets littered with the debris of church, home and factory; such details but inadequately tell the story.

The cost of tornado insurance is small. The chance of loss is great. Can you afford to save the small cost and assume the great loss?

A tornado today might destroy your home, and a policy tomorrow would be too late. Buy a policy today. It will build your home if destroyed by a tornado tomorrow. The rate is surprisingly low.

USED KNIFE ON FRIEND

Renny Corveau Fined For Stabbing Friend in Saloon.

Victim Also Fined For Cursing Witnesses in Court.

Charged with stabbing Louis Fobare in the side, Renny Corveau was arrested last night in a Bowery saloon. He admits his guilt, but says the act was committed in a fit of drunken madness.

The two men had been quarreling, but nothing had been said between them for several minutes preceding the cutting. They were standing side by side at the bar, when Corveau is said to have suddenly turned and stuck a knife into the side of his friend. Fobare had him arrested, and then called a doctor. His wound is not a deep or serious one.

Corveau was fined $100 and costs in municipal court this morning, with an alternative sixty days in jail. Fobare's ill luck stuck with him even in court. He was fined $20 or twenty days in jail for contempt of court.

Corveau could not speak English, and while he was on the witness stand the victim of his assault was called upon as interpreter. Fobare became impatient at the answers given, and cursed Corveau roundly for his slowness. The cursing was in good, American lumberjack English, and the judge imposed the fine then and there, for contempt of court.

BARNEY CONWAY IS NOW INSANE

He was fined $1,000 for second degree manslaughter, and the fine was paid. Necessary papers will be made out and Conway will be brought back to Duluth and tried for his sanity, as it is up to this county, his home, to attend to his case.

ENDURANCE RUN FOR CARS OF THREE CITIES WILL START FROM DULUTH

THE PATHFINDING CAR CARRYING MINNEAPOLIS PARTY.

Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth automobilists are planning for an endurance contest to be pulled off during the first week of August. The contest is being promoted mainly by J. J. Barclay of Minneapolis and by the Minneapolis Automobile club. Mr. Barclay was in Duluth yesterday, and during his stay was given an auto ride on the boulevard.

He became so enthusiastic over it that it was suggested that an endurance contest be held, which would prove a very interesting feature for the automobilists of Minnesota and which would also tend to build up a better feeling between Twin City and Duluth automobilists in general.

The proposed endurance contest will be held in the early part of August. All those from the Twin Cities participating will leave Minneapolis at a stated time. There should be at least 100 entries made from the Twin Cities alone. They will tour by easy stages from Minneapolis, by way of Anoka to Rush City, then north over the Tri-State highway to Cloquet, then through West Duluth into Duluth. Three or four days will be spent in Duluth previous to the starting of the endurance contest. This will enable those desiring to enter to become familiar with the route to be followed.

Pathfinding Car.

A delegation, consisting of Walter Edgerton, Dr. C. E. Dutton, J. F. W. Switzer and Richard Tucker, arrived in Duluth Sunday evening from Minneapolis. They came in a scout car to map out the best route and note the condition of the roads. The accompanying picture of the delegation was taken in front of the Spaldine hotel.

The route decided upon is as follows: The start will be from the Spalding hotel. From the Spalding they will go east to Fifteenth avenue east, then north to the boulevard and continue around the boulevard west, taking in the new extension to West Duluth. At the terminus of the boulevard they will descend the hill to Fifty-ninth avenue west, continue on Fifty-ninth to Grand, from Grand to the Thomson road and return by way of Cloquet to Rush City, through Anoka and back to Minneapolis. The terminus at Minneapolis will be the Plaza hotel.

It has not been decided as yet, whether those entering will be required to enter with the sealed bonnets. However, a representative will accompany each car on the return trip to see that all rules are lived up to fully and that no adjustments will be made during the return trip. Duluth automobilists will be invited to attend as also anyone else who owns an automobile in the state.

It is hoped that the county commissioners will complete the eight miles of unfinished roadway on the Miller Trunk road, which connects Duluth with the iron ranges. A great many undoubtedly would be pleased to visit the iron mines, if this roadway was finished in time.

The contest should be of great benefit towards the improvement of the highways in the northern part of the state.

Duluth automobilists will also immediately take steps to organize a live and up-to-date automobile club to co-operate with the Twin Cities organization in promoting this contest. A general meeting will be called of all the automobilists in the city to perfect this organization. During the early history of automobiling in Duluth a club was organized which promoted automobile parades and races.

The efforts of the club were instrumental in securing Barney Oldfield, two years ago, which proved very interesting to those who attended the races.

The condition of Mr. Barcley's car upon its arrival, as also that of delegates who accompanied him, showed what they had to contend with in making this trip from the Twin Cities at this time of the year. Mr. Barclay as also those with him say that they had no trouble with the car, but for miles they traveled in mud up to the hubs. The corduroy between here and the Twin Cities, in stretches, at this time of the year, is entirely submerged in water.

The accompanying cut represents Mr. Barclay in the right rear seat, Mr. Edgerton on his left, the front seat Mr. Tucker and Mr. Switzer, who is at the wheel.

The car in the rear shows E. J. Fillatrault and L. H. Fillatrault of the Mutual Auto company with the car which assisted in laying out this route.

Will Talk Over Booking Matters and Elect Officers.

Theater managers of the Northwest are meeting and having a holiday in Duluth today.

The occasion is the annual convention of the Northwestern Theater Managers' association, of which Charles A. Marshall, manager of the Lyceum, is president.

The playhouses operated by the members of the association represent a circuit of first-class theaters, which is quite an important factor in the amusement business of this part of the country.

The business of booking and handling many attractions during a season, is an active one. The managers write countless letters to each other, but they insist on seeing each other and slapping each other on the back once a year at least, so they hold a convention. Also they discuss theatrical affairs in general, the affairs of the managers' association in particular, and elect officers of that organization.

They were to have held a business meeting this morning, but they didn't. Many of the visiting managers did not arrive until this morning. They hurried around to get shaves, don the clean collar they thrust in their bags just before leaving home, and then hurried up to the parlor of the Spalding to be in time for the meeting. And then there wasn't any, because P. B. Haber of Fond du Lac, Wis., secretary and treasurer of the organization, had not arrived yet.

Haber "Piked."

"If I had known that Haber hadn't shown up yet, I would have let the barber shave the other side of my face," observed Charley Marshall, who had precipitately left the tonsorial parlor in order to call the session to order at the proper time.

Mr. Haber and other managers from the southern end of the circuit did not get in until this afternoon. The business meeting of the association is now in progress at the Spalding.

"Well," observed John Cuddihy of Calumet, when the cussing over the non-arrival of Haber had subsided this morning, "We can talk things over informally, anyway."

That is what the managers did until about noon, when they went across to the Lyceum, where a special presentation of the Burns-Johnson fight pictures was given for their benefit.

With the exception of a newspaper writer or two, and a few other "ringers," the audience was composed exclusively of the boys who wield the pass blanks.

"There isn't much money for the attraction in an audience like this," observed C. D. Moon of Eau Claire, as he lounged back, comfortably, upon the Lyceum plush.

A Good Season.

"This has been an exceptionally good season in the theatrical business, speaking from the Northwestern viewpoint," said Peter L. Myers of Janesville, Wis. "I think the number of high-class attractions which have been booked in our theaters this year is greater than ever before. We have had some of the best attractions on the road and the people seemed well pleased."

Among the managers in attendance at the convention are H. P. Jordan of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Frank Buckley of Superior. Both are to operate handsome new theaters next season, one at each end of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway. A new house called the Jordan theater is to be built at the Soo and the Grand is to be rebuilt in Superior, with Mr. Buckley in charge, as manager.

Others attending the convention are John D. Cuddihy of Calumet, Mich.; C. D. Moon of Eau Claire, Wis.; Ray Kerredge of Hancock, Mich.; W. J. Power of Hibbing; Edward J. Butler of Ishpeming, Mich.; P. L. Myers of Janesville, Wis.; A. F. Koepcke of Marquette, Mich.; J. E. Williams of Oshkosh, Wis., and H. C. Robertson of Stillwater, Minn.

There are a number of other theatrical people in the city today. In the lobby of the Lyceum this morning, representatives of half a dozen attractions, which are going to play this circuit, were to be seen at one time.

G. A. Kobald, the Winnipeg vaudeville manager, is also here. It is understood that he has thrown his house over to the William Morris vaudeville circuit, and his visit here at this time, may be with the idea of investigating the possibilities of an invasion of Duluth by the Morris forces, which are opposing the Orpheum circuit and the United Booking offices in other cities.

WANTS LARGE SUM FOR HIS FINGERS

Charles Coss Is Suing Colvin-Robb Company For $5,370.

The case of Charles Cass against the Colvin-Robb Lumber company for $5,370 for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working in the company's mill at Bassett, Minn., in May of last year, was called before Judge Ensign this morning.

Cass, it seems, was working on the shingle mill. His claim is that the foreman of the mill knew he was inexperienced, yet he put him to work without thoroughly explaining the machinery or warning him of the danger of his position.

On the platform, on which he stood, he claims, the wet bark from the lumber kept dropping off and that it was this that caused him to slip, his right hand falling on the saw. Before he could remove it, three fingers had been severed and a fourth nearly so.

He also claims that the company did not furnish him a safe place to work and this negligence on the part of the company was in part responsible for the accident.

Most of the morning was taken up with the examining of jurrors. Theodore Hollister is representing the plaintiff.

F. I. Salter Takes Place of George L. Tyler, Resigned.

George L. Tyler has resigned as guardian of Cuthbert J. Petre and the court has appointed F. I. Salter to take his place.

Some time ago Petre made application to the court for a new guardian, claiming that he failed to get along with Mr. Tyler and that arrangements would be more saisfactory all around if a new guardian was appointed.

Some few weeks ago Petre, without the knowledge or consent of his guardian, slipped off and married a Superior woman.

Petre is now making Superior his home.

WIFE SEEKS DAMAGES FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Channing, Mich., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of the death of her husband, Mrs. Anna Plante of Nahma, Delta county, has brought suit against the Bay de Noquet Lumber company for $10,000 damages. Plante was killed at the company's saw mill at Nahma one year ago. His clothing was caught in the shafting as he was engaged in oiling the machinery and he was whirled to his death. It is charged by the widow that the machinery was not properly protected.

ALMOST AN EPIDEMIC

Forty-Five Cases of Scarlet Fever in the City.

Contagious Hospital Will Be Completed By Next September.

Scarlet fever has taken a sudden spurt in Duluth, and there are now more cases of the disease in the city than for some time past. The total number is forty-five, all under quarantine. The health department is not very optimistic over the outlook, but everything possible is being done to bring down the total, and it is believed the number can be kept from increasing.

The urgent need of a city contagious hospital is again brought home by the present situation. With such a hospital, it is claimed it would be an easy proposition to check the spread of the disease, by isolating all cases, and giving them the proper care. It is believed that danger of epidemics of contagious diseases will be done away with, once the hospital is in operation.

Preliminaries for the construction of the building are now well under way. Bids on the work of construction will be advertised for next week. Health Commissioner Patton said this morning that the building should be completed by the middle of next September. Building operations will be pushed forward with all possible speed.

BOYLE'S STORY BADLY JOLTED

Youngstown, Ohio, May 11.—James Boyle's story of the death of Daniel Reeble, Jr., which occurred fourteen years ago, received a severe jolt today when George Batteiger, who was near the scene of the attack when Reeble met his death, related his version of the case.

Batteiger says he was standing in front of a restaurant, a short distance from the spot where Reeble's body was found, when Reeble fell. He heard the thud which followed the striking of the body on the sidewalk and had started an investigation as to the cause of the noise when he was met by Michael Donnelly, a patrolman, who had also heard the body fall. The two men walked up to the scene of the accident and picked up Reeble, who was unconscious and at the point of death.

Batteiger saw no one in the vicinity in which the accident took place until joined by Donnelly. Until Batteiger told his story today Donnelly had forgotten Batteiger's presence when the body was found. He soon recalled Batteiger helping him pick up the body, however, and corroborated his story in every particular. Donnelly had been in the vicinity of the accident throughout the evening and he does not believe that either Dan Shay or James Boyle was on his beat throughout the whole night. He knew them both well.

IF IT DISAPPEARS, IT'S ECZEMA

How to Tell Whether a Skin Affection Is An Inherited Blood Disease or Not.

Sometimes it is hard to determine whether a skin affection is a sign of a blood disorder or simply a form of eczema. Even physicians are often puzzled in their diagnosis. The best way for any one afflicted is to go to the Lyceum Pharmacy and W. A. Abbett's in Duluth, Holmberg's in Superior, or any good druggist who handles pure drugs and obtain 50 cents' worth of poslam. Apply this, and if the itching stops at once and the trouble is cured in a few days it may be set down as having been eczema, as this is the way poslam acts in the worst cases of eczema, and in curing acne, herpes, blotches, tetter, piles, salt rheum, rash, barber's and other forms of itch, scaly scalp, and all surface skin affections.

Any one who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, can secure, by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

YOUR PIANO SHOULD BE A KNABE

THERE ARE SEVERAL REASONS WHY

THE Knabe is the most carefully constructed piano of the day. It is made to measure up to the Knabe standard of excellence. Each detail is a perfect part—it must be so or it is rejected by the Knabe workman. Not only is each component part a finished product in itself, but the thoroughness of Knabe construction is followed out in the space of time given to the assembling of the thousand and one parts comprising the completed instrument. In considering a piano you may never have thought of this—it is worthy of consideration, as are the various "reasons why" that are hidden behind the highly veneered exterior of the incomparable Knabe.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

"There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, Than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

Shakespeare becomes more and more wonderful as time passes. Ann Hathaway perhaps never once mentioned rummage sales to him, in all the course of their whirlwind courtship and more leisurely married life and yet he knew—somehow he knew.

He knew that some time in the unsprouted seeds of futurity there lay the possibility of twentieth century women gathering together an alert bit of bric-a-brac entitled "Mercury" with many pairs of tattered pillow shams and all of the multitudinous things in between and calling it a rummage sale.

Horatio's philosophy never even had the slightest suggestion of such.

The women of the board of directors of the children's home are so busy they can't rest at nights. Today all day, and yesterday all day, there were busy at 107 West Superior street, where their sale is to be held tomorrow and Thursday, gathering in the dray loads of contributions, sorting them and marking them, and getting ready for the great event.

Mrs. A. C. Hubbell, who so capably managed the sale last year, is again the general manager. Assisting her as floor managers are Mrs. T. J. Davis and Mrs. S. R. Holden. Miss Katherine Hubbell is in charge of the millinery department; Mrs. T. W. Hoopes of the children's clothing; Mrs. J. H. McLean of shoes; Miss Hoatson, bric-a-brac; Mrs. J. H. Crowley of furniture, draperies and pictures; Mrs. Henry H. Myers of women's clothing; Mrs. C. E. Lunn, books and magazines; Mrs. R. N. Marble of coats and wraps; Mrs. A. D. Goodman, women's waists; Mrs. J. N. McKindley of women's and children's underwear; Mrs. J. B. Richards and Mrs. John Panton, men's underwear.

The contributions have been many, and the women in charge of the affair feel that they are not only adding to the funds available for the home, but are able to offer many good articles at small cost to many people who will be glad of the opportunity of securing them. Shoes, dresses and coats in great abundance, and in many cases showing few if any signs of wear, are among the contributions, and two very busy days are anticipated.

More than $300 was realized last year from the sale, and it is expected that even more will result this year, for the affair has been even more carefully planned.

The patrons of the Y. W. C. A. dining room, which has not been open for a week, were delighted at the opportunity of again getting their meals on the cafeteria plan and during the two hours that dinner is served the dining room was well filled. The room is situated to the left of the avenue entrance to the building and is large and well lighted, having windows along the entire length of two sides. The woodwork is in dark oak with brown walls and lighter ceiling and brown linoleum on the floor. The tables and chairs are also of oak and more than 200 can be served at once.

The equipment of the kitchen, the serving tables and all of the features of the dining room are most modern and up to date and the assistants in charge of this department of the work take delight in the serving of the meals in the new room. The dining room will be open regularly from now on, dinner and supper to be served as usual.

COTTON PRINTS.

Delightful For Curtains and Draperies.

Cotton prints that are an excellent imitation of the best designs in the fine old French and East Indian styles are a new decoration for bedrooms that are not expensive, and both wash well and keep their beautiful colors. They are made wide enough to hang gracefully from almost any window, says an exchange.

Modern housekeepers of discernment are tending more and more to these reasonably priced window draperies, which can be washed frequently, with damage to neither looks nor material.

Since modern medicine has shown the dangers of disease germs, few materials that cannot be frequently washed are used in up-to-date homes. This has done much to bring the old-fashioned cotton printed fabrics back into favor for bedroom hangings of any and every description.

Most housekeepers prefer them to stuffs that will not wash, as there is always a feeling of cleanliness in a bedroom where the draperies constantly go to the laundry and return immaculately finished off.

But even in rooms where the curtains cannot be washed they should be taken down at least once a week and, if possible, kept in the sunshine for several hours. They are bound to collect dust germs, cobwebs and every kind of unclean particles at their tops and in the gathers in the material.

These cotton prints are also much used for covering large arm chairs. Cushions covered in the same material may be heaped up in the big, roomy chairs and add much to the beauty of the effect.

Cushion covers should never be sewed on to the cushions themselves, and then they can be washed whenever soiled and will always present an attractive appearance, and besides be much improved from a sanitary standpoint. If the cushion covers are sewed on their usefulness will hardly outlast a couple of months, for it is impossible to wash the covers in an ordinary way and no amount of cleaning fluids can perform the simple but effective work of the old-fashioned washtub and ironing board.

VALUE OF MEMORY.

No Success Can Be Attained Without It.

What would life be without remembrance? There is but one answer, "A sad and barren waste." What accidents have happened, what opportunities and lives have been lost, and all because some one did not remember. "I forgot!" What a flat, lame and even criminal excuse for negligence and wrong-doing!

From the generals, who knew the names and faces of all their soldiers, to the merchant princes of today who can tell the prices in the world's market; in fact, all the most successful business men and women have possessed wonderful memories, writes Henry Dickson in Health Culture. It is this power which has enabled them to transact such a vast amount of business and in so short a time. The cultivation of memory and thought should be the basis of all education. In this day of competition, when the demands of commercial and professional life are becoming more and more exacting in its details, facts and figures to be mastered and remembered, only the possessor of a strong and tenacious memory can succeed and hold his own in the world's broad field of battle.

It is an accepted fact that the brain centers and cortax are best for life's business at 35, and he who does not reach out after new brain development loses an ounce of brain weight every five years. It is equally important that the memory of children should be strengthened. Has it never occurred to teachers that while thousands of principles, rules and facts are being, as it were, actually crammed into the minds of their pupils, frequently weakening the same, that no attempt has ever been made to teach them how to remember? The mind of the pupil in many cases is weakened by cramming, over-pressure, when by proper training in the beginning the mind is strengthened. It is now agreed by all physiologists that the capacity of the memory is unlimited.

Thousands of persons fail in life through lack of a good memory. It is impossible to command success in business or social life without it. The same is true in conversation and public speaking. Many living in obscurity might rise in the world if they knew how to express themselves.

No Ribbons or Puffs.

Ribbons, silk and velvet, white, black and multi-colored, have been twined and twisted through rolls and puffs of hair to such an unlimited extent that it is a happy relief to know this ribbon threading is no longer in first fashion.

It is a pleasure to see an untrimmed head; an equal pleasure to know that it is no longer considered necessary to sport unlimited bought locks.

With the simpler styles of hair dressing the over-frizzled and marcelled head is also losing favor.

Another blessed change in the opinion of those who do not care for the purely artificial, even though it be the style.

Fad for Scarfs.

At Palm Beach every other woman wore a flowered chiffon scarf, or one of the Syrian metal affairs draped over shoulders, and the favorite drapery is in hood effect, the folds of the scarf hanging loosely at the back. The shop windows are now full of the brilliant Syrian scarfs, some with gold and others with silver tinsel sewed to the mesh. These scarfs are supposed to be washable and even the simplest pattern requires a month of patient work. This summer the scarfs will be much worn with thin frocks and will be thrown, Highland lad fashion, over one shoulder like a plaidie.

WEST END

CUTTING AWAY POINT OF ROCKS

Stone Crusher Will Resume Operations on Dangerous Cliff.

Operations on the cutting away of the projections of the point of rocks on Superior street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues west, will begin tomorrow. The city stone crusher and a crew of fifteen men will be put to work.

A stone quarry was operated there last year by the city and a quantity of rock removed, crushed and laid on the streets. The dangerous boulders will be removed first, after which the regular quarry work will begin.

New Laundry.

A new laundry will be established in the near future at the West end.

Franklin Stevenson, formerly connected with the Home laundry at 17 North Twentieth avenue west, will establish a laundry at 2022 West Superior street. The quarters are now occupied by J. F. Vidler, plumber, but it is understood that Mr. Stevenson has secured a long-time lease on the property.

The place will be remodeled and equipped to suit the new establishment. Mr. Stevenson has left for Chicago on a purchasing trip and will install the machinery for the new plant within the next few weeks.

Father V. Guillet of the St. Jean Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, has been called to Quebec, Can., to the bedside of his dying father. Rev. Guillet's father is over 86 years of age, and was fast failing when word was received here.

Opening a Success.

The grand opening of Enger & Olson's new store at Nineteenth avenue west and Superior street, last Saturday, was a very successful event. The big store was crowded with people, between 4,000 and 5,000 visitors being present during the afternoon and evening. The firm has outgrown the former quarters at 2012 West Superior street, and the new location gives it the opportunity of branching out and carrying the larger lines of house furnishing goods demanded by the trade. The big store is well filled with new goods, and the firm is offering some especially attractive bargains.

This Is What "Kayser" Means

That name in the hem of a silk glove means this:

The makers of the gloves have the infinite skill attained by 25 years of experience.

The pure silk fabric is our own famous weave. It is so pure, so perfectly woven, we put a guarantee in each pair.

The fit is perfection, as millions of women know. The tips are our patent tips.

The finish is due to fifty operations through which every Kayser glove goes.

Since the women of today were children, these have been the standard silk gloves. But you may get a glove that is vastly inferior unless you look for the name in the hem.

MYSTERY WEEK AT THE BIJOU

The Great Albini Feature of Good Vaudeville Bill.

This is mystery week at the Bijou. The bill which opened at the popular vaudeville theater last evening is featured with the best mystery act ever seen in Duluth. Albini, who presents the act, does not use all the dark hangings and curtains that other performers affect, and presents his act with a bare stake, the brick wall of the theater showing plainly. His trunk act is a marvel. In plain view of the audience he lines the empty trunk with plate glass, closes it and opens it a moment later to disclose a young woman curled up inside.

In the cabinet he not only produces the girl from empty air, but also shows the interior lifted up as a bedroom, with a complete set of furniture. The girl is shown reposing on the bed. The act far surpasses anything of the kind yet seen in Duluth.

The rest of the program is of a high standard. Earl Gillihan and Will Murray have a black-face act that is better than most of the burnt cork turns, and introduces a decided novelty in female impersonations. Mabel Carew, who used to be a queen of burlesque, has a character specialty which gets the hands.

Mac M. Barnes and Louise Remming, assisted by Robert W. Graham, are sponsors for a comedy sketch called "Mrs. Potter's First." It has some bright lines and takes well.

Bessie Allen calls herself the California dancing doll. She can call herself anything she wants to and get away with it when it comes to the feet-twinkling specialty.

Harry Webb sings "We're Almost Home," with the aid of colored views, and the moving pictures are interesting.

THE DUTY ON SUGAR.

There isn't much hope that the campaign for free sugar will be effective, but it is a good cause, and should have the fullest support. That it loses before congress will be no evidence whatever that it is not a good cause.

A committee from the wholesale grocers of the country recently submitted to congress a request for a reduction in the sugar duty. Among other things, the memorial said that the abolition of the sugar duty would accomplish a saving of 2 cents a pound to the American consumers of sugar.

"This means," added the committee, "that when a housewife purchases ten pounds of sugar, for which she now pays 50 cents, she would under free sugar buy the same quantity for 30 cents."

That means, rather, that when a housewife now buys 30 cents worth of sugar, she pays for it 50 cents—20 cents more than it is worth. That 20 cents is the tariff tax.

Last year the American people used 3,185,079 tons of sugar, or 6,370,158,000 pounds. The tariff tax on that at 2 cents a pound was $127,403,160.

The total domestic production of sugar, from the sugar beet farms of the North and the can plantations of the South, was 1,384,000 tons. At 3 cents per pound, the proper retail value of that sugar, it was worth $83,040,000.

To encourage the production of sugar worth at retail $83,040,000, the American people last year paid a tax of $127,403,160, which is nearly $50,000,000 more than the total retail value of the domestic production.

Is that good business? Is it fair to the consumer? Isn't it, in fact, as absurd as a man's attempt to lift himself by his own bootstraps? The people could far better afford to buy out every cane plantation, every sugar beet farm, and every domestic sugar refinery, and devote them to some useful purpose.

No more convincing evidence of the absurdly insane lengths to which devotion to the god of tariff greed has carried this country could be furnished than this. The policy of taxing the people $127,000,000 a year for the benefit of a domestic industry whose total product at retail is actually worth only $83,000,000 a year is utterly lacking in common sense and honesty.

To maintain the duty on sugar means to tax every consumer of sugar 40 per cent of the retail price on every pound he uses, causing an increase of 66 2-3 per cent in the price. That 40 per cent tax is ostensibly to foster an industry which has not yet succeeded, after having had for years the benefit of the tariff bounty, in producing enough sugar to amount, at retail prices, to more than 65 per cent of the total amount of the tariff tax. In other words, the domestic sugar industry is costing the people 50 per cent more every year than its total production is worth at retail.

PUNISHING KIDNAPERS.

Justice moved with no laggard step in the case of James and Helen Boyle, kidnapers, and it is well. There are only a few crimes so grave and so menacing to society that extreme punishment is witnessed by the public with keen and even vindictive satisfaction, and kidnaping is one of them. The man goes to prison for life and the woman for twenty-five years, which nearly amounts to the same thing, and while these sentences are severe, they are abundantly warranted by the offense.

It is well, too, that the time between the offense and the beginning of the punishment should have been short. The chief object of sentences like these is not so much to punish the offenders, though that is a necessary element, as it is to deter others from committing this offense. If kidnaping were lightly punished, no home would be free from the peril. The Minnesota legislature lately made the punishment for kidnaping life imprisonment, and that action was a wholesome warning to unscrupulous people that Minnesota will show no mercy to this offense against childhood and the peace and happiness of the home.

GET OUT OF DOORS.

With the spring comes the new life of the year. Nature's factory is humming with industry. The trees, upon which is yet no touch of green,—though there is a bare hint of it,—are preparing to burst forth in vivid summer tints when the south wind and the sunshine give the word. The grass grows greener every day, and under the surface of the ground the summer's bounty of flowers and foliage is getting ready to spring forth in glad splendor.

There is new life in the very air, and the fresh breezes and the mellowing sunshine invite humanity forth to breathe it in. It is a wholesome delight, full of healthful pleasure, to get out in the woods and witness the birth of summer and the miraculous resurrection of the flowers and trees that seemed to die with the coming of the winter's frosty blasts, but that simply went into retirement to await spring's life-giving touch.

It is good and wholesome and full of pleasure to get out of doors at any time of the year—to throw one's self into the arms of Mother Nature and let her administer her doses of fresh air and sunlight, the greatest medicines in all the world. But it is especially joyous to get out of doors in the spring time, to witness the glorious resurrection of the summer and reverently to contemplate the mysteries and miracles of nature. For the sick, it means new life and health. For the well, it means new zest to living. For all, it means a realization of the partnership in a beautiful and wonderful world which belongs to the poorest as much as to the richest.

This getting out of doors is not only a pleasure and a delight, but it is a duty. It is your duty to know and appreciate the wonders that nature works; it is your duty to give your bodily system the fresh air and sunlight that it needs to keep normal. There is new life and hope and health in the out-of-doors; there is sickness and pessimism and weariness in close confinement to the artificial conditions of the home and shop and office.

Trudeau's famous experiment points the lesson. Trudeau inoculated a number of rabbits with tuberculosis, and then divided them into two classes. One class he turned out of doors, and the other class he kept indoors. The rabbits that were turned out of doors all got well; the rabbits that were left in the house all died of consumption.

Man is naturally an outdoor animal, just as much as the rabbit. He has been ingenious enough to build himself weather-tight houses, and to surround himself with comforts and luxuries, but he has done it so well that there is always a temptation to make too much of the indoor comfort and too little of the outdoor brush with nature that he needs to keep strong and well. The steam heat and the weather-tight windows are all very well, but they constitute a privilege that it is very easy to abuse; and the penalties of its abuse are weakened systems, lack of vitality, enfeebled organs, sluggish circulation, bad stomachs, bad nerves, and all the defects that breed a horde of deadly ailments.

Get out of doors. Get back to nature. Drink in the fresh air and bathe in the sunlight. Study nature and marvel at her miracles.

THE FARCE AT WASHINGTON.

If the vested interests of this country are back of Senator Aldrich in his fight for a sham tariff revision, as they seem to be, they are showing very short vision and very small intelligence. The only way to quiet the agitation for tariff revision is to revise the tariff in a way that will give real relief to the consumer. The Aldrich program will not only afford no relief whatever, but it will make conditions even worse than before. That cannot fail to give the demand for real tariff revision a new stimulus, and to add to it a vein of bitterness that will banish all hope of political and economic peace.

The Republican party pleaded, last campaign, that the friends of the tariff be permitted to revise it. They are showing, now, how they go about it, and the result will be that the people will have no further patience with revision by the friends of the tariff. They will most assuredly turn revision over to the enemies of the tariff, if enough of them can be found, and that would mean returning the patient to the operating table for a more critical operation, with attendant disturbance of business all along the line. Real revision could be done now, if congress were free, with far less disturbance than will be possible for a long time to come. The failure to provide real revision will be doing an injury not only to the tariff-grabbing interests, but to the whole American people.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota showed that a realization of how the country looks at it has reached Washington when he said the other day: "What we are doing now is a mere farce, mere boys' play. The greatest enemy of protection is the man who would abuse the policy because he has the power to do so."

THAT "BUSHEL TAX" ON WHEAT.

At the conclusion of an editorial attacking very ably and demolishing very completely the "bushel tax" on wheat and the principle on which it is founded, the Sauk Rapids Sentinel-Free Press departs from the paths of truth and virtue long enough to add this: "And, notice this, most of the same members who voted against the tonnage tax voted for this grain tax."

Of course this isn't pertinent to any discussion now pending, whether it is of the bushel tax or the tonnage tax; also, it isn't true, in the sense in which it is intended. Several other newspapers in this state have made the same charge, and at least one, noted for its carelessness as to honesty or facts when seeking the accomplishment of an object or the carrying of a point, has charged that the bushel tax was deliberately concocted by the opponents of the tonnage tax.

These editors should, in all fairness, consult the legislative records and verify their charges before making them. It is ever so much fairer, and pleasanter, withal, to verify charges before making them than it is to attempt to verify them afterwards, with the very considerable probability that the attempt at verification may reveal the necessity of a retraction.

That's what it will reveal in this case, if the editors concerned will borrow the house and senate journals from their local representatives, and compare the vote on the tonnage tax with the vote on the bushel tax. No relation whatever will be discovered between them in either branch of the legislature. As a matter of fact, all the members of the legislature in both branches are equally innocent and equally guilty. The truth of it is that the bushel tax law, like many another law, was taken at its face value and passed without opposition and without study. On its face, it looked good, so it was passed. Its evils were not discovered in time, else unquestionably the legislature would have rejected it or the governor would have vetoed it. As The Herald recalls it, there was no dissenting voice in either branch of the legislature—not even an inquiring voice. All the criticism and explanation has followed the enactment of the law; none preceded that enactment.

The opinion of two of the best lawyers in Minnesota on the meaning of the "wide-open" tax amendment, published in The Herald Saturday evening, shows how to get rid of the bushel tax. To tax grain in elevators differently from grain in granaries is impossible under that opinion. To tax grain worth 80 cents the same as grain worth $1.25, which would be attempted by the flat tax of a quarter of a mill a bushel, is also impossible under that opinion. The thing to do is to get rid of the bushel tax on grain, and the way to do it is to take the law into the courts. This trouble would have been prevented if the legislature hadn't passed the law; but no good can be accomplished now by attempting to throw the blame for the law upon the opponents of the tonnage tax. They were in the same relation to the tonnage tax that the farmer is to the bushel tax, and if they had understood the meaning of the law they would have joined hands with the representatives of the farming district to kill it. The trouble was that the legislature passed the bill without properly considering it, and it wasn't the only bill that it passed that way, either.

Senator Clapp hit the mark when he said that the Aldrich tariff revision is a farce, except that when the consumer's side of it is figured it is pretty nearly a tragedy.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

The Honorable R. G. Mullen of some queer named spot in Mexico, who has mixed in politics in the early West, who has dabbled in copper mining in several regions of the West, and who has watched the growth of the great Southwest from the days when that territory was more wild and crude than it is at the present time, is at the Spalding hotel.

Mr. Mullen was in Cripple Creek, Colo., when the Colorado mining town was nothing but a camp. He jumped upon a drygoods box that was in front of one of the shanty stores of the place and placed in nomination the first mayor of the town. Mixing in politics was dangerous in those early Western days, but if you will accompany Mr. Mullen to his room he will dig down in his trunk and unpack a very large and sincere looking gun. Then, if you are at all interested in guns, he will give you an exhibition of how to be first with your gun at point of watchful readiness.

And Mr. Mullen says that even today down in Texas and New Mexico they tote guns and are powerful ready to use them upon various and sundry occasions. If you have not a gun and a Mexican finds this fact out, he may come sauntering around you and may try to start a young revolution with you. However, if you pack a healthy looking shooting iron somewhere around the confines of your person, this same Mexican will be as meek and as unobtrusive as a country cousin at a society function.

It is for this reason that they tote guns down in New Mexico, according to Mr. Mullen.

But though they have laws against the playing of poker, drinking of whisky upon railroad trains, and carrying shooting irons in the broad domain of the state of Texas, Mr. Mullen says there is more nose inflamer drunk, more poker played and more guns toted in Texas than ever before in the history of that broad and fertile state.

The people down that way, some of them at least, in the opinion of Mr. Mullen, just naturally get hectic when the lawmakers put new restrictions upon them, and to show their contempt for the men who gather at the capital of the state every so often for the purpose of framing laws, these citizens play poker, drink whisky upon trains, and tote large-sized shooting irons.

The New Mexico country is developing, and capital is being freely invested in the mining operations, according to Mr. Mullen. Within the past few months the mining operations have increased heavily. More work has been started, mines that had been abandoned are being worked, and new fields are being developed. This is due to the rally in the price of copper and to the general feeling that things are going to reach a better basis, thinks Mr. Mullen. He is of the opinion that the next few years will witness a wonderful development of the great territory of the Southwest. He says people are flocking down there, increased capital is being invested there, agricultural resources are being developed, and in every way the country is taking upon itself increased activities and is making wonderful strides toward a greater era of prosperity.

According to Mr. McGovern, it was 90 in the shade when he left Sioux City Friday. People were tearing around in automobiles in shirt sleeves and straw hats. It was sultry, hot, midsummer weather down in Iowa, and to step into early March rawness of atmosphere made the man from Iowa shiver and long for a hot wave.

Why He Was Honored.

Springfield Union: A visitor to one of the hotels at Carlsbad, Germany, tells the story of a gentleman to whom was paid the most profound attention. Neither the visitor thus so strangely honored nor the other guests could make out what this deference meant. At last some one looked in the printed register, or Kurgast Liste. There was the entry, "James the 1st, King of Buffalo, N. Y." It was the native printer's rendering of the American's name, James I. King, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE WEATHER.

This morning broke clear and fair again, but it cloudup before noon and the weather man looks for rain tonight, with brisk easterly winds.

A year ago today it was warm and cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 4:36 o'clock and will set this after noon at 7:31 making fourteen hours and fifty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance central Monday morning over British Columbia and Utah have joined forces, forming a trough of low pressure extending north to south over the Western Dakotas and Western Nebraska. During the past twenty-four hours this pressure condition caused somewhat higher temperature in the Western Lake region, Upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, Kansas, Oklahoma and Eastern Texas, besides rain over the Northwestern states. Rain also fell over the Ohio valley, Eastern Lake region and Atlantic states due to a disturbance that has advanced from the upper Ohio valley to the New England coast. High pressure areas central over east-central districts and off the Oregon coast have caused cooler weather in Atlantic states and the Far West."

At Palm Beach.

Robert Hunter in Chicago Daily Socialist: David was, you remember, the valient young chief of the hosts of Israel. Surrounding him were many mighty warriors.

Tired and exhausted after a terrible battle with the Philistines, David one evening exclaimed:

"O, that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Bethlehem that is at the gate!"

When night came three stalwart men descended over the hills, into the very midst of the sleeping Philistines, and filled a vessel from the well of Bethlehem.

Having startled the sleeping enemy, they cut their way through, bounded over the hills, back into the camp of David.

They brought the water and gave it to David to drink, and when David saw that his men had risked their lives for this draught, he took the water, poured it on the ground as an offering to the Lord, saying:

"God forbid that I should do this thing. Shall I drink the blood of these men who have put their lives in jeopardy? For with the jeopardy of their lives have they brought it."

With the jeopardy of men's lives all things are brought. Coal, iron and ore are brought by the jeopardy of men's lives. All food, clothing, shelter are brought by the jeopardy of men's lives.

Each year millions lay down their lives to feed, clothe and shelter humanity.

In field and forest, in the bowels of the earth, before red-hot ovens and white-hot furnaces men sweat and toil in jeopardy of their lives to feed and clothe and shelter the world.

Only yesterday in the world's chronicle this continent was a wilderness. Today it is transformed.

Fields are rich with produce. Cities are dotted over hills and valleys and plains. Factories and workshops and railroads cover the land. Flocks and herds are on every hillside—all because with the jeopardy of men's lives have those riches been brought.

Every bit of food we eat, every soft bed we sleep in, every kindly home and shelters us, every stick of wood that warms us, has been brought with the jeopardy of men's lives.

And do we even ask with David, "Shall I drink the blood of these men whose lives have been put in jeopardy to bring these things"?

Last night I saw 200 men and women sit through the night at gaming tables. Hundreds and thousands were lost at a throw of the dice or a turn of the wheel.

Women beautifully gowned, with bare arms and necks, encircled with pearls and diamonds, men with flushed faces, sat drinking the blood of the workers whose lives were put in jeopardy to bring them their riches.

Precious fellow lives toil, day after day, night after night, without hope or prospect of hope, precious, living dark, sunless, anxious lives to maintain the men and women of the upper world.

And the blood of the lowly is drunk, nervously, thoughtlessly, greedily, with few to exclaim:

"May God forbid that I should do this thing. Shall I drink the blood of these men, who have put their lives in jeopardy? For with the jeopardy of their lives have they brought it."

Bishop Greer and Stage Indecency.

From an address by Bishop Potter's successor at the Church club's dinner in New York: I have in mind the evil, great and growing, working its way into the drama and the theater. I am not an enemy of the drama or the theater, but I do condemn the immodest, the salacious and the indecent of the drama and the innuendoes on the stage. It is time for the church and the churchmen to speak out in opposition, to protest and to make that protest loud and strong. This is one of the things that the church clubs can do, to cut out this canker for the sake of the drama and for the sake of society, the rising generation, the growing youth of both sexes.

A Wonderful Device.

One Way He Could Help.

Everybody's Magazine: An Eastern college graduate applied for work in a Michigan lumber camp. He was told to get busy on one end of a cross-saw, the other end being in charge of an old experienced lumberman. At first all went well, but at the end of the second day the young man's strength began to wane. Suddenly the old man stopped the saw and spat.

"Sonny," he said, not unkindly, "I don't mind yer ridin' on this saw, but if it's jest the same to you I wish you'd keep yer feet off the ground."

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Redwood Reveille: As almost all of our exchanges are in the southern half of the state, we looked for an almost unanimous censure of Governor Johnson for his veto of the tonnage tax. To our surprise, half of the comments are laudatory, most of the remainder ascribe to him only right motives, and only a handful burst forth in the old-fashioned snorting diatribes with which the ancient partisan was wont to squelch his opponent.

Roseau Times: The friends of Governor Johnson claim that his veto of the tonnage tax will recommend him to the business world as a safe and sane presidential possibility. From press on Governor Johnson's press agents will endeavor to keep him in the limelight, and launch his name at the next Democratic national convention as the man who can lead his party to victory. As it now stands, Gov. Johnson could carry Minnesota by a handsome majority, and if congress makes a mess of the tariff bill, would carry the state by a whooping majority as a candidate for president on any old ticket.

Walker Pilot: Haven't the old Republican sores of six years ago healed sufficiently to have us all unite for Bob Dunn for governor? Either Dunn or Dinehart could send the state Democratic barometer down to zero.

Aitkin Republican: The Republican party in the last campaign promised tariff revision downward, and if the country does not get it, the party will be held responsible. The people have not very much technical or hair-splitting knowledge about the tariff, but they can tell next year whether a given protected article costs as much as it does this year.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: The Adrian Democrat philosopher has discovered that it is much easier for a father to support ten children when they are young than it is for ten grown-up children to support one father when he is old.

Wabasha Herald: The assessors have begun their work, and for the next thirty days, at least, Johnnie owns the best team, Mary Ann is undisputed owner of the piano, grandma owns the bed and table, the clock won't run at all—and poor old dad, if all he owns is listed, he still will be eligible to enter the poorhouse.

Hutchinson Leader: Good lawyers claim that the legislature had no constitutional right to appropriate money out of the general revenue fund for roads and bridges and city streets, and the matter will probably be taken to the supreme court. Whether that august body will have sufficient nerve to kick to pieces that wonderfully contracted "pork barrel" is a question that interests us all.

Of Those Who Walk Alone.

Women there are on earth, most sweet and high,
Who lose their own, and walk bereft and lonely,
Loving that one lost heart until they die,
Loving it only.

And so they never see beside them grow
Children, whose coming is like breath of flowers;
Consoled by subtler loves the angels know
Through childless hours.

Good deeds they do; they comfort and bless
In duties others put off till the morrow;
Their look is balm, their touch is tenderness
To all in sorrow.

Betimes the world smiles at them, as 't were shame,
This maiden gulse, long after youth's departed;
But in God's book they bear another name—
"The faithful-hearted."

Faithful in life, and faithful unto death,
Such souls, in sooth, illume with lustier splendid
That glimpsed, glad land, wherein the vision saith,
Earth's wrongs are ended.

—RICHARD BURTON in the Century.

Pure Food—How We Got It.

William Allen White in the May American Magazine: The people of this country were eating poisoned food. The president, the secretary and the treasurer met, discussed the matter and the Pure Food association, greatly to be sniffed at by the entrenched forces of culinary poison, began its work. It had no money. It had no newspapers. Newspapers and magazines ten years ago were taking millions of dollars in advertising from manufacturers of improper foods. But the pure food show began to appear in American cities and towns just as the tuberculosis exhibit is moving over the country today. The people learned the truth. The wholesale grocers' associations took up the fight, and in spite of all the money behind the manufacturers of the adulterated and poisonous food, the pure food and drug act passed congress and became a law. The sacrifice of hundreds of men and women who were willing to give their time, their service and their names to the cause of pure food for the masses was more potent than all the legislative machinery, all the lobby of retailers, all the flood of telegrams from growers and all the forces of selfishness.

The Miser.

Ex-Senator "Bob" Taylor of Tennessee: I would rather fill my purse with money and keep its gates ajar to my happy girls while they yet linger under my roof, than to clutch it with a miser's hand until all the harpstrings of youth are broken and all its music is forever fled. I would rather spend my last nickel for a bag of striped marbles to gladden the hearts of my barefooted boys than to deny them their childish pleasures and leave them a bag of gold to quarrel over when I am dead. I abhor the pitiless hawk that circles in the air only to swoop down and strangle the song of the linnet or bury its talons in the heart of the dove. I despise the soulless man whose greed for gold impels him to strangle the laughter and song of his own family.

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "If they are looking for a poor man for ambassador to Great Britain," said the tall passenger in the aisle, "I'm willing to go."

Busby looked him over.

"But they don't want a poor ambassador," he growled.

Philadelphia Ledger: "New York's last horse car has just been abolished," the manuscript began. The editor read no farther. "This thing of writing stories about conditions three or four centuries hence has been overdone already," he said.

New York Sun: Knicker—Bryan has bought a farm in Texas.

Bocker—He should be able to run it; he never dries up.

Cleveland Leader: "Why do they always make pictures of Cupid without any clothes?"

"So he won't ever be out of style."

Philadelphia Ledger: "We hope," said the spokesman of the committee, "to enlist your support in favor of a clean stage."

"You have it," responded the theatrical manager, heartly. "Why, almost every one of my plays opens with a girl dusting everything in sight."

Washington Star: "Your wife insists that women are always superior to men?"

"No," answered Mr. Meekton; "the other day Henrietta was real affable and patient toward a man on the street car who stood up and took it for granted that she wasn't as well able to hang on to a strap as he was."

The blindness of pups and kittens ends in nine days; that of men and women lasts until the undertaker gets them.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: An easy thing for a widow to guess is she couldn't have made worse luck the second time.

The more money a man could save by not having his bad habits, the more enjoyment he can get by having them.

A woman's imagination is strong enough to make an unreal thing seem more real to her than the real thing to a man.

The reason a woman knows the children could catch the measles when there isn't any around is that they caught the chickenpox when it was next door.

Words to Be Remembered.

Chicago Evening Post: From the speech of Senator Albert Baird Cummins of Iowa before the United States senate we print the following:

"I have heard it said over and over again since we began this discussion, not, of course, in public debate, but in private conversation, that there are but few people comparatively who were interested in a reduction of duties. I know that the voices of those who are clamoring for an increase of custom house taxation are more distinctly heard in the corridors and committee rooms. There will come a time presently when the clamor of the millions who want relief will sound like the roar of a thousand Niagaras from one ocean to the other.

"I have heard it said many times that those people who are insisting on tariff revision were not familiar with the subject and had no opportunity to know whether duties were too high or too low. This distrust or skepticism of the judgment of the common man is a fundamental mistake often made and always atoned for in sackcloth and ashes."

These words we emphasize for the sake of the Ultimate Consumer. He knows that they are true and he knows that he has been waiting these many weeks to have some one say them for him. Today he should firmly determine that if Senator Aldrich forces the necessity upon him he will make them good beyond all question of doubt or misunderstanding.

A CHECK ON EXPENSES

Discussion of East End Pole Line Condemnations Postponed.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

Adopted resolution calling upon heads of city departments to be more careful and economical in the purchase of supplies, and demanding that they make detailed reports of purchases to council.

Postponed for one week condemnation of pole wire lines and conduits in the East end.

Granted certain pole and conduit permits to Duluth Telephone company.

Ordered $10,000 worth of new sidewalks.

Board of public works recommended that contract for furnishing gasoline engine for aerial bridge be awarded to Minneapolis firm, but the award was held up by the council for further investigation.

Ratified appointments by mayor of civil service commissioner and two poundmasters.

The fact that City Comptroller McCormick had part of his annual report booklets bound in stiff board covers, and then asked the city to pay for the work, when heads of other departments had to be satisfied with paper covers for the whole edition of their reports, resulted last night in the city council adopting a resolution which practically requires that before a purchase of supplies the city official wishing to buy them must make a requisition to the council.

The city refused to pay the city comptroller's bill for stiff board covers, so he cut the number of those particular covers down to fifty, and paid the bill out of his own pocket. An ordinance passed several years ago requires that a requisition shall be submitted to the council before supplies can be purchased. While this will not be strictly enforced, the heads of all city departments will have to make a satisfactory explanation to the council of goods purchased, or else will be held personally responsible, and have to pay the bills themselves.

The general condemnation of rights-of-way for telephone and telegraph poles in the residence district of the East end was postponed for one week. A permit was granted, however, to the Duluth Telephone company for certain conduits and pole lines in the East end. The Real Estate exchange last night submitted a resolution, adopted at the last meeting of the organization, recommending that no more pole lines be allowed between Eighth avenue east and Twenty-eighth avenue east and between South and North streets.

The council ratified the appointment by Mayor Haven of Frank J. O'Donnell as successor to F. J. Dacey on the board of civil service commissioners, and also the appointments of John and Alex Wade, District No. 6, and Burt Harwood, District No. 10, as poundmasters.

At every council meeting now a number of sidewalk contracts are awarded, upon the recommendation of the board of public works. The contracts ordered last night, most of them in the central part of the city, will represent an expenditure of about $10,000.

The board of public works was directed to inspect awnings in the business district and learn whether they were the required height above the sidewalk.

Complaint has been made that the constant throwing of weights on cement sidewalks by hack drivers and teamsters along Superior street breaks the cement and makes constant repairs necessary. The council last night instructed the chief of police to put a stop to the practice if there is any city ordinance covering the point. If there is no such ordinance one will be prepared and submitted to the council.

A number of bids received by the board of public works for furnishing a gasoline engine for running the aerial bridge car in cases of emergency, were turned over to the council last night, with the recommendation that a Minneapolis firm be given the contract. The award was postponed for a week, for further investigation.

Oneota and Hazelwood residents at a mass meeting last week adopted a resolution thanking the aldermen who voted against the Meier saloon license, and also thanking the mayor for his veto. The resolution was read at the council meeting last night.

The city has instructed the Duluth Street Railway company to set its ties in cement in any improvements that are made on the West Fourth street line. The railway company, in a communication to the council, sets forth the claim that unless a concrete base is used for the entire street paving, it is not feasible to place it under the tracks alone. This system has not been in vogue for several years, the communication states. The company claims to have a better system, of stone blocks for tie foundations.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—An officer left here last night for St. Paul, having in custody Antonia Bova, wanted in the Minnesota capital for murder and attempted murder. He is alleged to have slain Vincenza Magna and Gestinat Magna, brothers, about two weeks ago, during a dispute over cards. At the time of the crime the killing and attempted killing were said to have been the result of a "blackhand" conspiracy, but it was subsequently learned that a gambling dispute was to blame.

BURGLARS BREAK JAIL.

Drop From Second Story With Rope Blanket Fleeing on Handcar.

Rhinelander, Wis., May 11.—Harry Wendell and James Aargard, awaiting trial on a burglary charge, escaped from the second story of the Oneida county jail Sunday. With the aid of a heavy steel bar taken from a cell door the prisoners broke a small opening in the outside brick wall. Through this they swung to the ground forty feet on a rope made from blankets.

John Morrissey, a fellow prisoner, refused to accompany them and immediately informed Sheriff Jillson of the delivery.

The surrounding country is being thoroughly scoured in search of the fugitives. They are believed to have covered many miles on a Soo line hand car stolen at Woodboro, a station west of Rhinelander.

Wendell and Aargard, when arrested at Minocqua several weeks ago, endeavored to escape by setting fire to the jail there and were nearly suffocated.

BOILING GLUE FATAL.

Milwaukee Workman Burned to Death in Vat of Substance.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 11.—Plunged into a vat of boiling glue in the plant of the United States Glue company in Carrollville, Friday afternoon, Joseph Dworsky, aged 23 years, a laborer, died in a South Milwaukee hospital.

Dworsky was at work on a platform surrounding the vats filled with the boiling fluid. Witnesses of the accident are few, but it is believed that while leaning over he lost his balance and was plunged into the vat. Boiling had thinned the glue and he rose to the surface, but his frantic efforts to climb the smooth sides of the vat were fruitless.

Other employes were attracted by his feeble cries and he was pulled out, horribly burned, but alive.

In the hospital he lingered between life and death until Sunday afternoon.

BOYLE SAYS FORKER WAS ABDUCTOR

Youngstown, Ohio, May 11.—Unless stronger proof than the word of James Boyle is offered to show that there is a mystery connected with the death of Daniel Reeble, Jr., which occurred here fourteen years ago, there will be no official investigation of the story. Daniel Reeble, father of the dead man, the police and county officials are unanimous in expressing the opinion that Boyle's story is untrue.

Mercer, Pa., May 11.—Before he was taken to the penitentiary at Pittsburg, James Boyle gave out the following interview, to be used under his name:

"By James H. Boyle, Monday, May 10, 1909.

"The complete history of the kidnaping of Willie Whitla, the origin of same and what led up to it.

"On the morning of ——, between the hours of ——, Dan Reeble, Jr., was found dead on the sidewalk in front of the Mauser block, East Federal street Youngstown, and over the prostrate form was Mr. Harry Forker of Sharon, Pa., holding in his right hand a package of letters that was gathered from the sidewalk near the dead body of Mr. Reeble.

"As he was about to depart from the vicinity he was intercepted by the writer and a man who has since passed to his reward, Mr. Dan Shay, a saloonkeeper of Oak street, Youngstown, Ohio.

"In Mr. Forker's hurry to leave the scene he failed to find two envelopes that contained four letters. The same were picked up by Mr. Shay and later taken to his place of business on Oak street.

"The writer and Mr. Shay examined and read the contents of the same, which proved beyond a doubt the presence of Mr. Forker there at that time.

Cash From Forker.

"The letters were written by a lady, two from a party in New York state and the others from Cleveland, Ohio. At a later date Mr. Forker was apprised of the fact that the writer held these letters in his possession and asked if he could use the same. A letter was immediately sent the writer by Mr. Forker stating that he (Forker) would like to have a talk with the writer, which meeting took place a day or so after Mr. Forker acknowledged he would pay a sum of money for the possession of the said letters. The amount not being considered sufficient, was refused, and from that day on and up until March, 1908, the writer, on the pretext of exposing the letters and the coincidence of Mr. Forker being discovered bending over the prostrate form of Mr. Reeble, had received at different times amounts of money from Mr. Forker to remain silent.

"About six months ago, when I returned to Sharon with my wife I met Mr. Forker on East State street and informed him that unless I received $5,000 between then and the time I intended to leave Sharon, I would hold the secret no longer.

"He then informed me that it was impossible for him to get that amount of money, but some time in April, 1909, he was to come in possession of a certain amount of money and would then turn some over to me, which was satisfactory at that time.

"On my leaving on March 12, 1909, I proceeded to Cleveland, Ohio, and on the same evening I addressed to Forker, No. 2449 East State street, Sharon, Pa., a letter which read as follows:

"'Mr. Harry Forker.—Dear Sir: I have decided not to wait any longer in regard to the money proposition, and if I don't hear from you soon there will be some exposing. Sincerely yours,

"'J. J. BAILEY.

"'Cleveland, Ohio.'

"On March 16, 1909, I received an answer to the same, which read:

"'Friend Bailey: You know the circumstances and the promise I made you when you left here, but if you are really desperately in need of money, as you profess to be, I will outline a little plan which, with your co-operation, can be successfully carried out, viz.: The abduction of J. P. Whitla's son. I can arrange to have the boy brought to Warren, Ohio, due there at 11:18, with escort.'

(There was no signature to this letter.)

"I left Cleveland at 8:15 a. m. and arrived at Warren at 10:06 a. m., then proceeded to Niles, Ohio, by street car. I boarded an Erie train and arrived at Warren at 11:18 a. m., but failing to see the boy and his escort, I got off at Warren and remained in the vicinity of the depot.

From Sharon to Warren.

"About ten minutes later, a boy and escort arrived and I was then informed that they drove from Sharon to Warren. I informed the party to take the boy up along Pittsburg & Western track, leave him there and that I would attend to the rest of it and which he proceeded to do.

"After making inquiries as to the next train to Cleveland, I brought the boy to Niles, Ohio, from there to Ashtabula and then to Cleveland. On March 22, I received a letter from Mr. Forker stating that some one had informed Mr. Whitla that they had recognized his boy on March 18 in Niles, Ohio, and that James Boyle of Sharon, was with him, also that Mr. Whitla was afraid to divulge the information for fear the boy might come to some harm and telling me to be careful and be on the alert, and that when I received the money to immediately surrender those Youngstown letters, to send same to him, Mr. Forker at Sharon, and April 23, to return half of the ransom money to him, Mr. Forker, and he would turn over the same to the party who took Willie Whitla to Warren.

"Upon learning that my name was mentioned in connection with the case, I made it a point to meet Mr. Whitla in Cleveland at Fifty-third street and St. Clair avenue; showed him the letter that passed between Mr. Forker and myself, and also the Youngstown letters, and Mr. Whitla promised that if I would substantiate the truth of the Youngstown letters, he would see that there would be no prosecution.

"I then surrendered, through Mr. Whitla, all the letters that were in my possession, and the world knows the result. I was arrested and convicted and deprived by my own counsel of telling my own story on the stand. I informed my wife the boy was brought in order to escape being quarantined in the pesthouse, and we were to be handsomely rewarded for taking care of him.

"This unfortunate woman was duped from start to finish in regard to the boy, and I was duped from the moment I let the letters go into Mr. Whitla's possession. As my counsel afterward informed me, I had nothing to show or to prove and that it was a matter of veracity—their word against mine. I had given up every scintilla I had, and now I am settled for. This story is as true as there is a God above us.

"James Boyle, Mercer, Pa., May 10."

Denial By Forker.

Sharon, Pa., May 11.—Harry Forker was seen regarding the statement issued by James Boyle implicating him in the kidnaping of Willie Whitla. He said:

"I know absolutely nothing of this case. There is nothing to it. I only know Boyle as I know other members of his family, as residents of Sharon. I have never had any dealings with him. I do not know the woman who is said to be his wife. I can conceive of no reason why Boyle should make such a statement unless it be to get even with the Whitla family for his prosecution following the abduction. Boyle never showed me any letters. Boyle did not see me in Cleveland. The whole story is a willful, malicious and slanderous lie."

J. P. Whitla denies absolutely that any such deal with Boyle occurred.

On the witness stand in the trial of Boyle he denied having seen Boyle on a street corner in Cleveland and discussed with him the kidnaping and the ransom.

After Boyle's statement had become public Mr. Whitla denied that he had seen Boyle or talked with him in Cleveland prior to his son's return and the arrest of Boyle.

"The whole statement," he said, "is a willful and malicious lie."

He called the statement given out by Boyle "rot" and "scandal," and denied it throughout in the most emphatic terms.

Records Do Not Conform.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 11.—The association of the name of Harry Forker by James Boyle, convicted kidnaper of Willie Whitla, with allegations that he was connected with the death of Dan Reeble, Jr., here in June, 1895, has not been confirmed by the police records.

Patrolman Michael Donnelly talked with Reeble only an hour prior to his death. Leaving Reeble, Donnelly was less than a block away when he heard a noise and returned and found Reeble on the sidewalk, living but unconscious. No one was in sight. No one ever has been suspected of knowing the exact manner of his death.

TAFT BOOMS THE PLAYGROUND IDEA

Thinks It Aid to Children's Strength and Morality.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 10.—The following letter of President Taft was read at the meeting of the Playground Association of America here:

"I greatly regret that I cannot be with you at your third annual congress at Pittsburg from May 10 to 14 of this year, but I write to express my most sincere sympathy in the work which your association is doing.

"I do not know anything which will contribute more to the strength and morality of boys and girls compelled to remain part of urban populations in this country than the institution in their cities of playgrounds where their hours of leisure can be occupied by rational and healthful exercise. The advantage is twofold.

"In the first place, idleness and confinement in a narrow space in the city, in houses and cellars and unventilated, dark rooms, is certain to suggest and bring about pernicious occupation and create bad habits. Gambling, drinking and other forms of vice are promoted in such a restricted mode of life.

"In the second place, an opportunity for hard, earnest and joyous play improves the health, develops the muscles, expands the lungs and teaches the moral lessons of attention, self-restraint, courage and patient effort.

"I think every city is under the strongest obligation to its people to furnish to the children, from the time they begin to walk until they reach manhood, places within the city walls large enough and laid out in proper form for the playing of all sorts of games which are known to our boys and girls and are liked by them.

"I sincerely hope that your present convention may be a success, and that the work which you have begun may go on until no city in this country is without suitable playgrounds for the children of those who, but for such city assistance in this regard, would be without them."

SAYS PURE FOOD LAW IS HALTED

Washington, May 11.—Believing that the departments of commerce and labor and agriculture have suspended operation of the pure food and drug act in certain cases, Representative Steenerson of Minnesota has introduced several resolutions calling upon the attorney general and the secretaries of the treasury, agriculture and commerce and labor departments for information as to the issuance of any executive orders waiving the operation of the law in any case. Mr. Steenerson intends to call up these resolutions for consideration by the house early next week. One of the firms which Steenerson believes has been exempted from the operation of the law is the Chicago house with which Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh was formerly connected. Mr. Steenerson declares that no officer of the cabinet has the right to suspend the operation of the law in any case, and says that if he does so he is liable to impeachment.

RIGHT IN ST. PAUL

The cure of Mr. Arthur E. Dewar, a plumber, of No. 569 Goff avenue, St. Paul, Minn., is convincing proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can do in this severe nervous disorder. He says:

"A few months ago I was laid up with inflammatory rheumatism. Following the four months of sickness with the rheumatism, I was in a very weak and nervous condition. I shook all over and could not dress myself. I then began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After I had taken three boxes of the pills, which helped me some, I was advised by my neighbors to again call in a doctor. This I did and he pronounced my case St. Vitus' dance. I was under his care for a month but his medicine did not help me at all and I could not take it without its upsetting my stomach.

"I was so nervous that I lost control of my hands and could not feed myself. My hands and feet were numb. I was always tired, did not have any strength and could not sleep at all. I had severe night sweats and was very pale and thin. I could not sit still.

"After giving up the doctor's treatment, I decided to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills again and nothing else. The pills were taken as the directions stated and soon I could see that they were helping me. I gave them a thorough trial and was cured. I am now well and strong and have gained ten pounds in weight. I strongly advise everyone suffering with any nervousness to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they are worth their weight in gold."

There is absolutely no way of reaching the nerves with medicine except through the blood. The nerves receive all of their nourishment and support from the blood which, under healthful conditions, carries the elements needed to rebuild wasted nerve tissue. It is through the blood that all functional nerve troubles must be cured.

Those who are interested in the treatment which cured this case can obtain further information by writing for the booklet, "Nervous Disorders," which we send free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

We claim that Franklin automobiles run with less tire trouble and less tire expense than any other automobile because we use larger tires for less weight.

You may not mind the heavy expense, but you do mind the delay and annoyance of tire trouble.

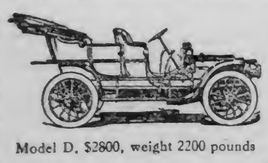
Franklins have practically no tire trouble.



Model D, $2800, weight 2200 pounds

The tires on Franklin Model D are as large as used on other automobiles a thousand pounds or more heavier.

And all Franklins are a third to one-half lighter than water-cooled automobiles of equal ability.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

SOX WORST FITWELLS

League Players Take Hitting Contest From the Local Team.

Both Sides Pile Up Scores on Hits and Errors.

There was a lively and interesting ball game at League park between an organization noted chiefly for its pale hosiery, and the Fitwells, a semi-professional team. Both sides managed to harvest quite a flock of tallies and at the end of the ninth, when they were totted out and placed on file, it was discovered that the White Sox registered 8, while the Fitwells' collection amounted to but 6.

They say that the Fitwells have not had as much practice as they might this spring, but they were more than mere sugar bearers in yesterday's performance and they kept the league players on edge throughout the game. Once or twice, the Sox went to sleep at the switch, a folly which the Fitwells were quick to take advantage of.

Thorsen started out to pitch for the Sox, but he gave way to Murray at the end of the fifth inning. The clothiers fell upon Thorsen for heavy swats several times, and when it came to fielding his position, he acted like an old maid caught in a pasture by a tame cow. So Col. D. O'Brien led him kindly but firmly to the bench, introduced Mr. Murray all around, and sent him in to pitch.

Both sides drew zeros in the first, but in the second the Fitwells grabbed two and the Sox garnered one. Summers started things for the clothiers by slamming out a regular hit. With the aid of sacrificing him to second, Schaeffer hit one to Thorsen. Instead of gathering the sphere in his paws and disposing of it in the way that was intended, Thorsen tried to pick it up with his foot. By the time he got through with his tramp juggler specialty, Summers was homeward bound and Schaeffer well on his way to first. Thorsen threw, and if Schaeffer had been up in the right bleachers some place he might have got him. Summers scored. Then Fenton hit one to Kohl, who failed to take care of it properly, and Schaeffer brought in his second tally. Bennett sacrificed, but Fentons was caught at the plate on Cummings low one. Olson banged the atmosphere thre times without hitting anything.

Cummings, who was in the box for the Fitwells, was unsteady at times. In the second, he gave Taylor a pass, Taylor went to second on a wild pitch and Cummings gave passes to three men, forcing Taylor in. Duluth did not score again that inning.

In the third, one Duluthian got a pass, one was hit and got his hits, all of which enabled the Sox to mark up two scores at the end of the inning. The Fitwells got nothing that time.

The Fitwells tied the score in the fourth and got another score in the fifth, when they lauded on Mr. Thorsen with such earnestness that he did not come back, but gave way to Murray.

The White Sox did things on their own account in their half of the fifth. Taylor got a two-bagger and he and McCrone, who had been hit, scored on Kohl's single. McNally drew a free ticket and he and Kohl scored on Cooper's single. It was rather a trying round for Cummings.

Both teams got one in the seventh and the Fitwells got another in the eighth, but they failed to tie the score in the ninth.

STADIUM BUILT FOR EXPOSITION

Two Diamonds, Gridiron, and Track Included in One Arena.

Seattle, Wash., May 11.—The stadium of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition will comfortably afford seating capacity for 20,000 spectators, and every seat will command an unobstructed view of the track, two baseball diamonds and football field. It is built on the edge of Lake Washington, and from the grand stands many of the larger aquatic events may be viewed.

The stadium track is of the new spiral type; it is oval in form, and scales four laps to the mile. It contains a straight-away of 220 yards, and both tracks are as fast as can be made. Two baseball diamonds are laid out in the center, and the football field is placed between the grand stands.

In the track construction the following course was followed: After excavating, six inches of coarse gravel was laid, and this was heavily rolled; on top of this was laid a covering of fine gravel of the same depth, and this was crushed into place with fifteen-ton rollers. The top dressing is of cinders, six inches deep and rolled in thin layers.

The tracks are thoroughly drained by tile, and a fast course is always insured. Sprinkling apparatus has been installed, and during all weather dust will be avoided. The long distance of the oval is from north to south, and the site is ideal.

The grandstands are two in number, and are built on the east and west side of the oval. In dimensions they are 360 by 70 feet, and the seats are arranged in 15-inch rises. The entrances are made direct from the bottom of each isle, which prevents any congestion in exit or admittance. Both buildings are fitted with a row of stage boxes, having a seating capacity of from four to eight persons. The height at which the seats are placed permit of sufficient rise to insure uninterrupted view from every position, and in overcoming the 15-inch difference between seat platforms, two short steps are used. Particular attention has been given to viewpoint, and the sight lines are ideal. All aisles give away on the oval, and between the grandstands and the track an open space of sixteen feet has been reserved for entrance and exit.

The dressing rooms, baths and toilet rooms for contestants and rooms for the public are provided for beneath the grandstands, and are fitted with all necessary conveniences.

All entrances of stadium contestants will be made directly into the oval from the central arch of the grandstands, and in this regard will closely follow the old Roman method. By this system an unusually effective and desirable end is accomplished, and does away with the scattered and straggling appearance generally observed.

PLANS FOR OPENING DAY

Duluth Team Will Open at Eau Claire on Wednesday.

The biggest opening in the history of baseball in Duluth is now being planned by the fans for Saturday, May 29, when the first official contest of the season will be played here.

Duluth will face Superior on that date, and that fact alone will draw to Athletic park hundreds of lukewarm fans. The old-time rivalry between the two cities cannot be downed, and when the "umps" calls "play ball" on that date there should be at Athletic park the largest aggregation of fans ever gathered together in the city.

There will be the usual parade and the city officials will as usual ride to the scene of the battle in carriages, and Mayor Haven will do the time-worn stunt of throwing the first ball over, and there will be as usual a band, but the fans have taken things in hand just a little, and they promise a celebration such as has never taken place in Duluth on an opening day.

It is planned to make the day a half holiday so that every man, woman and child in the city can on that occasion go to the ball game. This matter is now up with the heads of the different business houses. The Elks have promised to turn out and swell the parade. The Commercial Travelers will also turn out in a body and other organizations have promised to walk in line so as to help make it the biggest baseball day in the history of the city.

"Tommy" Clark is organizing a boosters' brigade and they, too, several strong, will walk in line.

All Duluth has the fever. Just one short look have they had at the team and they are eager for more.

Beginning on May 29, Duluth will be at home for nearly three weeks, twenty-one days in polite society. Every team in the league will visit this city for a series of games and the fans will have the best chance in the world to get familiar with the first names of the men who so ably represent the Zenith City on the diamond this year.

Wednesday the league season begins. Duluth plays at Eau Claire, Superior at Wausau and La Crosse at Winona.

Duluth goes to La Crosse Sunday for four games. The next jump is to Winona for four games, which takes them up to the following Sunday. Monday they open for four games at Wausau, and Friday, May 28, they will rest in their own town.

Duluth has it on the other teams in the matter of practice, and they should get away with the majority of the games away from home. It is hard to tell just how strong the other teams are, but it is said that all around the circuit the players are the best to be had for the amount of money paid.

Carl Nelson, champion of the Head of the Lakes wrestling fraternity at the middleweight limit, and who challenges any wrestler in Northern Minnesota at the middleweight limit, will wrestle Al Harper, the pride of the West End Athletic club, as a preliminary before the big jiu jitsu match at the Temple Roller rink, Thursday evening.

At the present time Nelson is matched to meet Peterson of Two Harbors for the Head of the Lakes championship. He is in excellent shape for his match with Harper Thursday evening, and this encounter should furnish one of the best preliminaries ever staged here.

Harper is a big, strong boy, who has proved to be one of the best men at his weight in this part of the state. There is very little difference in the weight of the two men, so that the match should be an even one. The preliminary will be staged at 8 o'clock.

Through a mistake upon the part of the printers, the tickets to the big Thursday evening match read "Tuesday the 13". The match will be held upon Thursday evening, May 13, instead of Tuesday evening, as mentioned upon the ticket.

Inquiries are being made for tickets by various people interested in the match. Tickets can be secured at various of the downtown cigar stores, Blackwood's Rowley's and the St. Louis, as well as at the Temple Roller rink.

The big card will be staged right after the termination of the preliminary match between Carl Nelson and Al Harper. There will be no delay in getting the two jiu jitsu fighters into the ring, and there will be no delay of action after they shake hands for the beginning of the match. Those who never witnessed a jiu jitsu match, have something in store for them, in the combination wrestling-fighting struggle of the Japanese national art of self defense.

The Sox left today for Eau Claire. They will open the season in the Wisconsin town tomorrow, today being a day of rest for the O'Brienites. According to the present plans of the manager of the team, Marion will be on the hill for the Sox in tomorrow's contest. The Marion person has been twirling good ball for the local brigade ever since joining the team upon the training trip, and the duke of Darbyshire has selected him as the man to salt the first game for the pride of the Missabe dock grounds.

In their first games here the Sox have shown that they are a fast bunch of youngsters, who are in the game every moment of play. They have a lot to learn of baseball, some of the members of the 1909 team, but with an old head like O'Brien in the steering seat, there should be some inside stuff assimilated by the members of the team.

The Sox start upon their short opening trip with the hopes of Duluth pinned to their bat bags. The fans hope that they will bag the great end of the Eau Claire series and when they reach Duluth they will be in the lead for the pennant chase.

Those witnessing the Jack Johnson-Philadelphia Jawn O'Brien fight of May 19, are liable to witness one of the fastest six-round bouts ever staged in this country. The Philadelphia real estate owner will be out to make a showing that will retrieve him in the hearts of the fans of the country. Big Black Jack will also be out to make a better showing that Ketchel made with the ex-double cross, mitt slinger.

Wit hall his faults—and his sins of commission have been many—this same Philadelphia Jack O'Brien is one of the fastest and cleverest men in the ring today. His fight against the hard hitting Ketchel was in many ways a distinct surprise to the talent. In this fight O'Brien showed that he could really travel some, when the goad of conscience was pressing hard upon him.

In Jack Johnson he will meet what many of the present bunch of ring critics believe to be the fastest man in the American ring. Johnson will have height, weight and reach upon the feinting Philadelphian. If he can put the Philadelphia man out within the six rounds, Jack Johnson will de something that the general follower of the ring does not anticipate.

O'Brien's bouts with those two superlatively clever men, Kid McCoy and Tonsilitis Tommy Ryan, were probably pre-arranged affairs. They were both corking bouts. O'Brien has never realy been outscienced in battle. The coming clash of the big negro, who is reputed to have all of the science of Jim Corbett in his palmy days, and the shifty man from the city of yawns, should be one that will furnish a good line upon the boxing ability of the former Galveston cotton heaver.

Another match that will be watched keenly by the sporting world, is the Kelly-Papke bout, set for May 15. Although this will be the fourth meeting of the Italian and the Dutchman, there is still a wide difference of opinion over the ability of the contestants, and also upon the outcome of the Saturday night match.

The first Milwaukee meeting of the pair resulted in a draw, after ten rounds of the hardest battling ever seen in the West. The second was awarded to Papke. In this battle Kelly claimed that his right hand was put out of working order early in the fight. Kelly fought a wonderfully game and clever fight and gave Papke almost as good as he received.

The third meeting at Los Angeles resulted in another draw, although many of those who witnessed the fight were of the opinion that Kelly should have received the verdict. Big Jeffries was the referee of this encounter, and when there is any chance of making a draw, the big-hearted alfalfa farmer generally does.

The fourth meeting will be one that should settle for all time the title of supremacy between the two middleweights. And, by the way, the winner of the battle will claim the championship upon the ground that Ketchel is no longer able to make the middleweight limit.

"Do baseball players pad?"

Yes, but for other reasons.

TONY CAPONI TO MEET JIM FLYNN

Chicago, May 11.—Tony Caponi and Jim Flynn are to decide the Italian championship of the world at Los Angeles, May 18.

Cal. Harris, manager of the Chicago middleweight, today received a telegram from Tom McCarey, manager of the Pacific Athletic club, offering him a chance against the Pueblo fireman, and Harris accepted for Caponi, provided that Flynn will make 158 pounds or less.

This is a battle that Harris has been trying to cinch for several months, as he figures that Caponi stands a royal chance of beating the Italian with the Irish cognomen.

The winner of this battle will in all probability be matched with the winner of the Kelly-Papke bout, which is to take place at San Francisco this month.

If Harris' terms are accepted, Caponi will start for the coast inside of a few days to prepare for the battle with Flynn.

CULLEN CALLS BALL KIDDERS

(By Clarence L. Cullen.)

New York, May 11.—Say, did you ever sit next to one of those "Oh, you kid" ginks at a ball game?

Sure you have. You must've. Everybody has.

Well, did you kill him or maim him, or what did you do to him?

N.t that there's anything inherently vicious or mean about the "Oh, you kid" fellow, at that. Only, he's a driveler, and he can make folks sitting around him, and particularly next to him, feel, oh, so vairy sa-ad! He means well, but he isn't meant. He was never intended. He was not devised to belong. He was not designed to exist.

In brief, the "Oh, you kid" droller is an unhappy and non-fortuitous mistake, whatever that means.

Y'see, that "Oh, you kid" stuff is kind o' frayed around the sides and back now, anyhow.

It never did, even at first, rise to the sublime height of actual genius. But now that it has been kicking around for quite a long spell, and has become sort of Roquefortish in the matter of aroma, why, it has falled now to be befitting, beseeming, becoming or entertaining.

In New York, on the day the Yanks opened with the Washington team, I sat immediately in front of one of those "Oh, you kid" gluges.

I don't know why it is that heaven seems to have provided all of these "Oh, squeaky, raucous, nerve-shattering voices, but such, Alcynetta, is nevertheless the case.

This one said "Oh, you kid" about every nineteen seconds throughout the entire period of the game. That is to say, he howled it.

He howled it, too, with the obvious deep-seated conviction that he was making a sure-fit comedy hit every time he exuded it from his thorax and tossed it out of his torso.

Every time he delivered it from his diaphragm—and he must have done that same at last 7,893 times during the game—he'd gaze around at us folks out of the slits of his lamps, wearing a broad grin, as much as to inquire of us, Hey, there, fellers, ain't I the scream, though? Ain't I the knockout when it comes to that hold-your-sides stuff? Yee-ow, but ain't I a clip proper, what?"

It didn't make any difference to him that everybody scowled back at him every time he gazed around for approval after his hurling that "Oh, you kid" thing out of his larynx. He didn't see any scowls. He wouldn't have interpreted the scowls correctly if he had seen 'em.

The "Oh, you kid" stuff wasn't wedged in by him at appropriate periods of the game. He just sat and tossed the "Oh, you kid" squeak out of his frame at constant and frequent and incessant intervals, apropos of nothing whatever that was happening out in the ball yard.

It was as if he'd been wound up to shoot. It out just so often, and as if the machinery in him was working like a new hundred-dollar watch.

Occasionally, to sort o' switch the dice and give the grandstand a tone, he'd say "Oh, you kih-id," instead of plain "Oh, you kid." But this variation wasn't really sufficient to appreciably ameliorate the sufferings of the folks who sat near him.

Every time he hollered "Oh, you kid," he breathed his hot, palpitant, almost scorching breath, on my rear hair and the back of my neck.

It was as if the barber was depositing relays of those hot towels on the back of my bean after—er—well, after one of those evenings.

My tympanum (which, I guess, is in the ear somewhere, maybe, is throbbing yet with the mere memory of the horse rearing activities of that "Oh, you kidder."

I'd have gone ay-way from there, only, of course, the crowd being huge and dense, I was wedged in. As it was, the game was not nourishing to me. I didn't obtain any nutriment whatever from it. The "Oh, you kid" gink had my Angora from the "Play-ball" minute to the windup, and all I could think of was that the Borgias knew what they were about when they devised poison dopes that they could jab into a fellow's leg without his feeling it at all.

Of course, the "Oh, you kid" lunatic means well. Of course. Every nuisance on earth and beneath it means well.

Work Begun on New Park.

ROADS GIVEN MORE TIME.

Allowed Until June 1 to Comply With Bicknell Act.

St. Paul, Minn., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railroad commission has allowed the railroad companies until June 1 to comply with the Bicknell act and make reports of commodity shipments made under disputed rates. Thomas Yapp, statistician for the commission, is preparing a blank form for these reports, which will be submitted to the proper officials of each company for their suggestions, and the commission hopes to secure a uniform return blank that will be acceptable to all of the companies.

The first reports under the new law were due yesterday, but none were received. Only two or three companies have consulted with the commission on the subject, and some of the others, including the Soo, have indicated an intention to fight the law, but the state authorities now have hopes that all will comply. They claim that the additional work called for can be done by one clerk in each general office.

Sweet, aged 45, a well-digger, who lived at 1632 Menomonie street, with his wife and four children, and George Hall, aged 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall of the town of Union, were precipitated into the swollen waters of the river and drowned, when Hall's launch, which was receiving its initial tryout, ran into a sunken pile and was capsized.

The bodies of the two men have not yet been found, but there is no doubt but that they were drowned within a short time after the capsizing of the boat.

The boat was found late Sunday afternoon about a mile down stream from where it capsized. It was overturned and was resting on a sandbar. Neither Sweet nor Hall could swim.

Construction of Plant in Border Town Is Well Under Way.

A 200,000-gallon tank will provide for the needs of the city and the paper mills, which are in process of construction, while direct pressure will be supplied in case of fire. The contract with the power company calls for 7 cents per 1,000 gallons, with a minimum a year of $2,500.

The water is to be delivered into the city's mains at a central point. The plan insures the city not only an ample supply of pure lake water for domestic use, but good fire protection.

SEEK EARLY RULING.

Fargo Filtration Bond Issue to be Tested in Courts.

Fargo, N. D., May 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A short cut to decide the constitutionality of the recent bond issue for a filtration and electric light plant has been taken. A test case was started before Judge Pollock, who entered a pro forma decision, and an appeal was at once taken to the supreme court, where a promise has been secured to have it advanced on the calendar.

A few years ago a bill was enacted by the legislature which provided for a bond issue for a new capitol building and an executive mansion. The supreme court declared it unconstitutional because two matters were coupled under one head without stating the amount intended to use for each. In a recent Fargo bond issue the filtration and electric light plants were both voted on under one head, with no specific sums provided for either, merely $100,000 for both.

You Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dypepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all. Kodol is a perfect digester. Every tablespoonful will digest 2¼ pounds of food.

Our Guarantee. Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited—the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. MARINE NEWS

SITUATION UNCHANGED

Both Sides Are Standing Pat in the Lake Strike.

Engineers Brought From Coast—Boats Are Getting Crews.

The marine strike on the Great Lakes has been on for a little more than a week, and the general situation today is practically unchanged from what it was when the strike order was first issued. Both the Lake Carriers and the striking seamen are standing firm, and a compromise that will be satisfactory to all concerned seems as remote as ever.

Vesselmen admit that a good many men have deserted, but say they have no trouble in filling their places. So far no vessels have been delayed or held up for want of crews.

The labor leaders predict that all union men will be off the association boats by the end of this week, and that after that it will be practically impossible to carry on the season's shipping with such help as will be available.

It was expected that many union men who had signed at lower lake ports for the round trip would desert after one trip, but the Pittsburg Steamship company has a large fleet of ore carriers now on the lakes upbound on the second trip of the season, with practically the same crews that first signed.

The Pittsburg company has lost several men at Ohio ports and at South Chicago, the vessels principally affected being the E. H. Gary, Baker and Rogers. Most of the sailors, who have left their vessels up to date, have been deck hands, cooks, and firemen. No engineers or wheelmen have been lost.

Extra Pay.

H. Coulby, president of the Pittsburg Steamship company has ordered the following notices to be posted in all the vessels owned or controlled by the company:

"There seems to be a persistent rumor, inspired by agitators that it is my intention to eventually reduce the number of crews on our ships. I have no such intention, and while it may be necessary, on account of your being unable to get competent men, to go short-handed a trip or two, the pay for whatever men you are short is to be divided among the men who do their work."

This notice has been received at the Duluth offices of the company and is also conspicuously displayed on all vessels of the ore fleet.

Union leaders at all lake ports are doing all in their power to keep their men from open violence. The outbreak in Superior last Saturday night, in which a union man was killed, has been discussed in union meetings the length and breadth of the Great Lakes. One result of this is the issuing of additional orders from the headquarters of the different unions. The men are cautioned to use no violence toward non-union vessels and crews under any circumstances.

Pickets Are Busy.

In Duluth and Superior the unions are working strenuously to met all incoming vessels and urge the crews to desert. Men carrying large banners, directing attention to the strike and lockout on the Great Lakes, parade the waterfront daily, and the union pickets and pickets are busy among the dock loafers and the unemployed that gather on the front. Two or three union men are constantly about the Lake Carriers' association shipping office on lower Fifth avenue west.

These efforts on the part of the unions to get men to desert and persuade others not to sign in their places are meeting with some success, but the situation does not seem to worry the Lake Carriers. They expect to lose men and when a deckhand or fireman desert they accept it as the logical result of the strike situation. They immediately ship a new man in his place.

Just what stand the longshoremen will take is still in doubt. Orders have been issued to all locals to meet tonight and discuss the situation. They are not empowered to take any independent action, but sentiment of the members will be learned. The sympathy of the longshoremen in general is with the strikers. The union is one of the largest and strongest on the lakes, and the officials are credited with being more conservative than those of the other unions. It is not thought that the grievances are at present sufficient to warrant a general strike on the part of the International Longshoremen's union.

Engineers From Coast.

During the past week a large number of engineers that were brought from the coast have shipped on the Lake Carriers' vessels. Vesselmen say they give entire satisfaction, but the officials of the M. E. B. A. say that the association cannot win out with the class of men the boats are getting from the coast. The members of the Duluth local are encouraged over the outlook and predict that the Lake Carriers will recede in a short time from the stand they have taken and take union men without asking them to sign the hated "welfare" clause in the contracts.

The Ohio state board of arbitration has started a movement which may lead to a settlement of the marine strike. The states of New York, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin have been asked to co-operate with the Ohio board at a general meeting to be held in Chicago this week.

Means of adjusting the trouble that is keeping more than 15,000 men out of work will be discussed. It is thought that representatives of all the states named will be present at the meeting and that some practical means of adjustment, agreeable to both sides, may be arrived at.

Union men are busy distributing handbills today about the docks and along the water front wherever idle seamen and unemployed workmen gather. These bills were printed by the International Seamen's union.

Attempts were made this morning to board several of the vessels in port and distribute the bills among the crews, but the watchfulness of the special police prevented the agents from getting aboard.

The handbill says in part:

"The Lake Carriers' association (employers' association of the lakes) has made working conditions on the boats so intolerable that self-respecting men can no longer endure the prosecutions heaped upon them. The shipowners are endeavoring to deprive seamen of even personal liberty and freedom through an attempt to enforce the notorious 'continuous discharge book system.' Every sailor knows this to be the rankest blacklisting scheme ever intented. It is an effort to establish serfdom in America.

"The unions of seamen are trying to prevent this, and to secure for seamen reasonable hours, decent treatment and fair wages. Strike and lockout now on.

"Give the union sailors, firemen and cooks a chance to win their struggle, which has been forced upon them by the shipowners. Remember a scab is to his trade just what a traitor is to his country."

BIG CARGO ON FIRST TRIP

New Steamer North Lake Breaks Record for Package Freighters

Bringing 4,300 Tons of Merchandise on Maiden Trip.

The steamship North Lake of the Mutual Transit company fleet, is due to arrive in Duluth tonight with what is probably the largest consignment of package freight ever carried by one vessel to the Head of the Lakes.

Her cargo consists of 4,300 tons of general merchandise and iron, the latter including about 2,500 tons of iron pipe. This being the first trip of the North Lake, nothing could be loaded in her hold that would suffer damage by water.

The estimated value of this immense cargo is $500,000. The North Lake is one of the new vessels just completed for the Mutual line, the other being the North Sea.

The lake freight business has increased so rapidly that in addition to the two vessels named, the company has had to charter two large vessels from the Union Steamboat company. They are the Starrucca, which loaded in Duluth last week, and the Ramapo, both of 4,000 tons capacity.

The North Lake was loaded at Cleveland.

BERLIN SAILS WITH OLD CREW

Two Deckhands Who Deserted Return to the Ship.

The City of Berlin sailed for downlake points with a cargo of grain this morning, with the same crew that brought her to Duluth. Two of the Berlin's deckhands deserted after the trouble of Saturday night in which James O'Rourke lost his life. They remained absent until yesterday afternoon, when they returned to the vessel and asked permission of Capt. Goodrow to return with him. They were taken back.

"I am glad to get away, I assure you," said Capt. Goodrow this morning. "The shooting and killing of a man almost on board my vessel, and the consequent notoriety that has been thrust upon me and the Berlin, are not at all pleasant features of this voyage."

The Berlin took the barge Aurora in tow outside the bay. The Aurora is also loaded with grain.

It is reported that the steamer Samuel Mather is having difficulty in getting a crew. The vessel wintered at the Northern Coal company's dock in Superior. She is now fitting out for the season. Two special police officers are guarding the interests of the owners.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKelg of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

TIGERS RAISE THEIR PENNANT

Sun Shines on the New American League Flag.

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—Baseball Detroit, which went to bed last night fearful that flag day might not be favored by good weather and that the American league championship pennant might have to be hoisted this morning under unfavorable weather conditions, were made happy with the first break of dawn today. For the first time in three days old Sol came out of retirement and the thousands of "fans," amateur players, baseball notables and visitors who have planned to attend the second flag raising of the Detroit Tigers have a perfect day.

While Bennett park has been soaked for three days by rain, the diamond has been kept covered and the bright sun and breeze are expected to go far toward drying the field before the ceremonies begin.

As part of the deal for the acquisition of Third Baseman Moriarity from New York, the Detroit club agreed that the "Highlanders" should be their antagonists on flag day. With Manager Stallings and Third Baseman Elberfeld, both former Detroiters, the choice was a happy one, from the standpoint of the Detroit "fans."

A parade of amateur clubs, prominent visitors and the two contending teams was held before the game.

DIVORCEE, ABOUT TO MARRY, SLAIN

Battered Body of Mrs. Regester Found in Cemetery.

Providence, R. I., May 11.—The terribly battered body of Mrs. Laura E. Regester, a Granston woman, was found in the old Hebrew cemetery in Reservoir avenue, this city, today, and marks on the neck indicate that the woman was strangled. Her clothing was torn and the police believe she was murdered.

Mrs. Regester was 32 and divorced. It is understood that recently she became engaged to be married again. The last time she is known to have been alive was on an electric car last night.

BIG DEMAND FOR WHEAT

Unfavorable Crop News From the Southwest Causes a Bulge.

Flax Goes Up at the Close in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 11.—There was good buying of wheat in the American markets today, and the closing prices were more than a point over yesterday's.

Unfavorable crop news from the winter wheat country was the chief ammunition of the bulls. Cables were very firm, and Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 8,711,000 bushels in the world's visible supply of wheat. In the United States and Canada there was a decrease of 3,411,000 bushels, and afloat and in Europe a decrease of 5,300,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed ¼d to ½d higher, Antwerp ⅝c lower, Berlin 1c lower and Budapest ½c lower.

The May option closed 1¾c higher in Duluth, 1⅛c higher in Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg, unchanged in New York, ⅝c lower in St. Louis and unchanged in Kansas City. The July option closed 1⅝c higher in Duluth, 1⅝@1¾c higher in Chicago, 1½@1⅝c higher in Minneapolis, 1⅝c higher in New York, 1½c higher in St. Louis and Kansas City, and 1⅜c higher in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ⅜c higher in Chicago and oats ⅜c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat was under pressure at the opening and values were ¾d lower, and later July and September declined an additional ¼d to ⅝d. Offerings were larger and support quiet prompted by the lower American cables yesterday and the favorable crop advices from Eastern Europe. During the morning the undertone became steady and part of the decline was recovered. Shorts became nervous owing to steadiness of Manitoba offerings and the expected heavy decrease in the European visible supply. Supplies in the country were light. At midday the market showed a hardening tendency, although values were ⅛d lower than yesterday."

"Corn was steady at the start and unchanged. Later July lost ⅜d on the cheaper La Plata clearings and a poor demand."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 21 against 23 last year, and at Minneapolis 106 against 108 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 127 against 133 last year. Chicago received 10 against 76 last year. Winnipeg received 103 against 54 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 212,000 bu, last year 357,000 bu. Shipments 413,000 bu, last year 828,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 83,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 360,000 bu, last year 310,000 bu. Shipments 300,000 bu, last year 257,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 8,000 bu.

Wheat was only fairly active in the Duluth market today. May wheat sold at $1.25 and closed at $1.25⅝, a gain of 1¾c over yesterday. July wheat opened ⅛c higher at $1.23⅜, advanced to $1.25, declined to $1.24⅜, rallied to $1.25⅜ and closed there, a gain of 1⅝c over yesterday. September wheat opened unchanged at $1.07½, advanced to $1.09⅜ and closed at $1.09, a gain of 1½c over yesterday.

Flax advanced at the close. May flax sold at $1.37⅝ and closed there, a gain of ½c over yesterday. July flax sold to $1.09 and closed there, a gain of 1¾c over yesterday. September flax opened late at $1.39, sold up to $1.39¼ and closed there, unchanged from yesterday.

Barley was 1½c to 2c higher and other coarse grains unchanged.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Crop Damage Reports Prompt Active Covering By Shorts.

Chicago, May 11.—Crop damage reports from Kansas prompted active covering by shorts in the wheat pit today and resulted in a 1 cent advance during the early part of the session. Many pit traders had gone home "short" last night and the scarcity of offerings at the start caused them to cover freely. The advance was more noticeable in the face of a decline of ⅜@⅝d at Liverpool.

The market was somewhat nervous during the last half of the day, but the undertone was strong. The top for July was reached at $1.14⅛, ann for September at $1.06⅞. The close was strong with July up 1⅝@1¾c at $1.14¾. September closed 1¼c higher at $1.06½@⅝.

Prices at the opening were a shade to ⅛@⅜c higher, with July at $1.12⅜@1.13 and September at $1.05⅞@1.05⅝. Within the first half hour July had advanced to $1.14⅜ and September to $1.06½.

Leading shorts were free buyers of corn early in the day causing an advance of about 1c in the nearby deliveries. Local receipts were a trifle larger than of late, but the movement still is small. July opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher at 68¼@68⅝c and advanced to 69c.

Oats were bullishly affected by the strength of wheat and corn. Local longs were the principal buyers. Demand was chiefly for the September delivery. July opened a shade to ⅛c higher at 51¼@51⅜c to 51⅝c and sold up to 51⅝c.

Provisions were firm because of buying by commission houses based on heavy shipments of pork and ribs. Prices at the start were 2½@5c to 7½c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Insufficient Rains in the Southwest Cause Firmness in Wheat.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 11.—Insufficient rains in the Southwest caused the market to be firmer today. A bigger decrease in the visible supply than was expected caused further strength. Lucks stocks decreased 375,000 bushels for three days. The market closed 1¼c above yesterday's close. Minneapolis today received 106 cars against 109; Duluth 21 against 23; Winnipeg 103 against 54. September opened at $1.07⅛; high, $1.08⅝@1.09; low, $1.07¼; close, $1.08⅝@1.08¾. July opened at $1.24⅞; high, $1.25¾; low, $1.24⅜; close, $1.25½@1.25¾. Cash wheat was in good demand. Both local and country millers were buying. The light offerings met with ready sales early in the sessions. No. 1 northern sold for 3½@4c over the July option and No. 2 northern for 1½@2c over. No. 1 northern, $1.29¼; spot and to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.26½@1.27½; spot and to arrive; No. 3 wheat, $1.25½@1.25¾; No. 3 yellow corn, 74½@74¾c; No. 3 white oats, 55⅝@55⅞c. No. 2 rye, 84¾@86¾c.

Flax receipts, 1 car today, against 15; shipments 8. Lack of offerings made the market nominal. Prices were generally quoted the same as the Duluth July option. Closing price, $1.40¾.

Barley receipts, 67 cars today, against 41; shipments, 19. Today's market was about steady. There was a good inquiry for feeding grades There were some sales made to outside markets. Offerings were light and prices held firm. Close, 64@66½c.

Millstuffs shipments, 1,384 tons. No change was reported strength continuing to be the feature. Demand was far in excess of the supply. Shipments were light and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $24.00@24.50.

Flour was in fair demand. Eastern orders were for small amounts on account of the high price, but as the stocks in that section are low and an improved inquiry is expected soon, shipments were light and prices remained the same. Shipments 40,000 barrels. First patents, $6.10@6.30; second patents, $6.00@6.20; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.35@3.55.

MODERATE ADVANCES

Stocks Rose Early, Declined on Realizing, But Advanced Again.

Strength of Reading Was Feature—Close Strong and Active.

New York, May 11.—The active operations with which the stock market opened today caused but small changes in prices and these greatly mixed. American Car preferred advanced 1¼ and Anaconda and Distillers' Securities large fractions. Wabash preferred declined a point.

Reading met support which rallied it 1⅝ above its opening figure and placed it 1⅛ over yesterday's closing. Other stocks which had shown heaviness at the outset also rose briskly, but the higher prices soon caused heavy realizing. The downward movement carried some of the leading stocks below yesterday's closing again.

Reading's rise to 153 had some sympathetic effect on the general list, but the movement was sluggish and did not hold. Delaware & Hudson gained 2 and United States Rubber 1. Utah Copper and Federal Mining preferred sold 1. Illinois Central and Western Maryland 1¾. Lake Erie & Western 1½ and Lackawanna 16. Bonds were steady.

There was a momentary outburst of strength and activity in the Erie stocks, which benefited them 1@1¼, but had little influence on the rest of the list. Virginia-Carolina Chemical rose 1 and Vulcan Detinning 7⅛. Minneapolis & St. Paul sagged 2 points and American Tobacco 1.

The market closed strong and active. Reading rose rapidly and on large dealings to 156¼. The general list awoke to some show of life but the rise in prices was moderate. St. Paul, Ontario & Western, Baltimore & Ohio, Amalgamated Copper, International Pump and Anaconda got up 1, Union Pacific 1⅜, Erie 1½, Central Railroad of New Jersey and Delaware & Hudson 6.

LATEST NEWS:—With its large property, excellent equipment, and in view of the recent results, there is no reason why Butte & Superior should not sell up to around $10 per share. Lake Superior & Sonora is getting some excellent ore in its new shaft. This property has an exceptionally low capitalization. And for the reason that the veins carry good values from the surface down, the cost of development is exceedingly low. It will be but a very few months until this company will reorganize into a mining company on lines exceptionally attractive to the holders of the present shares. It will sell above $10 by fall.

FEELS WAY UP RIVER

Battleship Mississippi Sails the River of That Name.

Lighthouse Tender Goes on Ahead Making Soundings.

New Orleans, La., May 12.—With whistles screaming and crowds waving adieu, the battleship Mississippi at 6 o'clock this morning began its trip up the Mississippi river to Natchez. It is the first time a battleship of the Mississippi's class has passed above New Orleans.

While the officers of the vessel, United States engineers and well-posted river men do not anticipate any trouble, every precaution has been taken to prevent any accident. The United States lighthouse tender Oleander preceded the warship up the river, making soundings. While the man-of-war is lying at Baton Rouge for four days, the Oleander will go on to Natchez, making soundings and placing such lights and buoys as are deemed requisite.

The pilot of the Oleander, Gus Haines, an employe of the federal government of long service, is guiding the Mississippi. The first stop of the Mississippi is Donaldsonville, La., sixty miles north of New Orleans. It will leave Donaldsonville the morning of May 14, arriving at Plaque Mine, La., the same day. After remaining a day there, the vessel is scheduled to proceed to Baton Rouge for a visit to last until May 18. Then comes a stop at Bayou Sara, La., extending through May 20. From Bayou Sara the Mississippi will go to Natchez without an intermediate stop. It will remain at Natchez until May 25, when the trip down the river will be begun.

At all of the places elaborate preparations have been made for entertainment of the officers and crew.

MEDICS SEEK TO FIX A STANDARD

Twenty States Are Represented in Meeting in Louisville, Ky.

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—The American Confederation of Licensing, Reciprocating and Examining Boards, representing twenty states, met in annual session here today.

This confederation is composed of medical examining boards. The purpose of the convention is to arrive at definite conclusions as to the extent of education that should be required to admit a student to a medical college, the number of years he should attend and the curriculum for each year, also the equipment that a medical college should possess and the character of teachers that will justify the board in recognizing the school as reputable, so that the graduates may apply for examination and registration.

The president of the board, Dr. Spurgeon of Indiana; the secretary, Dr. Harrison of Detroit, and Dr. Averd of Michigan inspected the medical department of the University of Louisville.

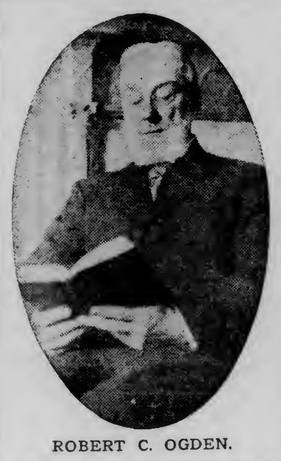
ANOTHER MOVE AGAINST TAMMANY



ROBERT C. OGDEN.

New York, May 12.—Zealous citizens of Greater New York to the number of 250 gathered in Cooper Union hall last night to inaugurate a movement to "determine means of securing the nomination of proper candidates for city offices to be filled at the coming municipal election." In a nutshell, the movement is another of those reforms and civic uplift campaigns against Tammany Hall. It is non-partisan. Isaac N. Seligman, banker, who has been prominently identified with reform plans, called the meeting to order. Robert C. Ogden was unanimously elected chairman. It was resolved that the chairman appoint a committee to select 100 citizens to serve as a general committee to obtain nominations "chosen with reference to the city's needs alone, and upon non-partisan principles."

MR. DAGGETT WITHDRAWS

The Minneapolis Grain Broker Retires From Business.

Poor Health and Lack of Trade Reasons Given.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—George H. Daggett, a grain broker of this city, withdrew from business yesterday afternoon and assigned his trades to Hallet & Co.

Following the notice or the withdrawal came the information that the demands of creditors, which were not heavy, would be paid in full. Poor health, and lack of business are the reasons given for the retirement of Mr. Daggett from business.

Said to Be Solvent.

PARIS LIKE WAR CITY

Troops Patrol the Place to Guard Against Strikers.

Postoffices Are Encircled By Cordons of Soldiers.

Paris, May 12.—Paris today resembled a city in a state of siege. During the night troops took possession of the central post and telegraph stations, and at daylight squads of infantrymen were picketed around every branch office to protect postal employes who are willing to work. The streets are being patrolled by the mounted Republican guards, all exposed telegraph lines are being carefully watched, and soldiers have been introduced even into the sewers of the city to prevent the cutting of wires.

Furthermore 500 military telegraphers and several hundred automobiles have been hastily mobilized and massed in the Gallerie des Machines, ready for instant service. Gen. Dalstein, the military governor of Paris, has 50,000 troops in reserve. The walls of Paris are covered this morning with posters announcing that the strike will cease time until the employes' grievances are redressed.

Beyond the railroad mail clerks the number who have abandoned work is comparatively small. The first two deliveries of mail were effected without the aid of troops, but the distribution of the newspaper mail was not attempted. At the strikers headquarters there are evidences of great activity, but at the same time much secrecy prevails. The leaders content themselves with saying that the strike has only begun, but that they are confident it will spread rapidly and eventually tie up the entire machinery of the government.

In the provinces the tactics adopted by the government here are being repeated. The various postoffices were encircled by cordons of troops at daylight today.

Last night the postmen of Lyons and Bordeaux voted to join their Paris colleagues.

The press generally reproaches the chamber of deputies for its cowardice yesterday in postponing a vote on the postal situation, thus throwing the entire responsibility on the government. It is understood, however, that Premier Clemenceau preferred non-parliamentary action for tactical reasons, first to force the postmen to open battle, and

SAY DREW IS GUILTY

He Accepted Deposits Knowing That Bank Was Insolvent.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur Z. Drew, former college professor, church pillar and banker, is guilty of having accepted deposits in the Bank of Hamline when he knew it was insolvent. So said a jury in the district court last night, after considering the evidence for about six hours. The case had been on trial before Judge O. B. Lewis for about two weeks.

The specific charge on which Drew was convicted was the acceptance of $416 for deposit in the bank from Gust A. Anderson, Jan. 15, 1908. The defense fought stubbornly, Mayor Daniel W. Lawler and J. P. Kyle appearing for Drew.

The verdict was a great surprise to Drew and his friends, who confidently expected an acquittal. His attorneys wanted to immediately argue a motion for a new trial and have his bail continued, but the court refused to take any action and Drew was taken to the county jail, where he spent the night. He was released on $7,000 bail today and sentence deferred for ten days. A motion for a new trial will be argued next Wednesday.

SCORE LOST IN RIVER

Go Down in Stream, Due to Weight of Humanity.

All the Victims Were Pressed Steel Plant Employes.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 12.—Survivors of a fearful accident in which twenty men were drowned, tell thrilling stories of their experiences. When a gasoline launch in which the men were crossing the river to their homes, after completing their day's work, left the shore it had thirty men crowded into a space that was not meant to hold more than twenty.

Harry Gotheridge, one of the survivors, whose brother was lost, said when he was brought to shore:

"We had got about one-third of the distance across the river when I suddenly felt as if I were sinking. In another minute, I felt the cold water about my legs.

"Albert Graham, who was running the boat, shut down the power, but it was too late. My brother and I went overboard and came up together. He made a grab for me, but I was suddenly dragged under water by a fellow who grasped me by the waist and I went down the second time.

"I was pulled under the water and had just time enough to take a breath as we went down. Under the surface the man let me go and I came to the top and began to swim for shore, when a skiff came up and I was pulled on board. All this happened in about three minutes."

William H. Williams, 36 years old and weighing 200 pounds, swam to the shore. From the point where the accident occurred to the place where he reached the shore was fully a mile, but clad in heavy underwear, working clothes and shoes, he managed to make it. Mr. Williams said:

"When it became apparent that the boat was sinking, Graham put on more power and the boat shot forward like a torpedo. She rammed her nose into the water and started under. As it did so, I rolled off the stern of the boat and began to swim. While I was swimming, a tow boat passed, but offered no help."

There was no explosion, no leak was sprung, but the boat simply sank beneath the weight. As it sank, it caused a suction which took many men down with it. Others attempted to swim ashore, but were chilled by the cold water and became exhausted. So far as is known, only nine men reached the shore. The region is sparsely settled where the accident occurred. One of the men who succeeded in swimming ashore ran to a telephone.

All the missing men were employes of the Pressed Steel company at the McKees Rocks plant.

EMPEROR AND KING TOGETHER

Wilhelm and the Ruler of Italy Lunch on Yacht.

Brindisi, Italy, May 12.—The German imperial yacht Hohenzollern, with Emperor William on board, came into Brindisi this morning and was saluted by the booming of cannon from the shore. The king and queen of Italy, accompanied by Foreign Minister Tittoni, had arrived at Brindisi at an early hour. They at once went on board the Hohenzollern and greeted the emperor. The emporer and empress and the king and queen all had lunch together on board the Italian battleship Vittorio Emanuele, where friendly toasts were drunk. This afternoon the emperor and empress entertained the Italian king and queen on board the Hohenzollern at tea, after which the German yacht took its departure.

Great Britain sent the cruiser Albatross to Brindisi to salute the two rulers. This act is regarded as an evidence of the good results of the interview at Baja April 29 between King Edward and King Victor Emmanuel, and as furthering the re-establishment of friendly feelings between the nations.

After the close of the Civil war he was tried by a military commission in Washington, on charges of murder and flagrant cruelty to prisoners in his care, contrary to the customs and laws of civilized warfare, was convicted, condemned to death and executed in Washington Nov. 10, 1865.

SENTENCE HAINS SOON

Army Officer Will Receive His Penalty Next Monday.

Lawyers Are Preparing Strong Plea for a New Trial.

Flushing, N. Y., May 12.—Now that the trial of Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., for the killing of William E. Annis is over, interest centers on the sentence which Justice Garretson may see fit to impose on the young officer.

Conviction of manslaughter in the first degree carries a prison term of from one day to twenty years. The prisoner will come up for sentence next Monday. Meantime his lawyers are preparing to make a strong plea for a new trial. John B. McIntyre, Capt. Hains' chief counsel, said today that there were sufficient errors during the trial to found an appeal should Justice Garretson deny motions for a new trial.

District Attorney De Witt was emphatic in asserting today that the conviction was sound and would never be reversed.

"We consider it a signal victory for the state, in that the insanity plea was so completely punctured," said he.

LIBERIA SMILES UPON AMERICANS

Commission Arrives at Monrovia on the Cruiser Chester.

Monrovia, Liberia, May 12.—The American Liberian commission has arrived at Monrovia on the scout cruiser Chester at daylight. The Chester made eighteen knots an hour on her trip across the Atlantic. The members of the commission are Roland Post Falkner of Philadelphia, formerly commissioner of education in Porto Rico; Emmet J. Scott, secretary of Tuskegee Institute, and Dr. George Sale, superintendent of the Baptist missionary schools in Porto Rico and Cuba.

Monrovia went wild over the arrival of the Americans. Before the salutes had been exchanged the local military authorities announced the coming of the commission by the long roll of a drum and the people of Monrovia hastened to commanding points to see the glad sight of the American flag in the harbor.

Capt. Henry B. Wilson of the Chester sent an officer to pay his respects to Ernest Lyon, the American minister resident and consul general, who waived diplomatic etiquette and went immediately on board the Chester to confer with the commission.

All the stores in town were closed and a general holiday was declared. The commissioners were met at the landing by the mayor and councilmen with an address of welcome, in which the present day was described as a critical stage in Liberian history. The Americans were then escorted to the American legation by the military and a delegation of women.

GRAIN MEN TO ORGANIZE

Aim to Store Wheat to Await Price Advance.

Congress Will Be Asked to Legislate Against Cornering.

Springfield, Mo., May 12.—Grain growers from many states met today at the call of C. S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' union to take action to protect their interests.

The farmers' union has a membership of 3,000,000 and that part of the organization that convened here today is known as the grain growers' branch. President Barrett in his call, issued from Atlanta, Ga., said:

"It is the intention to place the growers squarely on record before the world and to build such a system as will enable wheat to sell for the highest possible figures, while it is yet in the hands of the growers."

It is intended to organize the grain growers the same as the cotton planters of the South are organized, the chief aim being to aid members in storing wheat until prices advance to the point of making selling a profit. Congress also will be petitioned to enact a law that will prevent corners in grain.

HE HOPES TO END WHOLE RACE OF FLIES.

Seattle, Wash., May 12.—Dr. C. W. Chapin, United States government inspector in charge of the municipal bubonic plague laboratory, plans to begin original research work into the habits and life of the ordinary housefly in the hope of arriving at a method of exterminating this disease-breeding pest. Dr. Chapin will commence work by incubating enough specimens from the eggs deposited in refuse to experiment on. Several new formulas for exterminating flies will be tested.

SURPRISE TO MILLER

Congressman Wants Rehearing on N. P. Bridge Order.

Claims He Was Promised No Immediate Action Would Be Taken.

The Washington dispatch announcing that Acting Secretary of War Oliver has approved the plans of the Northern Pacific Railway company for the reconstruction of the Grassy Point bridge between the Wisconsin side of the harbor and West Duluth, comes as a big surprise to those who have been active in urging that the new structure provide adequate facilities for vehicle and passenger traffic.

Congressman Miller said this morning that he had a talk with Mr. Oliver recently, and that the latter said then that no decision would be made until those opposed to the erection of a bridge for railroad purposes alone had had an opportunity to file their briefs and petitions with the war department.

Mr. Miller was very naturally very much surprised that the Northern Pacific plans had been approved and that the matter was apparently closed. He wired Secretary Oliver this morning, saying that he had understood that the decision was to be delayed until the brief had been received in Washington, and asking that the approval be reconsidered and final action postponed, to give those interested a chance to be heard. An answer is expected this afternoon.

The matter is one of considerable importance. The Northern Pacific maintains that the old St. Paul & Duluth charter is still in effect, so far as the new bridge is concerned, and that in the absence of statutory requirement to that effect, the railroad company cannot be compelled to provide bridge accommodations for foot passengers and team traffic.

It had been hoped that the war department would delay action until after the next session of congress, when special legislation would have been asked. The matter of preparing a brief and petition has been in the hands of H. H. Phelps of the West Duluth Commercial club.

The brief is completed and if Mr. Miller receives word from the war department that the approval of the Northern Pacific plans will be reconsidered, it will be sent on to Washington at once. It was intended to circulate the petition for signatures today.

The commercial interests of the city and of West Duluth in particular, have been active in their efforts to have the new bridge made available for general traffic. They feel that the old charter of 1887 is too narrow to cover the conditions today, and that special legislation should compel the railroad company to meet the present demands and needs of the city.

HOLD DEBATE ON COMMISSION RULE.

"Government by Commission" was the subject of a debate between A. G. McKnight and H. B. Fulton at the meeting of the Brotherhood of the First Baptist church, held in the church parlors last night. The next regular meeting of the Brotherhood will be when members gather June 8, at a banquet. A program of music and speeches is being arranged.

FAKE DIRECTORY MEN CAPTURED

Milwaukee, Wis., May 12.—In the capture of Frank Burton, 33 years old, and Charles Ness, 28 years old, giving addresses as Pittsburg and Chicago, respectively, the police of Milwaukee believe that they have two of the men who have been working the directory swindle, by which business men of Milwaukee and many other large cities in the United States have been defrauded of large sums of money.

The police say their prisoners had a large national business directory containing addresses of business firms in every large city in the United States and approached the business men with a request for an advertising contract.

The alleged swindle, it is said, was operated after getting signatures to blank forms showing that a solicitor had called.

SUPERIOR NEWS

MAY BUILD COAL DOCK.

Pittsburg Company Planning to Erect Big Structure in Superior.

The Carnegie Coal Company of Pittsburg may build a new coal dock on the Superior bay front of St. Louis bay. J. A. Sanford, a representative of the company, and other interested parties, were in Superior yesterday, with the view of selecting a site.

It is understood that should the proposition go through, a dock will be erected capable of handling 500,000 tons of coal annually. It will be built on the order of the coal docks on the Atlantic coast, which differ from those at the Head of the Lakes.

The site which is said to be favored is in the vicinity of the Great Northern railroad's Superior dock. Mr. Sanford has gone to St. Paul, where he is conferring today with the officials in regard to closing a deal for the property.

HEARING IS POSTPONED

The case of Hansen E. Smith and others against Thomas A. Merritt and others was not resumed today, owing to the inability of J. A. Keyes, Mr. Smith's attorney, to be present.

The hearing was commenced last week before Judge W. D. Edson, special master in the United States court, appointed by Judge Page Morris to hear the testimony in a petition to set aside the title of an undivided interest in certain property in 12-58-19, located near the Kinney mine on the Mesaba range.

The plaintiffs are attempting to establish the fact that the land is very valuable for its mineral deposits and that it sold for a song to the defendants in defraud of the creditors of Hansen E. Smith, bankrupt. The present hearing is in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings.

The claim of the defendants is that the land was reasonably worth the price at which it was sold, and no more. The defendants acquired their interest in the land at different times, one-fourth having been owned by Smith when he became bankrupt.

H. H. Phelps has no interest in the land, though he is one of the defendants. He was attorney for the Smith estate. He filed a decidedly warm answer in the case, stating that the action is brought in an attempt on the part of Smith to blacken Ills, Phelps', name.

D. L. Fairchild, one of the defendants, was on the witness stand last week when the hearing was adjourned until this morning. Judge Edson will take up the case tomorrow morning, if all parties are present.

PROVISION A WISE ONE

City Department Heads Must Make Requisitions to Council.

Careless Methods in Past in Purchasing Municipal Supplies.

The effect of the resolution adopted by the council Monday evening, calling upon the heads of different city departments to use more care in the purchase of supplies, will have the effect of keeping different municipal officials within the limits of an old ordinance, which requires that in getting supplies for departments the heads must first make a requisition upon the council and receive the approval of that body.

During the last few years very careless methods have been adopted in the purchase of city supplies. The charter provision calling for requisitions prior to the making of purchases has been entirely disregarded. This has been true of nearly all the city departments. The fact of these careless methods was brought to the attention of the council committee which recommended Monday night's resolution by City Comptroller McCormick, who urged the city fathers to take some action which would make municipal officials more careful in future in buying supplies.

No one department is more to blame for carelessness in buying than the others. There was simply a general forgetting, all around, of the old charter provision. City Comptroller McCormick feels that an injustice has been done him by the report that the resolution was caused by the fact that he had some of his annual reports bound in stiff board covers, paying for them out of his own pocket. He says he did not expect the city to pay for the work in the first place, and that the special edition was gotten out by him for the benefit of those most directly interested in the comptroller's department.

Several instances have come up within the last few months, where there has been a violation of the charter provision in respect to ordering city supplies. This fact has caused inconvenience, and some criticism. The council deemed it wise to issue a general order, applying to all departments, which would systematize purchases, and bring them all directly under the supervision of the aldermen, as was intended by the city charter provision.

USELESS WITH GUARD.

Witness Says Saw Could Not Have Been Made More Safe.

The case of Charles Cass against the Colvin-Robb Lumber company, in which Cass asks $5,350 for the loss of three fingers while working on the shingle saw in the company's mill at Bassett, Minn., last fall hinges on just one fact. Could the company have placed a board guard in front of the saw without interfering with the saw's usefulness.

Cass claims that he was not provided with a safe place to work, and the company's claim is that it couldn't have been made any more safe.

Mr. Colvin was on the stand the greater part of the morning. He testified that a guard six inches high would have been no protection and one that was higher would have rendered the saw useless, as the workman could not then operate it.

KELLINGTON IS IN DULUTH

New Superintendent of State Free Employment Bureau Is Here.

A. E. Kellington of the state department of labor is up from St Paul today, conferring with J. F. Walsh, manager of the local state free employment bureau.

Mr. Kellington was recently appointed superintendent of the free employment bureau. He began his duties the first of May and this is his first official visit to Duluth.

"There is nothing special in connection with the department or the employment bureaus which brings me to Duluth at this time," said Mr. Kellington, "I am merely here getting acquainted, as I am new to my office."

Mr. Kellington was appointed from Minneapolis, where he is secretary and treasurer of the National Union of Flour Millers. He expects to return to St. Paul tonight.

EXAMINATIONS ARE ORDERED

City Engineer's Department Now Under Civil Service Rules.

The civil service commission held a meeting last evening and, following out a resolution adopted at the council meeting Monday night, directed Secretary Johnson to conduct examinations for applicants desiring positions in the city engineer's department, under the reorganization of that department that has been ordered by the council. Surveyors' assistants and inspectors will come under the first examinations to be held.

The commission also went over the examination papers of applicants to the police and fire departments. Five would-be firemen, six policemen and one driver got a high enough standing to enter the service, and will be placed failed to pass the examination provided for policemen.

Akeley, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Johnson, a farmer living near Ninth lake, received a serious wound in the leg Monday afternoon when the gun carried by a man, who had been shooting fish in the lake, went off as he was climbing into the farmer's wagon to ride to town. PRESCRIPTION PURIFIES BLOOD

The following prescription is very simple, but is the most effective obtainable for neutralizing acid poisons in the blood and relieving rheumatism and all its kindred ailments. Any one can prepare this simple mixture. The ingredients can be obtained at any well stocked drug store:

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla, one ounce Toris compound; half pint high grade whiskey. Mix and use a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed time. The bottle must be well shaken each time."

The good effect of this treatment is said to become apparent after the first few doses. It is a remarkable system builder and will quickly restore full physical vigor to persons of failing strength.

RAILROAD NEWS

MONEY TO BUILD ROAD

Big Mortgage Filed at St. Paul By New Company.

Will Provide Funds for the Virginia-Duluth Extension.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company has filed with the state treasurer a trust deed for $1,525,000.

The deed runs to the National Trust company of New York. R. B. Ormsby, the secretary of the trust company, is in St. Paul, personally looking after the filing. The filing fee amounted to $7,625. This was one of the mortgages held up pending a repeal of the mortgage tax registry law, but which failed.

This mortgage, it is understood, is to pay for the cost of the construction of the Canadian Northern extension from Virginia to Duluth. President W. H. Cook of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railway, is absent from the city at the present time, and none of the officials of the road could throw any light upon the filing of the trust deed.

Just when the money will be expended upon the construction of the Duluth extension, is not known definitely at the present time. The plans of the road are believed to be completed, the surveys of several prospective routes of the Virginia extension made, and all details ready pending the decision of the Toronto officials of the Canadian Northern to begin work.

The Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway was the name of the company incorporated to build the extension.

FREIGHT RATES ARE LOWERED

Lake competition is beginning to be felt in the freight business of the Duluth railroads. This morning it was announced that, beginning June 17, the rate upon lumber from Duluth to Chicago and Chicago rate points will be reduced from the present rate of 12 cents per hundredweight to 10 cents. The latter rate was in effect until a year ago. The direct cause of the reduction in the traffic charges for lumber shipments is the fact that the lumber vessels will get much of the business during the navigation season by cheaper rates.

Local freight officials say that the opening of navigation has already had an effect upon the freight business, and that from now until the close of navigation the roads will have strong competition from the lake carriers.

STRIKERS GET POSITIONS BACK

Winnipeg, Man., May 12.—Friction which has existed between the Canadian Pacific and the Federation of Mechanical Unions on the Eastern lines of the system for some time, but especially since the strike of last fall, has been finally settled on an amicable basis all along the system.

The announcement of the settlement was received today with the utmost satisfaction by all the unions affected, and is equally satisfactory to the company.

A conference between the representatives of the railway and the unions was recently held in Winnipeg, when important concessions were made by the company giving the unions representation, and they paved the way for this settlement of the trouble which has existed in the East ever since the strike, in a more aggravated form than it did in the West. By the terms of this settlement all the men who have been out of work since the strike of last fall have been reinstated and the schedule of wages which had previously prevailed has been restored.

PASSENGER COMPETITION PROMISES TO BE KEEN.

Chicago, May 12.—Competition for the passenger traffic to and from the Northwest this year promises to be intense, owing to the exposition at Seattle. All roads extending to the Northwest are making preparations for additional train service. The Chicago & Northwestern railroad and the Harriman lines will put on the Chicago-Portland Special May 16. This train will leave Chicago at 10 p. m. daily, arriving in Portland at 8 p. m. the third day. The Northwestern has also announced a new train leaving Chicago at 6 p. m. for Omaha, Sioux City and Des Moines.

In connection with this, it is rumored that the interstate commerce commission is preparing a decision in the controversy between the Hill and the Harriman lines which will open the Portland gateway. At present the Hill lines will not accept through passengers for the Northwest, turned over to them by the Harriman roads at Portland. Should the decision go against the Hill lines, it is even then doubtful if the gateway will be opened in time for exposition business, as it is understood that the Hill management is prepared to take the question into the courts.

COMMERCE BOARD RULES AGAINST ROCK ISLAND.

Washington, May 12.—In a decision promulgated today by the interstate commerce commission, it was held, in the case of the Indiana Steel & Wire company against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway and others, that the complainant's plant at Kokomo and Muncie were being discriminated against on shipments of wire and wire products, particularly to Arkansas common points. The plants at Muncie and Kokomo are in what is known as Cincinnati territory. The commission holds "that the defendant rates, rules and regulations made to apply to Chicago territory and to Cincinnati territory create discriminations, preferences, prejudices and disadvantages: as between Chicago territory and Cincinnati territory, and particularly between plants located at Joliet, De Kalb, Leckport, Waukegan, Janesville and Milwaukee, in Chicago territory, and the plants located at Muncie and Kokomo in Cincinnati territory."

Outlook Is Good.

E. R. Porch, traveling passenger representative of the Erie lines, who is here today lining up passenger business, says that there will be a heavy excursion travel to the East the present season, and at the present time passenger travel from St. Paul to Eastern points is very heavy.

While passenger men state that the bulk of the travel will be from the East to the West during the present season, because of the attractions there, Mr. Porch says that present indications are that Eastern business should be good also.

April Car Report.

Cars tracked at the Head of the Lakes terminals during the month of April reached the total of 21,005, a decrease from the number of cars tracked here during the preceding month. The falling off in the number of cars tracked at the Head of the Lakes during the past month is due in a great measure, not to any decrease in the general business of the roads, but more to the fact that the approach of the navigation season resulted in the holding of many shipments for the lake route. This is particularly true of lumber and wheat. A good increase over April a year ago is shown, however.

Free Trip to Falls.

South Shore agents were today notified that a free side trip to Niagara Falls and return, from Toronto, would be granted to all travelers over the Canadian Pacific railway holding first class one way or round trip tickets to Toronto. The side trip tickets can be secured by depositing the one way first class or round trip tickets with the Canadian Pacific ticket agent at Toronto. The side trip tickets will be good for ten days' stopover.

Duluth travelers taking the Toronto trip over the South Shore railway, will be entitled to the stopover, provided they are traveling upon first class tickets.

Ore Cars Being Tested.

There is a competitive test for various patented unloading ore cars going on at the present time. The makers are giving demonstrations of the efficiency and speed with which they can unload a car filled with ore at the Missabe docks. The points of competition hinge upon the speed with which the car can be unloaded at the dock, the labor required to operate the car, and the practical adaptability for general uses of the car.

The Summer car is in use upon the Duluth & Iron Range railway. The Clarke car, the remodeled standard car and the Rakowsky cars are entered in the competition.

WIND PLAYS A PRANK.

Two men had just closed a big deal in an office on the seventh floor of the Torrey building yesterday afternoon, when the door opened and a gust of wind carried out of the window a check for several figures, which had just changed hands.

Once out of the window the check hung lazily on the breezes, and the occupants of the office dangled their heads out watching the check slowly alight on the pavement. A little fox terrier grabbed it as it lit, and to the watchers above it seemed as if the check was about to be destroyed. A man picked it up a moment later, however, and restored it to the rightful owner.

COMPANY LAYS BLAME ON MOTHER

In answer of the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic Railway company to the complaint of Mrs. Amelia Berg for the recovery of $40,000 for injuries alleged to have befallen her young son at the hands of the railroad company, the company states that it was in no way negligent; that a Michigan state law forbids climbing on trains, and that the mother herself was negligent in that she allowed her son to play around the tracks.

In her complaint, filed some time ago, Mrs. Berg states that it was the custom at Baraga, Mich., where the accident happened for the trainmen and others employed about the tracks to encourage the boys in the neighborhood to play about the tracks and to do little odd jobs for them for which they paid by allowing the boys to ride on the switch engines and trains.

The boy, George, was but 11 years old. He was injured, it is alleged, while jumping on one of the company's trains. He slipped, fell between two cars and was injured to the extent of having his two legs crushed so that they had ot be amputated above the knees.

Mrs. Berg claims that the company was negligent in that it allowed the boys to jump on and off the trains. The company's claim is that the youngster was a trespasser on railroad property.

Mrs. Berg also asks for $5,000 for loss of time, doctor's fees, and for the care of the injured lad.

NOW IT'S A LEOPARD THAT ROOSEVELT KILLS.

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 12.—Theodore Roosevelt's hunting luck continues. The former president on his last expedition shot a leopard and captured the animal's two cubs. A buffalo and two giraffes have also been captured by the expedition. The party is still in camp near Machakos.

SUIT FOR INSURANCE.

John McAlpine is suing the New Brunswick Fire Insurance company for a $1,000 policy on household goods belonging to John C. O'Hara of 1928 Sixtieth avenue east, from whom McAlpine bought the claim.

The company has refused to pay the money, claiming that the claim by O'Hara that the damage to the goods was $1,200 was untrue; that the damage amounted to much less than this amount, and that the transfer of the policy to Mr. McAlpine was not made in good faith.

The company claims that the amount of damage did not exceed $100.

BEMA MEMBERS HOLD BANQUET

Third Annual Dinner of West End Debating Club.

Twenty-four members of the Bema Debating society of the West end held their third annual feast last evening at the Spalding hotel. A splendid repast was served, followed by an after-dinner program of merit.

John Carlson, president of the order, introduced Dr. Oredson, toastmaster, who called upon various members to respond to toasts. The president told of the work of the club, and outlined briefly the plans for the coming season.

George M. Jensen toasted the press, telling how the newspapers were a factor in the upbuilding of any municipality, state, or commonwealth. To Louis Levine was assigned the subject of "The Ladies." He made a good response.

Carl Swangstrom spoke about the "Solid South" and Frank Swanstrom reviewed the situation in regard to Japanese immigration, raising the old question of whether or not the yellow men should be barred from this country.

Oscar Holam, the last speaker, paid his respects to growing Duluth in a cleverly handled toast on "Industrial Duluth." The banquet last evening wound up the 1908-09 season. It is planned to get an earlier start next winter.

The members of the Adams school graduating class, about thirty in number, have been invited as guests of honor. After the banquet they will be enrolled as members of the association. Roy Hood, president of the organization, will act as toastmaster.

W. E. McEwen, state labor commissioner, St. Paul, is a member of the association and has promised to be with the banqueters at their annual feast to respond to a toast. The complete program of speakers has not as yet been announced.

In the musical line, the evening was a very successful one. S. Larson, Carl Theseth and John Jensen were among those who gave solos. After the program refreshments were served in the church parlors.

BOYS TO HELP CLEAN CITY

Mayor Haven Sets Dates for a General City Clean-Up.

Boys' Y. M. C. A. Offers Prizes for Best Appearing Yards.

Unless the weather is especially bad, Mayor Haven says municipal cleaning days this spring will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. It is believed that by that time frost will have sufficiently left the ground for work in the back yards to be effective.

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. is going to assist the mayor in his efforts to have the city put in a clean condition for the summer. A circular has been sent to all members of the department, as well as to practically every boy in the city, offering a membership in the association to the boy who can show the most attractive back yard by the middle of July. July 15 is the limit set upon the contest.

Boys wanting to enter the contest must hand their names in to the secretary of the boys' department, and on July 15 the inspection of back yards named in the applications will be inspected by a competent committee. Already a number of boys are busily engaged in putting the back yards of their homes in shape, and it is expected there will be keen rivalry for the membership tickets. A photograph of the prize yard and the boy who is responsible for its cleanliness will be taken and hung up in the club rooms. It is probable that other prizes will be offered the contestants to make the work more alluring.

Last year Mayor Haven named only one day for municipal cleanup purposes. He is of the opinion that three days will be more satisfactory. It will give an opportunity for the work to be completed all over the city, and if it happens to rain on one of the days, there still will be time to get busy with the back yards and vacant lots on the two remaining days. The last of the three falls upon Saturday, so school children will have a good chance to help their parents in putting the home premises to rights.

At first it was thought this week would be suitable for the cleanup campaign, but it was later decided that there was still too much ice and frost in the ground. Some of the garbage piles still have frozen centers, due to the recent cool weather. Another week should give the sun time to get in its work, and the ground and piles of rubbish will be in such a conditon that shovels, rakes and hoes can be used to good advantage.

SEASON OPENS AT WINONA

Winona, Minn., May 12.—The Minnesota-Wisconsin Baseball league season opened today. Business was suspended here this afternoon to see the opening game between Winona and La Crosse the La Crosse players coming up with a large party by steamer.

Brief remarks were made at the park by President Elliott of the league, President Berth of the Winona team, and Mayor W. E. Hamilton. The mayor threw the first ball, and the season was opened. The other opening games today were Duluth at Eau Claire and Superior at Wausau.

WESTERN LEAGUE OPENS SEASON

Governor of Nebraska Pitches First Ball at Lincoln.

Lincoln, Neb., May 12.—The Western league baseball season opened in Lincoln today, Pueblo coming for the first game on the new sod diamond. The game was preceded by a parade made up largely of automobiles. Governor Shallenberger tossed the first ball over the plate. Mayor Love, who issued a letter calling on all the fans for support of the national game, caught the first ball. A light rain early insured fine weather.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 12.—Sioux City took a holiday to witness the opening of the Western league season on the home grounds. The initial struggle with Denver was preceded by a parade which included city officials in automobiles. At the park the exercises consisted of the formal raising of the handsome pennant won by Sioux City in 1908. Mayor Sears pitched the first ball.

Omaha, Neb., May 12.—The Omaha Western league team arrived from Topeka this morning to try to recover on the home grounds some of the prestige it has lost in the disastrous series of games it has been playing in the West. The opposing team today was Wichita. Mayor Dahlman pitched the first ball, but there was no parade.

BOY ON A BICYCLE KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paul Richardson, 14 years old, son of C. E. Richardson, 330 Second avenue south, Minneapolis, was killed shortly after 7 o'clock last night as the result of a collision with an automobile while the lad was riding a bicycle.

The automobile was driven by Samuel Nelson, 229 Broadway northeast, who was hurrying to the bedside of his sick wife. Nelson is being held at the East side police station awaiting a thorough investigation of the accident.

COOLLY ADMITS DOING KILLING

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—"I don't care what they do with me, but if they hang me I will tell who is leader of the Black Hand gang and expose all their secret workings."

So declared Antonio Bova, confessed slayer of Vincenzo Megna in this city recently, when he was brought back here yesterday afternoon from Devils Lake, N. D., by Detectives Frank W. Frazer and Joseph P. Pugelesa. Bova, was handcuffed and closely guarded, although he came willingly enough after seeing that resistance was useless. He was taken at once to police headquarters and afterward sent to the county jail for safe keeping until he can be arraigned.

On the train from Devils Lake to St. Paul Bova confessed to having killed Megna, and said he did it in self defense.

Just what he meant by reference to the Black Hand is not apparent, unless he expects the Black Hand to get him out of his scrape. He declared, however, that there was no motive of vengeance and that the shooting was merely the outcome of a long standing quarrel.

Bova completely exonerates Joseph Pulitano, Satole Maroone and another Italian, who were charged by Gestinat Roech, has been appointed a committee with taking part in the murder and said they had nothing to do with it. He said he did it himself, without planning ahead; and he denied that any card game was concerned. He insisted that ill feeling had existed for a long time, and that was all.

SEARCHING FOR BODIES.

Still Seeking Corpses of Victims of Double Drowning.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 12.—There has been no cessation to the work of dragging the Chippewa river for the bodies of R. H. Sweet and George Hall, who were drowned Saturday night when their launch capsized, but so far the work has been without result. Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Hoyt and daughter, who live on the Porterville road, spied an object which looked like a body floating rapidly down the middle of the stream, but whether it was a body or a big piece of driftwood, has not yet been ascertained. Mrs. Hoyt at once notified the men who were dragging the river of what she had seen and a party went down to look up the object. She also telephoned to different points along the river asking the people to keep a lookout for the object, which looked very much like a body.

THE SUMMER IN NEW YORK A MOST ATTRACTIVE SEASON.

Its Fine Hotels, Like the St. Regis, Not as Full Then as in Winter.

The summer is the season when the city man and his family fly to the country, the seashore or the mountains. It ought to be a good time for the country man and his family to come to the city—and it is. The country has no monopoly of summer pleasures. New York has plenty of them, and at that time its hotels are less thronged than in winter. As the attractions of New York city exceed those of smaller places, so do its hotel comforts surpass theirs. One New York hotel there is, the St. Regis, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth street, which has won for itself a deserved reputation for real comfort and homelikeness far beyond any other. Its location, in practically the geographical center of Manhattan, makes it most convenient for trips to all parts of the city. Being situated in a strictly residential district, it is admirably adapted for a summer sojourn, and, being within a few minutes of Central Park, it has the country at its doors, so to speak. And it should not be forgotten that the St. Regis prices are not excessive. Its restaurant charges are the same as other first-class hotels, and rooms may be had as low as $3 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished single bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up for an elegant suite consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath.

IS CHAMPION OF TOBACCO

Senator Paynter of Kentucky Asks Tariff Bill Amendment.

Tells Colleagues of History of the Southern Industry.

Washington, May 12.—Pleading for an amendment to the tariff bill to permit the producer of tobacco to sell hand-twist tobacco without the payment of a duty of 6 cents per pound, Senator Paynter of Kentucky today laid before the senate a history of the tobacco industry in this country.

"What the tobacco grower desires," said Mr. Paynter, "is the privilege of selling his tobacco in the natural leaf to the consumers; that this privilege may be exercised by selling it to dealers, and that they be permitted to sell it to the consumers without the payment of a tax.

"If tobacco growers and their tenants had been prosperous, there would have been no demand for a change in the law. It was the unfortunate condition in which they found themselves that caused them to begin to investigate what had caused the condition which confronted them, and they demanded a change which would enable them to find markets for the tobacco where there was competition among those who desired to purchase.

"The evidence conduces to show that tobacco growers' business has not been prosperous; that when it cost 6 cents per pound to produce tobacco, it was bringing 3 and 3 1-3 cents per pound; that the competitive market had been destroyed; that there was practically but one purchaser for their tobacco. At any rate, only one purchaser fixed the price. It shows that the competitive markets in Italy, Spain, France and the Netherlands had been destroyed by the action of the governments of those countries in refusing to admit any tobacco except that which was purchased by them; that the same agent purchased for what is called the "Regie" contractors and, American Tobacco company; that the Bremen market was the remaining hope for the sale of part of their crop. But when some tobacco dealers sought to enjoy its supposed benefits, and shipped their tobacco there, then the American Tobacco company began to sell its tobacco at the price at which it purchased it in Kentucky."

A Conscienceless Monopoly.

Mr. Paynter declared that the tobacco growers believe they are in the "grasp of a conscienceless monopoly," and gave a history of the so-called tobacco trust. He adverted to the tobacco troubles in Kentucky, and expressed the hope that the enactment of the proposed law would remove the causes which have provoked these troubles. Continuing, he said:

"Some manufacturers are contending that it would not be right to enact the law which is sought, because it would be unfair to them. The farmers would not be permitted to sell manufactured tobacco. They would not put upon the market tobacco in the same form into which the manufacturers convert it. Hence, there would be no direct competition with them in the sale of the tobacco.

"The manufacturers have no right to demand, as a matter of protection to them, that the farmer should not be permitted to sell his tobacco in the natural leaf to whomsoever he pleases. When the internal revenue laws were enacted, the government was not placed under obligation never to change the system. It made no promise to manufacturers that the farmers should not be permitted to sell their tobacco in the natural leaf to consumer through the instrumentality of their vendors. The government in enacting the internal revenues did not surrender its right to protect the citizens of the country who might subsequently need it. It did not surrender any of its power to do justice to the people engaged in any industry in this country."

In his closing appeal to the senate for favorable action on his proposed legislation, he said:

Dependent On Tobacco.

"This great government of ours, because of the loss of a paltry sum in revenues, cannot afford to disregard the demand of 1,500,000 people who are dependent upon the success of tobacco growing for a livelihood. You impose duties upon imports and collect large sums of money. It is confessed by the chairman of the finance committee that such duties are imposed not alone for revenue, but for protection. If you compel the people of this country to contribute large sums to make an enterprise profitable to those who engage in it, then it is unreasonable for 1,500,000 people in this country to demand that the laws be so made that they might have a fair chance to carry on successfully an important industry. They do not ask that money be paid into their pockets as profit, but they simply ask that a grinding corporation shall not be permitted, by reason of the laws of the land, to reduce the market value of their products, below a reasonable price, thus forcing the poor tobacco tenants to labor for almost starvation wages."

CAR SIDE-TRACKED

Until Robin Has Hatched Out Three Sky-Blue Eggs.

Richmond, Ind., May 12.—Pennsylvania Freight Car No. 16,656, though relieved of its burden and under company rules ready to be reloaded and sent on its endless journey, is held on a side track here awaiting the day that a dainty Mrs. Robin Redbreast shall have hatched out three sky-blue eggs that lie at the bottom of a nest built on a journal box of the car. The nest was built and the eggs laid in New York city, and the car left piers 4 and 5, Pennsylvania yards, April 28. William Neuren, a car inspector, discovered the nest with the mother bird setting. The car was unloaded and was then backed to a siding where it will stay despite rules of the Pennsylvania Railroad company to the contrary, until the brood is hatched out.

FAMILY COUGH SYRUP.

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours. NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poisons in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the trouble worse by their constipating effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in a bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friend who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.

Alcohol in Medicines.

Alcohol is the best known preservative of medical compounds, and the average proprietary medicine contains from 15 per cent to 22 per cent, which is the smallest possible amount to preserve the ingredients, while the average doctor's prescription contains from 25 per cent to 50 per cent.

Such standard preparations as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contain but 18 per cent, and they even put the Compound up in tablet form, which the over-scrupulous woman, who objects to alcohol in any degree, may use.

U. S. WILL HELP IN THE SURVEY

Washington, May 12.—Active co-operation of engineers of the water resource branch of the United States geological survey with the Minnesota state drainage commission in its investigation of water resources and conservation, has been assured.

Senator Clapp and Representative Steenerson, with Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, and State Engineer Ralph, yesterday took up the question with officials of the geological survey, with the result that arrangements will be made immediately to detail men from the field force of the survey to work with the force of the state drainage commission in making the investigation. It is expected that active work in the field will begin within thirty days.

The state commission already has available information relating to the Minnesota river and several smaller streams in the northern part of the state, as a result of drainage surveys, and from which profile maps can be made. The federal survey has full information relative to the Mississippi river. A joint force from the state drainage commission will make surveys of the St. Louis river above Cloquet, Red river and streams in the southern part of the state, on which it is believed small power sites are available.

Information to be gathered will include not only water power sites, but also data available for the construction of works for the prevention of floods, reservoir sites and other information relative to water conservation in the state.

When this information is gathered it will be published as a bulletin by the geological survey. Engineer Ralph said yesterday that, at a rough guess, he would say that fully 1,000,000-horse power for the creation of electric energy could be developed on the streams of Minnesota, and that from the taxation of such grants as could be made by the state a handsome revenue could be derived.

Messrs. Schmahl and Ralph will leave for home today.

THE AITKIN FLOOD.

River Steadily Rising and Will Soon Be Over Banks.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There has been no storm of any kind since the great snow storm of ten days ago. The snow has again taken its leave and fields are nearly dry. In harrowing in oats today a cloud of dust follows the harrow, but the river is steadily rising. It has risen about six feet to date, and in another eight days will be over the lower banks. This rise is caused by the opening of private reservoirs to drive the logs on the smaller streams. Then, with the opening of the gates at the government reservoir to sluice logs, and incidentally to furnish water to flush the logs over the rapids at Little Falls and rush the logs to the mills without delay, a shower of rain, and the mystery of the Aitkin flood is again with us.

VASSAR ATHLETE

Comes Close to Record of the Male Champion, Cosgrove.

New York, May 12.—Vassar athletes are rapidly approaching the championship class of either sex. Miss Charlotte Stone Hand of Brooklyn is the latest heroine of her athletic sisters.

She broke the world's record for women in the hop, skip and jump event with a mark of 28 feet 10¾ inches. To show how close to the real championship honors Miss Hand approached, the best record for the event is held by J. Cosgrove of Albany, with a mark of 30 feet 3 inches.

SHOT WIFE AND MAID.

Both Will Live and Iowan Sorry He Is Poor Shot.

Britt, Iowa, May 12.—Patrick Galligan, a restauranteur, who shot his wife and their servant, Miss Laura Stilson, told the sheriff after his arrest he was sorry he was such a poor shot. Mrs. Galligan was hit in the head and Miss Stilson in the leg, after a fusillade of five shots were fired at them at close range.

Last week Galligan and his wife quarreled and parted. Galligan had told his wife not to attempt to enter their home again, for if she did it would be at her peril. She disregarded the warning and entered to get some furniture which she said belonged to her. Miss Stilson was helping her to throw the stuff out of the window when Galligan began firing. He is a cripple, having lost both feet a few years ago by freezing.

ATTORNEY TRIES SUICIDE.

C. N. Runyon is Restrained From Jumping Into the River.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 12.—Despondent, apparently for no particular reason except that he was tired of life, C. N. Runyon, a young attorney of Vermillion, S. D., attempted to commit suicide by jumping into the Missouri river at the foot of Pearl street. Bystanders restrained him until the police arrived, and he was placed under arrest.

Unconscious from an ugly gash in her forehead, and lying in a pool of blood, Miss Rae West, aged 19 years, the victim of a vicious attack by two men, was found lying in the street. She can give only a meager description of her assailants.

COMBINING TO FIX WAGES.

There is more in the recent decision of the Minnesota supreme court on the Duluth board of trade case than a mere ruling that that institution is not a combination in restraint of trade. Doctrines are laid down there that are evidently the outcome of long and exhaustive study of the questions involved, and the decision is one of the ablest and most important that the supreme court has lately handed down.

On its face, the Minnesota anti-trust statute is exceedingly stringent, one of the most rigid, in fact, in the entire country. It seems, upon a superficial reading, to prevent combinations of all kinds, even such as might be beneficial to the public and desirable from the viewpoint of sound public policy. There are such combinations, and the labor union is one of them. As to the right of labor to combine for the protection of its wage schedule, the courts have long ago decided. The board of trade decision says, on this point, that "the right to form a combination for the purpose of fixing wages is now thoroughly established, and numerous cases citing it will be found in 24 Cyl. 819."

In the case of the board of trade, the commission rule is an agreement as to the price to be charged in their services by members of the board of trade, engaged in the selling of grain on commission for country customers. This price is fixed at 1 cent a bushel, just as the New York stock exchange fixes its commission rate at one-eighth of 1 per cent on stock transfers. Had there been a question as to the reasonableness of this charge, the case might have been different; but there was no such issue in the case, the state admitting that the rate is reasonable.

The interest in the decision lies chiefly in the ruling that the right to combine for the purpose of fixing wages is not confined to those who labor with their hands. "A rule of law applicable to men who work with their hands should," says the supreme court, "be equally applicable, when the general purpose to be accomplished is the same, to men whose work is more intellectual. If a combination for the purpose of regulating what one class of men in the community shall receive for their personal services is valid, because not within the scope of the anti-trust statute, it cannot be that any combination for the same purpose is prohibited because of the character or description of the individuals who enter into the combination. The classification must be along the line of purposes, and not persons."

Abuse of this broad ruling is guarded against by the phrase "when no other principle of public policy contravenes." Very clearly this would cover a case where a combination to fix the price for services rendered to the public resulted in an unreasonable demand. It would be against public policy to suffer a combination to demand an unreasonable wage or fee, and in such a case it seems reasonable to assume that the courts would decide against the unreasonable exaction, even though they might uphold the combination.

The anti-trust law was intended to prevent centralizing the control of commodities, but the supreme court draws a very clear dividing line between the disposal of commodities and the disposal of services, and reason and sound public policy are in harmony with the ruling, particularly when it is safeguarded by the declaration, by inference, that even lawful combinations will not hold when public policy is outraged by unfair use of the power thus created.

REVISION AND THE PLATFORM.

Senator Aldrich is reported to have said that the Republican platform did not promise a downward revision of the tariff.

He is right, if he said it, and there seems to be no reason for doubting that he did. The Republican platform did not promise revision downward, and it is quite as easy to have a revision upward under its terms as it is to have a revision downward. Indeed, it seems to be a good deal easier.

But if Senator Aldrich is offering that as an excuse for failing to revise the tariff downward he is mistaken. The people judged the promises of the Republican party in the light of the obvious public desire for a revision downward, and in the light of the stump utterances of party leaders, from President Taft down the line. The platform did not promise revision downward, but they did.

Though no doubt many were deceived by the strange wording of the Republican platform, others were not. The platform advocated a revision "by fixing duties equal to the difference between cost of production here and abroad, and providing a reasonable profit to American industries." This is ambiguous enough, and last year was the first time in history when that phrase "reasonable profit" made its appearance in Republican platforms. The Herald called attention to the radical change it proposed in the Republican utterances on the tariff when it first appeared in the state platform of the Chicago Republicans. It appeared later in the Republican platform in Iowa, and again The Herald called attention to it. That its introduction in one state should have been followed by its introduction in others, and that it should then have appeared in the national platform, furnishes prima facie evidence that it was a premeditated policy, if not actually a tariff-grabber's plot.

The tariff plank of the Republican party, logically analyzed, promised nothing whatever in the way of relief, and it is no credit to the discernment of the American people that they were fooled by it. The fixing of duties "equal to the difference between cost of production here and abroad" warrants a duty when the difference is in our favor, as it often is, quite as much as when it is the other way. The vague phrase "reasonable profit opens the way for tariff graft limited only by whatever limit there may be to the greed of the trusts, and by the courage of congress in carrying out the will of the trusts in opposition to a widespread demand that tariff revision shall take a form that will curb the power of the trusts.

For a great party to juggle with phrases in this manner and to obtain a victory at the polls upon false pretenses is despicable, but it shows the power of the great interests in the councils of the party organization, and it shows that a great deal of housecleaning will be necessary before the dominant party and the government under its control can be made responsive to the people's will.

THE REAL LAKES-TO-GULF-WAY.

If it is desirable to unite the Great Lakes and the Mississippi—and it seems, in view of all the investigations thus far made, a sound business investment—the way to do it is to connect Lake Superior with the river, and not Lake Michigan. Though the latter plan is Chicago's pet scheme, it is dubious, even dangerous. It is difficult to see how it is possible to provide the water necessary to fill the proposed canal and to furnish the water power that is being advertised, without endangering the connecting channels of the Great Lakes, and thus injuring or destroying an established waterway of certain value to build up one the need of which has yet to be proved. On the other hand the canal from Lake Superior, while occupying a tactical situation more pregnant with commercial possibilities than the proposed Chicago canal, would not imperil any existing waterway. It will have to be a slack-water affair, with locks, and it can make no dangerous drafts upon the waters of the lakes.

Of the incidental advantages to Duluth flowing out of such a plan little need be said, as it must be obvious to everybody that to bring the head of Mississippi navigation to Duluth, to make this port the gateway not only from East to West and West to East but to the South, the Gulf of Mexico and the Panama canal, would add tremendously to its strategic importance in a commercial way. It is matters such as this that Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, representing the commercial club of that city, is in Duluth to talk about, and he should have no difficulty in arousing the earnest interest of every citizen with whom he comes in contact.

AN APPEALING DOCUMENT.

We fancy that there will be an uncommonly large demand for Farmers' Bulletin No. 355, just issued by the United States department of agriculture, and entitled "A Successful Poultry and Dairy Farm."

It records the successful return to the soil of a professional man whose longing for the freedom of country life led him at the age of 36 to abandon the city for the farm. His longing for the health-giving contact with the soil is shared by thousands of other dwellers in the cities, and the record of his successful experiment cannot fail to make a powerful appeal to those who would like to repeat his experiment if they could be reasonably assured of his success. Every shop, every office, every place of business in every city of the country, probably, contains one or more men who would give much thus to be rescued from the treadmill of a salaried existence, but who hesitate about burning their bridges behind them and plunging into a new field of work for which they feel but poorly equipped. Introducing the story of the man who did this and won, the bulletin quotes this letter as typical of many received by the department:

> I am an employe in a large manufacturing establishment. My wife, mother and sister are dependent on my income, which is $1,000 a year. I have saved $2,000. I do not know what time some relative of a high official will need my place. I desire to own a farm and live on it, so I may feel the sense of proprietorship. I am offered eighty acres of land for $2,000. I am thinking of offering $1,000 cash and a like amount on time for this farm so that I may have capital for starting in business. Do you think I can safely make the change?

The answer of the department to this shows what everybody must know: that you can't plunge into farming without a knowledge of the business any easier than you can plunge into flour-milling or mining or groceries or drygoods. "Farming is a complex business," says the department. "The successful farmer must be a good manager. This means that he must know what to do and how to do it, and must be able to do things at the time they should be done. He should have some knowledge of physics, mechanics, chemistry, physiology and engineering. He must know something of the breeds of livestock and of the principles involved in breeding and feeding them. He must know something of soils, and most of this knowledge of soils must come from experience with the particular soil he farms. No amount of book knowledge will completely take the place of experience. No man can begin farming without previous experience and be successful from the start. Yet some of the most successful farmers in this country begin farming in middle life. Their success has been due to persistent effort, indomitable energy, patience and a realization of their lack of knowledge which led them to seek information from every possible source. The first few years were full of discouragement. Later, many such men have won enviable reputations as farmers."

THE TARIFF "PORK BARREL."

Senator Nelson hit the nail squarely on the head in his direct manner when, in a debate in the senate Monday, he said: "Mr. President, I am tired of being lectured about these schedules and about orthodoxy of the Republican party. Let us recognize the fact that with the tariff bill it is just as it is with the rivers and harbors bill. You tickle me and I tickle you. You give us what we want on the Pacific coast for our lead ore and for our citrus fruit, and we will tickle you people of New England and give you what you want on your cotton goods. The people who stand between these two elements are ground between the upper and lower millstones. We are willing to accept a reasonable reduction on our products. How is it with the rest of you?"

This is the secret of tariff scandal, of tariff robbery, of tariff corruption. It is this system of log-rolling and of trading that gives men like the infamous Aldrich the power to dictate a tariff bill in the interests of the trusts. The tariff is so much a local issue in congress that common national interests are lost sight of, and in the confusion of sectional grabbing the shrewd agents of the trusts calmly pull the wires and manipulate such infamies as the Dingley tariff law and the Aldrich tariff bill. Nothing but an immediate awakening of the consumers of the land, made plainly evident in Washington, will prevent the infliction upon the American people of a tariff law even more viciously corrupt than the Dingley law of 1897.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

In speaking of the possibilities that the future held for Duluth as a railroad center, George H. Shaw, general traffic manager of the Canadian Northern railway at the Spalding the other day told a few of the things that should help the through traffic of this city.

Mr. Shaw had just returned from Chicago and was on his way to Winnipeg. He had just completed the detailed arrangements for the establishment of the Chicago office of the Canadian Northern, which will be in charge of Roy Hall, formerly general traffic manager of the Dairy Lake & Winnipeg railway.

"We have been getting more or less of the Chicago business in the past," said Mr. Shaw, "but the opening of the Chicago office is the inauguration of a campaign to secure more business. The Chicago business will naturally come via Duluth, so that the more business that is secured by the Canadian Northern the better it will be for this city.

"The opening of the Chicago office is the direct result of the determination of the officials of the Canadian Northern to get more of the business originating at Chicago that is bound for points in the territory of the Canadian Northern. Our road is entering into stronger competition with the roads routing business from Chicago, and we thought that it would be to our best advantage to open an office down there."

Charles Jesmore of Eveleth, who was a guest at the St. Louis yesterday, says that conditions are already better in Eveleth. They have begun shipping from the mines, and from the present indications Eveleth will enjoy a good season. The ore season has started right and the operators up there believe that the present season will show, upon a conservative estimate, at least 10 per cent increase in shipments over last season.

All the baseball fans on the range are rooting for the Pittsburg Pirates in the National league, according to George Hawley of Hibbing, who was at the Lenox yesterday.

It is perhaps because of the fact that some of the iron workers on the range have come from the Smoky City and have by their presence aroused an enthusiasm for the members of Fred Clarke's crew. Anyway, Hawley says that every time the scores are read in Hibbing of a Pirate victory an enthusiastic yell rends the evening air.

A man was telephoning to Hibbing last evening from the St. Louis. He heard a great cheering in the telephone. He remarked that there must be some kind of a celebration going on in the mining town. It was simply the crowd cheering when they learned that Pittsburg had won another game.

The games are read from bulletins sent to Hibbing from this city, according to Mr. Hawley. They are received some time in the evening and so great is the enthusiasm at Hibbing over the pennant race in both of the big leagues, that they gather around and wait for the reports of the games from Duluth. It is really nerve racking to be a basoball fan.

Archie Gray of Chisholm, who is at the Lenox hotel, states that along with the enterprise that Chisholm has shown in the rapid recovery from the fire of last fall, a bit of enterprise may be shown in the construction of a ball park and the placing of a team at Chisholm.

Mr. Grey says the plan is receiving the attention of the Chisholm business men, who are of the opinion that such a move would be a very good advertisement for the town, letting others know that Chisholm was upon sound footing and ready for some recreation after the strenuous work the merchants and business men of that village have gone through to rebuild the town.

And along the line of Chisholm enterprise, Mr. Grey says that the citizens of that town are out to make it one of the best towns upon the entire range. Mr. Grey says that Chisholm at the present time, is doing as much business as any town upon the range, and with the growth and the development that is expected to come to Chisholm this year, it will rank with the two largest towns north of Duluth.

W. A. Brennan of Grand Rapids, at the St. Louis, says the stump-blowing experiments that are being held at the present time in the northern part of the state, conducted under the supervision of experts sent out by the powder houses, will result in more stump land being cleared this summer than ever before in one season in this state.

"Already in the northern part of the state where the exhibitions have been held, the farmers are blowing out stumps with dynamite," says Mr. Brennan. "When they can secure the powder at the price it is being offered at wholesale, the farmers will find that clearing land of stumps by powder is the cheapest way the land can be cleared. There are something like 10,000,000 acres in the northern part of this state that must be cleared of its stumps before the land will raise anything. That is one of the great problems that faces this section of the state, and until this land is cleared the agricultural population will not show a large increase."

EXPLOSION AT FURNACE

Three Workmen Burned By Shower of Hot Metal.

Laborer Turned a Cold Stream of Water on Molten Iron.

Burned almost beyond recognition about the face and scalp with molten iron, as a result of an explosion early this morning at the Zenith Furnace company, Frank Witte, aged 39, employed at the blast furnace, will lose his hair and will sustain painful injuries to his face. He is confined to the Duluth hospital.

Besides Witte, two other men were also burned by the hot metal. They were also laborers at the blast furnace, and gave their names as John Keough and Joseph Vladimar. Keough was not burned badly enough to be taken to the hospital, but Vladimar is suffering from a severe burn on the face which may endanger his eyes.

The explosion occurred this morning, shortly after 5 o'clock, when Witte, who is employed as helper on the night shift at the blast furnace, directed a stream of cold water on a vat of hot metal before it had properly casted. The result was an explosion, in which the molten iron flew in every direction, burning the three men working around the vat more or less seriously.

Witte was rushed to the hospital, where he was given medical treatment at once. His hair is burned from his head, his eyelashes destroyed, his face and lips burned both inside and outside, and his eyes more or less injured from the hot metal. Keough received a discharge of the metal upon his back. His injuries are not serious enough to keep him confined to his home.

The explosion is looked upon as being purely accidental and directly due to the fact that the iron in the vat had not cooled to the required temperature before being subjected to the cold water. Vladimar will be confined to the hospital but a few days, and it is expected that Witte will not be obliged to stay at the hospital any length of time.

All three men live at West Duluth.

STRANDED ALL NIGHT

West Duluthians Hung Up on Sand Bar in the River.

Stranded for several hours in a launch on a sand bar in the middle of St. Louis bay, just below the mouth of the river, William Millsop and Cassius Moore, both of West Duluth, nearly succumbed to exposure after passing the night in a futile attempt to push the craft off the sand.

Cold and weary, the two were picked up by William Nelson shortly after daybreak. He was out on the bay in his tug. Both were suffering from the night's exposure to the elements. They had spent considerable time in the cold water trying to move the boat from the bar.

The craft is known to West Duluth boatmen as the Bullet. It is a speeder and is good for about twenty miles an hour. The shifting sand in the bay and the low water in the channel are responsible for the stranding. The boat was going at a lively rate, and almost buried its nose in the sand when it struck the bar.

As it was, the tug did not have an easy job pulling the boat off, taking about an hour to accomplish the feat. The tugmen were thinking seriously of giving up the proposition and looking to other helps when, in a final effort, the boat was pulled from its sandy resting place.

Narrow Escape.

James Marko, employed at the Rainy Lake Lumber company's mill, had a narrow escape from losing a leg yesterday while at his work as a rider on a log carrier.

He attempted to adjust a log with his foot and the carriage slipped away from him. His foot became entangled and had it not been for the prompt action of a fellow workman, who pulled him away, he might have been seriously if not fatally injured.

Cows Stray Away.

Capt. J. W. Mann, poundmaster of the West Duluth district, received word this morning from the Proctor police force, that several cows had strayed away from their owners, and a request was made that he keep his eyes open for them. There were about five animals missing. It is not thought that they are stolen.

Mrs. Cole's Funeral.

THE CASE IS DISMISSED

Not Proved That Edward Madden Sold Liquor to Minor.

Carl Johnson, Minor in Question, Fined $25 and Costs.

The case against Edward Madden, West Duluth saloon keeper, charged, under the new ordinance, with selling liquor to a minor, was dismissed in municipal court this morning because of lack of sufficient evidence to convict.

Carl Johnson, the minor in the case, was arrested immediately afterwards, charged with furnishing liquor to minors. He pleaded guilty, and Judge Wisdom fined him $25 and costs, amounting in all to $31, which he paid immediately. The Johnson case was not under the new minor ordinance.

Young Johnson, who is said to be 19 years of age, had a lapse of memory when on the witness stand, and could not say positively whether he purchased the liquor he had in his possession in Madden's saloon, or in some other, the inference being that he was intoxicated at the time of purchase, and did not realize just where he was.

Madden denied having sold Johnson any intoxicants, and as there were no other witnesses who claimed to have seen the youth purchase it, there was nothing to do but dismiss the case.

Madden was arrested last week. The story told the police was that Johnson had bought a pint of whisky and blackberry wine, mixed, in Madden's place, and then had let four other boys drink out of the bottle. All of them were affected by the liquor, and one was drunk when he arrived home. He confessed to his mother what had happened, and she complained to Sergeant Wilcox, who took Madden into custody.

The other four boys concerned, all of them younger than Madden, were ready to swear that he had supplied them with the liquor. Furnishing liquor to a minor, whether in a saloon or outside of one, and whether by an adult or another minor, is a violation of law, making the prosecution of Johnson an easy one. He could also have been arrested and brought into court, under the new minor ordinance, on the charge of being in a saloon, and purchasing intoxicants, but it was thought best to prosecute under the other charge.

CLAIM CASE IS CLOSED

The Drake & Stratton company has filed an answer to the complaint filed some time ago by Dominick Mazzitello, who wants $1,995 for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working at stripping operations in the employ of the company.

They claim that the matter has been settled and finally disposed of. Mazzitello, who was a minor at the time of the accident, was prevailed upon by officers of the company, it is alleged, to sign certain papers which called for the settlement of the case for $200. Mazzittello lately came before Judge Middlecoff of the probate court and said that he did not understand at the time what he was signing.

The ruling of the probate court was that the settlement be set aside so that Mazzittello could sue the company for a larger sum.

SHOT DOWN ALL SEEKING ESCAPE

Constantinople, May 12.—W. W. Peet, the local representative of the Peet, the local representative of the from Thomas D. Christie, dated Tarsus, May 4, Mr. Christie, who is a missionary of the American board, says no Turks were killed in Tarsus except by the looters fighting among themselves, but in Adana about 150 Turks, including fifteen soldiers, were killed. The feeling there is still very bitter, and it has been increased by outrageous articles in Ittidal, an Adana paper. "In this case," Mr. Christie writes, "we could wish again for the censorship.

"The second massacre at Adana, as I now learn, was much worse than the first. It is reported to have begun April 25 and lasted two days. The Gregorian school, filled with refugees, was set on fire. The only outlet from the burning building was commanded by hundreds of rifles, and those who tried to make their escape were shot down. The rest of those in the schools, including over 100 wounded from the first massacre, gathered within the building by Miss Wallis were burned to death. Only eight persons survived to tell the awful story. It is thought that at least 2,000 men, women and children perished in Adana.

"The government is now making every effort to prove the existence of an Armenian conspiracy, and with some success, but even the fact that a few hundred foolish young men had dreams of Armenian independence will not justify the killing and plundering of so many perfectly innocent people."

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The insect which develops an interpernate desire for walking has struck Duluth. For several weeks a number of the athletically inclined maidens of the Y. W. C. A. have asserted their intention of walking to St. Paul some time this summer and in preparation of the event they often arise early enough in the morning to walk down town. And sometimes for special training they walk away up to the first bridge in Chester park.

You can successfully accuse almost any young woman you see walking along with an earnest look on her face, taking her pleasure, far too seriously, of entertaining thoughts and ambitions of sprinting lightly, and happily, albeit, quickly and expeditiously all the way to St. Paul.

The Y. W. C. A. young women, who are planning their trip think that about a week will do it, counting Sunday as a day of rest. The idea, advanced by those mortals, who think that eight or ten miles a day is about enough out-of-door exercise, that averaging twenty-five miles in twenty-four hours, is going quite some, is received in contemptuous silence by those who are planning to leave the city June 15.

The costume for the affair, and of course it will have a costume, will be noted chiefly for those articles of attire, which will be left off. Ease of movement will be the thing most to be desired and any portion of one's dress than can be remotely accused of hampering free motion or of cutting off the breath supply will be eliminated. That's all there is about it—eliminated.

The kind of shoes, what to have to eat to best prolong endurance and cultivate strength, whether to carry one's tooth brush with one, or have it sent on to the next town, are all questions yet to be settled.

Saturday picnics are beginning to be popular and some of the members of the faculty of the high school and of the normal school, are planning a little out of door excursion for some Saturday this month when the jaunt to Two Harbors will be taken between the lunching times. If it is successful, later on a Marathon run down the north shore to Port Arthur may be undertaken.

TO HONOR MEMORY

Of Civil War Veterans; Society Will Be Organized.

"What American would think of the War of the Revolution today, if it were not for the work of the Daughters of the Revolution in keeping in the public mind the heroism of the early men of the country?" said Mrs. Emma Campbell today. Mrs. Campbell is in the city from Minneapolis in the interests of an organization of a local branch of the Daughters of Veterans, a society which has for its object the perpetuation of the memories of the men who fought on the side of the Union during the Civil war.

"The need of a society of the Daughters of Veterans is not very evident at present, when almost everybody numbers among his friends some old soldier who can tell directly of the personal events of the war; but within a very few years the old soldiers will all have passed away, and our society will stand as a monument to keep alive in America the memories of the bravery and sacrifice of the men who fought so valiantly. Every daughter or granddaughter of a man who fought on the side of the Union during the Civil war is eligible for membership in the society."

Mrs. Campbell received the local members of the Women's Relief corps this afternoon at the Spalding, and she will be at home this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock, and is anxious that any interested in the movement, and especially those eligible for membership in the society, call upon her. It is hoped by many local women, especially those prominent in the work of the Women's Relief corps, that the local daughters of old soldiers will evince an interest in the movement, and that a society may be organized here.

Women's Meeting.

The regular women's meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Lake avenue Bethel. Rev. J. T. Moody will be the speaker, and Mrs. R. D. Haven will sing. Any woman interested is invited to attend, and after the regular meeting, plans for the future work will be discussed.

In response to the roll call the names of Indian tribes found in the colonies will be named and during the afternoon an Indian legend will be read, illustrated with tableaux.

HOW IT WORKED IN KALAMAZOO

In view of the organization of an Associated Charities in Duluth Friday evening of this week, the following account of similar work done at Kalamazoo, Mich., through the efforts of Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane as related in the June Delineator, will be of interest to many:

"Kalamazoo having been cleansed of what Mrs. Crane calls 'sanitary sin,' there were other problems. The good people of the town had always tried to look after the poor. They had, however, given not wisely, but too well, so that, though they doubled and trebled their gifts, the sum total of pauperism did not diminish. What we need, said Mrs. Crane, is scientific charity to treat, not the symptoms, but the cause of the disease. The league added its charities' organization department, of which Mrs. Crane was made chairman. Now the charity of Kalamazoo is more evenly distributed, so that an industrious pauper family that used to work three or four relief societies for Christmas turkeys, gets but one, and other families less active in advertising their needs are not obliged to go hungry. Churches and individuals direct the streams of their benevolence into the charities' organization office, and the city adds $40 a month from its poor fund. Mrs. Crane can make $1 go farther than the rest of us can $5, says the mayor of Kalamazoo.

"Each case to receive assistance is listed, and its history studied in this charities clearing-house. Some people are poor because they belong to that weaker half of humanity that lacks the judgment and discrimination to meet life's problems. And today, when the struggle for a livelihood wages fiercest, the battle is to the strong mentally and physically. To make them fit for the conflict so that it will not be necessary to care for them when they have fallen back worsted, is the first aim of the charities' organization. Its greatest mission is to industrious working people.

"Mrs. Crane is teaching them to save. Through her efforts 400 small bank accounts are in active operation in the Savings Bank of Kalamazoo. The savings collector, who is a paid trained worker, collected in the first eighteen months of her service $14,452.41, which would otherwise have melted away in foolish expenditure. Gilt-framed crayon portraits on the wall, onyx clocks on the mantels when the household furnishings are sadly out of repair and the children's shoes out at the toes, are in many homes mute memorials of where some of the money used to go. Now, the savings collector, who makes weekly rounds, gets there before the agent with a glittering installment plan bauble. She receives any amount from 5 cents upward, enters it on the owner's bankbook, and carries it to the bank for deposit."

PLAYGROUND MEETING

The annual meeting of the Duluth Playground association will be held Tuesday evening of next week. This meeting has already been postponed once because of the small attendance, and those who realize the value of playgrounds to the children of the city are hoping that the next meeting may be largely attended.

"Duluth has made a splendid start in providing play places for the children of the city," said one of the members today, "and it is to be hoped that the association will receive the necessary support during this next year to properly maintain those playgrounds already started, and if possible enlarge the work. The business of the association is not arduous. In fact, I think this one annual meeting is the only one that the associate members need attend. In addition, of course, to paying their annual dues. Many Duluthians gave their support to the movement last year by becoming members upon payment of the small membership dues. Others took out sustaining memberships, and all of these people should realize that the treasury is again in need of that support. If a citizen finds himself so busy that he cannot attend meetings and show a personal interest in the movement, he can at least remit the dues to the treasurer.

"This year it is hoped that some arrangement can be made to provide a playground in the central part of the city as well as those that were maintained last year. Duluth cannot afford to allow this work to fall through lack of interest. It means far too much in the welfare of its future citizens."

The postponed meeting will be held Tuesday evening, May 18, at the mayor's office.

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—Uncertain pitching and erratic fielding by New York made yesterday's game a simple romp for the home team. The visitors' infield was put in the air by Detroit's base running at the start and the pitchers then seemed to go into a panic. Willett did not allow a hit until the sixth. Donovan finished the game, making his 1909 debut. It was flag day, the American league pennant won by Detroit last year being hoisted. SPALDINGS TO PLAY AT CLOQUET

Association Players Will Meet Lumber Town Team Sunday.

The Spaldings are to play at Cloquet Sunday.

The infield will be strengthened by the addition of at least one new man, and an additional utility player will be secured.

The team with the baseball name has not had much practice as yet this year but from now on the players will get out at least three times each week.

The Cloquet game team is looked on as one of the fastest in this part of the country. The boys from the lumber town always put up a scrappy game, and the contest Sunday should be a good one.

HOLD A "MARATHON RACE."

Members of Second Division Minnesota Naval Militia Have Contest.

Emery Morrison made five miles in 34 minutes on London road last evening, winning the "Marathon race" held there by the Second division of the Minnesota Naval Militia. Jack Dunbick was second, making the distance in 36 minutes, and Frank Quinn, third, doing it in 38 minutes. C. L. Carston, athletic director of the Second division, had charge of the race.

It is understood that the First division is training some runners, and races between members of the two divisions will probably be held later.

Kelly the Favorite.

Several bets of large proportions were recorded making Kelly a 10 to 7 favorite.

Police Raid the Match.

New York, May 12.—The police raided the Longacre Athletic club last night soon after the evening's program had been started. Joe Hess, referee, and two boxers, Young Williams and Joe Moran, were arrested.

The bouts at Brown's gymnasium went on unmolested. Charles Seiger, a lightweight, of Hoboken, N. J., punished Dan Savage of Orange, N. J., so severely that the referee stopped the bout in the sixth round to prevent a knockout.

JULIUS H. BARNES,
Re-elected President of the Duluth Boat Club.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Boat club was held at the main clubhouse last evening, when Julius H. Barnes was re-elected president and other officers to serve during the ensuing twelve months were named.

Following are the other officers elected: First vice president, C. A. Congdon; second vice president, W. J. Olcott; third vice president, J. L. Washburn; secretary, Albert S. Ames; treasurer, I. S. Moore; captain, J. D. Mahoney; sailing captain, C. D. Brewer; lieutenant, J. E. MacGregor; ensigns, Sibbald MacDonald, W. D. Jones, Guy E. Warren; directors for two years, J. B. Cotton, A. W. Frick, A. C. Le Duc, and George Spencer.

The reports of the officers showed the club to be in splendid financial condition. The club's property value, without depreciation, amounts to $75,000, while the indebtedness is but $9,000.

The elections and the reports of officers were about the only matters disposed of during the business session. The club's different plans for the season have already been announced and indicate a greater scope for the organization than ever before.

Upon the adjournment of the meeting a smoker was held. Congressman Clarence B. Miller spoke and was thanked for his work in securing channel lights in the St. Louis river. Vocal solos were given by Charles O. Applehagen and John Koneczny and Don Clark and John Trecise got off some clever imitations of Harry Lauder.

The weather was rainy and disagreeable last evening, but despite that fact, about 200 members attended the meeting.

The "cafeteria," or lunch counter, at the main house is in operation now, but the launches at the branch and the main dining room will not open until June 1.

IRISHMAN AND JAP TO MEET AT JIU JITSU

CAPT. LEOPOLD McLAGLEN.

All arrangements have been completed for the finish jiu jitsu battle between Capt. Leopold McLaglen and T. Yamagata of Tokio, Japan. Both men have finished their training, and both contestants are in the best of condition, awaiting the struggle with the utmost confidence.

The captain has met the greatest jiu jitsu men of Japan and he has yet to tap the floor three times in token of defeat. In Yamagata he meets one of the greatest men ever turned out by the Kodokan school, a man who has met and defeated some of the men the captain has defeated in Japan. The struggle tomorrow evening should be one of the best ever seen in this country.

The men will struggle in their bare feet. They will wear the regulation jiu jitsu jackets, that enables an opponent to secure the various grips.

A jiu jitsu expert kicks with the muscles of his instep and big toe. They develop their feet, just as they develop the muscles of their abdomen and other parts of their bodies. The foot is one of the weapons of execution of a jiu jitsu fighter, just as the right hand is the weapon of execution of a ring fighter.

Striking with the closed hand will not be permitted, but the contest will be to a finish and the man upon his feet at the end of the contest, will be the winner.

Yamagata will reaoh Duluth tomorrow morning.

YOUNG CORBETT HAS BEST OF IT

His Opponent, Scroggs, Is Only Saved By the Bell.

Baltimore, Md., May 12.—In the last seconds of the final round of a 15-round fight before the Eureka Athletic club last night Young Corbett of Denver knocked down Harry Scroggs of this city, but the latter was saved by the bell and Corbett was forced to content himself with the decision.

Scroggs made a good showing at long range fighting in several rounds, but fared badly at close quarters and appeared to make little effort to keep Corbett away. The latter showed scarcely a mark at the finish, while the right side of Scroggs' face was in bad shape. In the third round Scroggs had the best of the argument, and Corbett's handlers were only restrained by the police from jumping into the ring.

Dr. Roller Is Busy.

Topeka, Kan., May 12.—Dr. B. F. Roller tonight defeated Hjalmar Lundin in two straight falls, the first in 7 minutes 55 seconds, by a half-Nelson and crotch, and the second in 8 minutes 30 seconds, by a hammerlock and half-Nelson.

No Sunday Ball Yet.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—There will be no Sunday baseball in St. Paul for a while at least, as Judge William L. Kelley, in the Ramsey county district court, yesterday decided that a restraining order against the game issued at the instance of the Central Park Methodist Episcopal church, May 25, 1909, shall stand. But he grants permission to the St. Paul baseball club to serve an amended answer in the case and not only stipulates that either side may call for a hearing of the case on its merits on five days' notice, but expressly states "this case should be determined after hearing."

Referring to the new law recently enacted by the legislature, which permits ball playing in a quiet and orderly manner between the hours of 1 and 6 o'clock on Sunday, Judge Kelley says it may be doubted whether it really changes the law, and if it does it is in the letter and not in the spirit.

A hearing of the case on its merits as to whether the restraining order shal be made permanent in the form of an injunction or not will probably be had very soon.

Jiu Jitsu Match

Temple Roller Rink, Thursday May 13.

Capt. Leopold McLaglen will meet T. Yamagata of Tokio. Tickets, 50c and $1. $1.00 tickets on sale at Temple roller rink, Backwood's and Howley's cigar stores, St. Louis buffet and Brotherton's barber shop, West Duluth. Twenty-five reserved seats at Temple rink, $2 each.

National Auto Race.

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—Arrangements have been perfected by the committee in charge of the Shiners' convention, to be held here next month, whereby a national automobile race meet will be run in connection with the entertainment. The races will be contested over the Douglas park track in conjunction.

Entrants will include the stars of the Daytona, New Orleans, Vanderbilt cup, Brialcliqe, Lowell and Savannah meets. Two five-mile races, a ten-mile race, a ten-mile handicap and a fifty-mile race will be included, the latter for a $500 stake.

After months of newspaper comment, Duluth has been afforded an opportunity to pass judgmen upon the merits of the famous Burns-Johnson contest.

There can be only one opinion from a view of the fight pictures now being shown at the Lyceum theater. The result of the fight was a foregone conclusion from the moment plucky little Tommy Burns crawled through the ropes. There was no chance for the Canadian to win, and probably driven on to desperation by only the faintest of hopes, the smaller man fought one of the most desperate battles that has ever been fought in a prize ring.

At all stages of the fight did the smaller man carry the milling to the big negro. Even in the fatal fourteenth, when Police Superintendent Mitchell leaped to the edge of th ring and ordered the contest stopped, Burns was desperately boring into the big black.

The white man doesn't appear to have had a chance; not once in the entire fight. He was dwarfed by the towering height of the Texas black, and in the moving of the figures over the canvas, Burns looks like a mere petulant boy striving to vent his rage upon a grown and powerfully-built man. As Burns begins to realize that he hasn't a chance to win, he fights the more desperately. Few men have taken worse beatings than the Canadian, yet even when his face resembled that of a corpse, he kept tearing into the negro.

Many who saw the pictures yesterday were heard to say that Johnson was slow. You must take into consideration that Johnson has a most deceiving motion. He is flat-footed for one thing; he never gets up on his toes, but rather slides around the canvas. This is one of the reasons why he appears slow.

Another reason is that Johnson let Burns carry the fight to him. He used but little fancy footwork, but it can't be said that the blows of the present champion lack speed or precision.

It will be noticed in the pictures that Burns very seldom hit Johnson. Burns would rush in with a right swing, but invariably this blow would go around the neck of the towering black. Many may have failed to notice that the big black possessed sufficient speed to get inside of the swings of Burns. Burns occasionally caught the bigger man with a left jab, but in the clinches the utter futility of the Burns cause was shown.

When the fighters were in the clinches, which was most of the fight, it looked for all the world as if Johnson was some indulgent father who was holding a petulant and headstrong boy. With over thirty pounds the best of the weight, with over six inches the best of the height, Johnson swung little Burns around the ring as he pleased, pushed him away far enough to uppercut him, drew Burns in close to him when Burns tried to do effective infighting and in every way showed that he was master of the situation.

It was the most one-sided fight that was ever waged for the world's heavyweight championship, not excepting the short fight between James J. Corbett and Charlie Mitchell at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1893.

All through the fight the negro kept grinning, first at the crowd and then down upon the lowered head of poor little Burns. He looked like some cruel giant playing with a victim until he had tortured him sufficiently. And yet though he never appeared in distress, though he was never worried by Burns' efforts, this Johnson person does not appear to have a punch. With all his massiveness of shoulder and arms, he doesn't hit like a man that has the wallop that calls the birdies.

He doesn't throw his body with his long distance blows. He doesn't put his legs into the punches. He never gets upon his toes when he hits. He stands there flat-footed and seems to punch with his arms and shoulders alone.

If Johnson had been a hard hitter he would have put the little Burns fighter to sleep. He would have not permitted him to go fourteen rounds and let the contest end by a police decision. It didn't look as if he was able to put on the finishing blow to the game, aggressive little fighter that was opposing him.

In comparison with the action of Jim Jeffries in the one round shown of the famous Jeffries-Sharkey contest at Coney Island in 1899, Johnson does not show up to advantage, and there are few who left the theater after viewing the pictures but believed that if Jeff would come back he would give this Johnson person the beating of his life.

The first clash of the Cubs and Giants has resulted in a victory for the Chicago team. And it was up to Three-finger Brown to win the opening game of the 1909 series between the two bitter rivals. If there was anything that Johnny McGraw would have liked to accomplish for the sake of the waning hopes of the New York fans, it was to win the first game between the Cubs and Giants. But the Cubs won and you may expect some more knocking from the New York press.

After viewing the fight pictures yesterday afternoon, Capt. Leopold McLaglen stated that Burns did not have a chance against the negro. The captain has seen both Jeffries and Johnson in action. He saw Johnson fight Fireman Flynn out on the coast, the captain being training there at the time. He saw Jeffries in his second Corbett contest. He is of the opinion that if Jeff can come back to anywhere near his old-time form, he will beat the negro, and beat him as no one has ever been beaten in this country.

When Capt. McLaglen was in Los Angeles, Jeffries told him that if he ever fought Johnson he would give him the worst beating that any heavyweight ever took. The captain further states that there is the most bitter feeling between the two men, and that should they meet, their efforts will be increased by this intense antagonism.

This afternoon the curtain will be rung up upon the stage of the new Minnesota-Wisconsin league. The new league begins its existence with every assurance of success. Business men are behind the venture and baseball has been placed upon a business-like basis. With good teams in the various towns, there is no reason why the league should not prove a success from the start.

COL. TUCKER WAS MAUDLIN; ST. PAUL MEAL UNPLEASANT, TESTIFIES MRS. N. B. PAYNE

Chicago, May 12.—The deposition of Mrs. N. B. Payne, concerning the habits and disposition of Col. William F. Tucker, U. S. A., retired, who is being sued for separate maintenance by his wife, Dolly Logan Tucker, daughter of Gen. Logan, was made public yesterday.

Mrs. Payne is a cousin of Mrs. Tucker and lived with the family in St. Paul, Minn., from October, 1897, until March, 1898, and on other occasions. Her deposition was taken in New York, May 3. She was examined by John A. L. Campbell on behalf of Mrs. Tucker, and cross-examined by Leo J. Doyle, counsel for Col. Tucker.

"Describe the conduct of Col. and Mrs. Tucker toward each other in their daily life in 1898," said Mr. Campbell.

"Their relations were amicable. Mrs. Tucker was unhappy because of Col. Tucker's constant drinking and irritable disposition."

"Did his drinking increase while you lived with the Tuckers?"

"It did. He was always under the influence of liquor."

"Do you remember any specific occurrence?"

"Yes, in St. Paul in 1898. One evening in January Col. Tucker came home at four dinner time in such a maudlin state that Mrs. Tucker went all to pieces. Although the weather was cold, she went out on the porch and cried for at least an hour. I finally went out and brought her in, and we had a most uncomfortable dinner."

"Were you living with the Tuckers when the body of their son, George, was brought home from the Philippines? If so, state what you observed as to Col. Tucker's habits."

"I was. I observed that the afternoon they arrived with the body of his son, Col Tucker was intoxicated. He drank all the time that the body lay in the house. In fact, he drank right along until he went back to the Philippines."

Do you remember a trip that Col and Mrs. Tucker made to Chicago in 1905?" asked Mr. Doyle in cross-examination.

"If so, what was Mrs. Tucker's bearing toward the colonel?"

"She was patient with him, and I saw he was intoxicated all the time and she was simply almost crushed to death."

"Do you remember Mrs. Tucker going driving very often with other men than Col. Tucker?"

"I do not. She always drove either with her mother or with me."

"Did you ever at any time hear Mrs. Tucker declare that she intended to get a divorce from Col Tucker?"

"No."

GIRL IS A HEROINE.

Amputated Arm of Father, Pinned Under Their Home's Ruins.

Bowden, Ga., May 12.—Fifteen-year-old Mamie Price, who lives near here, will be presented as a candidate for a Carnegie hero medal. Last Friday night the home of her father was wrecked by a storm and all the inmates, except Mamie, were buried in the ruins. She procured an ax, and, guided by the groans of the victims, proceeded to cut them out of the debris.

Her mother died before she could be released, but the girl rescued her baby brother alive and unhurt. Her father was caught under the heavy timbers and his left arm was mangled. The girl cut all the timbers save those holding the crushed arm.

The father knew that his arm would have to be amputated at the elbow, and at his command the girl brought the ax down on the mangled place, thus releasing Mr. Price. Then, aided by her father, she made a rude tourniquet that stopped the loss of blood while she went to get help from neighbors.

Pass Along The Good Word

That Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is to-day and has, for over 40 years, been the standard Blood-purifyer, Stomach Strengthener and Liver Invigorator sold by druggists. It's not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition — a medicine so good that the best physicans prescribe it knowing that its ingredients, which are printed on its outside wrappers and attested under oath, are the best known to medical science for the diseases for which it is advised.

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not his greater profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

'IN WYOMING' MADE GOOD

The Duluth Show Closes Successful Season in Chicago.

Some Odd Experiences in "Opery Houses" Out West.

After having played from Duluth to the Pacific coast, thence across the continent to the Atlantic coast and then back to the Great Lakes, "In Wyoming," the Western drama owned by Harold E. Pierce and James E. Morissey of this city, ended a most successful season in Chicago Saturday.

In fact, the season was so successful that two companies will be sent out on tour next season, one playing the Western territory and one playing the East. The original company will play the Western and will appear at the Lyceum next fall for an engagement of several nights.

Owned by Duluth men, written by Willard Mack, who first produced it in this city, and with several people well known in Duluth in the cast, "In Wyoming" has been considered a Duluth production ever since it has been out. The books of H. E. Pierce & Co. show that the Duluthians make good on the road as well as at home.

Frank Patton, Frank Gullings and Miss Marie Bonsell were among the folks known here who were members of the company this season. Mr. Gullings' home is this city, and he has just arrived from Chicago, where the company ended its season.

"We have certainly done a lot of traveling since we left Duluth," said Mr. Gullings today, "and we played most of the important cities from coast to coast. New York was one of the few exceptions. We played in Chicago twice, to good business at each engagement.

"All were not like Chicago, as far as theaters and accommodations went, though. We struck some quaint one-night stands during the strip, and in many of them we had to overcome a lot of obstacles before we could put on the show.

"In some of the one-night stands in the West our scenery was too large to be used in the local theaters and the makeshift productions that we had to give were ludicrous to any one who had seen our regular performances. In one little theater we could not use the big 'drop' showing the ranch. The only exterior setting the house boasted was a scene in the middle of Africa or in South America some place. Tropical vines spread out everywhere and big palm trees and cocoanut trees towered above the horizon. It was a pretty far stretch, putting palm trees in Wyoming, but it was the best we could do.

"In another little theater, where the stage was too small for our drops, the only scenery in the theater was a fancy interior, with gold paint around the doors and gay wall paper. It was nailed down, but they needn't have done that, because no one would ever think of stealing that setting. Well, we had to go ahead with the show. It looked great in the cliff scene, in the last act, I can tell you. Imagine a lot of rocks set up in that gaudy drawing room.

"It was in Colorado some place that we painted a drop curtain to fit the theater. When we go there, we found the only suitable drop they had was a white affair that had evidently been used for picture shows. One of the members of the company was quite an artist, so he daubed out a ranch scene. We had to label the fence and hill. But the audience thought it was all right."

Mr. Gullings was in charge of the mechanical part of "In Wyoming" and was not supposed to act right out, but when an actor suddenly became ill in Philadelphia, he had to go and play "Chug" Wilson. "Chug" is the assistant villain who turns good, much to the delight of the audience. Mr. Gullings said he was nervous, but got away with the stunt all right. He denies that acting is his forte, however.

SON OF PRESIDENT

Of Nicaragua Plays Piano While His Wife Collects Money.

Washington, May 12.—Alfonso Zelaya, the president of Nicaragua's only son, and his lovely young American wife, a descendant of the Lees of Virginia, are two great attractions at a 5-cent theater in Ninth street here.

Every morning Mr. and Mrs. Zelaya, who seem devoted to each other, go from their three-room flat to the cheap little amusement house. The wife, who has the dark eyes, the vivid coloring and the lithe figure of her Spanish mother, seats herself in the high chair back of the ticket window.

There she remains all afternoon and far into the night, selling tickets while the performance is repeated over and over again and nickel Johnnies admire her from afar.

Her husband, heir of the South American, who is a thorn in the state department's side, takes his place at the piano; he is the orchestra rolled into one. He plays well and reels off with equal brilliancy martial music, classics or rag time.

RAVENS DID NOT COME

To Feed Old Man Lying Under Tree Near Zion.

Chicago, May 12.—Emil Brock of Zion City discovered that ravens do not feed the faithful in these degenerate days, or at least they are not on the job when a hurricane is blowing and the temperature is at the freezing point.

Brock, who lay four days under a tree in the suburbs of Zion during the recent severe storm, is slowly recovering and has revised his religious views somewhat.

Zion is full of people with queer ideas, so scant attention was given the aged man who went about the streets praying and finally lay down under a tree.

He had read how the ravens fed Elijah, and he had a "vision" that he was due for the same treatment.

The fierce April storm came on, but Brock was game.

He stuck to the task until he was water-logged, chilled to the marrow and on the verge of starvation.

SOME OF THE ODD THINGS HAPPENING

CONVICTED NIGHT RIDERS PLAY BANJO, DANCE IN CELLS.

Waverly, Tenn., May 12.—A verdict of guilty was returned yesterday in the case of the fourteen men charged with being members of the night riders' organization and with whipping Esquire J. M. Reece Oct. 15, 1908. The punishment was fixed at ten days in jail and a fine of $500 each. They were remanded to jail under a strong military guard, to reappear in court today, when a motion for a new trial was made.

After the verdict was announced the defendants shook hands with each other, and last night they played the banjo and danced in their cells. The names of the men convicted are Wyart Cowart, Charles Pito, Leo Waren, Walter Waren, Jim Delvinney, Charles Hopper, Walter Gordon, George Hodge, Harry Marshall, Jim Murrell, John Mc-Nair, Wylie Sanders, Sam Dickerson and Frank Estes. The indictment on which they were tried charged going masked through towns and villages with unlawful purposes in view, going in disguise upon the premises of others with intention to do harm, assault with a deadly weapon while wearing a disguise, and assault and battery while masked. Judge Cole's charge embraced the Ku Klux law, conviction carrying capital punishment or life imprisonment, at the direction of the jury and judge; the whitecap law, carrying confinement in the penitentiary for certain periods, and the misdemeanor statutes, with jail imprisonment and fine.

GIRL IS ARRESTED BECAUSE SHE WOULD NOT MARRY; YIELDS.

Chicago, May 12.—The adventures of Hans Peterson of Racine Wis., and Cora Isabella Cook of Pittsfield, Mass., in getting married furnished an interesting chapter for the police here.

Miss Cook first heard of Peterson through a matrimonial agency. Correspondence led to Peterson sending the girl $6 to help her pay railroad fare to Racine, that they might be married. Miss Cook arrived in Racine last Friday. Hans set out to get the license. He also rented four rooms. Monday he gave the girl $50 to buy furniture.

Miss Cook bought a railroad ticket for Erie, Pa. When she did not return Peterson turned detective, and as a result the girl was arrested here as she stepped off the train.

"Why don't you want to marry him?" asked the police.

"If you could see him you would run away, too," said Miss Cook. "He wears glasses, has a horseshoe mustache, stutters and only earns $1.25 a day."

Peterson came down later and swore that he would put the girl in prison. When Miss Cook heard this she wept. When she saw him she rushed into his arms and kissed him.

"We will go back to Racine and get married and be happy, Hans," she said.

"I will trust you again," said Hans; "come."

But the police would not let her go on this slight formality, so the girl remained in a cell while Peterson returned to Racine to arrange for the wedding today, when she was released.

HOTEL SUICIDE LEAVES FAREWELL NOTE TO WIFE.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12.—Campbell M. Cobb, of the firm of C. F. Sayles & Co., real estate dealers, committed suicide at the Denison hotel. A note to his wife reads:

"Dear Gene: The disaster is worse than you think. I cannot possibly get out of trouble. Think this is best for you and the baby."

So far nothing of the "disaster" has been learned.

AMERICAN DIES FROM POISON IN MUNICH HOTEL.

Unich, May 12.—Paul Loesler, supposed to have been an American, died at a hotel here from poisoning, after receiving a letter from another American, who left hurriedly. It is supposed that the escaping American carried away many valuables. Loesler's baggage was marked Windsor hotel, Philadelphia." Burglars' tools were found in one of the grips.

BOYS FIND TWO BODIES OF MEN TRAMPS KILLED.

Gloucester, N. J., May 12.—Lying side by side, with their skulls crushed, the bodies of James Purdy and John Whitelaw, were found by three boys. It is believed they were murdered by tramps.

PAT CROWE HAS ANOTHER SCHEME

Will Operate Sanatorium for Jags on a Charity Basis.

Chicago, May 12.—Pat Crowe, a former bandit and kidnaper of Eddie Cudahy of Omaha, has leased Fort Sheridan park in Highland and the hotel across the way, and will open a sanatorium for inebriates.

And in the hotel, which will be fitted up as the medical building—aye, in the very dance hall itself, which was of yore the scene of many a romp to the tunes of linked sweetness long drawn out, right here, there is to be a chapel!

The institution will be planned after the best knowledge of Pat himself, and he should know something about it, as he says himself that he was for twenty years a groper in the dark valley before he saw the light.

And Pat is going to supply the one thing which he says is lacking in the institutions of today, the lack of which is responsible for most of the backslidings of those who have been "cured."

"They are all striving to renovate the man," said Pat, "and none of them tries to regenerate the soul. What we are going to do is to combine the medical with the spiritual treatment."

The chapel will be at the disposal of the clergy of all denominations who may wish to act as the spiritual counselors of any of the patients at the institution, and the park will be let out free to churches.

No charge will be made for treatment, the patients being required to pay only their board, and that only when they become able after leaving the sanatorium.

CROTON OIL IN THE LEMONADE

Ipecac in Punch, So the Junior Dancers Hurried Home.

Lexington, Ky., May 12.—Ipecac in the punch and croton oil in the lemonade broke up the annual promenade dance of the junior class of the state university students long before the program time for the "Home, Sweet Home" number in Merrick lodge hall.

More than half a hundred mighty sick boys and girls were whirled to their homes in carriages at about 1 o'clock a. m., but so far as has been reported none of them needed the services of a doctor.

The unkind trick is laid at the door of the sophomore and freshmen classes. The beverages were prepared at the Woman's Exchange and were conveyed in two large cans to the dance hall by a couple of husky black boys shortly before midnight. The mixologist at the exchange told the investigating committee of the junior class that the punch and the lemonade were "O. K." when they left her place.

"I know they were all right," she said, "for I tasted them when I mixed them, and there is nothing the matter with me."

"No, indeedy, white folks, we nevah put no, no—watcher call it?—in dem cans, for de Lawd, nevah!" chorused the black boys, when they were called upon the carpet.

"I wouldn't be surprised ef twarnt yo' own freshment committee dat did it," ventured one of the carriers.

"When we war jes' 'bout half way from heah to de hal fo' young men met us an said dey war the freshment committee fr'm de dance and date dey done forgot to get any cakes. Dey handed me hall a dolar an' tole me to git de cakes, an' day gib Jim half a dolar an' tole him for to git some oranges an' to keep de change, which war a quarter apiece. Dey said dey would watch de cans twell we came back, an' dey tole us to hurry.

WORK CEASED IN FACTORY

Until a Rat That Invaded a Girl's Skirts Was Killed.

Winsted, Conn., May 12.—Shrieks emitted by a girl working in the Seth Thomas clock factory in Thomaston brought Fred Bold, the foreman and other gallant young men quickly to her aid.

She clutched madly at her skirts, and the men at first believed that the girl's clothing was being drawn into the machine on which she worked.

When Bold tried to assist her she told him between yells to keep away. After awhile the cause of the girl's cries became known.

A rat had invaded her skirts. The rat was killed and quiet was restored.

MILL GRAIN HELD EXEMPT

It Need Not Pay New Bushel Tax Is the Latest Ruling.

Assistant Attorney General So Declares for Tax Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grain in mill elevators will not be required to pay the bushel tax under the new state law, according to a ruling of the state's legal department furnished to the tax commission by George W. Peterson, assistant attorney general.

However, if this grain is on hand May 1, and has not already been subject to the bushel tax in some other elevator, it will be subject to taxation as personal property. Flour on hand May 1 must also be listed as personal property, even though the wheat it was made from has paid the bushel tax.

The opinion answers several questions put by the tax commission, and determines that the bushel tax must be paid by every elevator that handles the grain. The tax commission called attention to the wording of the law, which says that the bushel tax is to be "in lieu of all other taxes on such grain," and wanted to know whether grain once taxed in an elevator would not thereby be relieved from further taxation, no matter how many other elevators handled it. Mr. Peterson holds that the new law is a tax on grain measured by the annual business of the elevators, which must pay on every bushel they handle, whether it has paid before or not.

With regard to mill elevators, the opinion holds that a receiving house for a mill is not properly an elevator or a warehouse. If grain is sold a receiving house has been subject beforehand to the bushel tax, it is exempt from the general ad valorem tax, otherwise not.

The new tax is at the rate of half a mill for each bushel of wheat or flax, and a quarter of a mill for each bushel of other grain handled by any elevator.

DEAD INFANT IS FOUND IN RIVER

Skull Crushed Indicating Crime; Crookston Is Aroused.

Crookston, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sensation was caused in this city last evening by the discovery in the Red Lake river just below the new Great Northern bridge, near the foot of Front street, of an infant girl, fully developed, with its forehead crushed in by a blow from some blunt instrument.

There was nothing on the child that might lead to identification. It had been thrown into the river absolutely naked. The body was in such a perfect state of preservation that the marks of the fatal blow were very distinct. The work of the local police will be strengthened by a private detective from St. Paul, who arrived this afternoon on the Northern Pacific, and no stone will be left unturned to mete out justice to the guilty.

BEMIDJI GETS NEXT MEETING

Red River River Valley Dental Society Goes There in Fall.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual convention of the North Dakota Dental association and the Red River Valley Dental society, held jointly in Grand Forks Tuesday and today, will be adjourned this evening. The sessions have proved intensely interesting with an attendance of nearly 100 tooth pullers.

One of the features of the convention was the banquet in the Commercial club rooms last evening at which 125 guests were cared for. The event was a merry one from start to finish, the program of toasts being of the finest.

Previous to the banquet, the annual business meeting of the North Dakota Dental association was held. The Red River Valley Dental society held its annual meeting during the day, deciding upon Bemidji, Minn., as the place of the fall meeting, while the officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, H. W. Whitcomb, Grand Forks; vice president, D. S. Stanton, Bemidji; treasurer, J. F. Ralston, Larimore, N. D. The executive committee is composed of Dr. J. D. Twomy, Dr. D. S. Stanton and Dr. A. M. Palmer of Bemidji, and they will have charge of the next meeting of the society.

Two prominent Minnesota men are taking an active part in the convention, Dr. Alfred Owre of the Minnesota university and Dr. F. H. Orton of St. Paul.

NORTH DAKOTA HIGH SCHOOL FIELD MEET.

Fargo, N. D., May 12.—The second annual high school field meet and declamation contest will be held in Fargo Saturday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the athletic department of the North Dakota Agricultural college. The number of entries is large and the contests are open to students of high schools in this state and Western Minnesota.

RAILROADS TO APPEAL.

North Dakota Rate Cases Going to Highest Court.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 12.—The famous coal rate cases will be appealed to the supreme court of the United States. Action to this effect was taken, at a conference of the attorneys of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo lines, held in Fargo.

These cases involve the law enacted by the legislative assembly of the state in 1907. The state commenced suit against the three railroads to compel them to place the rate in effect, and after a long fight through the supreme court, a decision favorable to the state was handed down.

It was held by the supreme court that the rates fixed were exorbitant, as had been claimed by the railroads. The companies are making the fight on the basis that the law would mean a clear loss in the handling of coal at the rates prescribed.

FAVOR CATHOLIC COLLEGE.

North Dakota Knights of Columbus Endorse Proposed Plan.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the state council of the Knights of Columbus was held here yesterday, adjournment being taken in the evening after Fargo had been decided upon as the next place of meeting and the following officers had been elected: Past grand deputy, R. I. Keating, Fargo; grand deputy, E. S. Duggan, Grand Forks; secretary, J. J. Hannahan, Fargo; treasurer, T. R. Barron, Fargo; advocate, M. Norman, Grand Forks; warden, J. E. McKean, Minot; chaplain, Father Consadine, Minot.

One of the important actions taken by the council was the indorsement of the plan of establishing a Catholic university of America. This plan has been launched by the national council of the Knights of Columbus, and the various state councils are voting on the question, North Dakota taking the affirmative.

The order has enjoyed a splendid growth in this state during the past year, the three councils, Grand Forks, Minot and Fargo having adopted large classes, thus increasing the membership. The indications are that the coming year will see even a more flattering increase in the membership.

RIPE FOR APPORTIONMENT.

North Dakota Senator Declares His State Needs Such Action.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—"We are going to keep up our fight for congressional apportionment, and next year we are hopeful of better success than we had last winter," said Senator H. H. Steel of Mohall, this state.

Senator Steel, as sponsor of the famous congressional apportionment measure over which such a big fight was waged in the legislative assembly just closed, is firmly convinced that two years from now will see just such a measure as the one he introduced become law.

"It is now time that North Dakota adopt a congressional apportionment," continued Mr. Steel, "and in my opinion the only same way of dividing the state is into eastern and western districts. The interests of the two sections are greatly different, as can be seen at a glance, and such a division must be the only profitable one.

"For instance, in the western part of the state we have vast lignite coal deposits. Irrigation is needed and stock industries must be protected, while in the eastern sections you have the agricultural interests. Drainage is wanted, and other conditions are greatly different from those existing in the west. Next year, with the new census, it will probably mean that North Dakota will have three congressmen, and apportionment will then be even more desirable than now."

BRYAN TO STUDENTS.

Commoner Addresses Great Throng in University Armory.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. J. Bryan arrived here shortly after noon yesterday from St. Paul, where he had arrived earlier in the day from Duluth. On arriving here at 12:33 p. m. he was taken to Dayton's, where he addressed the Saturday Lunch club.

During the luncheon about 500 people, most of them women, passed in and out to steal a look at the famous presidential race runner. Mr. Bryan was to have spoken at 1:25, but James Manahan, on one side, and C. S. Loftus on the other hand, kept him in conversation until 1:45 o'clock, when Mr. Manahan took up some time with an extended introduction.

When Mr. Bryan arose he did not jump into his subject without the usual preliminary oratory. "The tariff," he said "was my subject, but the tariff is, after all, only part of a bigger, greater question, that of honesty in public life."

Last night Mr. Bryan delivered his famous lecture, "The Price of a Soul," at the University armory, which was packed with students, faculty and others.

HE DENIES CHARGE.

Hans Thompson, Arrested Here, Refutes Allegation.

Fargo, N. D., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hans Thompson, said to have sold a team that had been mortgaged, was brought back here from Duluth on complaint of a Buffalo banker.

Thompson stoutly asserts his innocence.

NORTH DAKOTA MAIL CARRIERS WILL MEET.

Fargo, N. D., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo is to entertain the rural mail carriers of North Dakota May 29 and 30. The organization is very strong, and includes practically every carrier in the state. They have been holding their annual sessions here, and appear to fancy Fargo for the meeting place because this is the paying point.

SOCIETY IS FORMED.

By Ten Greek Letter Organizations of Fargo and Moorhead.

Fargo, N. D., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Greek letter fraternity men of Fargo and Moorhead have organized a Pan-Hellenic association. This was accomplished after a banquet and social session at which ten Greek letter organizations and sixteen universities were represented.

President Weld of the Moorhead normal was chosen to preside over the meetings of the organization for the next year. Prof. Beckwith of the agricultural college was made secretary, and Prof. White of the same institution, treasurer. At least one annual banquet will be held, and the "Greeks" will get together oftener, subject to the call of the officers.

He gives up his position to become president of the Security State bank, which will be started about June 1.

AKELEY MILL CLOSES DOWN FOR REPAIRS.

Akeley, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The large sawmill of the Red River Lumber company here has shut down for repairs. The mill has run steadily all winter, the men hardly losing a day. There have been no serious accidents to the employes the past winter and the mill has been putting out more than its usual supply of lumber. Most of the men will spend their vacation putting in their gardens, but quite a few will stay and work on repairs. The mill expects to be running in full blast again in a couple of weeks.

Newberry, Mich., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Russian Finn, whose name is not known here, committed suicide two days ago by hanging himself to the top wire of a barbed-wire fence with a telescope strap. He had been making his home around Grand Marais for several years, was an employ of the Smith-Alger company and was a good sawyer.

The choir of the Immaculate Conception church will give a benefit dance Friday evening.

The Roosevelt Athletic club has been formed by a number of athletic-inclined young men, and next Sunday at Wesa hall they will give their first show, which will consist for the most part of wrestling and boxing.

Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Rood are again at home after the winter, which they pleasantly spent traveling in the West.

At the home of O. D. Hake in Chisholm tonight will take place the marriage of Miss Mana Kinney and Guy R. Wallace of Hibbing. Invitations have been out for some time past.

KILLS HIMSELF IN A CEMETERY

Grand Forks Telegraph Office Manager Takes Life in Iowa.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Rich, for several years manager of the local office of the Western Union Telegraph company, killed himself beside the grave of his mother in a cemetery at Marquota, Iowa, according to advices just received.

Rich had been drinking considerably of late, and left the city Friday. It is reported there is a small shortage in his accounts with the telegraph company, due, it is claimed, to neglect in bookkeeping, which his brother, George P. Rich, who took charge of the office, will make up. District Superintendent Bradley of the telegraph company is checking up the accounts.

Rich was 44, and is survived by a wife and 6-year-old daughter. The funeral will be held in Marquota, Iowa.

Rich was an expert telegrapher, having held responsible positions in the telegraph offices of big Eastern dailies, and his tragic end was a shock to a wide circle of friends.

FIGHTING WHITE PLAGUE.

New Michigan Law Relative to Reporting Tuberculosis Cases.

Lansing, Mich., May 12.—Governor Warner has signed a bill which imposes some positive and enlarged new duties on all physicians and health boards for the purpose of better protection against tuberculosis.

The bill makes it a duty of physicians to report to their local boards of health or health officers, within twenty-four hours, every case of tuberculosis that comes to their knowledge. Health officers must make quarterly reports in detail of all such cases to the state board of health. When tuberculosis subjects die or move from their apartments or premises, the owner or person in charge must forthwith notify the local authorities, and the apartment or premises cannot again be occupied until disinfected in accordance with the methods of the state board of health. Nothing must be removed until the disinfection has been done, and this must be in twenty-four hours.

FINDS ACCOUNTS IN GOOD SHAPE

Duluth Accountant Reports to Virginia Council.

Virginia, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. S. Williamson, a Duluth accountant, who spent some weeks in an examination of the books of the city, submitted his report to the council last night.

This showed the city's accounts to be in very good shape, considering the fact that the city does a great amount of business in a year. He reported on three years, made some recommendations as to the books, and complimented the city officials on the business-like methods of conducting the city affairs.

The garbage can matter, which has agitated the council for some time, came up again last night. The slate was wiped clean and a new start made. The city will advertise again for bids, with hopes for better success. Last Tuesday night a decision was reached to purchase cans from J. Gilbert Taylor of Virginia, but the action was rescinded last night, as the council thought they could do better after another advertisement.

Ole Johnson was appointed poundmaster and dog catcher. Chief Thayer of the fire department, who was appointed electrical inspector recently, will receive an additional salary of $25 a month for attending to the duties of the office. Alderman Mattson reported that the committee had secured a new garbage ground, and the street commissioner was instructed to build a road to it.

MURDER, SAYS JURY.

Man Found North of Virginia May Have Been Killed.

Virginia, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A suspicion has arisen that Nelson Hanley, whose body was found on a tote road near Camp 35 of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company, about thirty miles from Virginia, came to his death by a knife in the hands of another man. The coroner's jury found a gash in the neck that may have been made by a knife, and brought in a verdict that the man had been murdered.

When the body was brought to Virginia last Saturday, it was thought the man's name was Nelson Shields. It afterwards developed his name was Hanley, but he occasionally went under the name of Shields. Some people refuse to give credence to the murder theory, as the supposed gash may have been a crack in the decomposed body.

Hanley was about 65 years old and had worked as a blacksmith in the camps in this vicinity for a number of years. He is not known to have had any relatives in this section of the country. He was last seen Dec. 25, when he started for Camp 34 where he intended to work for the winter. The body was under the snow all winter and the features were not recognizable so the gash in the neck was the only mark of violence that could be noticed.

MADE TWO ATTEMPTS AT TAKING HIS LIFE.

Virginia, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gust Jule, who attempted suicide in the city jail early Monday morning, is still in the Lenont hospital, hanging onto life, and his chances for recovery are improving.

Jule made two attempts to kill himself. He first tried to hang himself with a necktie, but it broke. He then opened two blades at one end of a pocket knife and sawed at his throat. Aid was quickly secured and the flow of blood was checked, so that he may recover.

DENIED WORK BOY CUTS HIS THROAT

Emil Kanges Kills Himself Near Eveleth After Being Turned Down.

Eveleth, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body discovered in the woods yesterday about one mile from the Troy mine, near here, was brought to the local morgue late today by Deputy Coroner Gleason and was identified as Emil Kanges, a Finn, 18 years old, by his brother. The boy's throat was cut from ear to ear. The coroner believes it was suicide. The boy started out Monday morning looking for work, but found none, which is the only reason so far advanced for the suicide. An inquest will be held today.

BRUTES ARE FINED.

Men Who Ill Treated Horse. Punished and Sued for Animal's Value.

Eveleth, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jack Debevic, Toney Zebnecvic and Joe Tomich, who were in the rig driving the mare with the broken leg Monday night as reported in yesterday's Herald, were up in the municipal court yesterday on the charge of cruelty to animals. Tomich, who did the driving, was fined $25 and costs, while Zalonkovic and Denevic were each fined $10 and costs.

Several witnesses were called to show the condition of the mare, as it was being driven through the streets.

Mayor Smith, who was the first one to stop the mare after noticing her condition, was a witness. The defendants pleaded not guilty, but there was too much evidence against them. William Eddy, owner of the horse, which had to be shot, brought suit against the three men for $225, the value of the horse.

Marco Pugh, who was arrested by Officer King for disorderly conduct, was fined $10 and costs or thirty days in Duluth. Frank Mohar, who was up on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, had to take a fine of $5 or twenty-five days. They have not yet paid their fines and will be taken to Duluth this afternoon. Frank Lomich pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and paid a fine of $5.

ANSLEY IS PRESIDENT.

Sworn in as Successor of Dr. Weirick Who Resigned.

Hibbing, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the board of trustees last night, the resignation of Frank Ausley, a trustee, was accepted, and he was sworn in as president, to succeed Dr. Weirick, resigned.

Capt. William Wearne was appointed trustee to succeed Mr. Ausley.

There has been considerable discussion around town as to who would be the new trustee if Mr. Ausley were sworn in as mayor. Things have finally been settled and the council will proceed to attend to the affairs of the village for the ensuing year. All bills for the month of April, which were presented, were accepted.

Nothing was heard from M. Hardy, who left the council chamber last Tuesday and therefore nothing could be done until he either again takes his seat or resigns.

INSTALL NEW PASTOR.

First Presbyterian Church at Eveleth Has Notable Services.

Eveleth, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large audience attended the installation and ordination services at the First Presbyterian church last night, in spite of inclement weather.

Rev. S. A. Jamieson of Duluth had charge of the services and spoke on "The Ideal Church," giving his ideas of the church and the work the people in the church should do for themselves and their pastor, so that all could be helped. Rev. J. F. McLeod of Two Harbors preached on "God's Purpose in the Life of Man," taking as an example the eagle teaching its little one to fly, and applying it to the parents and the children.

Rev. R. C. Johnson of the local M. E. church gave the invocation and Lord's Prayer.

Paul D. Gilbert, a well known tenor of Duluth, sang two splendid solos, one of which he accompanied on the piano himself. Adolph Hartman gave a violin solo, "Adagio" by Beethoven. After the installation Rev. Mr. Schwartz, the new pastor, ordained Messrs. Arthur C. Sisson and William Matters as elders with the appropriate ceremony. The choir composed of Mrs. C. E. Bailey, tenor; Mrs. R. M. Corwell, alto; C. E. Bailey, tenor, and R. M. Dungan, basso, accompanied by Miss Bertha Kuehn at the organ, sang several selections according to the program in last night's Herald.

After the ordination was over, a reception was held in the church parlors by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

Ely, Minn., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. Andrew Holter of the Section 30 mine, for fifteen years a trusted employe of George St. Clair, the lessee of the property, has disappeared and it is feared he has wandered away and fallen into a shaft. He is about 40, and a bachelor. When he failed to appear yesterday morning, a search was instituted this far without success.

Prompt action on the part of the fire department in putting out a fire in a flat over Mattson's saloon prevented a large conflagration. The fire caught in bed clothing and is believed to have been incendiary in origin.

The officer will probably retaliate by arresting Bey for disorderly conduct and lively developments are expected.

second, to permit the government to put its measures into operation. This places parliament in a place where it will be compelled to approve or abandon the government in the midst of the crisis.

Instead of trying to replace the railroad mail clerks who have gone out, letters are being sorted before they are placed on the trains, in accordance with a system previously worked out. The authorities claim that measures for maintaining communication with provinces with the aid of the local commercial bodies have everywhere been perfected and are ready for instant application. In some sections regular automobile services, covering distances of from 100 to 200 miles, have been arranged.

The places of the strikers will be filled automatically.

Toward noon today eight strikers were arrested while trying to enter the central bureau.

Nancy is the first city where the telegraphers and telephonists went out.

It was officially announced early this afternoon that the strikers number 700 men, chiefly railway clerks, but in strike headquarters a very much larger number was claimed. The leaders say the movement is extending rapidly and there will be complete suspension in three days, and that they have the promise of several sympathetic trade strikes.

Gen. Dalstein has given orders that the garrison at Paris be held in barracks.

Dispatches from the provinces indicate that the response to the strike order is effective in Bordeaux, where over one-half the postmen, telegraphers and telephone men went out. Troops are guarding the stations and mail wagons in Bordeaux.

Pay As You Go.

If You Don't Live Right You Will Lose Your Good Health.

There are certain things which men do which are thought to be harmful. There are excesses of feeding, and drinking, and dressing and playing. You may not believe you are paying as you go—paying in a loss of health—but you are and soon your cheeks fade and your bright eyes are dull, your sweet breath of youth is tainted, your soft, smooth skin, rough and dry. Nature is collecting her due—you are paying as you go.

Take account of yourself. Live right, breath right, think right, eat right. You owe it to yourself and the world to do your work with your utmost capacity. You can't do it on or with a sour stomach. Impure blood or tired brain. Eat right and you'll sleep right. Do both right and you'll work right. Work right and you succeed largely. Meats and rich foods do not start the day well. Make your breakfast of E-C Corn Flakes or Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes—always ready to serve, easy to digest, ample in muscle and nerve building, sufficient in vitalizing force.

Remember it's the wonderful Egg-O-See process that makes them so good to eat.

WAS HELD UP AND ROBBED

Biwabik City Clerk Meets With Sad Fate in Duluth.

Was Intoxicated When Thieves Went Through His Pockets.

Duncan J. Cameron, city clerk of Biwabik and building contractor by profession, was robbed of a gold watch and $10 cash last night at the Michigan entrance of the Sellwood building. After his two assailants had gone through his clothes they shoved him down some stone steps. He landed on his face and was bleeding freely when picked up.

Cameron arrived in the city in the morning. Before night he was intoxicated. He fell asleep in the doorway of the old Elks' hall, 118 West Superior street, and was aroused late in the evening by men coming from the building. He started for his hotel, the Alvarado, but missed the entrance and wound up on Michigan street at the corner of First avenue west.

Two men met him at this stage of the game and went through his clothes, handling him roughly in doing so. He does not remember what they looked like. Cameron cried out for help, and he was heard by a man on First avenue, who ran to the spot and picked Cameron up, after he had been thrown down by the fleeing men. The police were notified, and Officers Westerlund, O'Neil and Grandmaison responded, but with no description to work on, were unable to locate the men they were after.

MORPHINE OVERDOSE

T. E. Smith Dies at St. Luke's—Taken There From Jail.

Was Arrested in the Afternoon on a Forgery Charge.

Thomas E. Smith, a printer and newspaper writer, died at St. Luke's hospital at 10 o'clock last night, of morphine poisoning. He was taken to the hospital from the city jail. His arrest occurred in the afternoon, and was made on a charge of forgery.

Smith, who has been working under the name of Booth, for Bede's Budget, forged a check for $5, on his employer, and cashed it at the Spalding hotel. He procured the money, friends say, solely for the purpose of buying morphine. The man was a confirmed user of the drug, and had such a desire for it that he would do anything rather than go without the drug.

He tried several places before he could make the purchase, but finally, it is said, obtained a doctor's prescription. Meantime the forgery had been discovered, and the police were looking for him. He was taken into custody while walking along Superior street. He is said to have purchased five grains of morphine, and afterwards become drunk. While in this condition it is supposed that he took an overdose.

At 8 o'clock in the evening he was found unconscious in the jail by Jailer Butchart, the jailer, and was immediately placed in the patrol wagon and sent to St. Luke's hospital, where he died two hours later.

The man was about 35 years of age. Nothing is known concerning his relatives. He has lived a wandering life and has worked in different range towns, as well as Duluth, as printer and newspaper writer.

Smith is said to have been an unmarried man.

RESCUED BY NEIGHBORS FROM RUINS OF HOME.

Marquette, Mich., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Entering his burning home in an effort to recover some of his effects, Frank Murray of McMillan, Luce county, had a narrow escape from death. The roof fell in upon him and he was pinioned in the doorway by a heavy timber. Neighbors rescued him in the nick of time, but not until he was seriously burned about the head and shoulders. Unless complications are experienced he will recover.

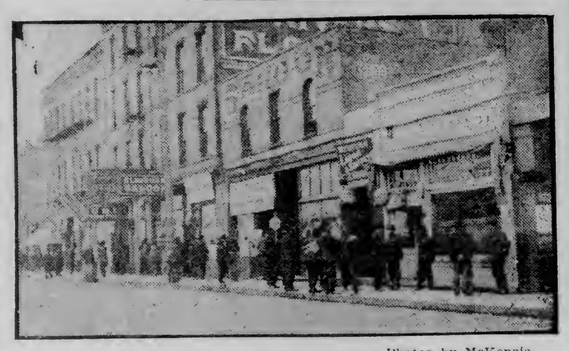
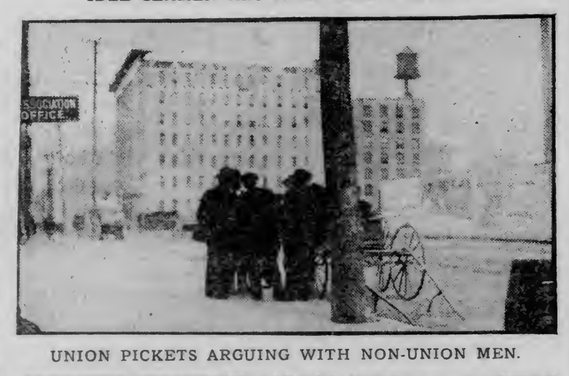
MARINE NEWS

ENGINEERS WILL PRESENT ULTIMATUM TO OWNERS



—Photos by McKenzie.
IDLE SEAMEN ALONG MICHIGAN STREET.



UNION PICKETS ARGUING WITH NON-UNION MEN.

NON-UNION MEN LEAVING SHIPPING OFFICE.

The Duluth local of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association will meet in their rooms, in the Manhattan building, Friday evening, and discuss the question of a 15 per cent increase in wages. Informally the engineers have decided to make the demand, but the vote of all the locals, approved by the officials of the International union, is necessary before such a decision can become effective.

The move is aimed only against the vessels of the Lake Carriers' association. Companies operating independent of the association will not be affected.

The engineers have a twofold purpose in demanding the increase. They the services of union engineers and also when the vesselmen will have to have believe that the time is nearly here feel that the increase will compensate them for the loss of time. The engineers state positively that they will not sign with any vessel, even at increased wages, if the "welfare" clause is not eliminated from the contracts.

Saturday the Last Day.

Saturday has been set as the last day for the Lake Carriers to come over. The latter still maintain that they are not worried over the situation, and will continue to run their boats as they please. They say that the welfare clause will be a part of all the contracts, despite any action the unions may take.

Members of the arbitration board of six states around the Great Lakes met in conference in Chicago yesterday in an effort to conciliate the warring factions in the strike of the lake seamen. The body cannot act under the laws of any one state, and the movement is intended to bring the Lake Carriers' association and the Lake Seamen's union together in friendly conference. The state officials in the conference are:

New York, John Lundigan, Albany; Ohio, Joseph Birshop, Columbus; Indiana, C. F. Woerner and Harry Slough, Indianapolis; Michigan, Frederick Klump, Detroit; Wisconsin, Edward W. Frost and John Humphreys, Milwaukee; Illinois, B. F. Shadley, Galesburg, H. M. Powell, Peoria, and C. J. Doyle, Greenfield. Minnesota was not represented.

The meeting was called at the instigation of Mr. Bishop, secretary of the board of arbitration of Ohio.

Two committees were appointed, one to take up the matter with the local representatives of the vessel owners and the striking seamen, and the other to deal with the strike in its interstate aspects and to try to arrange a meeting between the national officers of both associations.

While on this work the members of the Illinois state board have taken up the cab drivers' strike, and it is probable that a conference between the liverymen and the union representatives will be held tomorrow.

A LIGHT AT SPLIT ROCK

Duluth Man Will Construct Tower on the North Shore.

Will Be Built on Rock 130 Feet Above the Lake.

The United States lighthouse board, through Maj. Charles Keller of the Detroit office of government engineers, today notified L. D. Campbell, the Duluth contractor, that he has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new lighthouse near Split Rock, Minn., on the north shore, about fifty miles from Duluth.

The new lighthouse will be one of the highest on the Great Lakes. About two miles below Split Rock landing is a towering rock, jutting 130 feet above the level of the lake. The lighthouse will be built on the summit of this rock. The estimated cost of the work is from $45,000 to $50,000, and it will require about 200 days to complete the work. In addition to the lighthouse, a signal station and three dwellings will be erected.

Announcement that the government will erect a lighthouse at Split Rock will be welcome news to mariners who sail along the north shore. The trip along this part of the shore is considered dangerous because of the deviations of the magnetic needle, caused by the presence of iron.

The need of a lighthouse at Split Rock has long been felt.

Mr. Campbell is pleased that the contract has been awarded in Duluth and will proceed at once to get his men and materfal on the ground.

THE CREW OF THE SHORES

Eleven of the Thirteen Missing Men Are Known.

Nothing has been learned of the fate of the crew of the steamer Adella Shores, which sank in the recent storm in Whitefish bay. There were thirteen men aboard the Shores when she passed up the Soo, April 29.

Those missing, who were known to have been with the vessel when she left the Soo, are: Capt. Samuel Holmes, Chief Engineer De Witt Boher, Second Engineer Sam Johns, Fireman Alfred Ellsworth, and the following members of the crew: Andrew Iversen, R. S. Mott, Olaf Holmes, Otto Hengelman, August Hengleman, BGustav Olson and Peter Olson.

Boher, Johns and Ellsworth lived at Saugatuck, Mich., and the others signed from Milwaukee.

There seems little likelihood of ever finding the bodies of the men. Any boats launched during the storm would have foundered in the ice and waves, and it is believed that if any survived to reach the shore they have since died of exposure. The shores about here have been carefully searched without result.

Extra Guards.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 12.—Chief of Police Regan last night detailed sixty extra policemen for duty on the docks.

Police Justice Nash announced that hereafter men convicted of assault on men at work on boats would be sent to the penitentiary without the option of a fine.

Eleven freighters sailed today with non-union crews.

OLSEN WILL REMAIN.

Reported Dean of Agricultural College Will Not Resign.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—The regents of the state university will not elect a successor to Dean W. Olsen of the state agricultural school at the meeting next Saturday nor at any meeting in the near future.

That is what members of the board of regents say, although, so far, no action has been taken either one way or another. But Olsen's resignation either will come up and be refused or else the board will simply pass the matter over and let Olsen stay.

When Olsen was elected to succeed E. W. Randall last fall, it was not by a unanimous vote.

Following this there was talk of politics in the selection of the new dean, and the papers of the state said some things that were not very kind. Olsen gave notice that he would just serve out the school year and would then give way to some other man whom the regents might select and who might be more experienced in that particular line. The comment in the papers stopped.

The school term ended in March and the so-called school year is about at an end. But it seems to be the opinion among the regents that Olsen has been doing satisfactory work at the school and they will not look around for a successor.

EBERHART FOR VETERANS; ROCKNE FOR NORWEGIANS

LIEUT. GOV. A. O. EBERHART.

A. J. ROCKNE.

Lieutenant Governor A. O. Eberhart has accepted the invitation extended to him by the citizens' staff of Duluth and he will deliver an address at the Memorial day exercises to be held in the Lyceum theater Monday morning, May 31.

Although Sunday, May 30, is properly Memorial day, the exercises in honor of the nation's soldier dead will be held here on Monday, May 31.

The program at the Lyceum will begin at 10 a. m. and the lieutenant governor will be the speaker of the day. A varied musical program will also be given.

Exercises for the school children will be held at the Central high school at the same hour. There will be speeches by members of the G. A. R., the citizens' staff and others.

A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota, speaker of the house of representatives during the last session of the state legislature, will probably be here Sunday to deliver an address at the exercises in celebration of Norway's Independence day to be held in Lincoln Park auditorium by the Norwegians of Duluth.

The Normanna male chorus is in charge of the exercises. The executive committee has not yet received an acceptance of its invitation to Mr. Rockne, but it is expected that he will be able to be here.

In addition, the program at Lincoln park will include an address by a member of the state university faculty and others, and an elaborate program of musical numbers, in which the male chorus will participate.

HAD NO ORDERS FROM COMPANY

Officers Entered Mrs. Koski's House on Own Responsibility.

The case of Mrs. Selma Koski against the Oliver Iron Mining company for $3,000 for the scare given her when officers burst into her house to arrest strikers near Hibbing last fall, was continued before Judge Dibell this morning in district court.

George Ryckman, one of the men who searched the house, took the stand this morning and testified that it was not under orders from the company that he entered the house, but that he entered on his own responsibility.

Dr. Eklund testified that he had examined Mrs. Koski and that he found that while she was nervous to a certain extent, yet that nervousness might easily have been brought on by the excitement caused by the trial.

Mrs. Koski testified that she never recovered from the shock and that even at this time she was suffering from nervousness caused from the happening last fall.

The evidence is about all in, and it is likely that the case will be in the jury's hands by Thursday afternoon.

ASHLAND'S NEW MILL.

New Plant of Schroeder Lumber Company Begins Operations.

Ashland, Wis., May 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new mill of the Schroeder Lumber company began work Monday.

The mill was built during the past winter and is one of the best on the Great Lakes, in fact, the entire plant is a model. The company has two vessels, the Hilton and Ashland, engaged in towing rafts from the Minnesota shore, and from the islands and the Michigan shore. A camp was engaged all winter in putting in logs on Presque Isle, and its large camps near Montreal river and on the north shore have also put in a large amount of logs.

The Schroeder Lumber company's plant is a fixture in this city, and it will probably be running fifty years hence. For several years it has been gradually working into the business of resawing Pacific coast timber for the Eastern markets, and will no doubt readjust its business so as to do other work years hence, as logging conditions change.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. has always been one of the strongest points in its favor, and is one of the principal reasons why it is the most widely known and universally used of all blood medicines. A great many of the so-called blood purifiers are really nothing more than strong mineral mixtures which act so unpleasantly and disastrously on the delicate membranes and tissues of the stomach and bowels, that even if such treatment purified the blood, the condition in which the digestive system is left would often be more damaging to the health than the original trouble. Not so with S. S. S.—it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and at the same time is an absolutely safe and harmless remedy. It is made entirely of the healing and cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks, each of which is in daily use in some form by physicians in their practice. Years of work and research have proven S. S. S. to contain everything necessary to purify the blood and at the same time supply the system with the purest and best tonic effects. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other blood troubles, and it leaves the system in perfect condition when it has purified the blood. Book containing much valuable information on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

WHEAT HAS WEAK TONE

Market Is Sold Off During Latter Part of Session.

Flax Is Quiet, But Firm at the Close Here.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 12.—Wheat held firm until the latter part of the session in the American markets today, but then a selling pressure took values off a point for the July option. The closing prices in all options were weaker on this side of the Atlantic, while the foreign markets were a little irregular.

Most of the trading is in July now and it fluctuated actively within a point. Until the latter part of the session the level was mostly above yesterday's close, but after that the decline was gradual until the end of the session.

The failure of George H. Daggett & Co. in Minneapolis was the cause of some comment. It was announced, however ,that no other firms were affected.

Liverpool was ¼d higher to ¼d lower, and Berlin closed 1¾c higher. The May option closed ⅝c lower in Duluth, ½c lower in Chicago and Minneapolis, unchanged in New York and St. Louis, and ⅞c lower in Winnipeg. The close on May was not received from Kansas City. The July option closed 1¼c lower in Duluth and Winnipeg, 1⅜c lower in Chicago, 1⅜@1¼c lower in Minneapolis, ⅞c lower in St. Louis and Kansas City, and 1¼c lower in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ¼c higher in Chicago, and oats ¼c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"The strength in American markets caused holders offerings here at the opening and values were ⅛d to ¼d higher, during the early trading the market was fairly well supported and prices, other than May, gained an additional ⅛d to ⅜d. Manitoba offerings were light and 3d higher, country markets firm, and there were numerous reports of unfavorable crop prospects in Italy. Later and during the remainder of the morning the market developed heaviness and the early advance was lost. Pressure resulted from the cheaper Russian offerings and a poor inquiry for cargoes. At midday the market was quiet and unchanged to ⅛d lower than yesterday.

"Corn was steady and unchanged. The market was extremely dull and neglected."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 11 against 19 last year, and at Minneapolis 165 against 136 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 176 against 155 last year. Chicago received 4 against 55 last year. Winnipeg received 44 against 41 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 187,000 bu. last year 239,000 bu. Shipments 434,000 bu., last year 419,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 60,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 314,000 bu., last year 343,000 bu. Shipments 326,000 bu., last year 389,000 bu. No clearances of corn.

Wheat was actively traded in, in the Duluth market. May wheat sold at $1.24⅜, advanced to $1.24⅝ and closed there, a loss of ⅝c from yesterday. July wheat opened unchanged at $1.25¼, advanced to $1.25⅞, declined to $1.25¼, rallied to $1.27⅝—the high price of the day—and after selling around that level for a time, gradually eased off, with many fluctuations, to $1.24, closing at that price, a loss of 1¼c from yesterday. September wheat opened ¼c higher at $1.08¾, advanced to $1.09½ and eased off, with several rallies, to $1.07⅜, closing at that price, a loss of 1⅛c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ⅜c lower.

Flax was quiet. May flax opened ¼c higher at $1.68, advanced to $1.68¾ and closed at $1.68⅜, a gain of ⅜c over yesterday. July flax opened ¼c lower at $1.68⅜, advanced to $1.69¼, declined to $1.68⅞, and closed at a loss of ⅛c from yesterday. September flax closed unchanged at $1.45, and October flax ⅜c higher at $1.39⅝.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Continued Dry Weather Causes Strength in Wheat.

Chicago, May 12.—Continued dry weather in the Southwest and excessive moisture in the Northwest caused strength in the wheat market today. Shorts covered quite generally early in the day, and for a time offerings were rather limited. Prices at the start were ⅜c higher to ½c lower, with July at $1.13⅞@1.14⅛. During early trading July sold up to $1.14¾.

The market weakened late in the session on selling based on reports of rain in Kansas. July declined to $1.12⅜. The close was weak with July off 1⅞c at $1.12¾.

Light receipts prompted considerable buying of corn by shorts, which resulted in a strong tone early in the day. July opened a shade to ⅞c higher at 69@69¼c, and advanced to 69⅝c.

The break in wheat had a depressing effect on corn and July declined from 69⅜@⅝c to 68⅝c. The close was fairly steady with July unchanged at 68⅞@69c.

Oats were active and strong. Local bulls were free buyers of the July delivery, on the theory that it would be an old crop month, and there was also general buying, based partly on the strength of wheat. July opened ⅛@⅜c higher at 51⅝@52c, and sold at 52⅜c.

Trade in provisions was extremely quiet early in the day and the market was steady. Prices at the start were a shade higher to a shade lower.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Lower Cables and Lack of Rain Cause Strength.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—Lower cables and lack of rain in the Southwest caused the market to be strong early in the session. Local stocks decreased 500,000 bushels for four days. Later reports of light showers broke the market 2c from the high point. July closing 1⅛c lower than the opening. Minneapolis today received 103 cars, against 136; Duluth 11, against 19. Winnipeg 44, against 41. September opened at $1.08⅝, high, $1.09; low, $1.07¾, close, $1.07⅝. July opened at $1.25½, high, $1.26⅛, low, $1.24⅛; close, $1.24⅝. The cash wheat market was steady today. Offerings were light and everything met with ready sales early in the session. Both country and local millers were buying. No. 1 northern sold for 3⅛@4c over the July option and No. 2 northern for 1½@2c over. No. 1 northern spot and to arrive, $1.27⅝@1.28⅛; No. 2 northern spot and to arrive, $1.25⅝@1.26½. No. 3 wheat, $1.23⅝@1.25⅛. No. 3 yellow corn, 73⅜@73¾c. No. 3 white oats, 55⅞@56⅜c. No. 2 rye, 84⅜@85⅝c.

Flax—Receipts, 1 car today against 20; shipments, 2. Lack of offerings made the market inactive. Prices were the same as the Duluth July option. Close, $1.68⅝.

Barley — Receipts, 7 cars today against 2; shipments, 26. Light offerings and a strong demand for feeding and malting grades for seeding stimulated the market. There were some sales reported to outside markets. Prices were ½@1c stronger. Close, 66@68c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,201 tons. There was no change reported in the strong situation. Demand was far in excess of the supply. Shipments were light and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $24.00@24.50.

Flour continued in the same old rut. Demand was fair and orders were light on account of the high prices. Millers expected a better business soon on account of the low stocks throughout the country. Shipments increased and prices held firm. Shipments, 16,648 barrels. First patents, $6.70@6.80; second patents, $6.60@6.20; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.35@3.55.

HEARD ON THE FLOOR.

Gossip of the Trading Room and the Pit.

From Minneapolis came the official announcements to the effect that George H. Daggett & Co., a grain firm with head offices in the Flour City and branches in Duluth and Chicago, had retired, but the trade here and in Chicago seemed to look upon it as a failure.

Daggett & Co.'s trades in Minneapolis, it was said, had been taken over by Hallett & Co. and Rosenbaum has taken over the house's trades in the Chicago market.

The Minneapolis dispatches said ill health and a lack of business induced Mr. Daggett to retire from business, and that the claims of the creditors, which were not large, would be paid in full. A bit of gossip from Chicago was to the effect that the firm had been on the wrong side of the market.

Daggett & Co. have an office in the Duluth Board of Trade building. Ernest Vivian is their local representative. He is in Minneapolis today.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Brisk Movement Carried Prices Upward in the Opening Trades.

The Prices Gave Way All Around Near Close of the Session.

New York, May 12.—A brisk opening today carried prices of stocks upwards, small fractional declines in Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting being the only notable exceptions. The conspicuous advances were found amongst the specialties. Delaware & Hudson rose 2, Central Railroad of New Jersey, American Tobacco preferred, Consolidated Gas and American Can 1, and Reading, National Lead and American Can preferred ⅝.

The early market was a duplicate of yesterday's speculation, presenting an active and confident demand for the coal stocks and a number of specialties with but little effect elsewhere. Delaware & Hudson jumped 3⅜, Reading second preferred 3, Central Railroad of New Jersey 2½, Chicago & Alton 2, the preferred 1¾, Missouri Pacific 1½ and Reading, the Erie, St. Louis, Southwestern preferred, Peoples Gas, Pressed Steel Car preferred, American Beet Sugar preferred, the United States pipe stocks and Republic Steel preferred 1 to 1¼. A reaction of nearly a point in Reading caused a general pause.

Union Pacific spurted upwards 1⅝ and awakened renewed animation in the market. Reading, however, receded to last night's price. This crisscross movement disturbed sentiment and the activity was halted again at fractional reactions. Delaware & Hudson rose 6 in all, Federal Mining 7⅜, Northwestern 1¾, Illinois Central 1½, Northern Pacific 1¼, and Rock Island, Atlantic Coast Line New Haven, Brooklyn Union Gas, Distillers securities, American Sugar preferred and United States Rubber second preferred 1. Union Pacific preferred declined 1. Bonds were steady.

Reading rose to 157¾, a gain of 1¾, and Central Railroad of New Jersey rallied again to 2½ above yesterday's closing. Chesapeake & Ohio advanced to 79. The general list was unresponsive to these movements. Can solidated Gas got up 4 points in all, Great Northern preferred and National Lead 1. Colorado & Southern second preferred lost 1.

The market closed very irregular and active. Prices gave way all around. Reading receding to below last night and Union Pacific to as low. Laekawannna sold at a decline of 4½, Iowa Central preferred 1¾, and Minneapolis and St. Louis and American Smelting, 1. Heavy transactions in Rock Island and an advance of 2¾, accompanied by a rally, which was only moderate. Rock Island preferred also rose a point.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Market holds firm with the bulk of the movement going to the retail trade. Mares for breeding purposes are in demand. Good big work horses from the logging camps are in favor as they offer real bargains to teamsters and farmers who care for service rather than feed and finish at a much higher price. A number of inquiries are being received from Western lumbermen for horses for summer operations. Driving horses and saddlers met with increased demand.

PROSPERITY IN STEEL IS CORY'S PROPHECY; HE SEES A GENERAL IMPROVEMENT

Declares Adjustment and Average Crops Are Needed.

Now Working on 70 Per Cent Basis of Normal Capacity.

New York, May 13.—William E. Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, sailed today on a vacation trip to Europe. He was a passenger on the steamer La Provence, for Havre.

Mr. Corey spoke optimistically of steel conditions and declared that with an early tariff adjustment and average crops a speedy return of prosperity is to be expected.

"Since the early part of March," said Mr. Corey, "there has been a gradual and well sustained improvement in the steel industry in general and this improvement has been particularly noticeable in the companies of the United States Steel corporation.

"We are now working on a 70 per cent basis of normal capacity—the highest since October, 1907. This improvement is due to a natural and healthy demand for steel products. There has also been a gradual improvement in prices."

"DUMMIES" TO TESTIFY IN LAND FRAUD CASES.

Tulsa, Okla., May 13.—A number of witnesses from Hastings, Mich., arrived here today to testify before the federal grand jury that is reinvestigating the Muskogee town lot frauds. It is alleged that they were used as "dummies" by others to secure land fraudulently.

ADLER CASE TO JURORS

Trial of Louisiana Banker Has Lasted One Month.

Indicted on Charge of Embezzlement and Misapplication.

New Orleans, May 13.—The trial of William Adler, former president of the defunct State National bank of this city, who was indicted on seventy-two counts for alleged abstracting, misapplication and embezzlement of the funds of that institution to the amount of more than a half million dollars, was concluded today with the charge of Judge Borman to the jury. The trial lasted a month.

A few days before the crash of the State National came, Adler left New Orleans for Honduras on the steamer Alps, which he had chartered and loaded with a supply of groceries, being also at the time the president of a large wholesale grocery establishment here. The Alps was wrecked off the Honduras coast, but Adler and others on board managed to reach shore.

After remaining in Honduras for some months Adler returned voluntarily to New Orleans to face trial.

The marriage is to take place in Paris.

CALLS FOR MORE LAWS AGAINST CONSUMPTION

NATHAN STRAUS,
Who Tells Anti-Tuberculosis Congress That Campaign Against the Disease Is Thus Far Futile.

DISEASE IS NOT HALTED

Straus Tells Anti-Tuberculosis Congress Campaign Is Futile.

Lays Blame on Cows and Calls for More Laws.

Washington, May 13.—That the vigorous campaign against tuberculosis has failed to check the great white plague, is the startling charge made today by Nathan Straus, the New York philanthropist, at the fifth annual meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Mr. Straus backed up his assertion by official statistics from the New York health department, showing an increase of 33 per cent in two years in cases of tuberculosis in the city that Dr. Koch described as leading the whole world in the fight against the disease.

The reason for this failure to make headway, Mr. Straus declared, was the neglect of the mischief wrought by the tuberculous dairy cow. Citing the results of scientific investigation and his own eighteen years' experience in saving lives, he summed up by saying that the abolition of tuberculosis will begin when it is made a crime to sell milk unless it comes from tuberculin tested cows or has been properly pasteurized.

PLOT IS FEARED BY GOVERNMENT

Portugal Arrests Political Suspects and Adopts Other Precautions.

Lisbon, May 13.—Uneasiness is created by the fact that during the past few days the government has made a number of political arrests, searched the houses of suspects, and adopted other precautions.

The authorities maintain reticence concerning the measures, which are variously attributed to the discovery of a plot or the fear of a big Republican demonstration to take advantage of the present political anarchy in parliament.

The local garrison is constantly being kept under arms.

ACCEPT PASSES IS THE CHARGE

Florida Senator and Others Involved in the Committee's Report.

Tallahassee, Fla., May 13.—Charges that many persons of prominence in Florida have accepted passes on the railroads in Florida, contrary to law, have been submitted to the house by a committee appointed to investigate the pass files of the state railroad commission. The report was referred to the committee on judiciary.

Among those reported as having accepted passes are:

United States Senator Talliaferro, Representative Frank Clark, Former Representative Robert W. Davis, A. C. Crom, State Comptroller W. T. Bauskett, secretary to Senator Talliaferro; United States District Judge W. Locke; United States District Judge Alex Bowman.

COFFIN AFIRE; FUNERAL PANIC

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 13.—Much excitement was caused in the Italian quarter here today when during the ceremonies over the body of Salvator Rizzo, alleged victim of the Black Hand, a candelabrum was overturned and the coffin was set afire. The blaze was quickly extinguished, but not before several pallbrearers' hands were scorched. Word went through the Italian colony that the Black Hand was pursuing Rizzo even after death. Excitement was increased a few moments later when smoke pourned out of the windows of the Rizzo home, which the crowd thought was burning. The smoke was caused, however, by a photographer taking a flashlight picture.

Detectives claim to have discovered a clue showing that Rizzo, who died suddenly at his home here Tuesday after having received threatening letters from the Black Hand, was given poison.

Rain to The Rescue.

St. Joseph, Mo., 13.—Vegetation, which has been held back by dry and unseasonable weather throughout Northwest Missouri, was given impetus today by a soaking rain and crop prospects are much improved.

SEIZE GIRLS FOR SLAVES

Mohammedans Maltreat Them and Carry Them Away.

Men Are Killed When Found Within Reach of Bullets.

Marash, Asiatic Turkey, May 13.—Distressing accounts continue to be received here from the countryside of Armenian villages assailed by bands of Mohammedans, who, acting on the supposition that the Armenians were rising against the government, were quick to strike the first blow.

The men were killed whenever found within reach of knife or bullet.

The girls were often maltreated, and some of them were carried off to become the wives or slaves of rich men.

Houses were sacked and then burned, farm animals were driven off, and small parties of horsemen rode through the country "cleaning up the Armenians."

MRS. BURDETTE IS STRICKEN ILL

Minister's Wife Overcome By Strain of Caring for Him.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 13.—Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, wife of Rev. Robert J. Burdette of the Temple Baptist church, was stricken critically ill last night while in her husband's study and remained unconscious for several hours.

Mr. Burdette recently sustained a concussion of the spine as the result of a fall, and the strain of caring for her husband is believed to have brought on Mrs. Burdette's present illness.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPH WILL NOW BE TAUGHT IN OHIO UNIVERSITY.

Columbus, Ohio, May 13.—Engineers in wireless telegraph will be trained in the engineering department at Ohio state university. The first class will start with the third term in the next college year. A complete equipment will be installed, capable of communicating with wireless stations at Cleveland, Detroit and other points on the Great Lakes. Because equipment on the boats has not enough power, it is not expected that the university station will talk with boats on Lake Erie.

SPURIOUS CHINA CASE AT AN END

Verdict for $5,000 Handed Down Against Dealer Ellis.

London, May 13.—The sensational "spurious China" case came to a sudden termination this morning with the handing down of a verdict against the China dealer, Arthur Ellis, for damages and costs aggregating $5,000.

This case developed when the executors of the estate of the late C. J. Dickens, founder of the dry goods firm of Dickens & Jones, sued Ellis on the allegation that while Mr. Dickens was suffering from senile decay Ellis defrauded him out of thousands of pounds by palming off on him spurious modern chinaware for Dresden ware, alleged to be 150 years old.

The evidence was so conclusive that the defense did not attempt to put witnesses on the stand. Justice Grantham in summing up, declared that if the charges were found true, the case ought to have been tried before a criminal court. The prosecution of a number of other well known Bond street dealers is pending.

Washington, May 13.—Surrounded by fellow fraternity men and distinguished guests, Frank W. SOUTH DAKOTAN IS FOR FREE IRON ORE

COE I. CRAWFORD.

Washington, May 13.—In the senate, Senator Coe I. Crawford of South Dakota spoke at length upon the lack of wisdom of any tariff that encouraged the exhaustion of natural resources which could not readily be reproduced. He insisted there should be no tariff on iron ore, oil, lumber and coal.

BLUFFING, THEY SAY

French Strikers Say That Government Assertions Are Buncombe.

Situation Is Worse at Havre—Services Are Tied Up.

Paris, May 13.—The number of striking government employes shows no appreciable increase this morning. The services are normal, and at some places, notably Bordeaux, the telegraphers who went out yesterday have returned to their posts. The concerted efforts of the strikers stationed at various bureaus in Paris to induce their comrades to join the movement have been without effect.

The authorities are confident the strike will be over in a few days, but on the other hand the leaders of the strike claim that the government is "bluffing" and that its figures regarding the number of men out are ridiculous. They declare the movement will extend rapidly and that the General Federation of Labor soon will make a dramatic appearance on the scene.

Only at Havre, where both the post and telegraph services are practically tied up, is the situation worse today. The batch of dismissals last night evidently has dismayed the rank and file. The government this afternoon will ask for a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies, and if this is obtained another and larger batch of dismissals will follow immediately.

The official statistics issued at noon give the total number of strikers at 934.

The postmen charged with delivery of newspapers refused to make their rounds this morning. They were expelled from the postoffice and deplaced by men of the navy. The American chamber of commerce in Paris has organized a special service to insure the dispatch of the American mails via Cherbourg and Havre.

JAP SEALER IS WARNED TO LEAVE

Alaskan Customs Collector Boards Vessel Suspected of Poaching.

Seattle, Wash., May 13.—A cable dispatch from Cordova says that, while en route from Juneau to Cordova on the steamer Portland, J. R. Willis, collector of customs for Alaska, warned a Japanese sealing schooner to leave the restricted fishing limits.

The sealer was sighted at Yakutat bay. Collector Willis boarded the vessel and found it to be the Maza Maru, with a crew of thirty-six men. The captain claimed that he had put in for water, but sealing implements were found on board and he was given six hours to put to sea, under penalty of seizure.

Collector Willis thinks the sealer was waiting for the big herd of seals now going up the Alaska coast. This is the second Japanese schooner found within the restricted fishing limits this spring.

Louis Arbogast's Head Was Crushed Apparently With an Ax.

Stories of His Wife and Daughter Do Not Agree.

Police Found All the Windows and Door Locks Intact.

St. Paul, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Arbogast, a well-known West Seventh street butcher, was murdered in his home early today. His head was crushed and his bed, the police say, was saturated with oil and set on fire. The affair is rather mysterious, and the police are investigating, as the stories of Miss Ida Arbogast, aged 22, daughter of the dead man, and her mother, do not agree as to the details.

The daughter told Police Capt. Clark that she smelled smoke coming from her parents' room early in the morning and went to the room, where she found the bed ablaze. Her father and mother were in it. "I dragged my mother out," she said to Capt. Clark. "By this time the bed was all ablaze. I called to the neighbors and they put out the fire. My father was unconscious and his body was partly burned. He was still alive, and we called the police ambulance and he was started for St. Luke's hospital, but he died on the way."

Mrs. Arbogast, whose body is slightly burned, according to the police, tells a different story. She is reported to have said that she was in the bathroom, taking a bath, when she heard her daughter scream. She ran to her hus-

POLICE OUT AT FUNERAL

Reserves in Action During the Heinrich Conreid Obsequies.

Widow Will Occupy Box in the Opera House.

New York, May 13.—Elaborate services have been arranged for the funeral of Heinrich Conreid in the Metropolitan opera house today. Of the 10,000 persons who have received tickets of admission, it is said only a third will be able to gain admission, and the police reserves have been ordered to prevent confusion arising from this fact.

The funeral will be one of the most noteworthy held in New York in many years. The Metropolitan opera orchestra, numbering 135 pieces, will give Beethoven's funeral march, after which there will be a Scriptural reading by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. The boy choir from "Parsifal" will sing two selections, and Mmes. Rapold and Homer and Messrs. Martin and Blass and the Metropolitan orchestra will give Handel's "Largo." The orchestra will conclude with Chopin's funeral march. Many prominent men will be among the pallbearers.

Mrs. Conreid, who was with the former Metropolitan opera company director when he died recently in Austria, with other relatives, will occupy boxes in the opera house.

WEATHER — Partly cloudy weather, with probably showers tonight or Friday; warmer tonight; moderate southerly winds, shifting to easterly Friday.

This spring we are presenting the most wonderful $15 Suit proposition known to the clothing trade. We had the suits made to our order, and the agreement with the makers is that the quality of woolens, the class of tailoring and the perfect fashioning shall be equal to the best $20 clothes sold in other stores. Don't think of our $15 Suits as being like anything you ever bought at that price. Expect something as good as you ever secured for $20—then pay us $15. To produce this record-breaking value the maker has had to sacrifice half of his usual profit, while we have sacrificed half of ours. The only way we can make good is to sell twice as many therefor, as we ever sold before. If the offer appeals to your business sense, tell us to show you any color, any style and any size you want, at..... $15

If you are out of doors very much, protect yourself with a stylish and serviceable Oak Hall Raincoat, at..... $20, $25 or $35

STANDING TRIAL FOR ROBBERY

The case of the state against Hjalmar Aho, who was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of robbery, was begun this morning before Judge Dibell.

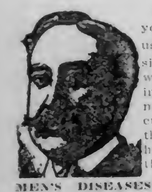
The robbery took place on lower Lake avenue, Tarkkinen, it is said, had been drinking and in one of the saloons had bought one round of drinks out of a $5 bill. The change, which amounted to something over $4, he put in his pocket.

While going down the steps which lead into the alley, between St. Croix avenue and Lake avenue, Tarkkinen was held up, and the change he had received in the saloon was taken from him by two men.

He reported his loss to the police and later in the evening Aho was arrested in one of the Lake avenue saloons. The alleged holdup occurred on March 22.

A HEART TO HEART TALK TO SICK MEN

From the Progressive Medical Specialists



Again and again you have read about us. We have not been silent about the work we have done in curing thousands of sick men, that we can cure you of any of these diseases you have read of us in the newspapers.

MEN'S DISEASES COMMAND SPECIALISTS' KNOWLEDGE.

A man, if he belongs to the building trade, cannot be a carpenter, a bricklayer and a plumber, at the same time. He who knows everything knows nothing in special, and so in the art of healing. A doctor who tends to men in fevers, to children and women, and takes all different kinds of diseases, is no specialist in any disease. This affords a special preparation and years of special study. We have studied and thoroughly mastered a single line of diseases, those peculiar to man, and no other doctor but the specialist can master and thoroughly cure men's diseases.

There are plenty of quacks who claim to cure, but if you come to us we can show you letters from people who will tell you what we have done for them. Many of these people came as cripples, some wrecked in body and soul, others came with diseases for which they could find no cure anywhere, and we cured them.

WE DON'T TAKE ALL CASES, BUT WE CURE ALL THOSE WE TAKE.

And these are diseases which no ordinary doctor has any knowledge of and don't pretend to, either, but we do cure these special and hard cases, and there is not one man who ever was disappointed by us, for we keep our promises, and if your case is not curable we will not take you at all; but if you suffer of that awful dissipation which destroys your body and soul, come to us; we will cure you; don't think it is incurable. We will give you a written guarantee that we can cure you of these and the following diseases, without knife or pain: Rupture, Cancers and Tumors, Bladder, Kidney, Stomach, Rectal and Heart Diseases, Nervous Debility, Melancholia, Impure Blood, Blood Poison and all Skin Diseases, Nose, Throat and Ear Trouble, Rheumatism, Liver Diseases, Diabetes, Gallstones, Indigestion, Nervousness and all Chronic Diseases. Do not neglect your troubles; it may cost you many a precious year of your life. It don't cost you anything to consult us. You are always welcome from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. daily, except Sundays, when our hours are from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. No. 1 West Superior street, Duluth.

TEDDY JR. WILL NOT BE A MAJOR ANY MORE.

KILLED BY STREET CAR

West Duluth Man Is Victim of a Fatal Accident.

Hurled Several Feet By Car and Skull Crushed.

Struck by a West Duluth street car, west bound on the West Duluth car line at Forty-seventh avenue west, last evening and hurled a distance of several feet from the track, James Gilbert, 42 years of age, of 4618 Oneota street, died early this morning at the Duluth hospital, never regaining consciousness from the blow.

The accident occurred about 11 o'clock last night when Gilbert was returning home. It is thought that he could not have seen the approaching car. The full force of the blow was received on his skull, which was fractured. When he was picked up, he was hardly recognizable, his face and head being so badly crushed.

Gilbert is a longshoreman and a member of the Longshoremen's union. He is not a married man and has been living for some time with his aged mother, who, it is feared, may not survive the shock of the news of her son's death. She was not notified of the accident last night.

Besides his aged mother, Gilbert is survived by one brother, W. J. Gilbert, of 20 North Fifty-third avenue west. He also has a number of relatives in Ohio, who were notified today of his death and will probably arrive here Saturday to attend the funeral.

Funeral arrangements are yet to be completed, although it is understood that the services will be held Monday morning. The ceremonies will be under the auspices of the Longshoremen's union, which will hold a special meeting to make the necessary arrangements.

WAS DIPLOMATIC.

Poundmaster Mann Finds New Way of Collecting Dog Taxes.

The diplomacy of Capt. J. W. Mann, poundmaster for the West Duluth district, was yesterday responsible for a large number of people paying their dog license fees to the police last evening.

Capt. Mann did not threaten to prosecute the delinquent dog owners yesterday, but used other means, just as effective, in bringing about the desired results.

The poundmaster borrowed a little white cur from a restaurant keeper on Fifty-second avenue and with his rope led the dog through the main thoroughfares of West Duluth, making it a point that all delinquent owners along Central avenue would have a chance to see what would become of their canines if they did not fork over the coin. A land office business at the police station resulted.

GROCER IS BEING SUED

Woman Wants $5,000 for Shock to Her Nerves.

Beware of imitations.

Mrs. Rose Talarico asked for one brand of stove polish, but she got another. The latter brand ignited, burned her about the face and body, and now she wants $5,000 from Joseph Schmauss, the grocer who persuaded her that the other was the "very same thing."

The papers were filed with the clerk of the district court this morning, and in her complaint she states that she insisted on a certain brand, and the grocer insisted that the other was the better polish. He said it was even better than the other kind, and she claims he did not warn her that the stuff was liable to ignite.

She says that the injuries sustained from the accident have made her lose much sleep, and that she has never recovered from the nervous shock.

Joseph Schmauss, the grocer who sold the polish, keeps a store at 5912 Raleigh street.

THAT N. P. BRIDGE.

Commercial Club Will Decide What Steps Should Be Taken.

Whether to consider the Grassy Point bridge matter a closed incident, or whether steps should be taken to investigate what legal means can be employed to hold up the secretary of war's approval of the submitted plans of the Northern Pacific bridge, will be decided tomorrow evening at the regular weekly meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club.

The news of the war chief's action on the bridge matter comes as somewhat of a surprise to those who confidently expected that he would grant the concessions of the Head of the Lakes people, as the commercial clubs of both Duluth and Superior are a unit in wanting accommodations for foot passengers and teams.

The proposed improvement of Grand avenue may be brought before the club members tomorrow evening after the bridge matter is disposed of. Grand avenue is in a very poor condition for team traffic, and a number of the property owners are clamoring for improvements.

Foot Caught in Wheel.

As a result of an accident at the Alger-Smith mill at West Duluth yesterday, Hubert Scanlon of 221 Fifty-third avenue west, will lose his right foot.

The young man is 18 years of age and has been employed at the mill since it started up this fall. In some unaccountable manner he got entangled in a gear wheel yesterday and badly crushed his foot and toes.

He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where the injured member will be amputated. Today he was reported as resting very easy.

Benson-Negri.

Miss Josie J. Benson and Dominick Negri, were married last evening by Rev. E. F. Stidd, pastor of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, at 221 Twenty-seventh avenue west. The ceremony took place at 7:15 o'clock and a wedding supper followed. Mr. and Mrs. Negri will make their home at 221 Twenty-seventh avenue west.

SENATOR WORKS HAS ACCEPTED

Will Deliver Address in Duluth on Government By Commission.

Senator S. D. Works of Mankato, the author of the act enabling cities to be ruled by the commission plan, will deliver a speech upon the commission plan of municipal government before the members of the City Democratic club Friday, May 21.

Arrangements for the appearance in Duluth of the senator who stood so loyally by the interests of this part of the state during the tonnage tax fight, were completed today. It will be the regular monthly meeting of the club, but because of the appearance of Senator Works elaborate preparations will be made for the meeting.

It is not known at this time where the meeting will be held. Because of the importance of the subject, and the fact that the author of the enabling act will address the citizens of Duluth, a large hall will be secured.

Giddings' REBUILDING SALE

NEW OFFICE STRUCTURE

Big Improvement Planned for Fifth Avenue West.

Plans for the erection of a large office building on the southwest corner of Superior street and Fifth avenue west, the present site of the old hotel that has served as a landmark for many years, have been completed, and the building, it is now assured, will be erected at the termination of the lease upon the buildings that now occupy the corner.

The new building now under course of construction, adjoining the old Windsor hotel, is being erected with the idea that it will form part of the structure that will be erected within the course of the next two years. Heavy steel girders are being placed in the present structure, so that when the time comes for the erection of the large building it will be capable of bearing additional stories.

The present foundation on Fifth avenue west and Michigan street, which is of solid construction, will be used in the new building.

The plans call for an office building of ten stories. Whether the building will be built to the height the plans call for is undecided at this time. It may be built to a height of six stories, the other four stories being added later.

C. E. Henderson, the owner of the property, has been in Duluth some time, going over the plans of the building. It is his intention to give Duluth a fine, large office building, that will compare favorably with any similar building in the city at the present time. Whether all ten stories will be built at once will depend largely upon the need for such a large building at the time the lease on the buildings on the site expires.

If you want to feel well, look well and be well, take Foley's Kidney Remedy. It tones up the kidneys and bladder, purifies the blood and restores health and strength. Pleasant to take and contains no harmful drugs. Why not commence today. Sold by all druggists.

WILL SWELL VALUATION

New Tax on Grain Should Add to City Revenue.

Personal property taxes in Duluth this year will be greatly increased by the new law passed by the recent legislature, defining the method of taxation of grain in elevators and warehouses and providing a tax of one-fourth of one mill per bushel on all wheat and flax and one-eighth of one mill per bushel on all other grain received in or handled by such elevator or warehouse during the preceding year. Heretofore assessors have simply caught what they could on May 1, when the elevators were nearly empty.

County Auditor Halden this morning received from the Minnesota tax commission a letter of instruction regarding this taxation. The tax must be collected and distributed in the same manner as other taxes on personal property in the county where the elevators and warehouses are situated. Every person, firm or corporation operating a grain elevator or warehouse in this state shall, at the time specified, furnish to the assessor a statement of all grain handled during the year preceding March 1. The letter of instruction received by the county auditor reads as follows:

"1. The law (and tax) applies to all grain handled in local elevators and warehouses.

"2. It also applies to all grain handled by terminal elevators.

"3. The fact that grain is taxed in one elevator does not relieve it from taxation in any other elevator in which it is subsequently handled.

"4. When an elevator or warehouse is in proximity to and is used for storage purposes in connection with the operation of a mill or malting house wherein grain is manufactured into flour, malt, oil, etc., such grain is not subject to such tax.

"5. But as to such grain as may be received in such elevators or warehouses as are referred to in subdivision fourth above and which is shipped out as grain, not having been milled or malted, the same is subject to the tax in question.

"6. Where a mill or malthouse company is engaged in operating elevators or warehouses not in proximity to the mill or warehouse, but at divers points in the state, notwithstanding the fact that the main purpose thereof is to secure grain for milling, etc., the grain handled in such elevators or warehouses is subject to the tax under this law.

"7. The return or statement required to be made under this law covers all grain handled between March 1, 1908, and March 1, 1909, even though it may have been taxed as personal property on hand May 1, 1908.

"8. When grain has been manufactured into flour, malt, oil, etc., such property if on hand May 1, 1909, is subject to assessment and taxation as other personal property is assessed and taxed and is not affected by the law in question.

"9. All grain on hand on May 1, whether in elevators, storehouses or granaries, which is not subject to the 'bushel tax' imposed by this law as aforesaid, is to be assessed and taxed the same as other personal property and as has been the practice in past years."

DEMAND IS INCREASED

Railroad Construction Work Results in Calls For Labor.

The opening of railroad construction work in North Dakota and the states further West, has resulted in an increased demand for men in the Duluth labor market. Shipments of men have begun to the West and Duluth labor men estimate that from now until late in the summer the demand for men will show a steady increase.

In North Dakota the Soo, the Milwaukee, and the Great Northern are opening construction camps, his work is creating a demand for men, and for about the first time since early spring laborers in Duluth can find employment.

As yet the railroad work further West than the two Dakotas has not taken many laborers from here. Labor agents, however, state that there will be a large amount of construction work upon the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railway, that will demand the employment of a large number of laborers. They say within a few weeks the demand for labor will have reached the Duluth market, and men wanting work will be shipped from Duluth to western points.

A Minneapolis commercial man, just returned from a trip through North Dakota, is authority for the statement that all of the large contractors in North Dakota are engaged in a race to see which can accomplish the greatest amount of work. The commercial man also states that there is a steady demand for men in the construction camps. With the advent of warm weather there will be heavier operations by the railroads, with consequent demand for more laborers.

All the railroads of the West have delayed railroad repairing and needed construction for the last two years from two causes, first there was the anti-railroad legislation, the reduction of passenger fares and the increased cost of materials; then came the business depression, which greatly decreased the freight receipts of the railroads.

With the prospects of a good crop in sight, the railroads are going to do some of the repairing and construction work that they have delayed doing for some time. The Great Northern and the Northern Pacific will do a large amount of repairing and branch line construction throughout the West.

HEARING IS RESUMED

D. L. Fairchild on Stand in Hansen E. Smith Case.

The taking of testimony was resumed this morning before Judge W. D. Edson, special master in the United States court, in the case of Hansen E. Smith and others against Thomas A. Merritt, D. L. Fairchild, W. A. Barrows, Jr., and H. H. Phelps.

The cross-examination of defendant Fairchild was resumed at the point he left off when the hearing was continued last week. Mr. Fairchild and Thomas Merritt were purchasers of the sheriff's certificate of sale to a part of the mineral land in dispute. After the defendants secured this certificate, they purchased an additional one-fourth undivided interest from the trustee in bankruptcy, paying for the same $250. This latter had been owned by Hansen E. Smith and was a part of the assets turned over by him to the trustee for the benefit of his creditors.

Mr. Fairchild went over the transaction this morning, giving the details of the purchase as he remembered them. Mr. Fairchild was followed on the witness stand by Thomas Merritt, one of the defendants and purchasers of the land.

Mr. Merritt was cross-examined regarding his alleged knowledge that the land was valuable for mineral deposits prior to the time that he obtained title by sheriff's certificate and trustee's deed. He stated that the land had been drilled, he thought, in 1901 or 1902, and that he had seen reports of the drilling before the failure of the Merchants Bank of West Duluth, and the subsequent transfer of title to him. The details of the deal by which he and the other defendants got title to the land were clear in Mr. Merritt's memory, and he made an excellent witness for the defense.

The case is in the United States court at present in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings of Hanson E. Smith, in an effort on the part of Mr. Smith to have the title to the land set aside. The taking of testimony may occupy several days.

THREE FIRMS ARE BANKRUPT

Three petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the United States court today, two of them being the petitions of creditors in involuntary proceedings.

Frederick B. Winslow, a saloon man of Deer River, alleges in his petition that his liabilities amount to $4,712.65 and that he has assets, over and above exemptions, to the amount of $5,847.70. The creditors are numerous and are mainly breweries and wholesale liquor and cigar dealers of the Twin Cities and Duluth.

H. H. Hitch was engaged in the fuel business in Brainerd. He went out of business about three months ago, with unpaid bills to the amount of about $4,000 against him. He had purchased his fuel supplies largely of the M. A. Hanna Coal company and A. L. Hoffman, a Brainerd merchant. The two unite in a petition to the United States court to have Hitch declared a bankrupt.

An unpaid claim of $274.18 and interest, which John Kohler and S. S. Jones of Frazee, Minn., allege is due them, is the basis of a petition to have a trustee in bankruptcy appointed for the Giant Grip Horseshoe Company of Little Falls. The company is a Minnesota corporation, but the petition alleges it has been virtually insolvent for some time and unable to pay outstanding accounts.

WAS RETURNED TO AUSTRIA

Immigration Agent Perdomo returned today from New York, where he went several days ago to attend to the deportation of John Wick, an Austrian, who has been a well-known character about the streets of Duluth for the past two years.

Wick's home is at Lic, Austria. Mr. Perdomo turned the man over to the steamship officials, who will land him at Bremen. After that he will make his way home as best he can, or not at all if he sees fit. The responsibility of the immigration officer ceased when the man boarded the vessel in New York.

During the trip to New York, Wick established a new world's record for silence. Only once did he speak during the entire trip. In Chicago he turned to Mr. Perdomo and said: "Is this Chicago?" It was his one and only effort to be sociable.

ON THE IRON RANGES

YOUNG SUICIDE IS BURIED THURSDAY

Inquest in Case of Finn Who Cut Throat Not Necessary.

Eveleth, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—An inquest over the body of young Emil Kangas, the Finn, who committed suicide by cutting his throat in the woods near the Troy mine was not deemed necessary.

A knife laying beside him told only too well his means of ending life. The day, due to the fact that Joe Bronzel, an Austrian, who has been in America only a few months, who first saw the body was too frightened to say anything. Bronzel lives on the Fayal location and was out for a walk when he saw something dark in the woods ahead of him. He looked at the body, but did not touch it. He came to town and told a local saloon keeper, who notified Deputy Coroner Gleason. The only reason assigned for the suicide is despondency over not getting work. The young man has been staying with his brother, Henry Kangas, for two years, and in that time has been working very little. The funeral will be held today from the Finnish Lutheran church.

PAID FOR BEING FRIGHTENED

Mrs. Selma Koski of Hibbing will receive $750 from the Oliver Mining company for the fright she sustained when armed guards searched her home for striking miners last fall. Mrs. Koski sued for $3,000, claiming that she had never recovered from the effects of the shock.

One of the guards also testified to this fact. The jury returned a sealed verdict, which was opened in court this morning.

The jury thought $775 was a pretty stiff price for a cab.

LUMBER ON FREE LIST, THEY SAY

More Senators Make Speeches Favoring Removal of Duties.

ST. PAUL BUTCHER FOUND MURDERED

band's room and found the bed ablaze, with her husband's unconscious form lying on it.

Coroner Miller discovered that Mr. Arbogast's head had been crushed, but whether by a club or shattered by a bullet he was unable to say. He called the attention of the police to the suspicious circumstances and detectives are started on an investigation.

Capt. Clark says all of the windows and door locks were found intact, and he has found no idea as yet how the crime was committed, but expects definite developments later.

Later today the police found an ax covered with blood and wrapped in some old clothing in the cellar of the Arbogast home. Indications pointed to the apparent fact that hurried efforts had been made to hide the ax. The police are now convinced that the dead butcher's head was crushed with that implement.

No motive for the crime has yet been shown. Mr. Arbogast is reputed to have been worth about $200,000, and conducted a well paying meat business. Merchants in the neighborhood of his place of business say he was a shrewd business man and had no known enemies who would go so far as to take his life at any rate.

FORT MACKINAC MAY AGAIN BE OCCUPIED.

Negaunee, Mich., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported here that Senator William Alden Smith from Michigan has introduced a bill in congress to regarrison Fort Mackinac. As this report was made over the signature of then secretary of war, William H. Taft, the outcome appears dubious.

MANY VIOLATORS OF LIQUOR LAWS

Fifteen of Such Cases on Marquette County Court Docket.

Marquette, Mich., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are twenty-one criminal cases and twenty-two civil cases on the calendar of the May term of circuit court, which will begin Monday. All but six of the criminal cases are for violation of the liquor laws, which accounts for the large number in this category. The number has been swelled by seven indictments against six Marquette saloon keepers, the cases having been brought by Rev. Mr. Rutledge and his lieutenants.

Of the six criminal cases, other than liquor law violations, Foster Roberts and Helger Anderson, who are mere boys, are charged with breaking into the Negaunee postoffice and stealing a small amount from the cash drawer; John Wallenius of Negaunee is charged with having abandoned his wife and family; Oscar Orre is charged with having broken into the Stewart camp, near Birch, and having stolen a rifle and other articles; EdwardHonkala of Ishpeming is charged with having assaulted his wife with intent to kill her; Edward Maki is charged with having shot a revolver at a companion in Marquette not long ago, and Thomas Burgess, now an inmate of the branch prison, is charged with having escaped from that institution. Burgess, alias Ryan, escaped from the prison several years ago, and was brought back to Marquette from New York a few weeks ago, upon the completion of a short term at Blackwell's island.

Most of these prisoners, it is believed, will enter pleas of guilty to the charges against them, and if so the criminal docket will soon be disposed of.

Akeley, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. Huggens was robbed in his rooms about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning of $48 in bills. Monday had been payday at the mill and Huggens, after supper, had cashed his check at one of the stores, where he paid a small bill of $8.

BAD BRECKENRIDGE FIRE.

Blowing Up Buildings With Dynamite Prevents Town's Destruction.

Breckenridge, Minn., May 13.—One of the fiercest fires this town has ever witnessed started in the basement of the Bobson hotel block, a three-story brick building owned by Henry Bobson of Minneapolis.

The fire was discovered early yesterday by the messenger boy of the Great Northern railway, who quickly spread the alarm, but a strong wind from the south soon whipped the blaze into a roaring furnace, and the firemen were unable to check the flames. Streams of water were then turned on the surrounding buildings in an effort to keep the fire from spreading, but this had to be abandoned and dynamite was resorted to in order to save the homes and other buildings in the block.

The loss is estimated at $60,000, which is partially covered by insurance.

FOLLOWING WESTON

Ellsworth, Kan., May 13.—Although Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, did not arrive here till fifteen minutes after midnight last night, he was up early this morning, and at 8 a. m. again took up his journey westward. He covered forty-five miles yesterday, and said this morning that he was in excellent condition.

"The Kayser"

Patent Finger-Tipped Silk Gloves

For 25 years, the Kaysers have been the utmost one could get in silk gloves. And they are today.

No woman who knows takes inferior gloves. But some women get gloves not half so good because they don't look in the hem.

The Only Desirable Gloves

Kaysers are the gloves with the patent tip—with the guarantee in every pair.

The Kayser pure silk fabric, made in our factory, is famous for its durable weave.

The Kayser fit and finish are due to infinite care—to fifty operations.

You want them, as all women want them, for they cost no more than the poorest gloves made. But you may get gloves which are vastly inferior unless you look for the name in the hem.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

At noon today more than $500 had been realized from the rummage sale which was conducted by the members of the board of directors of the Children's home. The Duluth public may with assurance give liberally to the home, so long as a board of such capable women is conducting the affairs. During the week every member has worked strenuously and the night's rest tonight will be welcome to the weary and footsore women, who have done this work for charity.

The rummage sale, which has been named as an annual feature to raise money for the home, is a three-fold blessing. It helps the housewives of the city to keep their attics and closets cleared in a good cause; it provides articles at low cost for people who may need them, and it realizes a good sum for the work of the home.

Crowds were waiting at the door both yesterday morning and today for the opening hour, and there was a crush in the rooms during all the hours of the day. Toward the closing hours an informal auction of the articles left was held, and tomorrow morning L. Byrens, an auctioneer, who has volunteered his services, will dispose of everything left at 9:30 o'clock.

Great credit is due Mrs. A. C. Hubbell, who was the general manager of the sale, both this year and last, and to every individual member of the board, who has worked long and faithfully and strenuously to make the affair a success.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Music Teachers to Meet at Mankato.

The annual meeting of the Minnesota State Music Teachers' association will be of interest to many Duluth musicians. The yearly meeting will be held this year June 15, 16 and 17 at Mankato.

The Mankato citizens are making preparations for the event, the commercial and automobile clubs having extended the courtesies of their organizations and the use of a large church and good organ is also promised. Some fine programs are being prepared, which will be quite up to the standard of former years. There is every prospect of a large delegation from all parts of the state, for the benefits of these meetings are manifold.

The association was organized in Minnesota eight years ago and has in that time extended its influence in the musical life of the state. Miss Edith C. Fulton of this city is the St. Louis county vice president. The programs county vice president. will be issued in a short time, and it is hoped that a large representation will be sent from Duluth.

SCOTCH DANCES.

Clan Stewart Members Discard the Two Step.

Reels and flings and sword dances and others proverbially dear to the Scotsman's heart were danced last evening to the exclusion of all two-steps and modern waltzes at the housewarming held by the members of Clan Stewart at their new hall at the corner of Fourth avenue west and First street. The Scottish reel was danced by James Bailey, James Elder, Angus Macauley and John Smith. A program of stirring old airs and recitations typical of the land was given. Philip Gordon Brown, Miss Annabelle MacLeod and Miss Jessie McGhie sang. By special arrangement there was a solo by Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the only one to appear on the program who could not prove a right to wear a Scotsman's plaid. There were violin numbers by Alice Gow and Mary Vletch, and the imitations of Harry Lauder by Don Clark and John Tressie were much enjoyed. Piper Robert Mowbray worried some Scotch airs out of the bagpipe, which can only be appreciated by the real Scots. It is darkly intimated that all applicants for admission to the clan have to go through the bagpipe test first. Miss Anna Morrison was heard in some very pleasing recitations, and Miss McAskill acted as accompanist during the evening.

There were about 200 present, all of whom were members of the clan, and the evening was a most delightful one.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Is Given By Members of Auxiliary.

The officers of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions of Trinity Pro-cathedral received yesterday afternoon at a birthday party at the Guild rooms. Those who received were Mrs. W. B. Mrs. J. D. Merrison spoke on the work of the church in the mission fields in the islands of the Pacific, and told in an interesting way of the work that had been accomplished and what yet remains to be done. The conditions of the people and what Christianity owed to them was dwelt upon by the speaker.

Following the program there was a banquet for which covers for thirty were laid. Carnations and ferns were used in the table decoration and about the room streamers were used in decoration and Japanese lanterns were hung about. Seven new members were received into the society.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

West Duluth High School to Have Its First Commencement.

High school commencement week will be an auspicious one in Duluth this year.

In the first place, it will mark the completion of the first year of the West Duluth Industrial high school as a full-fledged, four-year course institution and it will also see the graduation of the largest senior class in the history of the Central high school.

Until two years ago, the Duluth Industrial high school in West Duluth was known as the Irving high and only two years of work were given there. Last year, another year's work was added, but it was not until this school year that the complete high school course was given there.

The West Duluth high will have commencement exercises of its own. It will be held in the school Thursday evening, June 3.

The Central high commencement exercises will be held Friday evening, June 4, in the Central building. One hundred and twelve seniors will receive diplomas, making the largest class ever graduated from the institution.

Pupils and teachers are busy preparing for the termination of the school year. There are the final examinations to worry about and the arrangements for the several functions which mark the end of high school work for the graduating classes. All arrangements have not been completed as yet.

DOES YOUR BACKYARD RESEMBLE THIS ONE?

There are a good many backyards in Duluth just as unpleasant to the eye as this one. Is yours one of them? This is the time of the year when unsightly refuse which has accumulated during the winter should be disposed of.

Mayor Haven has named the last three days of next week as official cleaning time, and everybody in the city who has a yard of any sort will be expected to pitch in and clean up the premises.

There are numerous unsightly rubbish heaps scattered about town, and the sooner they are cleaned up the better satisfied will the health authorities and general public be.

NO ROWDYISM BY GRADUATES

The school authorities think they have found a way whereby there will be no serious pranks played by boys, incidental to the grade school graduation exercises this year.

Last year the exercises were held in the evening, and the police, street car conductors and the public will remember that the graduates and their friends created considerable havoc, so this year the grammar school youngsters will receive their diplomas, entitling them to admission to the high schools, in the afternoon.

It is thought that, with the programs in the afternoon, the boys will not indulge in the pastime of breaking street car windows and conducting parades about the city.

The West end grade school commencement will be held at the Central high school Wednesday afternoon, June 2, beginning at 2:30.

The Central and East end schools will have their program Thursday afternoon, June 3, at the Central high school.

Supt. Denfeld will present the diplomas.

EVERYBODY IS TREATED ALIKE

The annual farewell spread of the Central high school senior class will be held at 6 o'clock in the evening, according to a decision reached at a class meeting yesterday afternoon, and girls will attend unescorted.

The fact of girls going unescorted puts them all on an equal footing, and nobody will be overlooked. Place cards will designate where each member is to sit.

The boys will engage the girls for the banquet dance, and following the dance will escort them home. It is believed the new system will be a popular one, and that the event will be more largely attended by class members than has been the custom at similar affairs in the past.

MORE CONTEMPTIBLE STILL.

Recently The Herald, in reviewing the famous case against the sugar trust, wherein that organization was convicted of stealing sugar duties from the government by a contemptibly small system of false weights and had been made to pay a fine of more than $2,000,000, expressed regret that nobody was going to jail for it.

It seems, however, that somebody may go to jail for it yet, but as usual it is not those who are chiefly and most grievously guilty. The employes on the dock where the stealing was done have been indicted, seven of them, and not only indicted but discharged by the sugar trust.

In other words, this pitiable sugar trust forced its minor employes to beat the government out of sugar duties, thereby not only defrauding the government but debauching its own servants. Then, when it is caught, it promptly discharges the poor devils who did the dirty work, and the men "higher up," who are chiefly responsible and far more infamously guilty than the humble subordinates who were mere tools, affect virtuous indignation that their employes should do this thing. So the men on the dock are discharged, are indicted for the crime and may go to jail, and as usual the men higher up, who are the real culprits, go free and respected.

Apparently the high officials of the sugar trust would like the public to believe that these subordinates on the docks, fellows getting small wages and profiting nothing by the frauds, did this thing on their own hook. In other words, these men have stolen from the government something like $7,000,000 in duties in the course of a dozen years and turned it over to the sugar trust out of pure loyalty to their employers, and with no thought of personal profit. The way the thing was worked every dollar that was gained by beating the government out of sugar duties went to the sugar trust, and presumably to stockholders in the form of dividends. If you own a few shares of sugar stock, part of your dividends has been the profit of deliberate theft. There was no way by which the men that did the dirty work could profit by it, unless the directors of the company authorized giving them extra pay for it.

Even more contemptible than the petty thievery of which the sugar trust has been guilty is its present policy of repudiating the men that did the work by which the trust profited. The indictments had hardly been returned when all seven of the men indicted were summarily discharged. In a public statement the officers of the trust say that they are as anxious as anybody that these men should be punished if they are guilty, and promise cooperation with the officers of the law to that end.

It may be that these humble dock employes stole sugar duties from the government during a long period and let all the proceeds go to the sugar trust merely because they loved the trust and wished it to prosper regardless of the means used to produce that prosperity. It may be that the directors and stockholders who have profited by this systematic robbery knew nothing whatever about it. But both suppositions are extremely improbable.

CLEANING DAYS IN DULUTH.

Mayor Haven has tentatively fixed the last three days of next week as the spring cleaning time for Duluth. Tentatively, because the order is qualified by the usual "weather permitting." So if the weather is decent, everybody will be expected to get to work cleaning up his house and grounds, that the city may swing into the summer with a clean, smiling, wholesome face.

It used to be that a single day was set for this most useful purpose, but one day isn't enough, and now it is three—Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. The close of that period ought to find the city clean and sightly and healthful; it can be none of these things without a thorough spring cleaning. It is not a matter alone of sightliness. Quite as important as that is the matter of health, for there is disease and danger in the masses of rubbish that have accumulated during the winter.

Coupled with the announcement in last evening's Herald of the annual spring cleaning period was the statement that the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. is going to take a hand, and that a prize consisting of a membership in the association will be offered to the boy who can show the most attractive back yard by the middle of July. This is excellent. It will teach the lads a lesson in citizenship at a time when lasting impressions are made that make or mar the coming taxpayer and citizen who lives potentially in every small boy in the city.

STOPPING ONE SOURCE OF CRIME.

Indiana has made progress in an experiment that has thus far attracted little attention, but that is of mighty importance in the work of lessening crime, imbecility and pauperism. Briefly, its plan is to sterilize degenerates when they come into the hands of the law, and thus to prevent their becoming progenitors of long and ever widening lines of criminals, imbeciles and paupers.

Heredity is an important factor in the making of criminals and others whom the public is always at an expense to care for and safeguard against. While it seems a desperate remedy, sterilization is certainly an effective way of stopping trouble at its source.

Two years ago Indiana legalized this method, and since that time eight hundred confirmed criminals have been sterilized. Oregon has recently enacted a similar law, though it has barely begun its experiments under it. Like bills have been introduced in several legislatures, and there seems to be a prospect that the practice will widen rapidly.

What it means to let physical, moral and mental degenerates propagate their kind is vividly shown by the famous case of the Jukes family. Two wild sons of an early Dutch settler in New York married two sisters, and of their 1,200 descendants the careers of 709 have been traced. Of those traced 280 were public paupers, 140 were criminals, and a very large number were depraved, diseased and insane. In seventy-five years, it is estimated, that family has cost the people of this country $1,308,000. Had this stream of crime and pauperism been checked at its source, had those two Jukes boys died childless, the saving to the nation would have been incalculable. Every confirmed criminal is a center of possible evil influence which does not stop with his hereditary line. No man can say how much pauperism, crime and misery this single family has cost the nation.

A New York judge, discussing this case, recently said: "The Jukes family is by no means an exception. The 'down-and-outs' are notoriously prolific, partly from their very irresponsibility. Marriage and the raising of a family is a responsibility the gravity of which is not suffcently realized, and anything that will cause people to look before they leap is to be encouraged. While I am not prepared to say that we in New York state should follow the law which apparently is working well in Indiana and Oregon, we ought to study and ponder it."

So should the people of all the states. It is a delicate subject, and the execution of it shouldn't be trusted to any but the wisest and most careful experts obtainable. But it is hard to think of the Jukes family, to remember that it is but one out of many, to reflect that many in the criminal class were sinned against by their ancestors and by society for permitting them to be born, without realizing that there is much in this plan that commends it to careful study.

WIRZ AND ANDERSONVILLE.

Since the Daughters of the Confederacy insisted upon placing a statue of Capt. Wirz at Andersonville, with honors sufficiently elaborate to show their belief that his memory has been traduced and that he was unjustly hanged by the Federal government at the close of the war, it is well that it has been done, and that with the unveiling of the monument yesterday it is now out of the way. The best that can be done now is to make haste to forget it along with other unpleasant matters that cannot be helped. Few words are capable of stirring up as much bitterness and animosity at the North as "Wirz" and "Andersonville." To the minds of those who remember the war time they go together, and surrounding them is a noisome mass of putrid memories, of horrors and infamies indescribable. It is true that the Southern people declare that there are two sides to the story; that while conditions at Andersonville were bad indeed they were not so bad as they have been painted; that the condition of Federal prisoners in the Georgia stockpen was little worse than the condition of Confederate soldiers in the field at that time; and that the prisoners were deprived because the Confederacy was poor. It may be admitted that the Daughters of the Confederacy are honest in their belief that Wirz has not had justice, and that they are not deliberately affronting the North in honoring his memory. But these things cannot account for some of the atrocities of Andersonville, and none who suffered there, or who has gazed upon the shrunken forms and disease-stricken faces of those who dragged themselves home from this plague spot of the Civil war, can contemplate with patience the spectacle of honor being done the memory of the man who is held responsible for their sufferings.

CITIES AS ADVERTISERS.

Not only private business, but the business of making cities, finds profit in advertising.

If a manufacturer produces something that he knows the people need, he doesn't sit back and wait for the people to find out that he has made it. He advertises it broadcast, and the more he advertises, providing his article is good and his advertising judiciously done, the larger his returns.

It's exactly the same way with a city which has many advantages. Its people know that it is a good place for the investment of capital and for selection as a home, but people in other places don't know it unless the city advertises the facts.

For instance, Pawtucket, R. I., puts an advertising device on every piece of first-class mail that goes out of its postoffice.

Greensboro, N. C., provides an envelope with a patent opener marked "Pull for Greensboro." The Springfield, Mass., board of trade has awarded a prize of $500 for a plan for the press agenting of the city which involves an expenditure of $25,000 a year.

Knoxville, Tenn., has a commercial club which will spend $10,000 this year advertising the opportunities of that city in the newspapers and periodicals of the North as well as of the South. Last year Spokane, Wash., spent $60,000 in advertising, and this year it will use as much in the same way. Spokane has developed a system of advertising the city that has produced large results. East Providence, R. I., found that it was slipping backward a little, and that West Providence was outstripping it. So East Providence offered a 10-year exemption of manufactures from taxation, and is advertising it widely. San Francisco, New Haven, New Orleans, Shreveport, Memphis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Des Moines are conducting systematic advertising campaigns.

These cities have found out what the merchant and manufacturer found out long ago. Having a good article for sale is only a start. The people must be made aware that you have it and that it is good, or your buyers will be limited to those who just happen to pass your shop window. So the merchant and manufacturer advertise, and regard it as an investment netting large returns.

The store that doesn't advertise grows cobwebs over its door.

The town that doesn't advertise stands a good show of accumulating a similar crop.

When the hustling cities of the country are engaging in widespread campaigns to advertise their advantages and thereby to tempt new capital and new residents, those cities that do not advertise are allowing custom to go by their doors to the thronged doors of the cities that do advertise.

Duluth does some advertising, too, and it has paid well. It has been more widely advertised than most cities by the mere force of its own unusual advantages—advantages far greater than those of any of the cities mentioned. It has also done some advertising deliberately. It ought deliberately to do some more advertising—for it has things to advertise that cannot fail to draw capital and custom when the country knows about them.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

The construction of the Harriman extension through the Southwestern states and into Mexico and New Mexico, cannot fail to work a wonderful development in that territory, to stimulate the mining interests of the country, and to result in the coming to that part of the country of many settlers, according to James Greling, a guest of the Spalding, who has just made a trip through that section.

Mr. Greling says that extensive construction is planned by E. H. Harriman, all through New Mexico and the new Southwest. This extension will be a part of the Southern Pacific system, and will place the new territory in direct connection with the states that have markets for the products of the new district.

Mr. Greling states that the mining operations of New Mexico are at the present time experiencing a very decided boom. This he attributes to the increased confidence of investors. They have been refusing to invest money in property development for the past two years, but at the present time, according to the statement of Mr. Greling, there is much Eastern and Western capital being invested in the development of the mining interests of New Mexico.

Mr. Greling says that operations at Silver City, N. M., are booming and Eastern capital is heavily interested at this point. At Albuquerque, according to Mr. Greling, they are also beginning to operate heavily. The increased mining operations are not only due to the belief in the future of the value of the copper metal, but also to the belief in the future of New Mexico.

There are other resources there in addition to the mining interests, states Mr. Greling. Irrigation in this part of the country, as it has in Arizona, Colorado and Montana, is making it possible for the farmer to make a living off his farm. The example of the Roosevelt dam at Phoenix, which will make it possible to farm many thousands of acres of land that before irrigation was merely arid waste, has set the people of New Mexico to thinking, and they have at last come to the decision that irrigation is one of the things necessary for the agricultural development of New Mexico.

The government has assisted in the work and the railroads are also doing their share of the work of spreading the gospel of irrigation.

According to Mr. Greling the cattle raised in New Mexico are beginning to be marketed at Omaha and Chicago, and the extension of the Harriman system will afford greater advantages to the cattle raiser.

Mr. Greling is of the opinion that the population of New Mexico will be increased by over 100,000 during the present year. The great immigration movement that is going across the continent to the territory of the Southwest is rapidly settling up Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and the Indian Territory. Settlers are coming to this territory in the search of homes. They have found that New Mexico can offer as good as the other states, and thousands of people are buying land there and settling.

Bemidji will have a baseball team that will make all of the teams in this part of the state hustle some to win, according to George Tessig, who is at the Lenox hotel. Mr. Tessig says some very fast players have been signed up, and that the business men of the town have raised money to place the team upon a substantial basis. Bemidji will seek games with the range teams, and Mr. Tessig believes that the Bemidji bunch will not receive much the worse of the argument even when clashing with such fast company as the Iron range nines.

Nels Ducholm, who formerly made his home in this city, but who is now at Iron River, Wis., was at the McKay yesterday.

Mr. Ducholm says there has been the usual amount of cutting done in the Iron River district, but that not much lumber has been shipped. He states that the market is dull just at the present time, and that much lumber is being held for future orders. Mr. Ducholm is in charge of a large mill at Iron River.

Mr. Ducholm is one of the most rabid of baseball fiends. According to his statement, they are going to have a team at Iron River. While in Duluth Mr. Ducholm was casting around for two or three of the promising semi-professional players. He believes they would look great in Iron River uniforms.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Absence makes the heart grow fonder, and absinthe makes it weaker.

The man who figures in an explosion begins at the bottom and goes up.

The lazy man would rather take half a loaf than work for a whole one.

Never judge an argument by its sound; it may be all sound and not sound at all.

A fool woman is one who can make her own living, but marries a man who can't make it for her.

Occasionally a man gets angry and tries to raise the roof, and is only prevented by the mortgage that holds it down.

THE WEATHER.

Last night was damp and rather cold and the coldness continued this morning, with somber clouds o verhanging, but the sun broke through before noon. The temperature last night was 34 degs. above zero, the lowest on the map, with the exception of Bismarck, Yellowstone and a place called Winnemucca, wherever that is. Cloudy weather and showers will continue, but higher temperatures are expected. It might be worse. For instan ce, ayear ago today, a northeaster was raging.

Sunrise this morning came at 4:33 and the luminary is scheduled to set at 7:34.

Mr. Richardson says of weather conditions:

"During the past twenty-four hours light to copious rains fell over the western lake region, upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and Northwestern districts, due to the influence of barometric depressions central to the northward of Lake Superior and over Kansas and Alberta. Warmer weather has also resulted in the East-Central states and the entire Northwest. A rise in pressure over Manitoba and the Dakotas is attended by cooler temperature. The barometer is high over the South Atlantic states and North Pacific districts. Rather unsettled weather is indicated for the Head of the Lakes tonight and Friday."

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Ely Miner: Isn't it too bad that none of the members of the late senate can be made governor owing to a constitutional prohibition. Wouldn't it please some of the 300,000 people in the northeastern end of the state to vote for the bunch that voted "yes" on the tonnage tax, and wouldn't it please all the southern end and Red River valley farmers to vote for those who voted "yes" on the bushel tax?

Park Rapids Clipper: Ever pour grain into a sack and wonder why it didn't fill up? Investigation disclosed a big leak in the sack? It's the same when a man expects his town to fill up with people, to bubble over with prosperity and real estate values to rise, while his assistance toward that prosperity is going to help build up some foreign mail-order house.

Royalton Banner (Rep.): There is at least a full year ahead in which the state press may do lots of good advertising for the best state in the Union. We may settle the question of the next governor for good, and all within the next month, but what's the use when John A. may decide to reconsider his statement and again accept the office.

Redwood Reveille: The tonnage tax has been an issue for a number of years, and if its veto was not just, it will continue to be an issue. In spite of all the talk, how few of us are really posted. A number of legislators stated that they had pledged their constituents to vote for the measure at a time when they were not fully informed, and later regretted the action. Let us embrace every opportunity that affords real knowledge on the subject, so that we may vote understandingly in 1910.

Barnum Star-Gazette: The talk of making Lieutenant Governor Eberhart the Republican candidate for governor two years hence grows apace, and really at the present time indications point more strongly toward Mr. Eberhart as the logical candidate than at any other man yet mentioned. At any rate, no better man than the lieutenant governor could be named for governor. He is a good, clean, square gentleman through and through; able, conservative and fair-minded. He would make an excellent governor. Push him along.

Two Harbors Iron Port: All the iron on the ranges is worthless as long as it is not dug, and all the dairy wealth of St. Louis county is profitless as long as it is not developed.—Hibbing Tribune.

The words expressed above are very applicable to Lake county regarding dairying, and the Iron Port believes that the Two Harbors creamery will prove a very important factor in the development of the great dairying interests of Lake county as well as being the means of inducing many new settlers to locate within our borders. We understand Cook county is waking up as to the importance of a creamery enterprise, and in the near future the Grand Marais creamery will be a matter of fact.

Coleraine Optic: Titles and money may be inherited, but a good reputation is something anybody can get by hustling for it.

She Keeps Him Guessing.

She has her moods, I must confess,
They keep me guessing all the while,
And with a cruel fickleness
She deals alternate frown and smile.
The sweetest things she's apt to say,
Her looks, I think, are more than kind
That's just the way she feels today—
Tomorrow she may change her mind.

Now she is distant, hard and cold,
To speak, indeed, I hardly dare
For fear I may be overbold;
She has a very freezing stare.
It doesn't do to get too gay;
Humility is best, I find.
That's just the way she feels today—
Tomorrow she may change her mind.

When she is pretty mean to me
Her disposition gives me hope,
And when she's gracious as can be
Then with the darkest doubts I cope.
Her will I'm willing to obey,
But what it is I've not divined.
That's just the way she feels today—
Tomorrow she may change her mind.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

Aitkin Age: The suggestion of The Duluth Herald that the people of the northern part of the state set about to create an organized move during the next two years for reapportionment is a good one. It's the only thing to do. The Herald says: "Before the next legislature convenes we shall have a new enumeration of the people of the state, and the glaring inequalities of representation in the Minnesota state legislature will be more strikingly shown than ever. Now is the time for Northern Minnesota to act. It can never secure its rightful until it secures this fundamental right—that it shall be represented by just as many lawmakers at St. Paul as is an equal population in some other portion of the state.

International Falls Echo: With the danger of a tonnage tax a thing of the past, and a $25,000,000 steel manufacturing plant in sight, we see no reason why Duluth should not now go on her way uninterrupted in the work of gathering into her fold the 1,000,000 people who will eventually compose her population. Her future is a glorious one, and another decade will see her a greater city in every way than Minneapolis and St. Paul combined.

Albert Lea Times-Enterprise: A legislature of little things is the way The Duluth Herald puts it. Well, The Herald might have gotten further off the track.

Eveleth News: The Duluth Herald has an editorial entitled "The House Fly at the Bar." Yes, we have seen several of them there with both feet at one time.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Duluth Socialists marched under the red flag last Saturday, and were not hindered. Red flag Socialism does not go on the Mesaba range—we had a taste of that kind of disorder two years ago and the law-abiding people of the ranges would not again tolerate such an insult. Most any old thing goes in Duluth, though.

Stillwater Gazette: There was a minister at Duluth twenty years ago by the name of Damrow. But as far as we know he never was mixed up in any of them.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Governor Johnson's veto of the tonnage tax has done a heap toward bringing Duluth and the ranges closer together. The sign is a good one, but it will always be well for the range people to keep a good eye on Duluth.

THE HERALD'S PROSPERITY EDITION.

Didn't Know It Was So Big.

Chisholm Herald: We didn't know Duluth was so big until we looked over the Prosperity edition of The Herald, which contained ninety-six pages of useful information regarding the vast resources tributary to Duluth, which are bound to make it the largest and richest city in the Northwest.

Advertising Duluth.

Two Harbors Iron Port: The industrial edition of The Duluth Herald was one of the greatest advertising agencies ever sent out to work for the natural advantages of the Zenith City.

Was a Hummer.

Onamia Pioneer: The ninety-six page Prosperity edition of The Duluth Herald was a hummer. Duluth is certainly a much larger city from an industrial point of view than its population would indicate.

"A Sure Dandy."

Holdingford Advertiser: The Duluth Herald's magazine edition was a sure dandy. It contained ninety-six pages and it would be a big undertaking to attempt reading it all.

"The Best Paper Ever."

Fly Miner: By mistake, we failed to mention the Prosperity edition of The Duluth Evening Herald of a week ago Thursday. The Herald never does things by halves, and the edition was by long odds the best paper ever issued in the state.

A Magnificent Edition.

Bovey Iron News: Say! that prosperity issue of The Duluth Herald was a magnificent edition. The Herald is entitled to the praise for its enterprise but it worked in a special field unequalled in any similar section of the United States.

A Fine Exhibit.

Laporte News: The prosperity edition of The Duluth Herald, containing ninety-six pages, was a fine exhibit of newspaper enterprise and clearly demonstrates that Duluth has a large number of wide-awake business men and that The Herald is a great paper.

A Magnificent Creation.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: Last Thursday's edition of The Duluth Evening Herald was a magnificent creation in every way. As an instructive compendium of the "Prosperity and Achievements of the Northland," which was its title it was a masterpiece that was never been surpassed by any similar publication. The Evening Herald is always a splendid newspaper, because it is the production of able and astute newspaper men, and the issue of the week under review is here to which special reference is here made, was a crowning glory in the life of a progressive, model newspaper.

"Certainly Goin' Some."

Pine River Sentinel: The "prosperity edition" of The Duluth Herald issued April 30, comprised ninety-six pages. Certainly goin' some.

"Deserves Its Popularity."

Warren Register: The Duluth Herald got out a monster edition of ninety-six pages last Thursday. It was devoted largely to boosting the industries and resources of Northern Minnesota, and consisted of that part of it that is tributary to Duluth. The Herald is one of the greatest and most enterprising papers in the Northwest and richly deserves the popularity it enjoys.

Something New.

Two Harbors Iron News: The Duluth Herald got out a very creditable edition of ninety-six pages last week. The arrangement and design was something new in this neck o' the woods. The Herald is always progressive and its news service is generally reliable.

The Herald Outdid Itself.

Detroit Record: The Duluth Herald, always ranking as one of the most progressive of the state's metropolitan dailies, outdid itself last Thursday by issuing a ninety-six-page Prosperity edition. It was one of the greatest newspaper editions ever issued in the state and effectually sets forth the enterprise of The Herald management, the people of Duluth, Superior and the range country. It will make the Twin City journals sit up and take notice of their brother who is no longer one of the has-beens or is-to-be's.

Only on the Threshold.

Olberg Journal: The Prosperity edition of The Duluth Evening Herald contained ninety-six pages of solid prosperity for Northern Minnesota. Still we are only on the very threshold of development.

A Facetious One.

Willmar Journal: The Duluth Herald issued a 96-page edition the other day. Of course it tells all about that city. Duluth must be a bouncer by this time, and when we got the big Herald we felt like exclaiming, as the little girl did when her Angora cat caught its first glimpse of the new dog: "My! what a big tail our cat has got!" For our first day's recreation at the lake this summer we are going to read the paper and find out something about the city at the head of the Gitche Gumee. For surely it possessed that which we wot not of. Duluth even welcomes its editors home from trips to the Twin Cities with brass bands, and makes the governor reverse himself, and does other fool things like that. Yes, sir, we are going to read that paper and learn something, the next time we go in swimming. Send The Herald 10 cents for a copy and kum on in.

Was a Peach.

Little Falls Herald: The 96-page edition gotten out by The Duluth Herald, dated April 30, was a peach. It sets forth the development and opportunity of Northern Minnesota in fine style.

A Hummer.

Gaylord Hub: The Duluth Herald Prosperity edition was a hummer. It gave some interesting reading in the ninety-six pages gotten up for this occasion.

Will Make the World Sit Up.

Park Rapids Clipper: The Duluth Herald issued a 96-page "Prosperity edition" last Friday, showing the past, present and future of Duluth and Northern Minnesota in a way that will help cause the world at large to sit up and take notice.

LABOR MARKET HAS IMPROVED

Better Demand for Men Than at Any Time This Spring.

"Local labor conditions show a decided improvement," said James Walsh, the Duluth agent of the state free employment bureau this morning. "We are finding work for a large number of men daily, and while the demand for work is still in excess of the number of places open, the general labor situation is much better than at any time this year.

"This year Duluth has had more than its share of transients—men who came down from the woods and Northern camps. I expect to find summer employment about the Head of the Lakes. The season has been late, and the result is that many have been stranded here, unable to find anything to do.

"Real construction work, on which so many depend, is opening up slowly, and contract work has not commenced at all. When the railroads and the big construction contractors begin filling their orders for men the surplus labor of Duluth will soon thin out.

"There is a large bunch of orders on file for women, especially for housemaids, cooks and the like. These requests for help come from all parts of the county. The office has not been able to fill 10 per cent of these so far. As a rule these places offer good pay."

JOHNSON MAY BE KELLOGG'S RIVAL

Governor Being Discussed for Next United States Senator.

St. Paul, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—With Frank B. Kellogg, the government trust buster, being actively boomed by his friends for United States senator to succeed Moses E. Clapp, the attention of the politicians is also being directed to the report that Governor Johnson may be brought into the contest. The governor's secretary, Frank A. Day, says that his chief is not in good health and desires to get out of politics altogether, but there are many admirers of the chief executive of the state who believe that he could win in a contest for the senatorship and that he might be persuaded to represent Minnesota in the upper branch of congress.

Of course, to make a United States senator out of Governor Johnson would require a complete change in the political complexion of the next legislature, but that is not an impossibility.

Meanwhile Governor Johnson continues to be picked by many as the next Democratic candidate for president.

ANXIOUS ABOUT RATES.

North Dakota Interested in Railroad's Action Pending Appeal.

Fargo, N. D., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Will the lignite coal rate be enforced pending the appeal by the railroads from the state supreme court to the United States supreme court, is a question asked here. The state supreme court now has the matter under advisement. The maximum coal rate law was enacted two years ago, but the railroads declined to observe it. Former Attorney General McCue instituted proceedings to compel the roads to make the rate, and won out in the state supreme court. Fargoans are greatly interested, as the location of some new manufacturing enterprises here have been hung up pending the court's decision.

FARMERS WELCOME RAIN.

Crops in Red River Valley Are Given Good Start.

Crookston, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A heavy rain fell yesterday in the eastern portion of the Red River valley and extended east beyond Bemidji, covering all the agricultural lands of the valley to within a few miles of the Red river.

The rain will be of great benefit, for while there is an abundance of moisture in the ground, the surface was getting dry, and a rain means the immediate starting of growth of all grains. As practically every acre of wheat is seeded, it will now soon all be up.

FOR RURAL TEACHERS

Summer Term Will Be Held at Normal This Year.

Work of Twelve Weeks Will Be Done in Seven.

The plans for the summer session at the Duluth normal school have been considerably changed from those of previous summers. For the past two years the session has been continuous, lasting for twelve weeks of the summer, owing to a law passed by the legislature before the summer session was established at the Duluth school, which demanded that the four terms of the school year should cover fifty weeks of work. This year, however, the legislature has amended this law, leaving it to the normal board to decide what the length of the term should be with the result that the summer session at the Duluth school will cover approximately seven weeks.

The change from the twelve weeks' session of the past two years to a seven weeks' term for the present year beginning on Tuesday, June 15, and closing Friday, July 30, is due mainly to the fact that only a very small number cared to remain for the second half of the session, so small a number that the normal board has deemed it inadvisable to offer the second six weeks' work at Duluth, at least during the coming summer. The pupils taking the summer course will recite twice a day upon each of two subjects. Thus at the end of the seven weeks they will have done work in two subjects which would otherwise have covered time extending over two terms.

Only credit courses will be offered and no student will be allowed to carry more than two subjects, which will require four regular recitation periods daily. It will be necessary, however, for students to attend regularly throughout the entire session in order to earn the credits. The character and amount of work to be done will be the same as that required in the regular session and the full amount of time will be necessary for its accomplishment. When these credits represent final standings in the subjects, they will be certified to at the office and can then be used to exempt the holder from examinations for state teachers' certificates in such subjects. All such records will, of course, be entered in the records of the school and can be applied toward the completion of the work necessary for a diploma.

The program offered will embrace work in all subjects required in the state examinations for teachers' certificates of both the first and second grades, provided the number in each instance is sufficient to warrant the organization of classes. During the latter half of the session last summer, just two or three students wanted work in certain subjects, and as this number did not seem sufficient to demand the time and attention of a teacher these pupils had to be denied that subject. Hence, it is highly desirable that prospective students give notice in advance of the work they wish to undertake. Following is a list of the subjects which will probably be demanded:

English grammar, terms one and two; United States history, terms one and two; arithmetic, terms one and two; geography, terms one and two; physiology, music, drawing, civics and geometry, terms one and two; physics, terms one and two; algebra, terms one and three; psychology, term one; pedagogy and school management.

A regular faculty will be in charge of the work. It is expected that most of the present faculty will remain for the summer months. The vacancies will be filled by other capable teachers or principals, among them being Supt. Freeman, who taught in the mathematical department last year. It is also hoped that a series of lectures, such as were given last summer by Mr. Seymour on historical subjects, may be planned for this year. They added so much to the interest and value of last summer's course.

The requirements for admission are those which prevail during the regular session. Persons holding a state teachers' certificate of the second or a higher grade, graduates of high schools or schools of equivalent rank, and holders of an eighth grade diploma, when sufficiently mature and capable, will be admitted without examination upon the presentation of such certificate or diplomas. Others will be required to pass examinations in the common branches.

As is usual, the opening day of the term, Tuesday, which will be June 15, is registration day, during which all programs will be arranged, necessary text books purchased and work assigned for the following day.

This summer school, as with most summer schools, is mainly in the interest of the rural teachers who desire to better qualify themselves to teach and have no other opportunity for doing so. It is, too, a most pleasant way to spend part of the vacation for the school hours are not long, the work interesting and profitable, and no better place to spend the summer than Duluth could be conceived of.

At Washburn hall, the students will be able to obtain both rooms and meals at a cost not exceeding $15 a month, besides all the other advantages, such as pleasant companionship and surroundings, which this beautiful dormitory affords.

Last year the summer school was very satisfactory, both in attendance and work, and this year it is expected to be even more so.

It Will Interest Every Woman.

HIT BY FATHER SON LOSES MIND

Polk County Authorities Looking for Parent Who Did Deed.

Crookston, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Leadhoff has been taken to the school for the feebleminded at Faribault by County Commissioner Ben Clements. Leadhoff lived with his mother at the home of his brother-in-law, John Gilstorf, since his father deserted wife and family four years ago. The authorities will try and locate the husband at once, as the mother asserts that the young man was exceptionally bright until some years ago, when his father, in a drunken rage, struck him over the head with a cordwood stick, from the effects of which he has never recovered. Otto is now 21 years of age, and of late has been growing steadily worse, and the physicians say his case is incurable.

FARGO WILL ENTERTAIN CHICAGO BUSINESS MEN.

Fargo, N. D., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Chicago business men will make their first stop in Fargo en route to the Seattle exposition. They will reach here May 31, and the Commercial club has decided on a program of entertainment for the visitors. They will be met with a band at Manitoba Junction. In Fargo they will be given a two-hour ride around the city, and following that will be a banquet and a reception, at which at least 100 local members will participate.

GAS FACTORIES

In People Who Do Not Know How to Select Food and Drink Properly.

On the coffee question a lady says: "I used to be so miserable after breakfast that I did not know how to get through the day. Life was a burden to me. When I tried to sleep I was miserable by having horrible dreams followed by hours of wakefulness. Gas would rise on my stomach and I would belch almost continually. Then every few weeks I would have a long siege of sick headaches. I tried a list of medicines and physicians without benefit.

"Finally, I concluded to give up my coffee and tea altogether and use Postum. The first cup was a failure. It was wishy-washy and I offered to give the remainder of the package to anyone who would take it.

"I noticed later on in one of the advertisements that Postum should be boiled at least 15 minutes to make it good. I asked the cook how she made it and she said: 'Just the same as I did tea, being careful not to let it steep too long.'

"I read the directions and concluded Postum had not had a fair trial, so we made a new lot and boiled it 15 to 20 minutes. That time it came to the table a different beverage and was so delicious that we have been using it ever since.

"My sick headaches left entirely as did my sleepless nights, and I am now a different woman."

WEST END

WEST END NOW CLEAN AND NEAT

Spring Work Is Finished and Health Inspector Is Satisfied.

Spring cleaning has been almost finished at the West end, and that section of Duluth presents a neat appearance. Yesterday afternoon a number of the city health officials inspected conditions at the West end and expressed themselves as very much satisfied with the cleaning campaign that was carried on there this spring.

Dr. Patten, health commissioner, says that there are still a few individual cases to be looked after, but on the whole the West end was never any freer from contagion than this year. There are but few cases of sickness reported, the number being somewhat below the average.

The John Wahl Candy company, a new West end concern, which has had temporary quarters in the Svea building on Superior street, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues west, yesterday secured a twenty-five-year lease on the two-story brick structure now occupied by the Interstate Rug company.

The new quarters of the firm are located on the corner of Sixteenth avenue west and Michigan street and was formerly known as the old spice mill. The Interstate Rug company has sought new quarters and will move soon to 1928 West Michigan street, into the building recently purchased by the city, to be equipped later as a West end police station.

MANY ELKS TO ATTEND

This Year's State Meeting at St. Cloud Will Be Hummer.

President Bryant of State Association Tells of Coming Meet.

Bemidji, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is the intention of Bemidji Lodge, No. 1052, B. P. O. E., to send a large number of the members of 150 to St. Cloud to participate in the annual meeting of the State Association of Elks, which will be held at St. Cloud on Thursday and Friday, Aug. 12 and 13.

H. L. Bryant of St. Paul, president of the Minnesota State Association of Elks, has written a letter to the Bemidji lodge, in which he announces the dates, Aug. 12 and 13, and states that the Elks of St. Cloud, under the leadership of W. W. Koons, exalted ruler of the St. Cloud lodge, are already considering ways and means to give visiting Elks a rousing reception, on the occasion of the state meeting in August. Mr. Bryant says that the St. Cloud brethren and their ladies are making special efforts to furnish suitable accommodations and more especially care for the wives of visiting Elks. To this latter end, wives of St. Cloud Elks are being put on committees for the purpose of caring for the ladies.

The famous St. Cloud band will furnish the music during the state meeting, and in the matter of decorations it is expected that St. Cloud will be "dressed up" as never before in purple and white, the Elks' order.

Bemidji Elks are considering the organization of a baseball team from among their members to take to St. Cloud with them, as well as a sort of "German band," or some other proposition that will draw special attention to local Elks.

The members of the Bemidji lodge are nicely uniformed and they will undoubtedly make a very fair showing at St. Cloud on Aug. 12 and 13.

SURVEYORS IN AITKIN COUNTY

Working in the Town of Beaver Enroute West From Moose Lake.

Aitkin, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the Soo surveying parties, with a crew numbering between thirty and forty men, is now at work in the town of Beaver, coming west from Moose Lake.

Jonas Finnily, one of the settlers of that part of the county, was in town yesterday and said that four lines have been run parallel to the survey made through here two years ago. One of these lines is four miles south of the old survey and three others have been run between the two.

Whether they are headed for Aitkin or are trying to get into Deerwood and the Rabbit lake country by going south of here can only be known by waiting until they reach a point farther west from which they can be checked up. The engineers are giving out nothing.

The surveyors on the Thief River Falls and Moose Lake line working from the western survey toward Moose lake are not far from the northeastern part of Aitkin county and will strike about at Swatara and cross the Mississippi river a short distance south of Portage, possibly at Denham's Landing, going from there to the crossing of the Northern Pacific track at or near McGregor.

AN EXPENSIVE ROBIN.

Trimountain Italian Fined $20 and Costs for Killing Redbreast.

Houghton, Mich., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nalat Quinni, an Italian resident of Trimountain, drew a fine of $20 and costs before Justice Mitchell of Trimountain Monday for shooting a robin.

Quinni pleaded not guilty when placed on the stand, stating that he was not aware of the species of his quarry, but such evidence was offered against the accused that he changed his plea to guilty.

Quinni, with other Italians, spent the morning hunting robins in the vicinity of No. 2 dry at Trimountain. William Coad, keeper of the drybouse, left for a small spring at 8:30 to secure water for use of the employes. Upon his return a gun was discharged within a few rods of the foot of this spring, and almost simultaneously a robin dropped directly before him. The Italian immediately claimed the bird, but Coad, instead of surrendering the bird, secured a warrant as complaining witness, charging Quinni with violating the game laws.

ACTIVITY AT AITKIN.

Mills Start Up and Much Doing Along the River Front.

Aitkin, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the Gyde mill whistle blew Monday morning it was the signal for the beginning of a big summer's work on the Mississippi. For a couple of miles up and down the river the mills and log, cedar and tie booms will be the scene of much activity and one of the contractors says there will be 250 men employed in delivering, handling and manufacturing the timber.

The mill in the Hodgeden & McDonald yards is ready for the season's business with a big stock of logs to work on.

The Osterhout and the Welch mills are both tied up in litigation at present, but as court opens next week the troubles may be adjusted so that both of them will start up before long. The work laid out for them is much heavier than that of last season if everything goes well.

Home Near Aitkin Burns.

Aitkin, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmhouse of D. C. Hazelton of Cutler, on the west Mille Lacs road not far from the lake, was totally destroyed by fire Monday night with all its contents.

Mr. Hazelton and son, Lyman, were in town shopping Monday and remained over to attend lodge in the evening, starting for home after lodge. A telephone message from one of the neighbors told of the loss.

CALUMET ELKS' TEMPLE.

Copper Country Metropolis Herd Planning Fine Building.

Calumet, Mich., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Calumet lodge of Elks, No. 404, which has taken over the old Y. M. C. A. building, and will have it remodeled for lodge purposes, will have one of the finest Elks' temples in the state. It is to be completed and ready for use by June 15, so that convention affairs may be held there. The plans for the remodeling of the structure have been drawn by Architect F. W. Hessenmueller, and call for elaborate and up-to-date features.

The building proper is of brown sandstone, and has a most pleasing effect. It is 35 by 90 feet, and is of ample proportions for the uses for which it is intended.

It is proposed to erect a large veranda on the exterior of the building, 86 feet long by 12 feet wide. The veranda will have a concrete floor, with stone walls underneath, and will be very substantially erected. The ground on which the structure stands will be enclosed, and grassy plots and lawns laid out. The veranda effect will be one of the main features of the building. It is to be of Colonial design and will have large Doric columns. There will be a shingle roof covering the porch, and the electrical effects will also be made a feature, being of Elk designs.

MAYOR TAYLOR MAY RESIGN.

Grand Forks Executive May Quit If Court Rules Adversely.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the close of the argument of the attorneys in the case involving the right of Mayor J. D. Taylor to remove M. E. Durick, street commissioner, Judge C. F. Templeton announced that he would reserve his decision. The suit is in the nature of a mandamus to compel the payment by the city of the salary claimed to be due Mr. Durick. The arguments were made Wednesday afternoon.

The suit rose over the removal of Mr. Durick as street commissioner by Mayor Taylor on April 22. Durick refused to quit work, claiming that the mayor had not the right to remove him. J. Dunlop was appointed to fill the vacancy, but the city council refused to confirm this appointment. Both Durick and Dunlop have had men at work on the city's streets, both claiming to be legally appointed commissioners.

When Durick was refused his salary as street commissioner, the action in mandamaus was commenced. In the decision of this case the right of a mayor to remove an appointed official will be involved. In case the court should decide that the mayor has no right to remove an appointed officer, it is understood that Mayor Taylor will resign from the office, he having made a statement to that effect recently.

AGED PREACHER DEAD.

Daniel Reed One of Early Days Pastors of Minnesota.

Mankato, Minn., May 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Daniel Reed, one of the pioneer preachers in Minnesota, died Monday at his home here of erysipelas. He was born Aug. 18, 1833, in Geauga county, Ohio. He was married Sept. 22, 1875, to Huldah E. Dan, at Greenland, Minn. Rev. Mr. Reed is survived by a widow, one son and three daughters, Joseph E. Reed of Eagle Lake; Mrs. H. W. Harlen, Misses Nellie and Mabel Reed, Mankato. Two brothers and two sisters are living.

Brief funeral services were conducted at the residence in this city at 10 o'clock this morning. The remains were taken to Eagle Lake, where the funeral was held from the Methodist church at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

EX-SHERIFF KILLS HIMSELF IN ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., May 13.—John P. Bernik of St. Cloud, a traveling salesman for a wholesale liquor house, and formerly sheriff of Stearns county, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head in a room of a Fourth street Turkish bath yesterday. Bernik went to the barber shop Tuesday night shortly before midnight and took a Turkish bath, after which he retired and left a call with the night man for 11 o'clock yesterday morning. When 11 o'clock came the day man in the bathrooms rapped on the door and Bernik responded with an "all right, thank you."

A few moments later a shot was heard, and when the room door was broken in Bernik was found lying on the floor. The bullet had penetrated the brain and Bernik died before medical aid could be summoned.

Waseca, Minn., May 13.—Peter Pastoret, one of the firm of Pastoret & Lunz, sewer contractors, had the bones of his right foot broken here recently by the falling of a part of the digging machine. He was directing the work of setting the machine to begin digging between Eighth and Ninth streets when a cable broke and a part of the machine fell on his foot, holding it for several minutes before it could be released.

He has gone to his home in Duluth accompanied by Guy Hartson.

INDIAN'S KICK BRINGS MONEY.

Menominee, Mich., May 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — A savage kick at the stump of a rotted tree brought to John Sine, a White Rapids Indian, six crisp $10-bills, paid him by the county treasurer of Menominee county. Yesterday afternoon, while on his way home after an unsuccessful hunt, Sine attempted to vent his anger upon the extinct tree. Squealing with fright, six tiny wolf whelps tumbled out and, although surprised for the instant, Sine got busy with a vengeance, killing them all. Wolves under six months old bring $10 bounty in the upper peninsula.

UNADULTERATED OILS MUST NOT BE ON SALE.

St. Paul, Minn., May 13.—There will be no more red kerosene sold in the state after this, according to a ruling made yesterday by the attorney general, in reply to a query from F. J. Lynch, state oil inspector.

The new law, which goes into effect July 2, and provides for a gravity test for all kerosene and gasoline, has a paragraph which says: "The sale of adulterated illuminating oils or gasoline is hereby prohibited, and any oils that present a yellowish or dark color, or dirty appearance to the eye, may be rejected and disapproved for illuminating purposes by the chief inspector without further test."

The opinion quotes the law, and also quotes Charles W. Drew, a chemist, who says that when oil is colored with analine colors, the cotton wick absorbs the coloring matter faster than the oil, and the wick becomes charged with this matter, and it interferes with the absorbent properties of the wick.

The attorney general says that the opinion of the chemist was before the legislature when the bill, which was presented by Representative Fitzpatrick, was up for consideration, and that was probably the reason why they eliminated a proviso permitting colored oil.

He says that if it were permitted to color oil red, it would not be possible to determine whether the oil is yellowish or dark colored or otherwise adulterated.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY ADVICE

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Nellie G.: For a soft, painful corn try binding it nightly in common baking soda, moistened with a little water. This will take out the soreness.

Arthur W.: (1) Sometimes a druggist endeavors to discourage the making of home remedies because he thinks it interferes with his business. I never suggest the use of anything that is not sold in most first-class drug stores. (2) To make kardene blood tonic and liver remedy take 1 ounce of kardene, mix it with ½ cup of sugar and add ½ pint of alcohol and 1½ pints of hot water. Be sure to get the kardene in an original 1-ounce package. This formula makes a full quart of tonic, which you should take 1 tablespoonful 5 minutes before each meal and before retiring. As an all-around tonic this has no superior. It will restore your lost appetite and tend to strengthen and build you up. It purifies the blood and your pimples and ugly blotches will soon disappear. I have known it to be very beneficial for cases of scrofula and other eruptions of the skin.

Sarah M.: I do not know of any formula for a bust developer that is worthy of recommendation.

Lucille: A good "liquid powder" or face wash is made by dissolving 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint of hot water and adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This home-made complexion beautifier whitens the skin without the use of powder and is particularly recommended for the use of anyone who has a sallow, dark or oily skin.

Archie G.: To remove dandruff and stop falling hair, apply once a week a quinine hair tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinola in ½ pint of alcohol, adding ½ pint of cold water. Rub into the scalp and hair with the finger tips until absorbed. This treatment will promote the growth of hair and tend to make it luxuirant and glossy. See answer to Mary A. B.

Mary A. B.: It is not necessary to shampoo the hair oftener than twice a month if you use a shampoo that will thoroughly cleanse the hair and scalp. An inexpensive shampoo is made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a teacupful of hot water. Pour on the hair and rub well. You will find that this makes a good lather—and plenty of it—thoroughly cleanses the hair and scalp, relieves irritation, makes the hair soft and fluffy and has a tendency to cure scalp diseases.

George L.: A home-made eye tonic that will prevent your eyes from becoming dull, red or inflamed is easily procurable. Just get from your druggist one ounce of crystos and dissolve it in a pint of water. This makes a good eye tonic that will not smart when applies. One or two drops in each eye is the only treatment required. The effect is almost instantaneous and it gives relief if the eyes are tired, inflamed or sore. This tonic keeps the eyes bright and clear, strengthens the sight and benefit you if you wear glasses.

Mrs. J. K.: (1) Rubbing vaseline in the eyebrows and eyelashes will make them grow out heavier and darker. Never use vaseline elsewhere on the face, for it tends to promote the growth of hair. (2) You can make a good face cream jelly by dissolving 1 ounce of almozoin in ½ pint of cold water and adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Let stand. For massaging apply and let remain for a minute on the face; then rub well with the finger tips. It cleanses the pores thoroughly and the dirt easily comes out and off your face.

College Girl: It will be good news to you to learn that what you eat is now thought to have little to do with obesity and that if enough exercise is taken, even a fleshy woman may eat what she wants. To half starve oneself means to look haggard and altogether unlovely. Don't drink while eating, even water, and don't drink alcoholic stuff at any time. The best flesh reducer I know of is parnotis Get from your druggist an original 4-ounce package of parnotis, take it home and dissolve it in a pint of hot water. Take 1 tablespoonful 3 times a day, before meals.

F. E. L.: Consult your family physician.

"Annie Laurie": Don't worry. Statistics show that one person out of four suffers from eczema of salt rheum at some time or another during life. Try this: Get from your druggist 4 ounces of luxor; mix it with ½ pint of water and 4 tablespoonfuls of alcohol. Shake the bottle and pour a small quantity upon the affected surface and allow to dry, repeating the treatment several times each day until the irritation disappears. A very dear friend of mine cured a most obstinate case of eczema with this remedy.

A GOOD LIVING FOR MANY IN WHAT CITY THROWS AWAY

There is an old saying that an European family could live on what an American family throws away. A city official yesterday, in speaking of this waste, remarked upon the refuse that could be profitably collected and marketed by people so inclined.

"A garbage collector told me the other day," he said, "that close to 1,000 tons of good coal could be sifted from the ashes gathered up around town and thrown away every year. He knows about such things, and asserts that the waste in coal alone is something scandalous. This is most noticeable in families where servant girls are left to care for the furnaces. They are not onto their business and, not caring as long as they do not have to foot the bill, waste the fuel shamefully.

"Out in Seattle, Wash., there are two young fellows engaged in the business of tin can collecting. They take all the tin cans they can get hold of, melt the tin and let it cool into bars, and both of them make a good living out of it. There would be just as good a field for tin smelting here in Duluth. Then there is the scrap paper. It could be baled up and sold at a price good enough to pay a man to engage in the work."

"There is another good field for profit in the collection of garbage. Supposing a man started a hog farm near the city. He could get the land cheaply enough. He could collect the garbage all over the city, getting paid for doing it, and could then take it out to the farm and fatten his hogs for market on it. There would be a good chance there.

"A few people are now engaged in collecting old rubbers, in connection with other work, but it is not done systematically. I have mentioned only a few of the leading articles of waste. There are several other ways in which a man could make money by utilizing the waste material."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 9. Acts XIV., 1-28: Paul's First Missionary Journey—Iconium and Lystra.

By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

THE CONNECTION.

Driven out of Antioch in Pisidia, the apostles went to another city, according to Christ's instructions, Iconium, about fifty miles away. There they were persecuted by Jews and Gentiles, yet they stayed there and preached. But, when their enemies enlisted the rulers in a mob, and threatened their few converts, as well as the apostles, they fled into Lystra and Derbe in the province of Lycaonia.

THE LESSON.

I.

Working a Notable Miracle 8-10.

"And at Lystra there sat a certain man, impotent in his feet, a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked. The same heard Paul speaking: who, fastening his eyes upon him, and seeing that he had faith to be made whole, said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped up and walked."

This miracle was not all the work they did at Lystra. They preached and it must have had its due effect. So this case we must notice that the man became a disciple before he was healed, and he had a saving faith. To him who as a believer had followed and listened to the disciples, it was not necessary that Paul mention the name of Jesus as his real healer, for he knew that well enough; nor must Paul extend his hand to him as in other cases to help his faith, for he did not need it. In some cases healing led to faith, in this case faith led to healing.

II.

Worshipped as God. 11-18.

"And when the multitude saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voice, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men. And they called Barnabas, Jupiter; and Paul, Mercury, because he was the chief speaker. And the priest of Jupiter, whose temple was before the city, brought oxen and garlands unto the gates, and would have done sacrifice with the multitudes. But when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of it, they rent their garments, and sprang forth among the multitude, crying out and saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men of like passions with you, and bring you good tidings, that ye should turn from these vain things unto a living God, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea, and all that in them is; who in the generations gone by suffered all the nations to walk in their own ways. And yet He left not himself without witness, in that He did good and gave you from heaven rains and fruitful seasons, filling your hearts with food and gladness. And with these sayings scarce restrained they the multitudes from doing sacrifice unto them."

1. The Popular Explanation of the Miracle.

The healing of the cripple excited the common people, and their explanation of it was logical and artless. Granted their conception of the gods to be correct, there was no other explanation than that the gods had come to see them. The thought and expectation of God or gods coming in some human form was widespread, and that expectation is fully met in Christ. The Jews attributed Christ's miracles to Beelzebub, thereby putting their very worst construction on them; these Lycaonians put the best construction their theology would permit upon the deed, the gods are in our midst. The Aborigines were the ones, not the Romans, as shown in their using their old language, now almost supplanted by Greek, and in their unspoiled orientalism of lifting up their vehement voices. They remembered the tradition of Jupiter and Mercury coming down to see their progenitor Lycaon, and also the humble pair, Baucis and Philemon. They knew Jupiter's interest in them for the temple they had erected to him. They were formerly a nation of robbers, but now they were not more than half robbers; it was not surprising that the gods should visit them.

2. Their Delight.

Their delight was simple and artless, and it is worthy of note that the people first looked through this deed and saw their deities the only god they knew, and that the priests took the lead in paying homage to them in order to hold on to their leadership. Their method of identifying the gods was natural and interesting. Mercury was Jupiter's messenger and spokesman. Paul must be Mercury for that reason. For that same reason Barnabas must be Jupiter and in addition there was probably a benign and paternal and dignified look about Barnabas, quite befitting Zeus, the father of all the other gods.

3. Their Attempted Worship.

As soon as the people settled the question of who these two men were they and their priests brought the usual sacrifice—oxen, with their usual decorations, garlands of green—to offer their heavenly visitors; the garlands not only in the customary abundance, but in joyous profusion for such an exceptional occasion. Perhaps they also meant to decorate the objects of their worship. Where were the apostles while these arrangements were being made? In the house of a friend, perhaps, where they heard nothing of the excitement until they saw the hilarious crowds at the gate of the house in which they were stopping, and the priests in the act of slaying the garlanded oxen. Even that sight and all the sounds and signs of worship did not at first show them what the superstitious people were about; but they soon had full proof of the awful deed about to be done.

4. The Heroism of the Apostles.

Sorrow, shame and indignation filled them at the sight of the awful idolatry. It offended their humble spirits to be exalted into the place of God; it excited their sorrow that God was so belittled; it stirred their pity that men should so degrade themselves. They showed it in the habitual fashion by rending their garments. We can see them rushing out to the crowd in a horror at the impious idolatry, which they had inherited through many generations and with only one purpose—namely, to put a stop to it. They had never had such an experience before. Opposition and dangers could not agitate them, but this sort of popularity was terrible.

Paul was in this the spokesman of the two, and his address consists of arguments why they should not do it, and why they should worship the true God, reminding us very much of his speech to the Athenians in some respects, though very different in other respects, but like all of his other addresses in that it was exactly suited to accomplish his purpose with that crowd.

His reasoning with them embraces two propositions, namely, that he and Barnabas are men with the same nature as themselves and therefore are not to have homage due to gods, and that they are there with a message from the great God; that they must stop all this useless and degrading worship of many gods and worship Him alone. Just the moment they were looking for gods in human flesh the true God sends a message to them. The God whom these two men proclaimed was the Creator of all things, and at the same time had been the lenient ruler, having permitted the generations of the past to work out their history according to their own will, in a measure at least. This haunting of Jupiter, who was supposed to give rain, and of Mercury, who gave them trade, was probably not very agreeable to the priests of the people, yet it served their purpose well. True to his habit of making his thought clear to his hearers and removing their objections as he could feel them rising to their minds, Paul shows that God had not been neglecting them and waiting till a late hour of the day to tell them of Himself, but that He had been witnessed to all the while; the sequence and the adaptation of the seasons to their purpose was such a witness. Paul's argument is valid today. Natural religion teaches infallibility. The benedicent ruler is behind the beneficent march of the seasons. Paul develops this thought afterward in his speech at Athens, and still later in his letter to the Romans, chapter 1. "So that they are without excuse." God must be seen in nature if we are not blind.

The oxen were spared, though the multitude were reluctant to allow such a chance to worship their gods slip by. Now that they are disappointed and learn that these two are only men, they may swing back into the cruelest persecution. Watch those natives of Lycaonia; they have robber blood in their veins and they are by nature fickle. They are of the same blood as the Galatians, probably the very people that Paul should afterward have reason to wonder at.

III.

Brutally Beaten. 19-22

"But there came Jews thither from Antioch and Iconium; and having persuaded the multitudes, they stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead. But as the disciples stood round about him he rose up, and entered into the city; and on the morrow he went forth with Barnabas to Derbe. And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch, confirming the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that through many tribulations we must enter into the kingdom of God."

1. Pursued by Enemies From Antioch

We do not know how long after the attempt to worship the apostles, but they soon had visitors from Antioch and Iconium following them up. Were they merchants, Jews, who in their travels preferred to follow in the track of Paul, combining business with pleasure, so to say? Or did they now adopt Paul's old calling of persecutor and organize the bloody business? From the two cities they now come. What malignity! It did not even have the extenuation of a desire to save their fellow Jews from error, for there is no evidence that there was a synagogue in Lystra, or many Jews. It was pure religious rage. Almost all the persecutions against the apostles were started by the Jews.

2. Reversed Admiration.

They succeeded in persuading the fickle multitude that the apostles were impostors, and it wounds one's pride to think that an imposition has been practiced on him. It reads as if they did not have a great deal of trouble in persuading them to stone them, or to stone Paul, at least, the man who made the speech and told them they were worshiping mere men, thereby implying that they had shown dullness and credulity. It would come rather easy to them to stone him. Some people in Lystra, you may be sure, joked them about trying to worship a couple of men, and Jews at that. The Jews themselves led the mad heathen mob in the stoning, and Paul must have been forcibly reminded of the first stoning he ever attended and the part he played in it. He probably refers to this in the Second Corinthians (xi., 25.) The man was stoned in the city, for this was not a sacred city to the Jews, and they were in too hot haste to wait until he could be taken outside. They leave him on the road in contempt and suppose him dead; but he is not dead; he has vitality and determination and his work is not done. Who are those disciples who solemnly stand round his prostrate form? They were Lystrans, and among them might have been Timothy, whom Paul, on his next missionary journey, will take with him. The Jews have gone home, now that they have got rid of him; so when he recovers he can go into the city in safety and the next day go on to the next city, Derbe.

All this in a Roman colony, the next in importance to Antioch, their home, which offered protection to Roman citizens. Yet his work was successful, for we have already found disciples, and the modern name of the city means the "city of a thousand churches," because of the broken columns and arches of churches found in the ruins. "The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church."

3. Keeping on at Work.

Thirty-five miles further on is the city of Derbe, in the territory Lycaonia, and there they must preach. No incident there is worthy of record, but the joyous story of the conversion of many disciples is told.

They are now not far from Tarsus and the home Antioch, over the mountain road, and it requires great courage and self-sacrifice to double on their track in order to visit the places they have preached, and get churches and converts grounded in the faith. It was a long tramp of 500 miles through Asia. In confirming their souls in their new life they taught the converts further truths, exhorted them to continue in the faith, and explained the method by which God perfects His people and brings them into perfect subjects of His sway. That method is tribulation. The tribulum was dragged by the ox over the unthreshed wheat to separate chaff from wheat; troubles must both develop and make manifest the Christian part of us. The names of the cities visited on the return are given. The first great missionary journey is completed. Results: Four churches founded; many converts put to work; new centers of evangelization established; the universal character of the gospel known. That stoning was not such a bad thing for the gospel.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

This speech of "the people" and their subsequent action in attempting to worship Barnabas and Paul gives us a most vivid picture of the wild mythological superstition still had on the popular mind. There was a tradition current (mentioned by Ovid) that Jupiter and Mercury had once visited Lycaonia, and popular belief cherished and perpetuated this fable, etc., in a way it is difficult for enlightened minds to understand. It seems almost incredible, and yet it is perfectly true, to say that the same spirit of superstitious reverence for mortals supposed to be endued with supernatural or divine powers is by no means obsolete. I have met with it, especially in the neighborhood of Damascus.—Howie.

In the Hartz mountains the traveler sometimes sees a gigantic image on the clouds across the intervening valley. He is startled, and his wonder and awe are awakened, until he discovers that he is looking upon his own shadow. So men have cast their own shadow on God and then revered it. God is not thus a shadow of humanity, but a sublime reality.—Lyman Abbott.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Does everyone have an inborn desire to see God?
2. Does Christ fully answer to the desire to know God?
3. Has God ever left the world for one moment without a witness to Himself?
4. Is it possible to kill a good cause?
5. Is it ever right to act with a view to personal comfort?

NORDICA JOINS SUFFRAGISTS

Converted to Cause of Women By Mrs. Clarence Mackay.

Paris, May 13.—Mme. Lillian Nordica has joined the suffragists. It has been may a day since woman's cause has gained so important a recruit and the news will spread rejoicing among the battling suffragettes the world over.

The credit of her conversion is due to Mrs. Clarence Mackay. They were fellow passengers aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm II, which arrived at Cherbourg Monday. Gatti, Casazzaza, Dipela and many other members of the Metropolitan Opera company were aboard, and Mme. Nordica's one companion on shipboard was Mrs. Mackay, with whom she spent hours walking the deck, deep in conversation or posing over suffragist literature in the saloon.

The day before landing Mme. Nordica told a few members of the company that she had been wholly convinced of the justice of the cause.

"It is one cause worth living for and working for," she said, "and I mean to give the rest of my life to it. Next season will be my last on the opera and concert stage. I shall say farewell to the public, but I shall say farewell only as a singer, for I expect to come before the public many times in the near future to plead for the cause of women."

So anxious was the great singer to get in touch with the English leaders of the suffragist movement that she left immediately for London.

She will sing in London, as well as in Paris, before returning to the United States, where she is to make a farewell tour, which will be followed by her marriage to George Young, the New York banker. Then she expects to take up at once the new career which has opened before her.

Nordica, who is a New England woman, has strong opinions and the courage of her convictions. She is an eloquent speaker, and her enthusiasm, her wide popularity and forceful personality will make her a most valuable addition to the fighting battalion of women reformers.

Mrs. Mackay is jubilant.

We claim that Franklin automobiles run with less tire trouble and less tire expense than any other automobile because we use larger tires for less weight.

The reliability question of automobiles is the tire question. The Franklin with its tire equipment is by far the most reliable automobile on the road today.

You may not mind the heavy expense, but you do mind the delay and annoyance of tire trouble.

Franklins have practically no tire trouble.

The tires on Franklin Model D are as large as used on other automobiles a thousand pounds or more heavier.

And all Franklins are a third to one-half lighter than water-cooled automobiles of equal ability.

MILWAUKEE GIVES BIG RAIL ORDER

Sixty Thousand Tons to Be Made at South Chicago.

Gary, Ind., May 13.—Prospects in the steel rail trade showed a decided tendency for the better when it became known that an order for 60,000 tons of steel rails had been placed by the Milwaukee railroad.

The order has been pending and is the largest that has been placed for some time past. It is said the order will be made of Bessemer steel at the Illinois Steel company's plant at South Chicago, although the order may be made of open hearth steel at the Gary plant.

Work will be started at once, as it is said the Milwaukee intends to commence extensive track rehabilitations on its lines west of Chicago.

Last week two blast furnaces, which had been idle for the past three months, were blown in and now that the large order has been received the operating force will be increased.

WOULD REDUCE GLASS RATES

Senator Simmons Makes Move—Aldrich Recalls Wilson Act.

Washington, May 12.—In the senate today, Senator Simmons offered an amendment to the window glass schedule of the tariff bill, reducing the rates below those suggested by Senator Cummins in his amendment to the same paragraph yesterday.

"The rates proposed by you are the rates of the Wilson bill, are they not?" inquired Mr. Aldrich, addressing the senator from North Carolina.

"Well," replied Mr. Simmons smiling and hesitating, "that should not be an argument against them. I think if that is the case it would rather be a commendation."

Simmons said he did not know whether his rates were the same as those of the Wilson bill, but Aldrich replied he had compared them and thought they were almost identical with the rates of the Democratic act.

Simmons then addressed the senate at some length upon the window glass industry to demonstrate that the glass manufacturers could prosper with duties much below these provided in the pending measure.

Drop Opening Minnesota-Wisconsin League Contest to Eau Claire.

'Rah for the Minnesota-Wisconsin league!

Duluth is a member of this society for the promulgation of baseball, and the season was opened yesterday with games at Eau Claire, Winona and Wausau.

Duluth lost the opening game to Eau Claire by a score of 5 to 0 and Superior had the good fortune to win from Wausau 6 to 1 but rah for the Duluth White Sox and the whole league, just the same. Duluth will win another day.

The other opening game in the league was played at Winona, the team representing that city losing to La Crosse by a score of 7 to 4.

At all three cities where the new league's season was opened large crowds greeted the players, a circumstance calculated to cheer the managers and encourage the fans in the belief that interest in the national game as exemplified by the Minnesota-Wisconsin league will be enthusiastic and well sustained throughout the season, and that the six towns in the circuit will get better trashed, let their grandstand and bleacher money than they have in the past.

Incidental to the opening games there were parades and demonstrations suitable to the occasion, and without which the opening of a season of baseball would be as incongruous as a tea-party without cream pickle as a tea-nosh, wheat market without a Jim Patten.

After playing a series of four games at each of the four towns in the southern end of the circuit, the White Sox will return home to open the season here with a game with Superior May 20.

Dispatches from Eau Claire say that timely hitting and daring base running by Eau Claire won respective for the organization's victory over the White Sox yesterday afternoon.

Big Crowd at Game.

Before a crowd estimated by a truthful correspondent at 5,347 people, Xavier Frawley of Eau Claire opened the season ball over the plate and the game was on. Eau Claire attended right in earnest from the very first round.

During the second inning neither team scored, and in fact the Duluthians neglected to advance any at all, a row of zeros being the total crop to show alongside Eau Claire's five tallies at the end of the ninth.

Eau Claire got another run in the third and in the fourth they succeeded in prying three tallies off their guests, After that nobody scored.

Marion Was Easy.

Eau Claire was able to get Marion at opportune times, and they displayed a shocking ability to steal bases their beefy fielding six. Murrew passed four men, but two and allowed four hits, but the White Sox were unable to get all the way around. A lazy wind made the diamond dusty and playing difficult at times.

As they watched the returns from Wausau in the Tower clothing store yesterday afternoon, the hearts of the swamp rooters across the bay were cheered, for Superior was piling up scores at nearly every bat. The end of the game showed a collection of nine for Superior, while Wausau reported only one.

The Wausau dispatches say that town's team played rather yellow ball, but hopefully state that some new players were seen to join the aggregation and are expected to bouster it up to proper form.

Superior garnered eight hits off Dunbar, while Wausau got only four from Olson. All of Superior's runs were made during the first four innings errors by Wausau being responsible for some of them.

After that, scrappy on both sides caused scant for the eighth inning when Wausau got one thereby preventing a whitewash.

Winona Turns Out Well.

Four thousand fans saw La Crosse walloop Winona at the opening game of the season in the latter city. Local celebrities made speeches and the bugs cheered. They did not have so much opportunity after the game started as La Crosse had the better of it.

The game was fraught with errors on both sides, Winona making nine and the Old Style Lagers committing seven. Winona's errors were particularly beneficial for the visitors.

Winona scored first, in the third, and the fans cheered themselves hoarse. Next time, the Old Style bunch got one, and in the sixth, by dint of earnest swatting, and with the kind assistance of the erring Winona men, they got six.

La Crosse did not score after the sixth, and Winona gave its rooters hope in the seventh by getting three, but could not score after that, the game going to La Crosse by a score of 7 to 4.

Following are scores by innings of the three games:

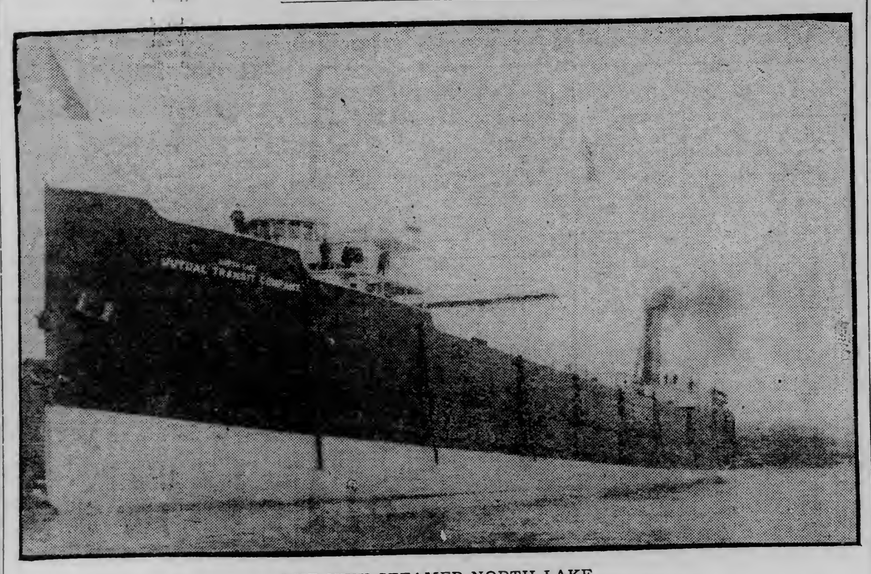
MARINE NEWS

NEW PACKAGE FREIGHTER BREAKS A RECORD ON HER MAIDEN TRIP



THE NEW STEAMER NORTH LAKE.

The Mutual Transit steamer North Lake, the latest acquisition to that company's fleet of package freighters, arrived in Duluth yesterday afternoon.

Aside from being the newest and one of the finest vessels of her class on the Great Lakes, the North Lake has the distinction of bringing into Duluth the largest single cargo of general merchandise ever brought into this port.

She carried 4,300 tons of freight, including 2,500 tons of iron pipe. She came up lake in command of Capt. Peter Thompson, one of the veteran employes of the Mutual company.

Many shipping and marine men visited the docks today to have a look at the new boat and Capt. Thompson took pride in pointing out to them many features of convenience and comfort not common on lake freighters. Among these are shower baths for the fireroom crews, a plant for the manufacture of ice on board, and a system of sleeping room ventilation seldom equalled.

The North Lake was built by the Great Lakes Engineering company of Cleveland and the vessel received her first loading at that port.

UNCLE SAM WILL ADOPT WIRELESS ON THE LAKES

All the Principal Lake Ports Will Be Connected.

Stations at Frequent Intervals From Buffalo to Duluth.

The United States government has under consideration a plan for establishing a complete system of wireless telegraph stations connecting all the principal American ports of the Great Lakes.

Capt. Swenson, in charge of the Duluth branch of the hydographic office, has received from Washington an outline of the work the government proposes to accomplish along this line. From Buffalo to Duluth stations will be established at intervals that will make communication easy. Several of these stations are now in working order, many more are in course of construction, and the balance will be erected as soon as possible. The Duluth-Superior end of the chain will be located in this city. The site of the local station has not been selected as yet. A good altitude is one of the requirements of a perfect-working wireless, and Duluth has so many good locations to offer that the government will have no difficulty in making a selection.

The Goodrich and the Graham & Morton lines of passenger and excursion boats are now equipped with wireless apparatus. The first lake vessel to install the machinery was the Indiana, a Goodrich boat running out of Chicago. It was done principally as an experiment, but was found to be so successful and of such practical value that all vessels of the line are being fitted out. These two lines use the United Wireless system.

There are several stations on lower Lake Michigan. The Indiana was recently in full communication with Chicago while the vessel was close to the Michigan shore.

As soon as the stations planned are completed and in working order, it is probable that all Great Lake companies operating passenger boats will take steps to equip their vessels with wireless apparatus.

Freight vessels present a problem that has not yet been solved, though experiments made lead government experts to believe the solution is not far off. Wireless on a boat requires a man in constant attendance, if it is to be serviceable. This is both possible and practicable where passengers are carried, and human life may be in danger at any time, but in the case of freighters carrying but a small crew and no passengers, the heavy expense of equipment and the added cost for the services of the operator needed would not find immediate favor with the owners.

To be able to signal for help in case of accident or shipwreck is one of the principal uses of the wireless. The government experts who have been working on the problem believe that a system can be perfected whereby the wireless signal of distress, or "C. Q. D." can be flashed from a disabled vessel to the shore by any one aboard.

The plan is to have a wireless transmitter on every vessel, with a mechanical device that will hurl the message through the air by the simple mechanical process of pressing a key. It would not be necessary to carry an operator, and the expense to owners would be small.

The aim of the government is to prevent loss of life on the Great Lakes. Marine disasters are frequent, as evidenced by three appalling accidents which have occurred this year, with the season scarcely a month old. The government believes wireless can be made the means of saving many lives.

BOARD HAS ADJOURNED

Arbiters Will Meet Again in Detroit Next Tuesday.

President of Lake Carriers Says He Will Not Attend.

The interstate board of arbitration, which met in Chicago Tuesday to discuss the general strike situation, adjourned yesterday, to reconvene in Detroit next Tuesday.

The efforts of the board will be directed toward getting the officials of the striking unions and representatives of the Lake Carriers' association together, to talk over the matter, and if possible take steps toward bringing the strike to an end.

The Lake Seamen's union expresses a willingness to accept the good offices of the board. Victor Olander, secretary of the general union, who is in New York, has been communicated with, and has accepted the invitation to be present.

William Livingston, president of the L. C. A., lives in Detroit, and an effort will be made to get him to attend the meeting Tuesday. Mr. Livingston is quoted as saying that, while he did not wish to appear discourteous to the interstate board of arbitration, he would not attend the meeting. He said that the only question at issue between the carriers and the strikers was that of the open shop. "This question," he said, "is fundamental and cannot be submitted to arbitration."

The hope is expressed by both sides, that the board of arbitration will be able to bring the opposing interests together, but neither side appears willing to take the first steps toward a settlement. The services of the board are gratuitous, the representatives from the several states paying their own expenses.

A great scarcity of vessels is reported at the Canadian Head of the Lakes. The Lake Carriers' association gives as a reason that it is impossible to obtain cargoes. The unions, on the other hand, maintain that the vessels are unable to get crews.

Plenty of cargoes are reported in readiness for the carriers at Port Arthur and Fort William. As American boats do not come, the Canadian vessels are getting the business.

The crew of the steamer Butler have taken their troubles into court. When the vessel arrived there, union agents boarded her and got the entire crew to desert. They went before a magistrate and attempted to force the captain to pay them off. They stated that they did not want to work on any ship that was "unfair" and demanded their pay. The men had shipped at the Soo and the Fort William magistrate refused to assume jurisdiction of the trouble. Rather than lose their wages the men will return to the Soo, but union leaders say that it will be impossible for the Butler to ship another crew at that place.

Marine Notes.

The steamer Rome, one of the old-time wooden freighters, is in with a load of merchandise. The vessel is peculiar, in having the old style deck-strengthening arches. The Rome for many years was on the Chicago-Buffalo run.

The Northern Dock & Dredge company has completed the preliminary dredge work at the entrance to Port Wing harbor. The dredge will be taken to Ontonagon.

The Marine Engineers' Beneficial association will meet at the union rooms in the Manhattan building tomorrow night.

BIG FLEET ON ITS WAY

Fifty Pittsburg Freighters Leave the Lower Lake Ports.

Vessel Captains Complain of Absence of Beacon Lights.

The Pittsburg Steamship company has a fleet of about fifty ore freighters and barges on the way to the Head of the Lakes, all of which are due in by Sunday night. Of these about thirty will come to Duluth, and the balance will load at Two Harbors.

The company's big fleet of barges, which has been at Erie during the winter, is being moved uplake as fast as possible. Ore shipments from this port have been light for the past week, but a brisk movement will commence with the arrival this week, of the freighters and their consorts.

Vessel men are complaining of the absence of beacon lights in the harbor. The light stands have not all been completed, and no lights are shown in the harbor at night. Masters of vessels arriving during dark nights object that they are compelled to assume unnecessary risks in navigating the harbor channel.

TRAVEL TO BE HEAVY

Agents of the Passenger Boats Expecting a Busy Season.

Passenger travel over the Great Lakes will be heavier this season than for several years. So say transportation men, and they base their predictions on the unusual number of inquiries received and the advance bookings.

The first passenger sailing vessel to leave the Head of the Lakes for Buffalo and intermediate ports this year will be the Anchor line steamer Tionesta which will leave Duluth June 11. The vessel will leave Buffalo on her first uplake trip June 5. All passenger vessels have wintered in down lake waters, and will open the season from that end.

The Anchor line will have three boats in the regular service between Duluth and Buffalo, the Juniata and the Japan being the other two.

The big North West of the Northern Steamship company line will leave Buffalo on he rfirst trip June 19, and Duluth on the return three days later. The North West is exclusively a passenger steamship, carrying no freight. Accommodations have been reserved as far ahead as the middle of July.

The Northern Navigation company will have two vessels in the passenger service between Duluth and Sarnia, the Huronic and the fine new steamer Hamonic. The former will sail from Duluth June 15 and weekly thereafter until the close of navigation.

Whooping Cough.

"This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKelg of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

CITY NURSE IS AT WORK

Miss Florence Lee Says Duluth Is Big Field.

Mrs. Florence Lee, the professional nurse, who recently arrived from Chicago to take active part in the anti-tuberculosis work in Duluth and to take charge of the various cases brought to the attention of the local anti-tuberculosis committee, has taken up her new duties and is now hard at work on them.

"The anti-tuberculosis movement is general all over the country," said Mrs. Lee this morning, "and the work is very important one. Duluth is wise to follow the example set by larger cities in the East. It will be a splendid thing when we are able to have a sanitarium for the care of patients here. Until then our work will be done under a handicap.

"I have had a good deal of experience in this line. For two years I followed the work in New York, under supervision of different charitable organizations, and for six months past have been doing similar work in Chicago. I find there is a big field here in Duluth. I was surprised, in fact, at the large number of cases. Everything possible to prevent a further spread of the disease in this vicinity will be done, and the work is bound to show good results.

"A campaign of education here, as well as elsewhere, is necessary. The people must be taught means of preventing tuberculosis. The big majority of cases could be prevented in the first place if the people only knew how to take the necessary measures. These mensures are very simple and should be adopted by the general public. The fight against tuberculosis is being carried on with vigor from coast to coast. Concerted action should have been taken long before the recent active anti-tuberculosis movement started."

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. NORTHWEST IS STEADY

Other American Markets Inclined to Be Weak at Close.

Flax Is Irregular at the End of the Session Here.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 13.—Wheat was somewhat irregular today. July and September closed fractionally up here and in Minneapolis, light receipts and the backwardness of the season causing the strength. There was not a single trade in the local cash grain market during the session.

Other American markets were inclined to be weaker at the close.

Liverpool was weak and the continental markets up. Liverpool closed ½d to 1d lower, Berlin ⅝c higher, Antwerp ⅝c higher and Budapest 1c higher.

The May option closed ¼c lower in Duluth, unchanged in Chicago and New York, ⅜c higher in Minneapolis, 1c lower in St. Louis and ⅛c lower in Winnipeg. The July option closed ¼c higher in Duluth, ½c lower in Chicago, a shade higher in Minneapolis, ⅛c lower in New York, ⅝c lower in St. Louis, ¾c lower in Kansas City and ½c higher in Winnipeg.

May oats closed ⅜c higher in Chicago and ⅛@¼c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The wheat market was quiet at the start and values were ⅜d to ¾d lower. There was poor support and some pressure, with offerings slightly larger, due to the disappointing American cables yesterday and continued good reports received by private houses regarding the outlook for the American spring wheat crop. Following the opening the market developed some steadiness and values showed a gain of ⅜d for July and September, while December was under pressure. Strength was due to the expectation of small Argentina shipments this week and the continued strength in country markets. Toward midday the market again suffered slight reduction and on the whole was easy and ⅝d to 1¾d lower than yesterday. The later pressure was the result of large Russian offerings and reported heavy shipments from Calcutta. European advices were better.

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 3 against 20 least year, and at Minneapolis 95 against 171 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 98, against 191 last year. Chicago received 1, against 300 last year. Winnipeg received 50, against 51 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 391,000 bu; last year 358,000 bu. Shipments, 451,000 bu; last year, 388,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 375,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 240,000 bu; last year, 226,000 bu. Shipments, 257,000 bu; last year, 465,000 bu. Clearances of oats were 3,000 bu.

Wheat was quite active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened late at $1.23⅞, advanced to $1.24⅝ and declined by the close to $1.24⅛, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. July wheat opened ⅛c lower at $1.23⅝ asked, went off with some fluctuation, to $1.23⅜, rallied to $1.24⅛, declined to $1.24⅛ and closed at $1.24¼, a gain of ¼c over yesterday. September wheat opened ⅜c lower at $1.07⅛, advanced to $1.08⅜ and declined by the close to $1.08, a gain of ⅛c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ½c higher and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 1⅞c over May for No. 1 northern.

May flax went from $1.68 to $1.69, and eased off by the close to $1.68¾, declined to $1.68⅝, and closed at $1.68⅝, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. September flax went from $1.45 bid to $1.45½ and closed there, a gain of ½c over yesterday. October flax advanced from $1.38⅝ to $1.40 and closed there, a gain of ⅜c.

Oats closed 1c higher.

Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard on track, $1.27¾. To arrive: No. 1 northern, $1.26¾; No. 2 northern, $1.24¾. On track: No. 1 northern, $1.26¾; No. 2 northern, $1.24¾; May, $1.24⅝; July, $1.24¼; September, $1.08. Cars inspected: Wheat, 3, last year, 20; oats, 2; barley, 2; flax 2; last year, none.

Receipts: Wheat, 9,964; oats, 2,464; barley, 10,947; flax, 558.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Trade Bearishly Affected By More Reports of Rain.

Chicago, May 13.—Trades in wheat were bearishly affected today by reports of additional rain in Kansas and other sections of the Southwest, and by the official forecast of showers and thunder storms tonight for Kansas and Nebraska. A decline of 1½@2c in the price of wheat at Kansas City also induced considerable selling here early in the day. The market opened weak with prices ⅝@1c lower, with July at $1.12¾@1.12½. Later July sold off to $1.12.

The market appeared to have become oversold early in the day, and when shorts started to cover, prices moved up quickly. From $1.11⅞ July advanced to $1.13¾. The market held quite firm the remainder of the day and closed steadily, although prices were still below yesterday's final quotations, July being off ⅛c at $1.12⅝.

Weather conditions were favorable for the newly planted crop of corn, and consequently there was quite general selling of the deferred futures by commission houses, which resulted in considerable weakness. The heavy tone of wheat also had a depressing effect. July opened ⅛@¼c to ⅜@⅝c lower at 68⅝@68¾c, and after touching 68¾@68⅞c, dropped back again to 68⅜c.

Buying of a line of September by a leading commission house started active covering by shorts which resulted in a material rally. July advancing to 69½c. The close was firm, with July up ⅝@¾c at 69½c.

Oats were also rather weak owing to selling inspired by improved weather conditions for the new crop. Country houses and local longs led in the selling movement. July opened ⅛c to ¼c lower at 51¾c to 51⅝c and sold off to 51⅜@51¾c.

A 5c to 10c advance in live hogs offset the weakness of grain and caused a steady tone in provisions. Trade was dull. Prices at the start were unchanged to 5c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 13.—Rains in Kansas made the opening a little weaker. Cables were a little easier, but the foreign markets did not respond to our break yesterday. Local stocks decreased 575,000 bu for five days. Good buying by commission houses prevented a break and the trade was fairly strong. July closed at the same price as yesterday. Minneapolis today received 95 cars against 171; Duluth 3 against 20; Chicago 1 against 51. September opened $1.07⅛; high, $1.07¾; low, $1.06⅜; close, $1.07⅜@1.07½. July opened $1.24; high, $1.24⅞@1.25; low, $1.23½@1.23⅝; close, $1.24⅜@1.24¾. Cash wheat was stimulated by eager buying and light offerings. Sales were made to the Southwest, but the amount and price were not given. Local and country millers were lower buyers. Premiums advanced. No. 1 northern sold for 4@4½c over the July option and No. 2 northern for 2@2½c over. No. 1 northern spot, $1.28@1.28½; No. 2 northern spot, $1.24@1.24¾. No. 1 northern spot, $1.26@1.26¼; to arrive, $1.25¾@1.26¼; No. 3 white, $1.24@1.24¾. No. 3 yellow corn, 74¼@74½c; No. 3 white oats, 55⅞@56⅜c; No. 1 rye, 83⅜@83½c.

Flax—Receipts, 2 cars today against 20; shipments, 2. Light offerings made the trade light. Prices were the same as the Duluth July option. Close, $1.68¾.

Barley — Receipts, 17 cars today against 5; shipments, 14. The market was steady, with a good local and outside demand. Offerings were light and met with ready sales. Prices were unchanged. Close, 66@68c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,647 tons. Strength continued to be the feature of the market and no changes were reported. Demand was far in excess of the supply. Shipments increased and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $24@24.50.

The flour market continued steady, although millers are expecting a better trade on account of the low stocks throughout the country. Demand was fair. Shipments increased and prices held firm. Shipments, 50,157 barrels. First patents, $6.10@6.30; second patents, $6@6.20; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.50@3.75.

WEAKNESS AT CLOSE

Stocks Had Advances Early, But Some Gains Wiped Out.

Rise in Reading Was Again One of the Features.

New York, May 13.—Not much business was transacted in the opening stock market today. The trend of prices was generally upward without regard to the earlier decline in London, but a few of the most prominent stocks showed small declines. Delaware & Hudson advanced 3½, Atlantic Coast Line 1¼ and Reading, Northern Pacific and American Ice large fractions. There were sales of 2,500 shares of Rock Island at last night's price.

Prices took an upward course after the opening, but the large gains were confined to the low price stocks, which were extensively bought. Reading yielded most of its 1 point gain, and there was little of interest in the copper stocks and high-priced Western railroads. There were fractional concessions before the hour ended. Federal Mining improved 4½, Consolidated Gas 1¾ and the Southern Railway stocks, the Rock Island stocks, Louisville & Nashville, Illinois Central, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred and Republic Steel preferred 1.

When Reading was marked up 2 points, the list took a sluggish upward tip in sympathy. Consolidated Gas, Minneapolis & St. Louis and National Enameling rose 1, the preferred and American Sugar 2, United States Realty 1¼. At noon Union Pacific rose 1 and held the list firm. Bonds were steady.

Accumulation of the coal stocks went on, the Reading issues and Delaware & Hudson being most in demand. Elsewhere the movement of prices was unimportant outside of a few mining stocks. Delaware & Hudson touched 198, a gain of 5¾. Reading's rise reached 2¾, the second preferred 2, Interborough Metropolitan preferred 1½, Twin City Rapid Transit 1¼, and Kansas City Southern and Allis-Chalmers preferred 1.

Reading and Delaware & Hudson sold higher, while the rest of the list ran off. Business was very dull and there was a more general disposition to take profits. American Beet Sugar moved up 1⅜.

The market closed rather weak, Reading crossed 159 and then dropped over a point. The list was unresponsive to the advance, but sympathized in the reaction. Some of the earlier gains were wiped out. Pacific Coast and Toledo Railways made a gain of 3 and Ontario & Western, St. Paul, Chicago & Alton, American Linseed preferred declined 1 and United Railways preferred 1¼.

THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1909.

Butte & Superior never looked better. If they continue opening up high grade ore you can only look for one thing and that is a steady advance in the shares. It closed $2.25 bid.

Ballaklava is selling too low when you can buy this one for $10.50. Buy it, for this is one of the coming mines of the Butte camp.

Butte-Alex Scott has not been given a fair chance to show its colors, but this stock can stand almost anything. At $6.00 for the full paid it only means $450,000 for the two mines while the two above are selling for almost $2,500,000 each, or five times as much. The Butte-Alex Scott claim has four big copper leads running through it and ore on every level from the 100-foot to the 1,245. Some of the big machinery has already arrived at the mine and in three weeks it will all be there and in place and then sinking begins. The new hoist can pull from a depth of 5,000 feet. On the Little Anule claim they have 1,500 feet of the big Rainbow lead that is now being opened by the Butte & Superior mine, the Poser and Elm Orlu. Remember this one thing: Scott is without doubt one of the best purchases in this country.

Carman is active and sold at $1.75.

Live Oak is trading around $7.00 a share.

Butte stocks are our favorites for when you get one there and it turns out right it generally becomes worth several millions.

Zenith Lead & Zinc has paid its first dividend. They are making a big quantity of lead and zinc at this property.

The whole market is in good shape and never looked better. The million dollar advance in Butte & Superior has helped the market a great deal.

Calumet & Sonora at this level is one of the good purchases.

LATEST NEWS—Butte & Superior developments of late have been so exceptionally favorable that holders are beginning to expect much higher prices and buying orders are filled with difficulty. The opinion is becoming general that it will eventually sell above $10. Lake Superior & Sonora news is exceptionally good and is being well received. Offerings are few and scattered and buying orders are becoming more numerous. Its low capitalization, case of development, large area, splendid showings and possibilities for quick results are appealing to the most conservative.

MILK PERIL BELITTLED

Doctors at Anti-Tuberculosis Meet Call It Overrated.

Dust in Rooms and Towels as Sources of Infection.

Washington, May 14.—That there is a tendency to overrate the danger to children from milk from tuberculosis cattle, was the view expressed today in the section of tuberculosis in children of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The subject was exhaustively treated in a joint paper by Dr. Henry L. Shaw and Dr. Arthur T. Laird of Albany, N. Y.

Doctors Shaw and Laird took the position that the attention of the public should not be diverted from the great danger of human contagion. If they argued, tuberculosis milk is as virulent as many declare it is difficult to conceive how any children at all escape infection. A diagnosis of tuberculosis in a child by rational symptoms alone, they contended, was impossible in the early stages. They declared that the

HEARS HIS OWN FUNERAL SERVICES

Man Knowing He Will Die Soon Has Services Held.

Cass City, Mich., May 14.—On his deathbed Ezra R. Imus, 88 years old, today heard his funeral sermon preached.

After having been advised by his physicians that he could live only a few hours more, Imus summoned his minister, Rev. Henry S. Schwan and forty of his friends and neighbors, and asked them to give him the satisfaction of attending his funeral service in his bedroom. Hymns were sung and Schwan preached a sermon after reading the Eighth chapter of Romans. After the service the sick man seemed stronger, but later he relapsed into delirium.

SENDS SHIVER DOWN SPINES

Cass Lake Saloonmen Fear Drastic Action By Uncle Sam.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 14.—Considerable excitement has been caused in this part of the state since rumors have been afloat that all saloons would be closed resulting from selling liquor to Indians. A diagnosis of tuberculosis in a child by rational symptoms alone, they contended was impossible in the early stages. They declared that the Fred Stedman arrived here today from Washington, D. C., and at once called a meeting of saloon keepers. He came to the point saying "you will either have to quit selling liquor to Indians or close up your saloons. No liquor given in any form to Indians will be tolerated."

The saloon keepers all signed resolutions to that effect and stoutly maintained they will not sell to Indians. The village council will act in harmony with the interior department. It has been strongly hinted that several small towns along the line will be raided if saloons. It is feared Ball and Bagdale are among them.

JOE DASCOLA IS CAPTURED

Black Hand as Well as Jealousy Is Blamed for Killing.

Stanhope, Mich., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Dascola, who fatally injured Marazze Paryrate Wednesday and escaped, has been captured at Florence, Wis.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Amesbury has left to bring him back.

It has developed quite a point to Black Hand features, as well as a love affair. Dascola was afraid Paryrate would reach Italy first and claim the girl he loved.

MALICIOUS SOLONS ARE HIS ONLY FEAR

E. P. RIPLEY.

Chicago, May 14.—President E. P. Ripley of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad who has returned after a trip over the system, gave out an interview on what he considers the menace of the Western railroads.

"The railroads of the West," he says, "have only one thing to fear and that is meddlesome and malicious interference in the conduct of their business by legislatures and commissions having no interest in the property and no knowledge of railroad matters, elected, not to do justice, but for the sole purpose of getting as much as possible out of the corporations in increased services and reduced rates."

BANISHED INTO EXILE

Russia Sends Eighteen Social Democrats to Drear Siberia.

Twenty Others Are Sentenced to Terms in Fortresses.

Moscow, May 14.—The trial of the members of the local Social Democratic organization came to an end here today. Eighteen of the prisoners were sentenced to perpetual exile in Siberia and twenty others are to be imprisoned in a fortress for terms varying from one to three and a half years.

The exiles include Prof. Rochkoff of the University of Moscow, whose connection with the party for a number of years has been a mystery to the police. The authorities were aware that one of the most competent members of the central committee resided permanently in Russia, but they never identified this man with the noted university authority on Russian history. When Prof. Rochkoff was betrayed by his own carelessness, he went to St. Petersburg instead of fleeing abroad, and continued his activity under a false passport for four years before he was arrested in 1908. During the year preceding his imprisonment he produced a valuable work on the economic conditions of Russia in the sixteenth century.

The other men condemned include Police Judge Spensky and Instructor Fresin of the University of Moscow, who will serve respectively terms of two years and eighteen months' imprisonment.

WEDDING ENDS QUARREL AFTER TWO SCORE YEARS.

Delaware, May 14.—A lover's quarrel of more than forty years ago is to be mended in a wedding May 19, in which the participants will be Miss Amanda Mizer of this city and Alonzo Pollock of Canal Dover. Both are past 70 years of age. More than four decades ago the two were teachers together in the schools of Tuscarawas county, and in the course of time became engaged. A quarrel ensued and the engagement was broken. Neither married, and a chance meeting a week ago, when the bride-to-be was visiting friends at Canal Dover, led a renewal of the match, and the news of the coming wedding is now received here.

NATIVES SLAIN BY CAVALRYMEN IN PHILIPPINES

YOUNG KERMIT LOSES HIS WAY

Spends Night Alone on Horseback in Unknown Region.

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 14.—It was learned here early today that Kermit Roosevelt lost his way from his father's camp near Machakos last Friday and spent an entire night alone on horseback riding through a region unknown to him. Saturday morning he turned up at Kiu, a station on the railway, inquiring there the way to camp. He was given the desired directions.

The region in which Kermit Roosevelt is reported to have been lost lies between the Athi river and the Uganda railroad. Kiu, where he finally found himself, si about fifty miles below Nairobi and thirty or forty miles southeast of Machakos. There is an old cart road from Machakos to Kiu, but otherwise the country and the region thereabouts is very sparsely inhabited by natives of the Wakamba tribe, a peaceful people engaged chiefly in agriculture.

Stillwater, Minn., May 14.—The complaint in a suit for damages of $15,000 was filed here yesterday by attorneys representing Olive N. Hill of St. Paul. The defendant is Hugh A. Jones, aged 50, railway agent at Newport in this county. An alleged promise of marriage is involved in the case.

Band of Outlaws Worsted in Conflict Near Bambno.

Trusted Lieutenant of Leader Is Among Those Killed.

Detachment of Troops Under Rhodes Meets Jikiri's Followers.

Manila, May 14.—Capt. Rhodes, commanding two troops of the Sixth cavalry, struck a portion of the band of outlaws headed by Jikiri near Bambno last Wednesday and in a fight that followed, five of the natives were killed. One of these was Jammang, noted as a trusted lieutenant of Jikiri.

Eusebio Burias and Lucio Aldea, who were convicted of the murder of Anna Hahn, a school teacher in the Batangas district, were hanged in Bilibid prison this afternoon. The execution was private.

The crime, which was committed in January, 1908, had robbery for its object. The victim was hacked to pieces with bolos.

A strong effort was made to secure a commutation of the sentence, but Governor General Smith and Vice Governor Forbes declined to interfere.

STRIKERS ARE CALMING DOWN

Number of Idle French Postal Employes Is Diminishing.

Paris, May 14.—The number of striking postal employes in the city has diminished. The leaders of the strike, however, still talk of unexpected developments, including the declaration of a general strike by the General Federation of Labor. On the other hand, the authorities, with the indorsement of the chamber of deputies behind them, insist that the movement will collapse in a few days without recourse to the elaborate reserve arrangements that have been perfected.

At Lyons, Toulouse, Marseilles, and some other places the strikers today abandoned the struggle and returned to their posts.

Farmer Cut to Pieces.

CHURCH UNITY THEIR THEME

Episcopalians Bring National Congress in Boston to Close.

Boston, Mass., May 14.—The closing day of the National Episcopal congress today was regarded as the most notable of the week, inasmuch as men of international reputation had been announced as speakers this morning and in the afternoon. The list included Right Rev. William Croswell Doane, bishop of Albany, N. Y., and Rev. Dr. H. Hensely Henson, canon of Westminster, London, and widely known throughout the Anglican world as one of the leaders of the so-called radical broad churchmen.

Bishop Doane spoke this forenoon on the topic, "The Outlook for Visible Church Unity." Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington, rector of Grace church, New York; Rev. Dr. Henry H. Oberly, of Elizabeth, N. STEEL VOTE PERPLEXES

Breaking of Party Lines in Senate Causes Confusion.

Much Speculation as to Action on Steel Product.

Washington, May 14.—Many senators went to the capitol today taking data concerning the iron and steel schedule of the tariff bill, and the time of the senate was consumed with a consideration of duties on these products.

The breaking up of party lines in the vote taken in the senate yesterday on iron ore gave rise to considerable speculation as to how the members of the majority and minority would divide on various schedules for taxing the products of steel. It is expected that new so many senators have spoken on the bill, there will be more rapid prog-

TACOMA SEES ITS FIRST GREAT NORTHERN TRAIN.

Tacoma, Wash., May 14.—The first Great Northern train ever seen in Tacoma was inspected by 2,976 persons in six hours yesterday. The train was one of the ten de luxe outfits built by the Great Northern for its Oriental limited service, which will operate between Tacoma and Chicago beginning May 23. The train was placed on exhibition here and will be shown at all important points on Puget Sound as far north as Vancouver, B. C.

OIL TRUST MEN QUIT PUBLIC JOBS; TOWN AT STANDSTILL.

Tilton, Ill., May 14.—This town's business is at a standstill because three members of its board of affairs have had to choose between resigning public offices or their positions as employes of the Standard Oil company and have decided that their private jobs are more important than their public service. Elmer Williams, J. B. Daniels and Harry Hammond were elected to the board of affairs in April. General Manager Warren of Decatur, Ill., has let them know that the Standard Oil company "wishes its employes to have no part in public administration" and now there is no quorum of Tilton's board of affairs.

JOHNSON SEES TAFT

Minnesota Governor Will Make Another Call on President.

Visits Senate Chamber, But Refuses to Discuss Politics.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson and wife, with a party consisting of E. L. Welch and wife, and Orin Kipp and wife, and Hope G. McCall of St. Paul, arrived in Washington this morning from Old Point Comfort and registered at the New Willard.

Shortly after breakfast Governor Johnson strolled over to the White House to pay his respects to President Taft, and during his talk with the president, he arranged with the executive to receive himself and party tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Later in the morning Governor Johnson went to the capitol, and was a guest on the floor of the senate, talking with Senators Nelson and Clapp and incidentally many other senators with whom he has acquaintance.

Governor Johnson declined to discuss politics either state or national. He spoke in glowing terms of the hospitality of his Virginia friends, and if the governor was given to slang he would doubtless have said he had a "bully time" in the Old Dominion.

The governor will leave for home tomorrow night. Asked if he had any views to express on the tariff situation, he said:

"I have not read the papers closely for the last two weeks, and don't exactly know the situation."

When told that the situation was much the same as it was two weeks ago, he smilingly said:

"Then I don't think much of the tariff bill."

ST. PAUL PAPERS ARE COMBINED

Pioneer Press Newspaper and Job Plant Sold to Dispatch.

St. Paul, Minn., May 14.—Webster Wheelock, editor and one of the principal owners of the Pioneer Press company, today announced to the Associated Press the sale of the Pioneer Press newspapers, afternoon and morning, the twelve-story building and its manufacturing plant to C. H. Grasty and others interested in publishing the St. Paul Dispatch. Mr. Wheelock said that although the final transfer of the stock of the Pioneer Press company had not yet been made, the preliminary negotiations toward that end had been completed. The absorption by the Dispatch of the Pioneer Press will undoubtedly mean the discontinuance of the afternoon edition of the Pioneer Press.

CALLS HALT IN ORATORY

Washington, May 14.—Asking that an interview with J. J. Hill be read in the senate immediately after that body convened today, Senator Scott indorsed its advice to congress that oratory be suspended and that congress promptly pass the tariff bill.

"This," said Mr. Scott, "is in line with letters I am daily receiving, begging and praying that these gentlemen," waving his hand over the senate chamber, "get through with their wind-jamming and let the country go ahead with its business."

Senator Beveridge spoke in support of an amendment offered by him, relative to the internal revenue tax on tobacco and its products, contending that the government has lost $184,000,000 in the last eight years through the repeal of the war-time tax of 1898. Mr. Beveridge undertook by his amendment to increase the present rate of internal taxes on tobacco, snuff, cigarettes and cigars worth more than 10 cents. Mr. Beveridge declared that the tobacco trust, which, he said, was the American Tobacco company, had derived great benefit from the great loss of revenue, which was due, he said, to the law repealing the increased rates of 1898. The law providing for the high rates of 1898 permitted the manufacturer to reduce the size of the packages in which the tobacco is sold to the people, according to Mr. Beveridge. "In 1901 this increased tobacco tax was removed," he said, "but the short-weight packages of tobacco were continued by the very law that removed the tax. The manufacturer still collects the war-time tax from the people, but instead of paying it to the government, he keeps it for himself."

Mr. Beveridge declared that his amendment would not affect the cigar makers of the country, because, he said, it does not enhance the tax on any cigars except those which sell for 10 cents or more.

REDMOND INTRODUCES BILL TO REMOVE CATHOLIC DISABILITIES

London, May 14.—A comprehensive bill for the removal of Roman Catholic disabilities and providing for alteration in the accession oath taken by the British sovereign was introduced by William Redmond in the house of commons today and gave variety to the customary dullness of the Friday debate.

The Roman Catholics never have ceased to inveigh against the "insulting references" to certain beliefs in the monarch's accession declaration, as superstitious and blasphemous. The same opposition that hitherto has defeated any effort to alter the oath again showed up today, when a petition signed by 400,000 persons against the removal of Roman Catholic disabilities was handed in just before Mr. Redmond arose. Mr. Redmond's bill not only gives what is regarded as the objectionable portion of the oath of accession but it would repeal the acts prohibiting residence and the acquisition of property by the Jesuits and other monastic orders, and abolishes the disqualification which prevents Catholics from filling the offices of lord chancellor of Great Britain and lord lieutenant of Ireland.

Premier Asquith spoke early in the debate and gave his cordial support to the objections of the bill. He declared that the exclusion of Roman Catholics from the lord chancellorship and the lord lieutenancy is unjustifiable on the grounds of either logic or policy. Regarding the oath of accession, the premier said that this declaration was dated during the worst period of British history. The language therein could not be justified, and the time had come to put an end to it. He suggested that if parliament were opposed to the total abolition of the declaration, a committee be appointed to devise a form of words that would be mutually satisfactory.

RURAL GUARD KILLS THE "ROBIN HOOD" OF RUSSIAN REVOLUTION

Mohilev, Russia, May 14.—The noted robber chieftain, Savitsky, the "Robin Hood" of the Russian revolution, has been killed by members of the rural guard. With three members of his band, Savitzky was surrounded by the guard two days ago in a neighboring village and after a fight that lasted for four hours all four were killed. One member of the guard lost his life in the encounter.

Savitzky, who was a high school student when he took to brigandage, had been the terror of the police of the provinces of Tchernigov and Mohilev for several years, but he was a source of amusement to the rest of Russia on account of his daredevil exploits. He delighted in playing fantastic tricks on the police. He masqueraded under their very noses, and pitted his ingenuity against theirs by announcing in advance the crimes he intended to commit. He was almost invariably successful. He repeatedly disguised himself and joined the detachments sent out to search for him without the authorities being the wiser. Once, on a wager, disguised as a priest he visited the governor of this province and various other officials. It was his custom to rob only the rich, and he distributed his spoils among the peasantry with a lavish hand. He finally was betrayed by a member of his band.

THEN THEY WONDER WHY A FELLOW CAN'T GET HIS LESSONS.

AFTER all, there are only two courses for the man who buys clothes; either he gets the most for his money or he doesn't.

There is no middle course. If he gets less than the best for his money, he is losing by the transaction, no matter how well he may think he has done.

The Oak Hall has attained the position of the leading clothing store in Duluth through its invariable policy of going a little further than necessary in giving values.

At the Oak Hall you will not only find wider selections at every price, but you leave this store with the undoubted assurance of having gotten more for your money than the same amount could possibly have bought elsewhere.

AMERICAN MEN SLOW

"Never Try to Make Love to You," Says Mrs. Glyn.

Author of "Three Weeks", Finds Our Women "Exquisitely Spruce."

New York, May 14.—The American men are like "kind aunts and grandmothers," and American women are lacking in that "draggled look of holding up their garments in frightful fashion," is the opinion of Elinor Glyn, author of the notorious "Three Weeks," as expressed in her latest book, embodying her observations while on her last visit to this country.

The book, "Elizabeth Visits America," is in the form of letters of Elizabeth to her mother. To the male sex she devotes much space, in one place saying: "American men are of quite another sex to English or French. You feel more as if you were out with kind aunts or grandmothers or benevolent uncles than just men. They don't try to make love to you or say things with two meanings, and they are perfectly serious."

"Fetch and Carry Like Spaniels."

Of the American husband Mrs. Glyn says they "fetch and carry" like trained spaniels.

Everything is so simple. If you happen to get bored with your husband, or he has a cold in his head, or anything that gets on your nerves, or you suddenly fancy some other man, you have not got all the bother and subterfuge of taking him for a lover, and chancing scandal like in England.

Discard Him and Get Heaps of Money.

"You simply get your husband to let you divorce him, and make him give you heaps of money and you keep the children; or—there is generally only one—you agree to give that up for an extra million, and then you go off and marry your young man."

But, if our men fail to please, Mrs. Glyn has kind words for our women.

Warm Praise for Women.

"No other nation can compare to them in their exquisitely spruce, exquisitely soigne appearance, and their perfect feet and superlatively perfect boots and short tailor dresses.

"To see Fifth avenue on a bright day, morning or afternoon, is like a procession of glowing flowers.

"No one has that draggled, too long in the back, and too short in the front look of lots of English women holding their garments in a frightful fashin.

"Also there are no old people—a few old women, but never any old men. I suppose they all die off with their hard life.

Mercy That Feet are Shapely.

"It is a mercy American women have such lovely feet and nice shapes, because when they cross to a place called the Flatiron building, the gusts do what they please with their garments. I am quite sure if the Roues' club in Piccadilly would get itself removed to a house just here, these wicked old men would spend their days glued to the widows."

Elizabeth is a sprightly miss and takes her fling at all phases of American life, from hotels and sleeping cars to a dance in a mining town.

While the paragraph relating to scrap iron is next in order for consideration, it was agreed that this should be passed over.

To Blow In Furnaces.

Winnipeg, Man., May 14.—Preparations are being made to blow in several iron and steel furnaces, which have been idle for many months, owing to a lack of trading facilities with United States buyers.

Hugh Sutherland, executive agent for the Canada Northern railway and kindred enterprises of Mackenzie & Mann, says the blast furnaces of Atikokan Iron company, which were closed last year, will be blown very soon.

If the American tariff on iron ore is reduced, the company will be able to ship roasted ore to the United States. The Atikokan Iron company is a $2,000,000 investment, located at Port Arthur.

history of tuberculosis in the family of a sick child was almost a prior evidence of the presense of some form of tuberculosis. The association of the child with tuberculous parents or other consumptives, they said, was a matter of such importance in the diagnosis, as well as in the prevention of the disease, that every member of a tuberculous family should be examined as a matter of routine. Infection during life, they said, may take place through the air and from food, but the infection form was probably by far the most common route. Children especially are exposed to infection because of their irresistible impulse to place everything in their mouths.

They pointed out the enormous danger to children in the home of the tuberculous adult. Dust from a room inhabited by a consumptive, they declared, had been found virulent for six weeks. Towels, they said, were a source of infection. Other sources were unhygeinic surroundings and improper food.

That tuberculosis occurred more frequently in artificially fed infants was another view expressed by them. They maintained, however, that this was not necessarily an indication that the infection was always of the bovine type and contracted from the use of milk from tuberculosis cows. They declared that bottle-fed babies had a greatly lessened resistance to any infection.

A campaign against tuberculosis could only be waged with success, they insisted, if its occurrence could be prevented during childhood. Doctors Shaw and Laird urged every effort to prevent the spread of tuberculosis in children.

TEACHERS HELD FOR THRASHING

Beat a Des Moines Boy Until He Was Black and Blue.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 14.—Miss Maud Ewing and Miss Ida May Tilden, school teachers, were arrested charged with having beaten 9-year-old David Kaplain until he was black and blue. At a trial before Police Judge Stewart behind closed doors the teachers pleaded not guilty.

The teachers accused the boy of stealing a $5 bill from Miss Tilden. When he denied the charge, he says, they laid him over a chair and beat him with switches and pinched his cheeks and body.

SENATE VOTES FOR DUTY ON IRON ORE; BAILEY RAPS THE STEEL CORPORATION

Gary, Ind., May 14.—In a speech at a luncheon tendered him by the Gary Commercial club, Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, voiced his belief that the country is now recovering fully from the effects of the panic, and that the return of prosperity is now in sight. He said: "Upon the business future of this place and of the country generally will depend to a greater or lesser extent the development of our great steel works at this place. We have not been so prosperous in the last eighteen months as we were before that time. We have been traveling along in a cloud of mist more or less. Conditions have been uncertain, and no one could say definitely what the future might be. But the clouds are lifting, the mists are clearing away and we shall soon see that after all the sun of prosperity is shining just as brightly as ever. In my judgment, we will soon be on the high road to prosperity."

Washington, May 14.—After a day devoted to discussing the duty on iron ore, the senate adopted by a vote of 61 to 24 the recommendation of the committee on finance for a duty of 25 cents per ton on iron ore.

The house had placed that article on the free list while the present law levies a duty on it of 40 cents per ton. In taking this vote, party lines were annihilated as seventeen Democrats voted nay with the Republicans and twelve Republicans voted no with the Democrats.

Referring directly to the United States Steel corporation and chraging that organization with violating anti-trust laws, Senator Bailey in addressing the senate declared that if officers of law do their duty, the Steel trust would be dissolved, and said that he expected eventually to see this done. He added that if the present administration fails in its duty in that respect, the people of the country would choose other officials to represent them. He declared his firm belief that officers of the Steel corporation would be either imprisoned or made fugitives from justice.

"Just put one of these malefactors of great wealth in the penitentiary and you will see the anti-trust law enforced without any further violations," said Mr. Bailey. "Send one of these men who may be found violating either the interstate commerce law or the anti-trust law to the penitentiary and you will stop these violations by others. You cannot do it with fines, because when the court fines a trust, the trust fines the people and as long as the trust ishment is measured out in dollars and cents, they will continue to violate the law. Men take the chance of pecuniary loss in the hope of realizing a greater pecuniary gain. Send one of them to the penitentiary and it will work like magic.

"The millionaire," continued Mr. Bailey, who was receiving the close attention of senators on both sides of the chamber, "values one thing more than his fortune, and that is his liberty. He does not love justice. He does not love that peace of mind for which others struggle. But he loves liberty.

"I expect to see officers of the United States Steel corporation imprisoned or become fugitives from justice."

ILLINOIS WOMAN MAKES REMARKABLE RECORD

Picks Eighty-Five Gallons of Berries Besides Performing Regular Housework.

Mrs. Anna Maring, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 57, Dennison, Clark county, Illinois, relates an interesting experience with the Cooper remedies, which have grown largely into popular favor during the past few years. She says:

For years I have suffered agony from stomach trouble, always experiencing severe pain immediately after eating. I had a very poor appetite, and often went without any meals in order to escape the distress that was sure to follow. My digestion was bad. I was troubled with gas on my stomach, and my bowels were in a wretched condition.

"I tried everything I heard of in an effort to get relief, but could find nothing that would help me. I became weak, run down and greatly discouraged. I could do scarcely any work and felt miserable all the time. I had no strength—everything was a drag, even my very existence. I could not sleep, and was so nervous and worn out that life hardly seemed worth the living.

"Having read several announcements of the Cooper remedies, I was finally so impressed with the claims of L. T. Cooper and with the statements made by persons who had used his medicine, that I decided to give it a trial, and procured a treatment of Cooper's New Discovery.

"From the first day I started to use the New Discovery I began to improve. It put my stomach and bowels into perfect condition, cleansed my system of impurities, and built me up rapidly in flesh and strength. I was soon sleeping soundly at night, and in the morning felt rested, and ready for the day's work. By the time I had taken the full treatment my health was better than it had been in years.

"Last summer I picked eighty-five gallons of blackberries, besides doing my other work. The neighbors all remarked how well I was looking. And I told them it was Cooper's New Discovery that was doing it. I can never be thankful enough for the benefit I have derived from this splendid Cooper medicine."

Cooper's New Discovery is now on sale by all druggists everywhere. A sample bottle mailed free upon request by addressing the Cooper Medicine company, Dayton, Ohio.

RATE WAR THE LIKELY RESULT

Service in Connection With St. Paul Road the Cause.

Victoria, B. C., May 14.—That a rate war probably will result between the two Japanese trans-Pacific lines following the establishment next month of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha's service in conjunction with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, is the news received from Japan.

The Asahi Shimbun of Tokio, in a long article, says the expectation is that a rate war will begin, and that the Nippon Yusen Kaisha will be expected to fight keen competition on its North American line to Victoria and Seattle at the hands of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha.

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha has just borrowed $1,000,000 on the security of the new steamers through the agency of Sale, Fraser & Co. of Yokohama, and will have five new steamers in service by next January, drawing subsidies amounting to $500,000 annually from the Japanese government. The Asahi Shimbun says that the Osaka firm will not be a member of the Pacific conference, and will be able to compete in the matter of rates.

EDITOR MYRICK IN TART REPLY

Tells Senatorial Primary Committee to Ask Stephenson Himself.

Madison, Wis., May 14.—H. P. Myrick, editor of the Milwaukee Free Press, United States Senator Stephenson's newspaper, told the senatorial committee that he dictated the policy of the newspaper, as Stephenson had not much experience in that line.

When asked what he thought is Senator Stephenson's idea regarding the editorial policy of the paper, Myrick suggested that the committee ask this question of Stephenson himself. Witness said he would have favored Stephenson's candidacy if he had been in full control and owner of the Free Press himself. He admired Stephenson because of his stand on public questions, his achievements and his personality.

Witness said he did not think Stephenson's election was brought about because of his money. "Give me an issue in a campaign and the election is easy," said the editor. "Senator Stephenson had a good issue in his record and his part in the reform movement in Wisconsin during the last six years."

He said the paper would have favored an impartial investigation of the senatorial primary, but said there could not be a fair investigation if it was based upon such charges as preferred by Senator Blaine.

PIKE SPAWN WAS PLENTIFUL

But It Was Difficult to Gather It, Says Fullerton.

Samuel F. Fullerton, who has charge of the Minnesota fish hatcheries for the state fish and game commission, is in Duluth after a trip to the Pike river and the Lake Vermilion country. Mr. Fullerton is accompanied by H. W. Cory, former municipal judge of St. Paul, and John Dahl of Greenwood, who went north for the sake of the outing.

Mr. Fullerton states that 42,000,000 pike eggs have been shipped to down state hatcheries, and that about 20,000,000 more were lost as a result of floods. Mr. Fullerton says that pike spawn is plentiful along Pike river and that if conditions for seining were better, he could easily get 400,000,000 eggs from that river alone. The fear expressed by some that Lake Vermillion will be robbed of its fish, Mr. Fullerton says, is ungrounded.

The party will go from here to the mouth of Rainy river for pike spawn. Mr. Fullerton on his return to St. Paul will ask the state commission to appropriate $1,000 for improvements in the bed of pike river to make it easier to secure the eggs.

HONORED BY THE QUEEN OF ENGLAND

Rev. Dr. Appleby Is to Be Promoted to a Canonry.

The numerous friends of the Very Rev. T. H. M. V. Appleby, D. D., will be much gratified to learn of his impending promotion. Dr. Appleby and his wife for twenty-eight years have devoted time and talents to the labors of missionary work in the Northwest, braving with unfaltering Christian zeal the trials and privations of pioneer life, that the word of God might be spread abroad. Dr. Appleby covered a large area during his sojourn in Minnesota and has won the highest esteem and appreciation wherever known. He has been asked to address a meeting of 7,000 persons at Lambeth palace, London, Eng., in company with the archbishop of Canterbury and other notables. His name is also enrolled with those whom Queen Alexandra has sent in to the prime minister requesting for each a canonry or even higher preferment.

Dr. Appleby and family expect to return to Duluth about the end of July, but it is not certain how long they shall remain in this city.

KILL WIFE SLAYER.

Sheriff's Posse Shoots Him Down When He Refuses to Surrender.

Presho, S. D., May 14.—William J. Lansing, who killed his wife by crushing her had with a hammer, was killed by a sheriff's posse on the Brule reservation, twenty-two miles north of here.

He attempted to resist capture and was shot. He lived but a short time. None of the posse was injured, though Lansing fired several times. Lansing had threatened his wife and her brother because of divorce proceedings, which she had started on grounds of cruelty. Lansing remained at the house six hours after his crime and planned to kill his three children who were at school. His little girl noticed blood stains and reported to the authorities. A searching party made the discovery of the body several hours after the crime.

CONFEREES ON TARIFF

Probable Personnel of the Conference Committee on Tariff.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU

Washington, May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the end of the tariff debate and a vote in the senate on the pending bill, as amended, approaches, considerable interest attaches to the probable personnel of the conference committee on the part of the two houses. Conference committees have in the last three great tariff bills so completely changed the measures that it is expected that the conference on the present bill will afford no exceptional result.

Senator Aldrich, as chairman of the finance committee, will, of course, head the seven members on behalf of the senate. Speculation has it that his associate conferees will be Messrs. Burrows, Penrose and Hale, Republicans, and Daniel, Money and Bailey, Democrats.

The house conferees will likely be Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee, and Messrs. Dalzell, Boutelle and Fordney, Republicans, and Minority Leader Champ Clark, Underwood and Broussard, Democrats.

The selection of the house conferees, it is believed, will show a departure from the usual practice of taking members from the two parties according to their rank on the committee. With that view and because of the known attitude of members toward tariff legislation, it is assumed that Speaker Cannon will prefer Boutell and Fordney, who are stanch protectionists, to members of superior rank, such as McCall and Hill, who have not always been uncompromising protectionists. Calderhead and Needham also outrank Boutell and Fordney on the committee, but they have not shown the same zeal for the preservation of the protective policy.

There is no doubt that Minority Leader Clark and Congressman Underwood will be two of the three Democrats of the conference committee. Griggs of Georgia and Pou of North Carolina, and Randell of Texas, all outrank Broussard, the Louisiana member recently appointed on the ways and means committee, but Democratic rank is not going with "Uncle Joe" at this juncture, and it is believed that he will make a conferee of Broussard for the same reason that he assigned him to the ways and means committee, because he is as reliable as any Republican on tariff questions, and the speaker is prone to reward "discriminating intelligence" with courage to assert itself, especially when such brave light shines in the darkness of the South.

If there were any available statistics of speculation as to when congress will get through with the tariff, it would probably be indicated that the senate will complete consideration and reach a vote by the last week in May. The bill would then go to conference. Should there be serious differences, the aid of the president to compose them would probably be invoked. This would seem to locate the adjournment of the extra session about the middle of June.

Senator Aldrich has served as a senate conferee on three great tariff bills, those of 1890, 1894 and 1897. Senator Burrows was a senate conferee in 1894 and 1897 and a house conferee in 1890. Payne and Dalzell have had experience as tariff bill conferees, the former in 1894 and 1897 and the latter in 1897.

The conferees for the two houses on the three great tariff bills were as follows:

McKinley bill, 1890—Senate: Aldrich, Sherman, Allison and Hiscock, Republicans. McPherson, Voorhees and Carlisle, Democrats. House: McKinley, Payne and Dingley, Republicans; Mills, McMillan and Flower, Democrats.

Wilson bill, 1894—Senate: Voorhees, Harris, Vest and Jones of Arkansas, Democrats. Sherman, Allison and Aldrich, Republicans. House: Wilson, McMillan, Turner and Montgomery, Democrats; Reed, Burrows and Payne, Republicans.

Dingley bill, 1897—Senate: Aldrich, Platt of Connecticut, Burrows and Jones of Nevada, Republicans; Vest, Jones of Arkansas and White of California, Democrats. House: Payne, Dalzell, Hopkins and Grosvenor, Republicans, and Bailey, McMillan and Wheeler, Democrats.

This United States government does not publish advertisements in the "want columns" of the daily papers. Otherwise, one might look for an advertisement under the head of "business opportunities," or "help wanted, male," something like this:

"Wanted—A caterer, a man who knows how to get up a bill of fare suitable for a United States senator, a messenger, or a visitor. The United States government has in the senate office building a completely equipped kitchen, with servants' quarters, storage rooms and everything that makes for a first-class restaurant, which will be turned over free of rent, together with free ice, free fuel, free light and free toothpicks to any first-class caterer who understands his business, and who is of good moral character and who will agree to furnish meals and lunches to senators, employes of the senate and visitors at reasonable prices."

When the two office buildings, one for the house and one for the senate, were designed, the consulting architects, Messrs. Carrere and Hastings of New York, set aside two handsome rooms for dining rooms, two almost equally elaborate for cafes, and six or eight more for kitchens, pantries, store rooms, butcher shops etc., in each of these two buildings.

The purpose was to establish restaurants in each of the office buildings, which should be conducted by some fortunate individual competent to make a soup, a pie, a ragout, or an oyster stew, which would tickle the palate of the statesmen and their guests who were expected to visit these restaurants. That in the house office building was opened by the man who runs the regular restaurant in the house side of the capitol proper. It is only through strenuous financial efforts that this gentleman has kept out of the bankruptcy court.

In the senate office building nearly $20,000 was expended in fitting up the kitchen alone. The ranges are of the finest grade of steel plate. The walls are lined with porcelain-faced brick and the refrigerators, made up in the Northwest, are the most perfect of their kind that could be constructed. In fact, the whole outfit is as complete and neat and attractive as the most expert chef could desire. The floors are of carbolite, which is a resilient compound resembling hard rubber, and everything connected with all the rooms is as perfect as it is possible to devise. And yet although these kitchens and servants' offices were completed some months ago, there has never been a fire in the range, there has never been a steak on the gridirons of the charcoal burners, not a pound of ice has ever been placed in any of the refrigerators nor have the dumbwaiters ever been used.

The superintendent of the United States capitol building and grounds, who has charge of all matters pertaining to this new office building, has the privilege of turning this kitchen with its accompanying dining rooms and cafe over to any first class citizen who will consent to run it free of rent and without cost for light, fuel, ice or other supplies of that character, and yet he cannot get a man who cares to take the risk of running it.

Ten years ago, before the sale of beer and wine was prohibited in the capitol and other federal buildings, such an opportunity would have been seized with avidity, for scores of caterers would have been fighting for the chance which is now going a begging.

BANKS BEING RETURNED

Only Thirty-Five Tag Day Boxes Not Accounted For.

Not More Than Ten Children Will Be Prosecuted.

A. E. McManus, attorney for Miss Anna Burnham Fellows, who last Saturday conducted a tag day in Duluth to raise money for her school for blind children in Milwaukee, said this morning that prosecutions of boys and girls who kept banks intrusted to them by the woman, and broke them open, claiming she had not kept her promises to them, would not number more than eight or ten at the outside, and possibly would not run over five or six.

The number of probable prosecutions has dwindled down from the original eighty-three.

"The number of children taken into court as the result of their actions on tag day may be as low as five or six and may run up to ten," said Mr. McManus this morning. "The children were not entirely to blame for what they did, and did not realize the seriousness of their offense. In many cases we learn that older people, not understanding the situation, advised them to keep their banks until they were paid by Miss Fellows.

"Of the original eighty-three banks withheld there are now only thirty-five which have not been turned in with contents intact, and I believe we shall get at least twenty-five more. The teachers in the different schools are helping collect the banks, and by talking to the children have made them see the error of their ways. A number of the offenders were sons and daughters of prominent families of the city who never in their lives before did an out-of-the-way thing, and it would be an injustice to make these children appear in court.

"I received a telegram from Miss Fellows yesterday, saying she would arrive in Duluth this morning to prosecute the cases, but I wired back telling her not to come here until next week, and that there would be no prosecutions this week, even if she did come. I shall flatly refuse to prosecute except in the few cases where really tough boys, who perhaps have been in court before, refuse to turn in their banks. It was this class of boys who were ringleaders in keeping Miss Fellows' money from her. Whatever prosecutions there are will come up in juvenile court May 22."

HAD A BRICK FOR THE POLICEMAN

B. A. Erickson Lays Out Would-be Assailant of Dickman.

By the timely use of his fist, B. A. Erickson, employed at the postoffice, last night saved Police Officer Dickman from being laid out by a brick in the hand of Simon Christianson, who was enraged at the copper because he had arrested Sigrud Johnson's Simon's friend, for being drunk.

Johnson was taken into custody at the corner of Fifth avenue west and Michigan street, late in the evening. According to testimony offered in municipal court this morning Christianson came up behind the officer and was just about to strike him over the head with a brick, which he had raised on high, when Erickson, standing beside him, struck out with his fist and knocked Christianson off his feet.

He told Dickman of the attempted assault, and Simon was taken to the police station along with his friend. He was fined $20 in police court this morning, with thirty days in jail as an alternative. Erickson got off with a $1 line and $2 costs.

UMBRELLA MENDERS HELD IN DOUBLE MURDER CASE.

Camden, N. J., May 14.—In connection with the murders of two men whose bodies were found in an abandoned factory building in Gloucester, N. J., Tuesday with their skulls crushed, William Bradley, aged 45, and Patrick McDermett, 65 years, umbrella menders, were arrested today. The murdered, James Purdy and John Whitelaw, had been dead for several days before their bodies were found by two boys. Purdy, it is said, had recently received several hundred dollars from an estate in Canada and the police advance the theory that Purdy and Whitelaw while sleeping in the factory building, had been attacked for the purpose of robbery.

Bradley, when arrested, wore a new suit and had $57 in his pocket.

MENOMINEE IS EXCITED OVER LATEST SCANDAL.

AWFUL RASH ALL OVER BOY'S BODY

Weeping Eczema Kept Spreading on Little Sufferer—A Score of Treatments Prove Dismal Failures —Grateful Father Tells of

CURE ACHIEVED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"It gives me great pleasure to express my deep gratitude in appreciation of the incalculable benefit that the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent did my little boy. He had an awful rash all over his body and the doctor said it was eczema. It was terrible and used to water awfully. Any place the water went it would form another sore and it would become crusted. A score or more physicians failed utterly and dismally in their efforts to remove the trouble. Then I was told to use the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and before we had used half the Resolvent I could see a change in him. In about two months he was entirely well. When people see him now they ask, 'What did you get to cure your baby?' and all we can say is, 'It was the Cuticura Remedies.' So in us Cuticura will always have firm and warm friends. George F. Lambert, 139 West Centre St., Mahanoy City, Pa., September 26 and November 4, 1907."

MILLIONS OF PEOPLE

Rely on Cuticura Remedies.

Millions of the world's best people use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, assisted, when necessary, by Cuticura Resolvent (liquid or pills) for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for eczemas, irritations and inflammations, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, and many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Guaranteed absolutely pure.

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Ointment (50c.), Resolvent (50c.), and Chocolate Coated Pills (25c.), are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 137 Columbus Ave., Boston.

OPERATION OF HIS OWN

West End Lad Develops Appendicitis During Mother's Illness.

Was Operated on and Recovers Before Parents Return.

While the life of his mother was hanging by a thread as a result of a dangerous operation for appendicitis, performed early this week at Rochester, Minn., and his father was at her bedside, Arthur, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Pearson of 2109 West First street, was suddenly stricken with appendicitis, was operated upon yesterday at St. Luke's hospital.

His mother and father, being at Rochester at the time, did not know anything of the son's attack until after the attending physician had wired them that the operation had been successful. The little fellow today is reported as recovering and reports come from Rochester also that Mrs. Pearson is convalescent.

The little boy was staying with older brothers and sisters during the absence of his father and mother.

NEW BANK FOR WEST END.

Business Men Are Behind Scheme to Start One.

That a new state bank will be organized at the West end within a short time comes from good authority, and it is given out that a number of prominent West end business men are backing the scheme.

The promoters of the new bank today stated that the plans were not complete, but it is thought from present indications, that the bank will be doing business in the West end by next fall.

A ten-year lease has been secured on the E. A Smith property between the Sloan block and the new Eckman building between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues west on Superior street, and it is the intention of the promoters to build the bank there. The lease has been running about two months now.

ANNOUNCEMENT EXTRAORDINARY

Factory Clean-Up SHOE SALE

Entire surplus stock from the shoe factories of Luddy & Currier and Wise & Cooper, purchased by us at nearly HALF PRICE. $2,400.00 worth of Women's, Misses' and Children's Shoes and Oxfords. $900 worth of Men's and Boys' Shoes and Men's Oxfords, to be sold at a SAVING OF ALMOST HALF. IT WAS THE READY CASH THAT TURNED THE TRICK. Read on; then you'll know how $2,000.00 cash landed $3,300.00 worth of footwear.

At this time of the year there is usually some odd lots of Shoes and Oxfords at the shoe factories, even more so this season, on account of the leather workers' strike at Lynn, causing many cancellations of orders and also quite a number of returned goods on account of the late shipments. These goods must be disposed of one way or another; the manufacturers cannot afford to carry them over for another season on account of the style changes. Our buyer knew of the situation, and decided to take a flying trip to Lynn, and once there, he bought up all the cancelled, returned or disputed goods at practically his own price. There are a great many other well known makes in the purchase, whose names we agreed to withhold from publicity. The Shoes and Oxfords are all here, and the sale will start tomorrow,

SATURDAY IS THE DAY

The prices quoted here are but a shadow of the real values you'll find; bargains so numerous that space will not permit even half of them being published. All you want to do is to take it for granted that you can save good hard cash at this great sale, and when you do come, you'll find the bargains even better than you expected

FOR THE PUBLIC WELFARE

(Note—Suggestions from citizens of needed reforms will be welcomed.)

MUSIC IN THE PARKS

"In connection with the subjects hereinbefore referred to, I would most earnestly recommend that steps be taken this year to secure the small tracts of lands for playgrounds and pleasure spots in those sections of the city that are becoming thickly populated. This can be done by purchase or contract, and in considering the work to be done during the year provision should be made to assist in maintaining playgrounds that are conducted under supervision only, and to establish and maintain ice rinks next winter throughout the city.

"The expenditure for this would be very small, and we should not measure the value of health and morals to the girls and boys of Duluth in dollars and cents.

"With reference to musical entertainment, I would suggest that the subject be taken up and considered by the several associations and clubs which take an interest in civic agairs, and that data be obtained as to the amount of money that could be obtained from private sources. If possible, a trial should be made this season, and, if successful, steps be taken to have this feature established and authorized by an amendment to the charter submitted to a vote of the people next year."—From Mayor Haven's annual message to the common council.

The mayor has been an ardent supporter of the public playground since the subject was first suggested and he has given much time and thought to providing for the children of the city healthful and happy places for play.

In his annual message to the council he strongly recommends the work, and suggests as a new feature some form of musical entertainment at one of the parks where the people might have this form of pleasure free. To many in Duluth this form of public benefaction appeals with great force. Music on a summer evening adds immeasurably to the joy of life.

During the last winter the Masons under the chairmanship of T. W. Hugo, have provided free Sunday concerts for the citizens, and in this manner have probably done more for the development of musical taste in the city than any other single effort has achieved. This organization is not in a position to undertake the work of free park concerts, and it will have to be done by private enterprise, if at all. The work is not a pure charity, but it is a means of bringing a great deal of happiness and rest to many. The season is short in Duluth and the amount of money required would not be great, if the cause would, if once started, undoubtedly receive much cordial support.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

An Associated Charities will be organized in Duluth this evening, at a meeting to be held at the Commercial club, which will begin at 8 o'clock. About 200 people understood to be interested in the movement, have been asked to be on hand, and it is expected that most of them will attend the gathering.

Eugene T. Lies, secretary of the Associated Charities of Minneapolis, will be at the meeting and will tell of the successful work of organizations of this kind in other cities, particularly in Minneapolis. The object of such an association is to get all the charities under one general head, so each will know just what work the others are doing, and thus be able to keep them from conflicting.

WOULD CREATE A NEW COUNTY

County Division Is Latest Scheme in Red Lake Muddle.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Petitions calling for the division of Red Lake county into two counties were circulated this week and received more than 1,000 signatures of bona fide voters. These petitions were filed with the governor Wednesday evening and are now a matter of record. The next step in the proceedings will be for the executive of the state to call for a vote on the proposition at the next general election. The petition designated the proposed new county as Pennington, in honor of the president of the Soo railroad, and suggests the names of five residents of the proposed county as the first board of county commissioners. This city is to be the county seat.

The division line runs east and west, a little south of the center of the county, and creates two counties of the average size of those of Southern Minnesota. This action is the sequel to a long train of events, many of dramatic interest, such as the alleged stealing of a county seat removal petition two separate times, one of which was from the rooms of the supreme court of this state, and the burning of the courthouse.

It is considered that county division is the most satisfactory solution of the situation, and that the two contending sections of the county can care for their respective though diverse interests better apart than as one county and under the present status of affairs.

LAST CITY TO SEE "MARY'S LAMB"

Richard Carle Will Lay Piece Aside After Duluth Engagement.

When Richard Carle plays "Mary's Lamb" in Duluth tomorrow afternoon and night, it will probably be for the last time, as he will close his season here and go to Chicago, where he is soon to open at the Colonial theater for a summer run, in a new production.

Mr. Carle has appeared in "Mary's Lamb" for two seasons, and it is considered one of the greatest successes he has ever had. This is a time when Duluth has it on the Twin Cities, as "Mary's Lamb" has never been seen there, and the chances are that it never will be, as Mr. Carle lays the piece aside after tomorroy night.

The comedian and his company are returning from the coast, where the production made a distinct hit.

WHEN GIRLS GROW PALE

They Need the Tonic Treatment That Cured This Minneapolis Woman.

What anæmia is, how to recognize it and the value of the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be known by the mother of every growing girl. Anæmia is simply lack of blood. It is one of the most common and dangerous diseases with which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls are too frequently allowed to overstudy, overwork and suffer from lack of exercise.

It is a condition that calls emphatically for a tonic for the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic especially adapted to meet this need. They enable the blood to absorb oxygen, the great sustainer of organic life; they tone up the nerves and give vigor, strength and health to the debilitated system.

It is, however, in the cures they have effected that the strongest reasons for taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are to be found. Sufferers with anæmia will be interested in the benefit Mrs. Morgan Bowen, of No. 695 24th avenue, N. E., Minneapolis, Minn., received after a fair trial of the pills. She says:

"When I was fifteen years old I went into a decline and my parents feared I was going into consumption. I was sick for a year and was not able to do much of anything. The sickness came on me gradually. I was pale and seemed to slowly lose my strength. I was attending school at Winona at the time and became so nervous that I had to give up my studies. My parents were alarmed about my condition as there had been consumption in the family.

"A friend advised my mother to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I used them long I was much improved. I gave the pills a thorough trial and was fully restored to health. My health has been good since but I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house and take them when I feel I need a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. They are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drug and cannot injure the most delicate system.

THE BANKS' CLEARINGS

Throughout Nation for Last April Show an Enormous Increase.

Thirteen and a Half Billion Dollars Is Total Reached.

New York, May 14.—The comparative aggregates of the trade or business of the country can be arrived at best through the bank clearances of the country.

These always cannot be accepted as measuring the exchange of values accurately, but they constitute a gauge that indicates approximately well.

The total for all the banks in the United States during April was $13,569,566,971, a gain of 39 9-10 per cent over April, 1908, and exceeding by 5 8-10 per cent the record of April, 1906, which was the greatest month on record until the April just ended.

Now that the trade of the country is once more breaking records in the aggregate it will be instructive, encouraging and confidence-producing to take up the details of these fine exhibits of the inauguration of the busy and profitable era which we are just entering.

First, I will call attention to the great activity prevailing in the textiles.

The sales of wool in Boston for last week are estimated at 15,000,000 pounds, the largest week's business of the year. Prices upon all grades are firmer and in some grades higher than last week, while persons who purchased wool in January and February can obtain good profits today.

The wool sales in London were well attended, competition was strong and demand heavy.

Raw Silk High.

In silk the foreign markets remain very high for raw material. Holders in Italy and Japan of stock are decidedly firm, and there is no evidence of a break in their rates. Indeed, if our business in America continues to improve and our manufacturers are compelled to order material in large amounts an advance even upon the high prices now quoted would certainly result.

Canton (China) dealers have in the past two weeks marked up their prices fully 3 per cent.

Many new plants for the manufacture of silks are being erected in the United States.

The increase in New England is particularly noticeable. New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland are entering into the manufacture of silks, and some of the goods turned out from the mills of Eastern Pennsylvania are excellent in quality, color, weight and finish.

The American Silk Journal estimates that from 4,000 to 5,000 additional looms will be in operation producing silks by Jan. 1, 1910.

The prevailing cool weather has tended to impair the demand for cotton goods, and trade in that line has been moderate only.

It is a well known fact that retailers or jobbers have no surplus stocks, and that a month of strong and steady demand would deplete holdings to such an extent that the mills would be called upon for extra output.

Manufacturers under existing conditions are not desirous of taking orders at present figures, unless they have the raw cotton contracted for and know the price they will have the material at.

Just as it is in the silk trade, if, after the tariff disturbance ends, there should be a general movement to buy manufactured goods, a sharp and rapid advance in prices is sure to follow.

All the textile trades are in the very best possible shape financially and in the way of having no heavy surplus stocks anywhere along the line from the looms to the consumers.

The Copper Market.

The metal markets are acting well once more. The improvement takes in all the important ones—iron, copper, silver, lead, zinc and tin.

In copper the London market has been much more active and prices are higher.

For the first time in three years last week has given evidence that the actual sales of copper for consumption are greater in the aggregate than the production for the same period.

This is a most gratifying and decidedly better proposition for the metal producers and a far better condition for the entire trade.

While it may take many months to work the surplus stock of the metal up, yet if prices are held at anything near present figures legitimate consumption will take all the new production and each week will gradually reduce the surplus.

If the stock gamblers and the metal combines selfishly endeavor to exploit the public by swinging up the prices to a point that will unduly stimulate production, then there will be another collapse in price by reason of an output far greater than the demand.

The world's supply of copper ore is practically unlimited, and a price of 18 cents would, within twelve months after it would obtain, simply produce a deluge of the red metal and another disastrous break in values.

Advance in Silver.

Silver has been advanced about 3 cents per ounce in the last sixty days, and it is reported that China and other Asiatic countries are increasing their currency supplies.

It seems to be assured now that trade all over the world is improving, and such improvement will undoubtedly carry with it increase of silver coinage in many countries outside of Asia.

The United States and all the leading European countries, with growing business and the working people employed, will need fully $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 worth of silver coinage value in subsidiary coinage.

There will be no difficulty in obtaining the metal and yet not raise the price per ounce above 65 to 70 cents. With silver it is as it is with copper.

Advance silver above 70 cents per ounce and such a flood of it will be poured from the mines of Mexico, the United States, Canada, New Zealand and other countries that it simply could not be absorbed, and values would break just as they have done time and again since its demonetization.

Gold Buying Less.

There is but one metal now that has a fixed price in the world per ounce, but while the price is fixed, the value of the metal is not fixed, and its purchasing power is sure to decline for years to come.

As the gold dollar today will buy less land, less labor, less of almost every commodity than it did in 1896, so it will buy far less in 1920 than it will today.

Twenty-year bonds are a splendid investment, if strongly secured, and bearing good rate of interest, for interest purposes, but after he receives his interest for twenty years, and the holder gets the principal and finds he cannot buy it with one-half of the commodities he could have bought when he made the investment, he will have a nice problem to solve involving the intrinsic value of gold and his own profit. With abundant supplies of currency come invariably improving business, greater demand for labor, increase in the purchasing power of the community, followed by higher prices for commodities in the average of all leading articles. That is a fixed law, and business will obey it.

BLACK DIAMOND MEN WERE HERE

Nine of Them Rustling for Business in Duluth Thursday.

Nine of the seventeen black diamond agents of the United States were in Duluth yesterday, brought here by a rumor that the Steel corporation was in the market for black diamonds, which are used for drill points in mining work.

Dr. Henry Demmert, C. A. Wolf, A. S. Bandler, William Peer, William Smith, R. S. Patrick, William Cotter, E. Kupler and C. W. Kennedy were the nine men. Mr. Kennedy lives in Duluth. The Lake Superior region calls for more black diamonds annually than any other mining district in the United States. The price of the stones has increased from $10 to $15 a carat in the last sixty days, owing to a scarcity on the market.

IS ALEXANDRA A CATHOLIC?

Bishop's Toast to Queen of England Raises the Question.

London, May 14.—At the twelfth annual dinner of the Catholic association at the Holborn restaurant, the bishop of Salford, who presided, gave as a toast, "The Queen and the Other Members of the Royal Family." He said he was told that the Protestant Alliance had recently discovered that her majesty was a secret Catholic, and he was informed that there was great alarm as to her religious tendencies. He did not want to compromise the queen, nor did he suggest what amount of truth there was in that statement. All he did was to propose the health of her majesty as the first lady in the land, and one who had certainly done everything a sovereign could do for every class of her subjects.

The bishop's statement was loudly cheered

How Many Meals Have You Saved?

Do you show your meals do you good, as the saying goes? Have you the product of former good dinners tucked away around your waist line? Do they reproach you? Do they lie heavily on your physical conscience, as it were? Are you anxious to reform?

Well, then contemplate a period of penance. What do you say to a month of unmodified breakfast food diet—made thin; to be followed or accompanied by thirty days of road work or weight lifting. No?

How about a few months' course of some acrid (put your teeth on edge) acid, heartburn-causing, wrinkle-forming, stomach-upsetting, high-priced patent advertised "fat remedy," then—No?

All that remains for you to try, then, if you really wish to reform, is Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets possess special virtues—the most important of which is: they cause not one ripple of internal uneasiness. Neither do they leave wrinkles behind; nor is dieting and exercise required to help out. Yet, in a reasonable time they are capable of reducing, possibly, any man or woman on this green earth a pound or so daily.

How about your trying this safe and well indorsed plan if you do not care to exercise or diet? The Marmola Company, Dept. 191, of Detroit, Mich., or any druggist will give you, for as little as 75 cents, one large case, so well stocked that just that one case will show you the problem of reducing safely and quickly on three full meals a day has been solved.

DOCTRINE IS EXPOUNDED

Clarence C. Eaton of Tacoma Delivers Lecture on Christian Science.

Lecturer Introduced By Abbot Edes Smith of Minneapolis.

Clarence C. Eaton of Tacoma, Wash., delivered a lecture on Christian Science last evening at the Armory, under the auspices of the Second Church of Christ, Scientist. Mr. Eaton was introduced by Abbot Edes Smith of Minneapolis. Mr. Smith spoke as follows:

"Martin Luther founded and established the Lutheran religion. It is what he defined it to be and he is the only final authority on that subject.

"John Calvin founded and established Calvinism. It is what he defined it to be and he is the only final authority on that subject.

"John Wesley founded and established Methodism. It is what he defined it to be and he is the only final authority on that subject.

"Mrs. Eddy founded and established Christian Science. It is what she has defined it to be and she is the only living authority on this subject. This does not make her arbitrary nor autocratic, any more than the similar position of Wesley, of Calvin and of Luther makes them so. To be a Lutheran, a Calvinist, a Methodist or a Christian Scientist, one must conform respectively to the only authoritative definition of each of these religions.

"There are many prevalent misconceptions and misrepresentations of Christian Science, most of which wrongly class it with the various theories teaching the direct use of the finite, human mind or will to overcome evil and to attain good. Christian Science, on the contrary, does not teach that my right ideas, my right thinking, my spiritual understanding, any or all of them, overcome evil and supply good. This is not Christian Science; but it does teach that the only rational and Scriptural method is mental surrender of the finite, human mind and will to the infinite Mind, which is God, the supreme, ever present Power which creates and governs the whole universe. This operates as an appeal to Him who is 'of purer eyes than to behold evil' and who by his unchanging, eternal, unerring and unfailing law makes 'the darkness light' and 'the crooked things straight.'

"To correct misconceptions and misrepresentations, and to show what the discoverer and founder of Christian Science really teaches, there is with us tonight a member of the Christian Science board of lectureship of the mother church in Boston, who will now address us, under the auspices of Second Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city.

"It is a pleasure and a privilege to present to you the speaker of the evening, Clarence C. Eaton, C. S. B., of Tacoma, Wash."

Mr. Eaton's Talk.

Mr. Eaton began his lecture with a refutation of the charge often made by those who take exception to the teachings of Christian Science, that it is disloval to the doctrine of the divinity of Christ. He held that it was inconceivable that a people who were so zealously striving to emulate the example of Jesus could be disloyal to the Christ as the Savior of mankind. The many instances of healing which stand to the credit of Christian Science were a protest against this criticism, Mr. Eaton contended.

An explanation of the doctrines of Christian Science as to Deity followed. The speaker, in substance, said that the teachings of Christian Science were not such as would lead to the belief that it was endeavoring to project a new, strange or irrational concept of God.

The endeavor is rather to demonstrate the existence of one Supreme Being, infinite in intelligence, wisdom, power, truth, justice and love, and therefore includes the consciousness of infinite good. He held that Christian Science proves that God is the mind, spirit, soul, life and substance of all that actually exists; also that He is the author of all true being, the origin and source of all entity or existence, the only cause or Creator, and that His works are spiritual, righteous, unchanging and eternal.

Christian Science declares that God is the principle of His creation; hence the energizing, governing, controlling, directing, sustaining presence of the universe—the very law which provides for the completeness, perfection and harmonious operation of all that is. It declares that He is love, hence He is compassionate, merciful, tender, loving, comforting, true.

Great emphasis was put upon the teaching of Christian Science with respect to the omnipotence, omnipresence and omniscience of God. In holding fundamentally to the absolute power, presence and knowing of Deity, metaphysical science shows that He is all in all, and "there is none beside Him."

God as principle and mind directs attention to the fact that God's allpresence and leads one to comprehend the possibility of "God with you," and consciously working in His people "to will and do of His good pleasure."

Having indicated at some length the views which Scientists hold with respect to God, the speaker gave a clear exposition of the difference between the spiritual man whom God created and the so-called material or Adam-man whom the Bible speaks of as having been created by the Lord God.

The Creation.

In this connection Christian Science calls attention to the fact of the existence of two distinct and widely differing records of the creation, and insists that they bear no relation to each other. The first record clearly indicates the creation or revelation by an omnipotent and omniscient God of an absolutely perfect and everlasting universe. In its analysis of this account Christian Science uses the term man in a generic sense as meaning the full, complete and perfect reflection of God—His divine image or manifestation, which includes every idea that expresses good, not excepting our true, eternal selfhood.

Mr. Eaton argued that emanations from infinite and unchanging good must be perfect, and the conclusion irresistible that a perfect creation governed by the very law of perfection is incapable of change or defilement.

Christian Science holds unequivocally to the first record of creation as it appears in the inspired writings, and contends that it is consistently true and real, and that the record contained in the second chapter of Genesis, in which man is represented as having been formed of the dust of the ground, is antagonistic to the first, hence is inconsistent, false and unreal.

Moreover, a specific examination and comparison of these two records discloses the perfection and completeness of the first record of creation attributed to God (Elohim), and the imperfection of the alleged creation by the Lord God (Jehovah) as chronicled in the second account.

It will be observed that the second record indicates that Adam, formed of the dust of the ground, was the man who is represented as having suffered defilement by evil, and not the perfect man whom God created. It is also significant that Adam's defilement or fall is recorded as having been procured by evil acting through the subtility of the serpent, a fellow creature and associate of Adam.

While no reasonable or satisfactory explanation as to the origin of evil, or the devil, appears in the Bible or has ever been formulated by Christian theologians, yet we note that scholastic theology is founded upon the assumed existence of an evil being which claims caused the downfall of God's perfect man, a self-evident impossibility.

Mr. Eaton endeavored to make clear to his hearers that while the unwilling of science was that evil could not have absolute existence if God, good, was all in all, its students recognized that the belief in evil was generally prevalent and that it was this belief which they antagonized.

Not Evil, But Belief in It.

The verity of evil is fundamental in the teaching of scholastic theology, whereas Christian Science declares that it is not the actuality of evil, but the belief in it, which has caused the fear and suffering to which humanity is in bondage. Mr. Eaton quoted a passage from the Bible to prove that Jesus regarded evil as a lie or falsity from the very beginning. He insisted that evil would never be destroyed so long as it was regarded as a reality, and attention must be given to the work of ejecting from mortal consciousness the belief in evil, if its manifestations are to be effectually disposed of.

"Inseparably connected with the belief in evil and its influence, is the question, What is sin? Now a difficulty confronts one with respect to the subject of sin as the result of ignorance of what sin is. Sin is primarily what might be termed wrong thinking and may be both ignorant and willful," said the speaker. "The presence in one's consciousness of a belief that is not good and right, not in accord with absolute truth, constitutes that one a sinner. Recognizing, as we do, that the belief that evil is a verity is responsible for the existence of all that is classed as sin, then logically sin will abound so long as that belief lasts. The sin of belief in evil has not only robbed God of his rightful place in such individual consciousness, but its prevalence throughout past ages is accountable for the relentless reign of fear, sensuality, discord, disease and death which has desolated many generations.

Mr. Eaton dwelt at length upon the healing work of Christian Science and showed that it was wholly unlike any other system in vogue, and that it was simplicity itself. Right understanding or knowledge destroys false beliefs and the truth about a thing destroys the error which might possess one. Knowledge of God and his perfect man when accepted serves to correct the so-called material or mortal man. Disease being an absence of ease the former needs to be cast out by the relinquishment of fear, doubt and false belief. Thus one can rid his body of suffering by releasing the clamps of thought which prevent it from manifesting normal and harmonious action.

The lecturer concluded his address by a grateful acknowledgement of Mrs. Eddy's great work in the rediscovery of Christian Science and the patient labor which she has wrought for humanity. His closing words were read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures," of which Mrs. Eddy is the author.

Marie Dressler Scores a Hit.

Philadelphia, May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marie Dressler appeared as the star in a revised edition of Richard Carle's musical play, "The Boy and the Girl," at the Garrick theater here last night.

The occasion was made an event by this funny woman's legion of Philadelphia admirers, who laughed themselves over the many ludicrous scenes which she dominated. She was supported by an entirely new cast, headed by Barney Bernard and surrounded by a chorus that for physical charm and vocal value has not been surpassed by a similar organization this season.

It was Dressler they came to see, however, and Dressler they cheered to the echo. The charm of her art is as potent as of yore and her work last night demonstrated conclusively that her title of "the funniest woman on the American stage" is still secure.

Miss Dressler had several songs with a requisite fascinating swing and that, delivered in her inimitable and original style, are destined to become immensely popular. Marie Dressler will begin her New York engagement in "The Boy and the Girl" at the Aerial Roof garden on top of the New Amsterdam theater on May 31.

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—Burns-Johnson fight pictures.

A Carle Story.

Richard Carle, the author-comedian of "Mary's Lamb," which is to be the attraction at the Lyceum tomorrow, matinee and night, comes from Boston. Not long ago he revisited the suburb Somerville, in which he was born. His father said to him, "Richard, you must call upon Mrs. Newton."

Now, the comedian had not the remotest idea who Mrs. Newton was, and he ventured to tell his paternal guide book as much. He was informed that this venerable woman was the motherly party who used to run out to the corner when Richard was on his way to school and hand him a red apple every morning. Mrs. Newton had read of the rising young comedian's fame, and she was most anxious to have the honor of a call from him.

So Mr. Carle, who was attired in gentlemanly afternoon garb, went over to make the call on the lady, who never in her long life had either seen the inside of a theater or come in contact with an actor.

After painfully expressing his great joy in again beholding the apple lady of his youth, and saying other incredible things, a youngster—the youthful daughter of the house—came in and stood close to Mr. Carle, with jaw dropping in expectant wonder. As the comedian was about to burst a blood vessel with embarrassment, the youngster said, blubberingly:

"Be funny."

Then Mr. Carle knew how little Pip used to feel when Dickens' Miss Faversham said, "Play."

REFUSES TO RECONSIDER

War Secretary Says the Bridge Affair Is Closed.

West Duluth Commercial Club Will Not Take Matter Up.

Congressman Clarence B. Miller received two telegrams from Washington in answer to his message to Acting Secretary of War Oliver Wednesday, requesting that the approval of the Northern Pacific plans for the construction of the Grassy Point bridge be reconsidered and the final decision delayed until those opposed to the plans have a chance to file their brief and petition to congress.

The answer from Mr. Oliver is brief, merely stating that the plans were approved on the 10th and that a copy of the decision and a letter on the subject will be sent to Mr. Miller. He had not received them this afternoon.

The other telegram is from Senator Clapp. Senator Clapp says that it was also his understanding that no action was to be taken until the brief had been filed, but that the approval by the war department probably closed the matter. It is Senator Clapp's opinion that nothing more can be done.

Mr Miller is out of the city today, and his views as to what further action should be taken, are not known. It has developed that Senator La Follette of Wisconsin has taken a hand in the bridge matter, and that it has been largely through his efforts that Secretary Oliver approved the Northern Pacific plans, it is claimed. Just why he should interest himself in behalf of the railroad company, is not known, but he has sent several messages on the subject to the war department and since the approval of the plans last Monday, has requested the department by wire not to listen to any attempts on the part of Duluth people to have the decision reconsidered.

The business interests of the city and of West Duluth in particular, have been unceasing in their efforts to have the railroad company compelled to erect the new bridge with accommodations for general traffic. These interests are not now disposed to lie down and give up the fight.

The future course to be pursued will be discussed at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club tonight. The business men of that part of the city feel that the matter is of too much importance to be dropped as long as there is a chance left to win out.

The Northern Pacific claims the right to rebuild the railroad bridge under a charter granted by the government in 1887 to the old St. Paul & Duluth Railway company. Several Duluth lawyers do not agree with the attorneys of the Northern Pacific that the company is entitled to rebuild under this charter. The Northern Pacific took over the St. Paul & Duluth road and became the assignee of all its rights and property, the old charter included.

Congressman Miller is inclined to believe that the charter of 1887 will not allow the Northern Pacific to rebuild without providing the needed foot and vehicle accommodations independent of the special legislation which it is proposed to get through congress.

The brief to the secretary of war was completed several days ago and that and the petition to congress will be forwarded if the approval of last Monday is to be reconsidered.

Gilbert Funeral.

The funeral of James C. Gilbert of West Duluth, who met death in a street car accident on Wednesday night, will be held Monday morning, at 9 o'clock, from the St. James' Catholic church. Father Lynch will preach the funeral sermon. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

Deceased is survived by his aged mother, one brother and two sisters, Mrs. H. Christman of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. M. St. Peters of Oscoda, Mich., both of whom are here to attend the funeral.

Mr. Gilbert was a member of the Longshoremen's union, under whose auspices the services will be conducted Monday. He also was a member in good standing of the Modern Maccabee lodge of Michigan.

Mr. Gilbert was living with his mother at 4618 Oneota street when the accident occurred.

Bullfrogs Are Swamped.

The Bullfrogs did not croak yesterday afternoon after they were defeated by another amateur baseball outfit styled the Tigers. The game was pulled off on the Fifty-second avenue grounds and the score of 16 to 5 was registered. The Tigers and the Bullfrogs will get together again tomorrow afternoon.

DOMESTIC TROUBLES

West Duluth Policemen Busy Settling Family Rows.

Four Officers Called to Adjust as Many Disputes.

Family trouble and domestic turmoil were responsible for four calls for an officer within the past twenty-four hours at the West Duluth police station.

A commotion at the home of August Kruger, Sixty-third avenue west and Elinor street, about 9 o'clock last evening, brought Officer Peters to the scene. That there had been a fistic encounter was evidenced by the fact that the officer found Mrs. Kruger with a bruised and bleeding head. Her husband had gone, according to the report of the officer.

Officer Peters camped for about an hour in the vicinity of the house, lying in wait for Kruger. As he did not make his appearance, Peters returned to the station. Shortly after midnight a hurry call from the Kruger home was again sent to headquarters, and Officer Noren was dispatched to the house.

Young Kruger, a son, according to the story of the officer, complained that his father was making a disturbance about the house and asked the officer to place him under arrest. The mother, with tears in her eyes, protested against the arrest of her husband.

The officer withdrew and left the family to settle their differences as they saw fit.

Another officer was called last evening to the home of Mrs. Jennie Lloyd, 215 South Fifty-ninth avenue west, to settle a dispute about a board bill. The money was handed over in the presence of Officer Anderson and the matter was then dropped.

Trouble between husband and wife at the Velie home, on Sixty-first avenue west and Raleigh street, last evening, was temporarily settled by the intervention of an officer. A policeman was also asked for last night at 5919 Raleigh street, where a family scrap was being waged when the officer appeared.

Open Season Sunday.

The Union Match company team, more commonly known in amateur baseball circles as the West Duluth Crescents, will open the season in the city league Sunday afternoon with a game with the Union Clothing company outfit. The game will be played on the Fifty-second avenue grounds. The two teams clashed last Sunday in a practice affair and the Crescents were victorious. Telbot and Swanstrom are doing the battery work for the match company crew.

Attend Superior Meeting.

The members of the Young People's Union of teh Baptist church will meet this evening at the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Grand avenue, at 6:30 o'clock. From there they will take a car to Superior, to attend the Lake Superior Baptist association rally, which is held this evening at the Cumming Avenue M. E. church in Superior.

Duncan McLean has taken out a building permit for the erection of a frame building on the east side of Fifty-seventh avenue west, between Seventh and Eighth streets. It is to cost $2,500.

Manuel Bouska returned yesterday to his home in West Duluth, after his trip to Minot, N. D.

Stereopticon pictures on the "Passion Play of Oberammagau" will be given Sunday evening, May 23, at St. Clement's Catholic church by J. Drummond of Cleveland, Ohio. "The Holy City" and "The Palms" will be sung while the pictures are flashed on the screen.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dolan of Chicago, who have been in West Duluth a few days on their wedding tour, have gone to St. Paul, en route to their home in the Windy City.

Mrs. G. H. Anderson of North Fifty-eighth avenue west is at Staples, Minn., on a visit with relatives.

The West Duluth organization of Socialists will hold the last rally of the season Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Victor hall. A large attendance is expected.

Miss Alice Greene of Minneapolis is the guest of West Duluth friends for a few days.

The clubrooms of the Duluth Gun club at Sixty-third avenue west are to be remodeled to accommodate the increasing membership. The work will begin next week. Many West Duluthians are joining the club this year.

COURT UPHOLDS MAYOR TAYLOR

Grand Forks Executive Has Right to Remove Appointive Officer.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Templeton today decided the case involving the mayor's right to remove an appointed officer. He upheld the contention of Mayor Taylor, deciding that a mayor has the power to remove an officer and refused to issue a writ of mandamus against the mayor and the auditor for the payment of ex-Street Commissioner Burick's salary.

FARMER-STILLWATER CASE ECHO IN SUPREME COURT.

St. Paul, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—An echo of the H. C. Farmer-Stillwater Water company case was heard today, when the supreme court affirmed the findings of the Washington county district court, awarding J. C. Nethaway fees to the amount of $10,000 as attorney for the plaintiff.

This is one of the famous legal controversies of the state. It had its inception in a horse deal and ended in H. C. Farmer, the plaintiff in the case, coming into possession of $50,000 in stock in the water company and about $11,000 in cash.

The case has been before the supreme court five times, the last being on a refusal on the part of Farmer to pay his attorney the fee demanded.

JAIL DEATH MYSTERY.

Calumet and Houghton County Is Stirred Over Fred Gribben's Case.

Calumet, Mich., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—With no more congenial surroundings than the bars of the Red Jacket village jail, Fred Gribben died Tuesday evening, and therein lies a mystery which the police officials of Calumet and the sheriff of the county are attempting to unravel.

An autopsy conducted by Dr. O. H. Kohlhaas of Calumet revealed that death was the resnult of concussion of the brain, but whether this was the result of a blow from some blunt instrument dealt by the hand of a murderer, or was the result of a fall, is unknown, and the police officers are attempting to solve the mystery.

Gribben was known to have visited several saloons in Renova Monday evening and departed for his boarding house at a very late hour. His whereabouts were unknown until riscovered by Officer Hand Tuesday. In an effort to discover his identity the officers searched his pockets and discovered a pay book issued by the Allouez Mining company. It is known that he had considerable money in his possession on Monday, but it is claimed by those who know him that he forwarded the larger portion of this to relatives in England that day.

KITCHENER A GARDENER.

General Proposes to Collect Orchids on a Large Scale.

Calcutta, May 14.—Gen. Lord Kitchener, who leaves India next August for home, has lately been devoting a great amount of his spare time to gardening, which has been for many years a favorite recreation of his.

His official residence in the fort here possesses rather extensive grounds, and these he keeps under his personal supervision when he is staying there. He is a very early riser, and gives two or three hours every morning to his gardens, digging and trimming the soil with all the ardor of a professional.

He has of late years taken great interest in orchid culture, and has visited recently some of the more famous of the Bengal collections.

It is his intention, when he settles down in England, to purchase a small estate, somewhere within easy reach of London, where there is space to collect orchids on a large scale.

DRESDEN, N. D., FIRE.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 14.—(Special to The Herald. The Cargill elevator at Dresden and three Great Northern box cars were burned early yesterday. The loss is about $13,000. The residence of Senator Henry McLean was burned to the ground near Hannah and the sleeping occupants had a thrilling escape from death in the flames. All their clothing and furniture, except a piano, were destroyed, causing a total loss of about $5,000, partially covered by insurance.

THE PERILS OF PEACE.

The insurance estimate of the army of wage-earners withdrawn from industry last year by death or maiming in industrial occupations places its strength—or its weakness—at 500,000.

Anything that will stop or lessen this fearful havoc is worth considering. If a war were in progress, involving that much waste of human life and energies, the world would pause aghast with horror. Peaceful industry maims and slays its hundreds of thousands annually, and its havoc attracts little notice at all.

A society of public-spirited men has established a system of "museums of safety and sanitation," where industrialists may go to learn how to avoid killing or maiming themselves and those who work in their shops, factories, mines, fields, railways, buildings and ships. There all available devices which will diminish this woeful waste of human life and strength are exhibited and demonstrated. Wood and metal-working machinery; stamping, grinding and polishing machinery; presses; cranes and hoisting machinery; transportation security by sea and land; safety lamps and explosives; quarrying, agricultural and chemical industries; safety from fire—all these are represented. Also, there will be a section of sanitation, to include improved dwellings, first aid to the injured, prevention of industrial diseases, respirators and methods of supplying pure air and insuring health.

Perhaps these museums will be used to advertise patented devices seeking a market. But if these devices will work, and will save lives and limbs, they ought to be advertised, and this is one good way of doing it—by demonstration.

The project is an important one, and worthy of public support. If the ten museums which are to be established will promote the use of safety devices and sanitary methods, whatever their character so long as they work for safer industry and healthier working conditions, they will be worth while.

This matter divides itself into two important points: the prevention of industrial injuries and the proper compensation of injured workmen. Minnesota has made a start in the latter subject by creating a commission to study conditions and frame a law. But it is far better, though the two campaigns may well go hand in hand, to prevent injuries by compelling the use of safety appliances. If there are no injured workmen, the need of a compensation act vanishes. Work at the source by making industry safer is not less important than work to secure proper compensation to injured wage-earners.

AS TO ANDERSONVILLE.

When The Herald reluctantly touched yesterday upon the matter of the monument to Capt. Wirz of Andersonville prison it was with no thought of returning to it, for nothing is to be gained by debate upon a subject which had best be forgotten as speedily as may be. Yet a defense of Wirz and the monument movement in the Nashville, Tenn., Banner goes so unconsciously yet so directly to the heart of the matter that it is impossible to refrain from calling attention to it. After the usual statements that the prisoners of Andersonville were little worse off than Confederate soldiers, and that it was the poverty of the Confederacy that was responsible for the deprivations of both, the Banner says that the real reason for the sufferings of prisoners was Grant's refusal to exchange. This is probably the truth. Grant's refusal to exchange, though inhumane from one viewpoint, was a military policy growing out of military necessity. He sacrificed the Northern prisoners then as he sacrificed Northern soldiers at Cold Harbor and in the Wilderness—the quicker to crush the rebellion. Had an exchange been negotiated, the South would have been able to hold out longer, and the sacrifice of life would have been greater in the end on both sides.

If there was a settled policy back of the mistreatment of prisoners in Andersonville—which we are not ready to charge—its object was to enforce the exchange of prisoners and perhaps, incidentally, to revenge upon the prisoners in Andersonville the failure of the Federal authorities to consent to such an exchange. But this is a matter of long ago, and nothing is to be accomplished by debating it except the revival of bitterness that should be forgotten. Yet there would have been no occasion for bringing it up again had the Southern people not exhibited the ill taste of honoring Capt. Wirz just when good feeling seemed to have cemented all breaches caused by the Civil war.

BEING FAIR TO THE DRUNKARD.

Several states have recognized by their laws that the drunkard is a diseased man and not a criminal, and there are good prospects that the old iniquity of treating drunkards as bad men instead of as sick men will ultimately be abolished in this country.

Minnesota was one of the first states to take a step in this direction, though it has not gone so far as some states. It has provided for a state farm for inebriates, and an ample fund is being raised by a tax of 2 per cent upon the receipts from liquor licenses. Before very long the farm and its necessary buildings will be ready, and then there will be a place to send men who have let drink get the upper hand of them.

New Jersey took quite an important step along this line this year. Its legislature has enacted quite an elaborate law designed for the protection of the public against the evils of inordinate appetites for liquor, and for the protection of victims of the drink habit against themselves.

The new law requires the local government of every city to appoint a "board of protectors," consisting of three reputable citizens, whose special duty it shall be to investigate the causes and amounts of drunkenness within its jurisdiction, and to apply certain remedies in individual cases. This board is empowered to forbid the selling of liquor to a person who, in its opinion, is already a drunkard or in danger of becoming one. If the family or friends of a man who drinks observe alarming developments in his case, they may quietly bring the matter to the board's attention. If, after investigation, the board concludes that that man's appetite for liquor is getting the better of him, and that he is in danger of becoming a drunkard, his case may be taken in hand. Every dispenser of drink in the community may be warned officially not to sell liquor to him, under heavy penalties. With few exceptions, saloon men will doubtless be found ready to co-operate in this work.

Bear in mind that the man whose case is taken up by the board of protectors need not be a notorious drunkard. He may not even think, himself, that he is on the way to becoming one. Many a steady drinker who fancies that he has his appetite under firm control has gone much further down the path that leads to ruin than he imagines, and certainly if he has reached the stage where he believes that he must have liquor regularly, he is a drunkard even if he doesn't sink to the gutters.

The Japanese say that "first a man takes a drink, then the drink takes a drink, and then the drink takes the man." That is the history of most cases where men become habitual users of stimulants. The appetite grows by what it feeds upon, and with its growth goes a steady deterioration in moral and physical fiber, until finally hardened arteries and inflamed membranes, with a weakened will and a drowned conscience, form the materials for complete disaster. If laws can be framed that will save men from this fate, they are good laws.

GRADE SCHOOL GRADUATIONS.

It was stated in The Herald last evening that the graduating exercises of the Duluth grade schools will be held in the afternoon instead of in the evening, in order to prevent a recurrence of the rowdyism that followed last year's exercises.

The unfortunate part of this is that it will prevent many parents from attending the exercises. Most of them are busy in the daytime, and few will be able to attend afternoon exercises, though most of them would gladly go in the evening. It will be unfortunate if the exercises are held when it is impossible for parents to attend them.

As to the rowdyism, there is yet no satisfactory showing that it is impossible to cope with it. The general understanding is that the chief offenders last year were high school boys, not eighth grade children. High school boys are old enough to be responsible for their acts, and if a few policemen were detailed with orders to arrest all disturbers it is probable that there would be little rowdyism. The lesson in such a proceeding would be far more wholesome, and productive of a better impulse toward orderly citizenship in these young people, than the policy of giving in to the rowdies by holding the exercises in the daytime. A continuance of the old custom of night exercises, accompanied by a vigorous effort to maintain order, would permit parents to witness the graduating exercises, and might teach some valuable lessons to youthful rowdies.

A RIDICULOUS PROPOSAL.

> There should be a revision of the Constitution which would make the senators represent territory instead of population. The large cities are growing much faster than the country and the proportion in their favor will increase, as every business of any great importance must be located in one of the three large cities on account of the railroad facilities and discrimination in freight rates in their favor.

Absurd, isn't it? Yet it isn't the first time the proposal has been made. Senator J. W. Wright of Meeker county distinguished himself as a member of the senate reapportionment committee by making the same suggestion and, indeed, arguing for it very vigorously, with many bitter remarks about the unholiness of the cities.

While Northern Minnesota would, for the present at least, gain in representation by this method, because its territory is much more sparsely settled than that of Southern Minnesota, the plan is unthinkable. Members of the legislature—"representatives," they are called in the lower branch—must represent people, not territory. It is the people's interests they are supposed to represent and foster, not the interests of sections or sectionalism. It would be quite as fair to propose that senators should represent property instead of people, and that representation should be based on assessed valuation. Then, instead of having less than 5 per cent of the senate membership, St. Louis county would have 25 per cent—sixteen senators instead of three. But that wouldn't be fair, because senators should not represent property, but people. It would be quite as fair, however, as the proposal to have senators represent territory, if not fairer.

What the territorial representation plan would mean is that people in the country would have ten times the power in the senate that people in the cities would have. Hennepin county, with 300,000 people, would have the same representation in the senate as, say, Rice county, with about the same area but only 26,000 people. A citizen of Rice county would have twelve times as much power in the senate as a citizen of Hennepin county. That disproportion would increase with time, as the Buffalo Journal naively says.

Of course there is no danger that such a plan will receive widespread support. It is too much to say that it will not be taken seriously; Senator Wright was very serious about it, and did not seem to realize the absurdity of his position. The Buffalo Journal is also serious about it, and its sense of humor seems for the moment to have been overcome by that seriousness. But it shows, nevertheless, to what lengths the unprogressive and harmful prejudice of the country against the city will sometimes go. The only object of the plan, of course, would be to put the cities in everlasting bondage to the country, when city and country ought to be working shoulder to shoulder for the good of all the state.

It would be quite as sensible and quite as just to base legislative representation upon a count of pine stumps, or a census of farm animals, or an enumeration of windmills, as it would be to base it upon mere area instead of population.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Jack Horrigan of Virginia, who is at the Lenox, and was one of the directors of the Virginia Baseball association, says that the reason Virginia may not be represented on the diamond this year with a semi-professional team is that salaries are being paid on the range that are entirely too high for the population of the range towns.

Mr. Horrigan points to the case of Oscar Graham, who pitched last year for Virginia. This man is at the present time pitching for Indianapolis in the American association and is one of the best pitchers in the league. He was paid a big league salary by Virginia. In fact he came to that town for the reason that he could make more than he could in the league.

Until the managers of teams pay smaller salaries to the players, Mr. Horrigan is of the opinion that baseball on the range will never prove a paying proposition. He attributes the high salaries that are paid on the range, salaries that are higher than the salaries paid by the managers of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league teams, to the great rivalry between Hibbing and Virginia. The desire on the part of the citizens of the two towns to humble the pride of their fellow citizens in the dust of defeat has made them desirous of securing good players at any cost.

Salaries that are out of all proportion to the drawing abilities of the two towns have been paid. Mr. Horrigan says that the men back of the team in Virginia have found that the proposition is a losing one. He also states that many people on the range are in favor of having amateur teams to represent the different range towns, believing that there would be just as much interest taken in the team, while the citizens would not be asked to dig so deep in their pockets to wipe out a deficit.

Mr. Horrigan says it does not look as if Virginia will be represented by a team the present season. Hibbing will have almost the same team that represented that city last year—the team that was defeated for the Healy cup. Mr. Horrigan reminds you. Chisholm will probably have a team, though it is doubtful if that city will have as strong a team as Hibbing. There will be plenty of baseball upon the range, but the people up there are beginning to believe that it is rather unwise to attempt to pay big league salaries in towns that are below the population of class D towns, and the present season will probably result in a change in this regard.

Attorney C. R. Woods of Chisholm was at the St. Louis yesterday. Mr. Woods says the progress of "the best town upon the range" is at the present time very rapid. Mr. Woods also states that when the building of the new Chisholm is completed it will be the finest, the best built and the most up-to-date town upon the entire range.

Joseph Hurley of Pine City, who is also at the St. Louis, says that J. Adam Bede returned to Pine City the other day with a smile that looked for all the world as if the birchbark statesman was upon the best terms with his fellow-men and the world in general.

When Cannon is mentioned to Mr. Bede a broad and suggestive smile overspreads his countenance, according to Mr. Hurley.

Robert Stratton, city attorney of Hibbing, was at the Spalding yesterday. Mr. Stratton was one of the range men who worked so hard for the creation of another judgeship for the Eleventh judicial district. He says that the appointment of the additional judge has already worked an improvement in the legal affairs of the northern half of the county, because it has resulted in business being transacted at home.

J. E. Lindgren of Cook, who is at the Lenox, says that this year the extreme northern part of St. Louis county will make an effort to assist in making the St. Louis county exhibit at the Minnesota state fair the best display that has ever represented this county.

The coming of the potato special to that part of the county has resulted in increased interest in agricultural products, and Supt. Hostetter of the agricultural department of the Commercial club has succeeded in securing promises from many of the farmers in the district of Cook to send in products for the county exhibit. As Mr. Hostetter exacted the promise in other places that were visited by the farmer institute instructors, it is probable that he will succeed in getting a very large exhibit from the northern part of the state.

Mr. Lindgren says wheat grown in the vicinity of Cook will be sent to the exhibit, and will be among the first exhibits ever sent to the state fair from the extreme northern part of St. Louis county, where a few years ago there was nothing but forest and stumpage.

THE WEATHER.

Yesterday's delightful summer weather was followed this morning by leaden skies and a healthful young northeaster. The weather man looks for showers tonight and Sunday, with winds from the lake.

A year ago today a northeaster was blowing.

The sun rose this morning at 4:32 and will set this afternoon at 7:35, making fifteen hours and three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Barometric depressions of moderate intensity are central over Kansas and to the northward of the Dakotas. During the past twenty-four hours these disturbances caused warmer weather in the Dakotas and Atlantic states and light to copious rains throughout the lake region, North Atlantic and Central Valley states and the extreme Northwest. An area of high barometric pressure off the North Pacific coast is causing colder weather in British Columbia, Eastern Washington and Western Montana. Cooler weather also prevails in the lake region attending a rise in pressure over that district."

He Used to Be a Journalist Himself.

There's a Pythian sort of friendship
That exists between the men
Who earn their bread by writing for the press;
'Tis a hyper-magic feeling that defies the common pen—
Akin to Ancient Masonry, I guess!
In the greenroom of the Temple of the Brotherhood Who Write—
In paths that lead to lasting fame and pelf—
You may often hear the password as it rings upon the night:
"I used to be a journalist myself!"
'Tis a key that opens prisons, and the dungeons of the soul,
Those simple words that make the two akin,
And the writer greets the stranger and he leads him to the goal
Where friendship abounds and bids him in;
Then across the shining table they recount the tales that stir—
Unsparingly the host deals out his pelf,
For he knows the guest is thirsty when those golden words recur:
"I used to be a journalist myself!"
Ah, the test of life is friendship! I have found it ever so:
I've heard the mystic password in the strife—
I have taken in the stranger and I've seen the stranger go—
The very saddest moments of my life!
And my sorrow only freshens, if indeed my sorrow can,
As misty-eyed, I see upon the shelf
All the "I. O. U's" they left me—each at the relic of a man
Who "used to be a journalist himself!"

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: He is anything but a good barber who cuts an acquaintance.

The pessimist doesn't bore us with his alleged funny stories.

A man may know his wife like a book, but he can't shut her up like one.

How it tickles a man's vanity when he is asked to settle a disputed point!

A woman is never willing to admit that her shoes are too small or her feet too big.

And lots of men make fools of themselves by doing the fool things they are invited to do.

You can always flatter a woman by asking her opinion of something she knows nothing about.

The man who marries a garrulous woman for her money soon begins to realize the fact that money talks.

Don't boast because you have never been in jail. Possibly the officers of the law were not on to their jobs.

About the only way for a married man to keep out of debt is to give his wife all the money she needs.

After the foolish virgin has figured in an elopement she usually takes a course of instructions in the art of illumination.

In after years when a man finally tumbles to the fact that he doesn't understand women he can't help suspecting that he has been a fool.

A Family Affair.

Success Magazine: "Cordelia," ordered the teacher, "throw that gum in the waste basket!"

The pupil's face grew scarlet, but she did not stir.

"If you do not put that gum in the waste basket immediately, I will send you out of the room," said the teacher gravely.

The girl walked reluctantly to the desk. "I can't teacher," she confessed, "it's ma's gum, an' she'll lick me if I come home without it."

The Signal.

I do not care to signal Mars,
I have no wish to know
What men are doing on the stars
That yonder faintly glow;
Across the courtroom where I sit
There is a lady fair,
Whose fingers o'er the keyboard flit
And I would signal there.

Let others send their signals out
Across the gulfs of space,
I daily watch her frisk about,
A smile upon her face;
The court between us two must be
Full eighty feet across,
And always near her side I see
Her ever-watchful boss.

I do not care at all to know
How men on Mars may dwell,
But, oh, I wish that I might show
A signal she could spell.
A signal that she might be got
To see and understand—
Stay! Am I dreaming? I am not!
She has just waved her hand.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Virginia Virginian: If there happens to be anything in the bank account after the spring clothes are purchased, exult not. Summer vacation time is coming.

St. Peter Free Press: There seems to be no disposition on the part of some of our late solons to retire from politics, under the pleas of too much business. It is a remarkable coincidence that the voters at home appear to be in accord with that sentiment.

Fairmont Sentinel: Oh, no! The voters won't do a thing to the Cannonites and the Aldrichites in the next congressional elections. We can hardly wait for the fighting to begin!

Mora Times: There is a great deal of dissatisfaction throughout Northern Minnesota because the legislature failed to reapportion the legislative districts of the state. The present apportionment of senators and representatives is a rank injustice to the north half of the state, but the south half has a majority of the legislature, and as this body is the one to make a reapportionment, it is a very difficult task to get any relief for this section. Unless a special session is called for the purpose, Northern Minnesota cannot look for relief for four years at the least. The subject is such a vital one to a large section of the state that we think the governor would be justified in calling an extra session next winter to pass a new law. If the legislature was called together on reapportionment, the southern members would find it very difficult to refuse to pass a reapportionment bill.

Sauk Center Herald: Newspaper comment on the late lamented Minnesota legislature does not average up in a very complimentary style.

Foley Independent: While it is yet too early to commence to speculate upon the probable Republican nominee for governor two years hence, the would-be slate makers should bear in mind that R. C. Dunn must not be eliminated from their calculations. We doubt very much if there is today a man in the Republican party of Minnesota who possesses more staunch friends than does Mr. Dunn. The party is gradually awakening to the fact that he has been shabbily dealt with and we firmly believe that he must be accorded full justice before victory shall again perch upon our banner.

Paynesville Press: If an increased revenue from other sources decreased the amount of taxes of the people this paper is interested in, then we should certainly favor the tonnage tax bill, but in view of the fact that past experience has demonstrated that increased revenue breeds additional extravagance in the administration of the state's affairs, we are inclined to sympathize with the people of Duluth and the range towns against the proposed law.

Winona Independent: Senators can see no reason or need for an income tax when it is so much easier to tax the poor man's necessities.

Albert Lea Tribune: It is time for members of both houses of congress to exercise real patriotism and look after the welfare of the whole country rather than a favored few. Peanut politics seem to have the right of way in congress as well as in the state legislature, where little fellows attempt to gain popularity by prejudicing one section of a community against another, thus retarding the progress that would otherwise be made.

Salubrious Tombstone.

Tombstone Epitaph: Nobody ever dies in Tombstone, unless—they brought it "with'm" or fall into a 600-foot vertical shaft, or buy an automobile, or "sass" their mother-in-law, or try to thaw out powder, or mistake cyanide of potassium for sugar, or start off a county seat removal racket. Some die of old age, some old partners of Daniel Boone, but none have ever been known to die from physical irregularities contracted in Tombstone, aside from the above mentioned causes, and occasionally an abnormal tightness about the throat, superinduced by a coil of manila rope, or from a cold caught through a hole made by a .45.

Bostonese.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: In Boston they call him Tahft. But that's nothing to what they called his predecessor.

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Puck: Philosophy is finding out how many things there are in the world which you can't have if you want them, and don't want if you can have them.

Home Herald: The minister had just been giving the class a lesson on the Prodigal Son. At the finish, to test what attention had been paid to his preaching, he asked: "Who was sorry that the prodigal had returned?" The most forward youngster in the class breathlessly answered: "The fatted calf!"

Chicago News: De Flatt—Is it true that you once bribed an officer of the law?

Suburb—You can call it a bribe if you want to. I gave a policeman $2 to induce our cook to stay.

Punch: Grannie (anxious to be allowed to read in peace)—And what are you going to do now, my dear?

Elizabeth — Well, grannie, I've thought it over, and I've decided to devote myself to you till bedtime.

Atlanta Constitution: "It's mighty bright weather."

"Oh, yes; but trouble's a-comin'!"

"Haven't any objection to the sunshine, have you?"

"Oh, no; except that it's too bright for my poor old eyes."

Cleveland Leader: "Did you ever know a fellow who was glad he was poor."

"Yep."

"I don't believe it."

"It's true. He was the living skeleton in a side show, and got $150 a week for it."

Detroit Free Press: "What made you set 9 o'clock as the time for your dinner party? I never heard of such an outlandish hour."

"It was necessary. I'm going to wear one of those 500-button dresses that night, and I can't possibly be ready before that time."

Philadelphia Ledger: "Do you think that most people nowadays worship money?"

"No, I won't go as far as that," answered the home-grown philosopher, "but I will say that the love of money is seldom platonic."

Houston Post: "I see that that old fellow who was always complaining that life was not worth living is a cripple; how did that happen?"

"He broke his leg getting out of the way of a freight train."

Detroit Free Press: "I'm not going to invite Mr. and Mrs. Brown over here to play cards any more."

"What's the matter? Don't you like Brown?"

"Oh, he's all right, but she's a positive bore. She won't discuss scandal, millinery or cake recipes during the game."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The surest way for a man to get up a flirtation with a girl is to let her do it.

The one way a man can never learn to understand a woman is by marrying her.

It's just like finding money for the shops when a man gets ready to have a family.

The thing that makes a man very tolerant of people is not to be related to them.

A surplus is that part of your income that would remain with you except for the fact that it never does.

TWO HOMES HAVE BEEN BROKEN UP

And One Man Killed as Result of Illicit Love.

Rosedale, Miss., May 14.—Two homes have been wrecked, one husband's confidence in woman has been shattered and one woman's faith in her husband has been rudely destroyed following a tragedy which resulted in the death of Jesse Pace, whose widow asked in the good name of her children for letters boasted of by T. L. Jones, who killed Pace, claiming that Pace had ruined his home.

Jones declared he had letters in his possession to prove that Jones had betrayed his wife. He also declared that Mrs. Jones had not denied her guilt when accused, and when attorneys for Mrs. Pace informed Jones in jail that her wishes were not for prosecution in event the facts were proved, Jones submitted letters purported to have been addressed to Mrs. Jones and signed by Pace.

"My own precious girlie" and "my own darling" were words used in endearing terms as starters.

The writer also continued: "I cannot live without you. I have read your letter ten times. I cannot live without you, so what are we to do?

"I am all by myself tonight; wish you were with me that I could take you in my arms and tell you how I love you. Fate is unkind to us. I know there is no sense to what I am writing, but call me Saturday and tell me that you will go. Kisses and some more."

The grand jury is in session. It is said Jones will apply immediately for divorce and that Mrs. Jones will leave the community. Mrs. Pace, it is said, will not assist any movement to prosecute.

The Paces are among the wealthiest people in Bolivar.

THE HEIGHT OF FASHION

Smart Women in London Carrying Their Own Parcels Now.

American Hostess Who Is Too Generous With Her Invitations.

London, May 14.—It is the height of the fashion just now for smart women to carry their own parcels, regardless of size. You may see them at the most swagger West end shops declining the offices of the shopwalker, the outside porter, or, indeed, their own footman.

This idea is not exactly new, for as long ago as last winter I saw the duchess of Roxburghe and her grace of Marlborough both carting about in their arms things which fashionable English women would not hitherto dream of loading themselves with. The duchess of Roxburghe was going into a shoe shop in Bond street with what seemed to be a box of shoes, while the duchess of Marlborough had in her hand a huge toy, which she was evidently returning to Gamage.

Now all the smartest women in London are hanging around with pasteboard boxes as wide as themselves. The other day I saw the countess of Crewe in Belgrave square with a huge box in her hand. She was with Mrs. Winston Churchill, and both women seemed to think it was real fun to be their own porter.

At swell hotels, too, you may note the most chic women going up and down the lift with their own parcels, discarding the attention of the amazed page boy. They will carry the box or basket right out to the carriage. It used to be a cardinal sin to dream of touching a parcel more than two inches square. London shops are willing to send you a package of needles, but it seems as though the latest idea will mean yet another grievance for the working classes.

Too Free With Invitations.

Mme. Gronitch is giving a series of delightful parties at her house in Pont street, one of the nicest in the row and always a mass of the most exquisite blooms. She is the American wife of the Servian charge d'affaires. Somehow, members of that legation do not rank in importance with officials from other embassies, but, of course, Mme. Gronitch would be smart anywhere.

She is of the charming and generous order and gives invitations unwisely' breadcast. It is a case of bringing "your friend and your friend's friend, always a diplomatic and social error, however kindly intended. It makes people's invitations cheap, and to be cheap is fatal in London. All the same, the kind-hearted people are full of praise of Mme. Gronitch, and they say she is just lovely. She has a splendid chef, and her parties are beautifully done. Each guest receives a welcome which suggests that she is just the one person the hostess most desires to see. At one of her late gatherings people were asking who was the weird individual with ginger hair, wearing yards of paste chains and beads. People like that are enough to ruin any gathering. It would seem she was brought by some friend and was quite unknown to the hostess.

It is expected that Mme. Gronitch will do a great deal during the summer. She makes a wonderful contrast to her solemn-looking husband, who, notwithstanding his apparent severity, is very genial and pleasant, and does all his wife tells him in social matters. At least, so it is said.

The Rosebery Jewels.

Various beautiful and interesting American girls have been reported engaged to Lord Dalmeny at one time or another. That their chaperones have played for him is well known. No one ever says that the Yankee girl herself runs after a man. She does it so cleverly that she defies detection. That the future earl of Rosebery has been smitten by the charms of a few Yankee girls is always admitted. In at least one case he allowed the soft impeachment himself. The affair went so far that a few days before his marriage an old friend asked him at the club how it was he had not married Miss So and So. His reply was:

"My dear old chap, I never intend that my wife shall lead me by the nose. If I were to marry an American I know that is precisely what would happen. I have sampled a good round half-a-dozen and more, and I have invariably found that they are all too much of the missus to suit my requirements."

Not only will the future Lord Rosebery be one of the richest peers in England, but his wife will wear some of the most wonderful jewels. The late Lady Rosebery was a Rothschild with wealth untold, and she had a mania for jewels which beat that of any American that ever visited these shores. She would do almost anything to acquire a stone upon which she had set her heart. One small string of pearls which now becomes Lady Dalmeny's is worth $250,000. There is nothing to match it, even among the duchess of Marlborough's. Lord Rosebery kept all his dead wife's jewels for the woman his son would marry, and though his daughters, Lady Sybil Grant and the countess of Crewe, both pleaded hard for some of them, he would not allow even a stray trinket to leave the enormous safe in which they are kept. The jewel safe is the largest thing of its kind in England, and has five different locks. It is half a ton in weight. It has been locked since the death of Lady Rosebery

CLUB HOME IS OPENED

Crookston Commercial Club Celebrates Entering New Quarters.

Notable Event in Polk County Seat Held Thursday Evening.

Crookston, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The formal opening of the magnificent new club home of the Commercial Club of Crookston, comprising a suite of nine rooms and occupying the entire third floor of the Union block on Robert street, took place last evening, and was one of the most elaborate social functions, as well as one of the most important, in the history of Crookston. Only club members and their ladies were invited, and about 400 were present.

An excellent program, including orchestral selections, selections by the Viking chorus, the Viking male quartet, readings by Miss Mayme Westerberg, cornet solos by Director Wasshausen of the Crookston band, who made his initial bow to the people of Crookston, having just arrived from Chicago, and flute by Ludvig Dahlgren, was carried out, following an address by President H. C. Misner of the Commercial club. Thomas Morris presided at the gathering.

The program was followed by a ball and banquet of an elaborate character, and the affair marks a new era in the history of the Commercial club.

Discover Musical Genius.

There is an interesting story in connection with Mr. Dahlgren of Argyle, who appeared on the program in several flute solos. He arrived from Norway only about a year ago. He could not speak a word of English and went to Argyle, where he has since been working on the Great Northern road as a section hand. It soon developed that he was a flute player above the ordinary and he became affiliated with the Argyle band. Last Sunday he went to Minneapolis, having been sent for by the leader of the Symphony orchestra, who had been told of his ability by a traveling man. The result of one rehearsal was that he had affixed his name to a contract with that organization for a year.

He is a very unassuming young man, but can fairly make a flute talk, and with no apparent effort. Director Wasshausen states that with the training he will receive with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra he will develop into a player within a short time of world-wide reputation, as, without any special advantages, he is one of the best in the country today.

POWDER BETTER THAN SOAP.

Soap in powder form is the modern cleanser, not only because the powder is more convenient, but it is more economical, as well as being more efficient.

Gold Dust, one of the first and the best examples of soap powder, can be used more economically than a soap, because the quantity desired can be measured out and no more used; while with a soap the whole cake or a portion of it must be put into the water, wasting more than is really needed, and soaking the rest of the cake with water, which does not improve it. On the contrary, some soaps lose much of their goodness by leaving the unused part of the cake in water.

Even if only one ounce of soap desired is "shaved" off, some time is required for dissolving it, while Gold Dust dissolves immediately, at the same time dissolving the hard lime and other "salts," making the water as soft as rain water and making a sweet, cleansing suds.

The Power to Do Good

And the Power to Be Good Are Much the Same.

One writer has truly said during sleep and rest, sufficient energy and strength should be supplied for tomorrow's work. If you will learn how to allow perfect relaxation to take place in every part of your body and how to fall asleep whenever you desire, you will need no other remedy than good food to keep you in perfect physical condition.

A food does not need to be heavy to be strengthening. Wheat possesses every element found in the human body and Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes, a dainty, delicious breakfast food, always ready to serve, contains all the nourishment and strength of wheat in easily digested form.

Be sure it's Egg-O-See you get, for it's the famous and original Egg-O-See process that makes Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes and the E-C Corn Flakes so dainty, so appetizing and so strengthening. A breakfast of either means a satisfied appetite, a grateful stomach and a good day's work free from "nervous headaches" or dullness. Be sure it's the Egg-O-See product. Always watch for the E-C Mark on the package.

MARINE

ENGINEERS WILL MEET

Will Vote on Whether to Demand 15 Per Cent Increase.

Steamer Gratwick Arrives With Salt Water Engine Room Crew.

The Duluth local of the Marine Engineers' association will meet this evening to take action on the proposed demand for a 15 per cent increase of wages. The matter has been discussed informally for the past week, and the vote at tonight's meeting will be practically unanimous in favor of demanding an increase in pay.

Said one of the leading members this morning: "Tomorrow will be the last day that union men will contract to work on vessels controlled by the Lake Carriers' association, provided they want to hire us without the welfare clause. After tomorrow night our price will be 15 per cent higher than at present, even with the objectionable clause eliminated.

"Of course we do not imagine the Lake Carriers will work themselves sick looking up union engineers between now and tomorrow night, but we are sure that the time is coming when they will not be able to run their boats with the kind of help they are now getting."

Union meetings will be held at most of the lake ports tonight, and the question of basic pay discussed. The sentiment of the majority of members of the local lodges will determine whether the international union will demand an increase or not.

The steamer Gratwick of the Duluth-Chicago Transportation company, now in port, is the first lake carrier, so far as known, that has come in with a salt water engine room crew. The men joined the vessel in Chicago, due, it is said, to union activity in keeping lake engineers from signing. This is the Gratwick's first trip this season to the Head of the Lakes.

Just what the longshoremen will do is still uncertain. The sympathy of the men is with the strikers, but the officials of the union are averse to hasty action.

President T. V. O'Connor of the International Longshoremen's association has sent out a call for a meeting, to be held in Cleveland next week, at which delegates will be present from all the ports of the Great Lakes. He declined to say what action would be taken, but said the question of a sympathetic strike would be left to the members.

It is reported that the Duluth local has met and that the sentiment of the men on the strike question will be voiced by the Duluth delegates at the Cleveland meeting next week.

WILL FLY THE CANADIAN FLAG

Steamer Rome Has Been Sold to Consolidated Steamship Company.

The steamer Rome, for thirty years owned by the Western Transit company and operated by that company as a package freighter in American waters has been sold to the Consolidated Steamship company and hereafter will fly the Union Jack.

The Rome arrived in Duluth yesterday morning with a consignment of package freight. She will leave this port light for Fort Arthur, where she will be given Canadian registry. Hereafter the vessel will run between Port Arthur, Fort Williams and Port Colborne. The sale price of the vessel has not been given out.

The Rome is one of the old-time vessels and is better known in Lake Michigan than at the Head of the Lakes, though she has been in Duluth many times. The vessel was built in 1870, and since then has plied regularly between Chicago and Buffalo. The Rome has the old style deck arch braces, which were abandoned in ship construction years ago. She is a wooden vessel, 265 feet long, with a gross tonnage of 1,847 tons.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The first devotional service to be held at the new building of the Young Women's Christian association will be held Sunday afternoon vesper service, which will be an informal meeting. There will be no regular speaker. The meeting will probably be held in the lobby or the secretary's office, as there will be no service held in the assembly room until the dedicatory exercises.

The gymnasium classes are meeting regularly in the new gymnasium. Special interest is entertained for the swimming pool and the bowling alleys, neither of which are yet open to the members. A large number of the association members are seriously thinking of learning the art of swimming, and during the spring weeks the classes in this branch promise to be almost overcrowded.

The membership contest which was conducted the six weeks before moving to the new building, resulted in 618 new memberships and renewals being added to the roll. One of the first social affairs to be held at the new building will be a banquet at which the guests will be the workers in that contest.

Housecleaning.

Redwood Falls Gazette: Tell me, ye winged wings that around my pathway roar, do ye not know some quiet spot where wives clean house no more; some lone, sequestered dale, some island, oceangirt where life is not one ceaseless war with cobwebs and with dirt; where only nature's carpet spreads beneath their tired feet, and wretched men are ne'er compelled its emerald folds to beat? The lake breeze fanned my heated face and said: "Beat on! There's no such place."

Graduates in Kansas.

The following notice from the Atchison Globe will be of interest to the friends of Miss Katherine Bush in this city:

"Miss Katherine Bush spent Sunday at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wendel, at Mina, Marshall county. Miss Bush, who is spending a year with her aunt, Mrs. J. B. Thomas, is a member of this year's graduating class at the A. C. H. S., and is considered one of the brightest students in that school. Her home is in Duluth, Minn. She will leave for home immediately after commencement week."

Birthday Party.

Miss Anna Sullivan entertained ten of her young woman friends last evening at her home at 109 West Fifth street, the occasion being her eighteenth birthday. The evening was spent in games and music. Five of the young women were from West Duluth. Those present were:

Misses—

In Class Opera.

A number of Duluth students will appear in the cast of the original comic opera which will be presented by the senior class of the university at the Metropolitan theater in Minneapolis Monday afternoon and evening, June 7. The opera, which will take the place of the special acts which university tradition has connected with the senior play, has a complete love plot in itself, and is confined to one act of six scenes. The opera will be followed by the regular class play, a comedy in three acts.

Among the Duluth members of the class who will appear will be Miss Ruth Ringsred in the group of freshman lads and lassies, and Fred Buck, George Krusehke, Robert Jacques and Helen Mooney in the cadet specialty.

Palestine Assembly.

The members of the Palestine assembly entertained last evening at a dancing party at the ballroom of the Masonic temple. The affair was the last in a series planned for the winter season. La Brosse's orchestra played the program of dance music, and a large number of the members and their guests enjoyed the affair.

Informal Afternoon.

Mrs. H. W. Hanson entertained yesterday afternoon at her home, 111 Twenty-ninth avenue west, in honor of Mrs. Paul Oettel. The rooms were prettily decorated in palms and ferns and in the dining room German ivy was the decoration chosen. Cards furnished the amusement of the afternoon, and the favors went to Mrs. Oettel and Mrs. Henry Gouth. The guests were:

Merdames—
C. Bryant, J. Lunbach, William Wiehe, C. Lakowsky, Harry R. Gouth, D. Sherman, E. Rose.

Superior Affairs.

Free Concert Program.

The program for the free organ rehearsal at the Masonic temple Sunday, May 16, at 3:30 p. m. follows:

1. Organ—Stabat Mater.....Rossini
   (a) "Cujus Animan.....
   (b) "Quis est Homo".....
2. Selection—"The Rose of the Alhambra".....Hosmer
3. Song transcription—"Am Meer".....Schubert-Liszt
4. Pagliacci.....Leoncavallo
   (a) Fantasie.....
   (b) Duet, Punchinello.....
5. Selection—"Die Walkure"....Wagner
6. Overture—"Masaniello".....Auber

This program contains several notable compositions. The two portions of the most celebrated of the many "Stabat Maters" give an opportunity for first the tenor and then the soprano, rarely found in masses, the latter being sung by Patti and Alboni at the funeral of the composer. The "Rose of the Alhambra" music is a good example of the better class of light opera and embodies several very pleasing melodies. "Am Meer," the beautiful Schubert song, is given a setting which is beautiful and artistic, as would be expected from such masters as are responsible for it; the only fault is its brevity. The two portions of the "Pagliacci" suite are very characteristic of the compositions of Leoncavallo and most of the more tuneful parts are contained in those selections. The selections from "Die Walkure" comprise Siegfried's love song, a portion of the celebrated "Ride" and most of the charming "Fire Scene." The program concludes with Auber's first grand opera, which deservedly brought him fame. It is always a pleasant work to listen to, being bright, virile, tender and stormy by turns.

TRI-CITY DAY AT THE FAIR

Minnesotans Will Gather in Seattle on Aug. 12.

The Minnesota Tri-City day will be a feature of the Alaska-Yukon Pacific exposition in Seattle this summer, Aug. 12 will be set aside by the exposition for Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul, and will be designated as above.

The Seattle people at first decided upon a Minneapolis day, but the Minneapolis Commercial clubs got together and concluded that it would be much better to have St. Paul and Duluth included in the deal. Mayor Haven this morning received a letter from Mayor Haynes of Minneapolis, notifying him of this decision.

Mayor Haven looks upon the proposition favorably, and has so notified the Flour City's chief executive. The idea is to have as many people on hand as possible from Minnesota, and particularly from the three cities named on Aug. 12.

AMERICAN AERONAUT ACHIEVES FINAL SUCCESS.

London, May 14.—Capt. F. S. Cody, whose failures in his experimental aeroplane work for the British army have become a standing joke in the London newspapers, now seems at last to have achieved success. In the presence of the prince of Wales he flew for nearly a mile at Aldershot today. Capt. Cody is an American.

GETS PAVING CONTRACT

P. McDonnell Was Lowest Bidder for Fourth Street Job.

A. G. Osman Refused to Submit Bid the Second Time.

P. McDonnell will pave Fourth street from Fifth avenue west to Sixth avenue east. He and G. R. King were the only two men to bid for the contract. The bids were opened by the board of public works this morning, and Mr. McDonnell's was found to be the lowest.

For straight tar macadam the price set is $49,116.10, and for tar macadam with a concrete base the price is $55,-663.60. Mr. King's figures were $49,-826.75 for tar macadam, and $56,765.50 for the same material with a concrete base. A. G. Osman, who claims to have been the lowest bidder when the first bids were opened, over a week ago, did not make a second attempt to get the contract. Owing to a misunderstanding among the contractors, it was necessary to readvertise for bids.

A meeting of Fourth street property owners has been called for next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to be held at the city hall, to decide whether to have a concrete foundation, or just the straight tar macadam. It is expected the concrete base will be decided upon, as it is regarded as well worth the extra expenditure.

POSTAL BANKS PROVE SUCCESS

Experiment in the Philippines Serves as an Object Lesson.

Chicago, May 14.—Uncle Sam's experiment with postal savings banks in the Philippines is proving a success, according to detailed reports of the director of posts received by the Postal Savings Bank league, which has headquarters in Chicago. The net deposits increased during the last fiscal year $529,289, or 102.56 per cent, making a total of over $1,000,000 after twenty-one months' trial. The gross deposits for the year were $1,548,210.

W. T. Beardsley, chief of the postal savings bank division of the bureau of posts, made this comment in submitting the figures: "The annual gain of over 100 per cent is sufficient evidence of the prosperity of the bank, and cannot fail to be a constant encouragement to those whose wisdom and foresight provided the people with a safe and convenient means of caring for their savings."

The report shows that the system has become almost self-supporting, the deficit being only $16,953, although the principal expenses are salaries, the ratio of which to business done is rapidly diminishing as the deposits grow. Most of the funds are now loaned to the banks of Manila, which pay 3½ per cent, but make a profit on the money as banks in the United States would from postal deposits loaned to them at 2½ per cent, as proposed in the amended Carter bill, pending in congress. Of the total 3,389 accounts, more than half, 3,187, were small under 50 pesos ($25), and by far the greatest number of depositors were soldiers and sailors. 18.81 per cent, showing that congress enacted wisely when it passed the bill for postal depositories in the Philippines, which it described as "an act to encourage economy and saving among the people of the Philippines." The report will be used to hasten the enactment of a postal savings bill for the United States. Farmers' institutes and labor bodies the country over have declared for the bill, and in some cases taken occasion to condemn the delays of congress where, it is declared, the bill is held up.

The Japanese system of licensing individual opium smokers has greatly reduced the number of drug fiends in Japan, and especially in Formosa.

OFFICERS PERTURBED

By Johnson's Proposal to Base Promotion on Total Abstinence.

North Dakota Senator Has Discussed Matter With the President.

Washington, May 14.—An echo of the temperance agitation which has been carrying the South and West dry, has caused no small amount of meanness among army and navy officers. It is no less than a proposition to make total abstention from intoxicants a powerful factor in the promotion of army and navy officers.

Senator Martin Johnson of North Dakota, who is a prohibitionist from a prohibition state, is sponsor for the new idea, and the fact that Mr. Johnson, when a member of the house was the author of the first anti-canteen bill, gives such solidity to this new movement as to cause much apprehension in the minds of officers to whom a "wee nippie" from time to time is a thing of joy. Mr. Johnson is very much in earnest about the matter. It seems that when the fleet came home from its trip around the world he and other gentlemen were offered a drink by some of the naval officers. That shocked them. What he wants is that the president shall exercise the great moral influence he has for greater sobriety among the soldiers and the naval officers.

He already has talked the matter over with the president, with what result is not known, but it is to be borne in mind that Senator Johnson is a persistent "cuss."

Speaking of naval officers that order that our sea warriors take a riding is as unpopular as ever. One well-known navy man who frankly says he can hardly tell the gallant foeksle of a house from his starboard quarter deck said to me the other day: "It is just as sensible to determine the fitness of a 'sailor man' for active duty by a long horseback ride or a cross-country walk as it would be to determine the fitness of a bank clerk by putting him on a man-of-war and expect him to go through the drills which are required of the enlisted men. Chaucer gives a true portrayal of "the shipmen" in his "Canterbury Tales," and he is acknowledged to be "a good felawe," yet the company of pilgrims whom he joins pokes fun at his awkwardness on horseback, and what is true in Chaucer's day is true today. Sea legs are a misfit on a horse's back, and it is as amusing to see a gallant naval officer cavorting around on an unruly steed as it is to see a landlubber climb up a ship's ladder in a storm. And to what purpose? Why should an experienced naval officer be lost to the service because he can't take a fence and comes a cropper at the first ditch? If these tests, which are fit for opera bouffe only, are persisted in, the American navy will be impoverished, for they will remove some of the best men, the most efficient officers, from the service."

Another thing agitating the military mind is of great interest: Some of the army people, especially the wives of officers, are agitating the question of building apartment houses, instead of independent quarters, as the residences of families of commissioned officers at army posts. The appeal appears to be based upon the difficulty in keeping servants and the number of household duties in conducting an establishment in a separate building. The government is expending a large sum every year in the construction of quarters, and some of these buildings cost as much as $10,000 each, being admirably constructed, splendidly equipped residences, which, by the way, are now fitted with window shades, screens and heavy furniture. It is proposed that there shall be apartment houses, with the privilege of patronizing a general mess, to be established for officers' families after the manner of the mess for bachelor officers.

"Eastern automobile factories are now making a strong bid for the trade of Western Kansas," said Fred S. Walker of Topeka, Kan., recently. "They are not only establishing agencies in every county seat town in the short grass country, but are also making special models of autos for that trade. Whether they will be able to drive the saddle horse out of business remains to be seen.

"Probably no people in the world are more prosperous than the farmers of Western Kansas," continued Mr. Walker. "Reports show that their bank deposits aggregate $400 for each man, woman and child. The average over the state is $175 per capita, which far exceeds the per capita deposits of other states.

"The short grass farmers have thousands of tons of alfalfa in the stack, more growing wheat in the bin and in the ground, while cattle and horses and mules are roaming on every side. Up-to-date farm machinery makes it possible for the farmer to spare his children time to go to school from seven to nine months in the year, and the school he provides for them now is just as good as that provided for the children in the thickly settled sections of the East. The only difference is that the schools are not so numerous.

"At the present time the saddle horse is the most popular means of transportation," added Mr. Walker. "Every morning the roads around a country seat town are lined with boys and girls on horseback with their geometry, botany, Caesar, Virgil and other high school books coming to school. Sheds are provided at most of the schools to shelter the horses during school hours. The farmers take turns about furnishing feed for the horses. When school is out for the day the pupils go downtown, do the trading for the family and ride home.

"Many farmers are now buying automobiles for their children to use in going to and returning from school. Frequently two or more farmers make up a jackpot and buy a light touring car just for the children to go to school in."

One feature of the new senate office building that is attracting a good deal of notice is the fact that there are two doors from the corridor into the suite of practically every senator. This makes it possible for a member to quietly make his escape from one room while a host of callers wait in the next. In the old offices in the capitol proper this was not possible. Now it frequently happens that if the stress of visitors becomes too great the senator grabs his hat and vanishes down the corridor and through the subway, while his secretary is telling the callers how busy the statesman is.

Senator Warren and Representative Mondell are regarded as the champion money getters of congress. Their friends say they have secured more appropriations and improvements from the federal treasury for the little state of Wyoming than have been given to any other corresponding section of the country.

Warren is chairman of the committee on military affairs in the senate, and Mondell is at the head of the house committee on public lands.

STOKOVSKI TO CONDUCT THE OHIO SYMPHONY.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 13.—Mrs. C. R. Holmes, president of the Ohio Symphony orchestra, received a cablegram today from Leopold Stokovski of Paris, accepting the conductorship of the orchestra here. He is said to have achieved marked distinction conducting the Colonne orchestra in Paris.

The Cincinnati Symphony orchestra is now assured of $50,000 a year for a five-year period by popular subscription.

THE CHARIVARI IS BARBAROUS

And the Kansas Supreme Court Holds Cities for Damages.

Topeka, Kan., May 14.—The Kansas supreme court is very much "agin" wedding cut-ups and holds that a charivari party is nothing more nor less than a mob and that any self-respecting city that allows a mob to engage in any act of unlawful violation must pay the damages resulting therefrom.

This was the decision of the court in the appeal of the suit of the city of Cherryvale against Minerva and Frank Hawman from Montgomery county. The court's decision was that when the members of a charivari party forcibly place a bride and groom in a wagon against their will and draw them up and down the streets, they are engaged in an act of unlawful violence for which the city should be held responsible and the fact that they are good natured and intend no serious harm to anyone does not absolve the city from liability.

High Hilarity and an Accident.

In this case the newly married couple were made the victims of a charivari party by a number of young men of Cherryvale. The young men placed the bride and her bashful husband upon a cart and, seizing hold of the shafts, proceeded at a high speed through the main streets of the city. Frank Hawman, a boy 9 years old, was attracted to the unusual scene and was knocked down and run over by the cart, suffering a broken leg in consequence. His mother, Minerva Hawman, brought suit against the city of Cherryvale, under the statute making municipalities liable for all damage accruing from the action of mobs within their limits. The plaintiffs secured damages in the lower court. The city appealed the case, but the supreme court held against it.

A Barbarous Custom, It is Decided.

In affirming the action of the lower court the supreme court says:

"It is said that rioters were in good humor. Very likely, as they were permitted to carry on their operation without interruption. But with what motive were they performing these good-humored acts? Not, certainly, for the gratification of the groom and his bride. They were giving them what is called a charivari, which, Webster defines and explains as follows: 'A mock serenade of discordant music, kettles, tin pans, etc., designed to annoy and insult.'

"The object of a charivari is about as barbarous as the pronunciation it once its name. Whatever toleration it once had has long since passed away. Even when in vogue it was often attended with violence and bloodshed. If it ever was allowable to direct a jury that such an assemblage, with all its tumult and confusion, was not a great provocation to those annoyed and insulted by it that time has passed away."

UNITED BRETHREN IN CONVENTION IN OHIO.

Canton, Ohio, May 13.—The twenty-fifth world-wide quadrennial conference of the United Brethren church began a twelve days' session here today. Bishop J. S. Mills of Annville, Pa., is presiding. There is an attendance of 500 delegates from foreign mission fields. The quadrennial address of the bishops, delivered by Bishop Mills, declared "for equal rights and complete justice for all men in all stations."

The bishops all call attention to the growing disposition of "the selfish rich" to keep away from church interests, direct the attention of the church to the skeptical criticisms of the age and call on the ministry and laity to combat it with "pure gospel, backed by intelligence."

POEM DANCING IS THE LATEST

English Society Would Thus Express Every Kind of Emotion.

London, May 14.—Picuresque dancing, expressing a poem, a song or an incident is the latest craze of the society belle. She practices for hours at a stretch in her endeavors to express through motion the burden of her message. Not only must her theme be original, but the steps and movements by which she indicates it must be novel and above all poetic. Imitation is fatal.

Playettes are also expressed by dancing, three or four friends clubbing together to perform them. Some excellent results have been achieved. Maud Allen was present one night lately at the Asquiths to see three or four young people, including the daughter of the house, dance a Spanish tragedy, the performers all arrayed in Spanish dress. By all accounts the effect was weirdly striking and picturesque.

Success does not, however, always pursue the steps of the society dancers of dramatic episodes. Some good fun has been afforded by the tripping of the light fantastic by ladies whose too solid avoirdupois caused them in the middle of some eloquent passage to puff and gasp like a tired horse taking a long hill.

It is not only women who go in for the new dancing. Men, curious to relate, have taken to it with avidity and occasionally with more laughable results than those obtained by the fair sex. For it is not by any means the Adonises who always have a story to tell. Often it is the mature and those who were behind the door when good looks were being given out who fantastically arrayed perform wild stampedes or ecstatic prostrations.

It is said that the Marquis de Soveral, the king's great pal, has rather a penchant for conveying his feelings in the new dances. As every one knows the popular Portuguese ambassador is a past master in dancing as in everything else he attempts, so his manifestations are all that they should be.

Teachers of dream dancing and picture dancing are cropping up by the score and will, for the time being, make tidy fortunes. One society woman who has taken to teaching her friends, she herself having studied in Paris and Berlin, is said to be just now netting an income something like $50,000 a year through lessons.

As a rule, pupils bring with them to their professor the poem or incident they wish to express and the teacher finds the movements which will best portray the subject.

When eventually the pupil is perfect and the performance takes place, the verse or other subject which has inspired the performer, printed exquisitely on satin or vellum artistically illuminated and bearing a photograph or photographs of the dancers, is distributed among the audience.

There is a Chinese dance which is attracting a great deal of attention. It is called the Chacone and is danced in Chinese costume. Several fond mothers are having their little girls and boys taught the Chacone, which is especially effective when performed by children. Among others is Mrs. Lulu Harcourt, whose three small daughters are the most up-to-date of the younger generation.

PREPARING FOR RACING MEET.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 13.—Notwithstanding that the case against the Latonia Jockey club for defying the Kentucky state racing commission is still before the Kentucky court of appeals, Harvey Myers, president of the club, is making preparations for the coming meeting at Latonia. It is even declared unofficially that the hand slates will be used by the bookmakers at the track again, the same as last fall.

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Germs in Meat and Milk, According to British Experts.

London, May 14.—The royal commission appointed to inquire how far tuberculosis is communicable from the "bovine" to the human has definitely reported that there is grave danger through the medium of meat and milk. Owing to the admitted prevalence of tuberculosis in British cattle, coupled with the frequent inequitable administration of the public from this dangerous disease, the National Federation of Meat Traders has determined to demand, on and after this date, the vender's warranty with all fat stock bought in good faith for the food of man.

This demand is made primarily for the protection of the federation's traders, but it also guarantees a pure meat supply, and the federation, moreover, considers that throwing the onus of diseased stock upon the breeder and feeder will insure the necessary action for the eradication of disease. The National Federation of Meat Traders appeal to the public for their assistance in this matter by demanding to be supplied only with meat purchased with the vender's warranty. This action of the royal commission indicates that danger of tuberculosis lurks in British meat as well as in that from foreign countries.

MATRIMONIAL TANGLE

Too Much for Former New Englander's Heirs to Unravel.

St. Louis, Mo., May 14.—Dr. Erwin W. Hodson of Centerville, N. H., is here seeking a share in the estate of his father, Col. Edward P. Hodson, 4910 Fountain avenue, this city, who dropped dead in Joplin, Mo., while traveling for a rubber company in which he holds stock.

The estate also consists of land near Joplin and in Grant county, Neb., and $5,000 life insurance. Dr. Hodson says he lives with his mother, Mrs. Emma Hodson, whom his father, who was New Hampshire railroad commissioner and Dover, N. H., mayor, got a divorce from in 1892 by publication, and that his mother may contest the divorce, claiming that he subsequently wrote her, calling her his wife.

He declares that after the divorce his father married his second wife, Mrs. Martella Hodson, who died in 1905, and in 1907 married his third wife, Mrs. Kate Hodson, living in the Fountain avenue home here, to whom and his first wife's son Col. Hodson bequeathed his estate. His third wife and the third wife's son have employed attorneys to unravel the tangle.

LAMB HAS AN ADVANCE

Mutton Prices Go Soaring in the Local Meat Market.

Remainder of Produce List Does Not Show Much Change.

If meat prices go much higher, a diet of vegetables is liable to become popular in Duluth, for reasons of finance.

The stringency in the meat market at the present time is something to talk about. Prices have been climbing with an agility that is surprising even to the close followers of the market, and alarming to the householder who pays a goodly portion of his pile to the butcher, as well as the baker, and the proverbial candle-stick maker.

This last week has seen another leap in meat quotations, those for lamb and mutton making the most spectacular advances. They have done more leaping this week than at any previous time this season. Right now, lamb and mutton are the best little leapers in all commission row.

Quotations on lamb are now 15 to 16 cents a pound, instead of 14 to 15 cents, the level which prevailed a week ago and which was thought to be very high.

Mutton has gone up a point and is now 13 cents.

Receipts at Chicago, Kansas City, killing centers have been very, very light.

"It has been well nigh impossible to get lamb and mutton during the last few days," said the representative of one big meat house, today.

Beef is also very strong, selling at 8 to 11 cents a pound. Pork loins remain very firm at 12½ to 13 cents and lard is still 12 cents.

In the fruit market, apples have had a rise. Stocks are beginning to get low and it will be several months yet before the new apples from the East will begin to come in. Quotations here are now $7 to $7.50 a barrel, according to variety.

Pineapples are a feature this week. They are beginning to come in carload lots and are very fine. They are selling at $3 to $3.25 a crate.

Strawberries are arriving freely and are quoted at $3.25 per crate of twenty-four quarts.

Oranges, bananas and practically everything else in the fruit market remain unchanged from a week ago. Receipts have been liberal and the demand about the same.

The market for green vegetables remains unchanged. Receipts are showing some improvement right along. They would be larger if weather such as prevailed yesterday would settle. It has been too cold to cause much of a demand for green stuff.

In the staple vegetable market, cabbages have undergone a cut. New cabbages from the South have begun to arrive, breaking the strong market for them which kept up as long as last year's light stocks were the only ones offered. They are now selling at $3.25 per hundred-weight.

The market for potatoes is weaker. Old potatoes have come down, selling now at $1.10 to $1.15, instead of on the $1.25 basis, where they perched for a time.

Receipts of new potatoes are increasing steadily, Florida and Texas sending most of them. The new spuds are wholesaling for $2 a bushel.

New roots are higher, beets, carrots and turnips all selling at $1 a bushel.

Butter and other dairy products have not undergone a single fluctuation during the week. The egg market is also featureless, prices being unchanged from a week ago.

The poultry and fish markets remain steady and unchanged.

SOUL MATES FOR THE ENGLISH

Met His "Twin Soul" and Wife Took Back Seat.

London, May 14.—It was inevitable that the "twin soul" fad should reach this country from America.

It made its first appearance in the divorce court this week in a remarkable case in which the right of a wife to have a mind of her own was discussed.

The action was brought by Mrs. A. M. Hampson, who sought to obtain a divorce from her husband, Harold H. Hampson, a tutor.

"The marriage took place in 1908," said Fox Davies, who represented the wife, "and they lived for some time at Bournemoud-Finchley. Mr. Hampson had views on the subject of domestic discipline and exercised 'paternal authority,' which meant that if his wife disobeyed him he would slap her face.

"In 1906 they became paying guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ordish at Putney. Finally, they went to Erpingham road, Putney, where Mr. and Mrs. Ordish became their paying guests. Mrs. Ordish became mistress of the house, and Mrs. Hampson was required to take her orders from her."

Mrs. Hampson said her husband was very kind to her at times and very cruel at other times.

"If I argued with him, he would slap my face, right and left," she declared. "If I pursued the argument he would throw me out of bed and hold his hand over my mouth, shaking me and pressing my arms and shoulders.

"We left Finchley because it was too dull," Mrs. Hampson continued, "and my husband conceived the idea of staying at boarding houses where there would be billiards. That was how we went to live with Mr. and Mrs. Ordish.

When the Trouble Started.

"When Mrs. Ordish obtained control of the house at Putney my husband told me I must take a back seat and do what I was told. He suggested that I should read the Sermon on the Mount and practice Christian charity."

"Where was Mr. Ordish all this time?" the judge asked.

"He was in the house, but he was a nonentity," counsel answered. "He was packed off to America."

"My husband asked Mrs. Ordish to help him to turn me out of the house because I was not submissive," Mrs. Hampson stated. "I sat on a chair and clung tightly to it, and I would not go.

"One day my husband came into the room, hand in hand with Mrs. Ordish, and said he intended to live with her, as she was his twin soul.

"Some one told him that the best way to stop a child crying was to tie it up tightly in a shawl; so he wrapped the baby up in a shawl and pinned it so tightly that its limbs were pressed to its sides. When I got up in the middle of the night and released the child he became angry and slapped me."

In a letter Mr. Hampson wrote to his wife he said:

"Except that I am very sorry for you, I do not blame myself very much for what I have done."

Mrs. Hampson was granted a decree nisi, with the custody of her child.

LIST TO TALE OF WOE.

Calamity That Has Fallen on Mississippi With Prohibition.

St. Louis, Mo., May 14.—Prohibition has visited a terrible calamity upon the imperial state of Mississippi. It has put the "lid" on "Private John" Allen's fountain of famous funny stories. "Private John" came to St. Louis yesterday. He was quickly recognized in the lobby of the Hotel Jefferson, and a crowd gathered around, expecting a bright, new story.

"You see," he said, "story telling is largely a matter of habit. You get out with the boys in the bars, and the first thing you know you are reeling off stories and everybody is laughing. Now we have prohibition in Mississippi and all through the South. We have real prohibition in Mississippi, and there is no drinking, and consequently no setting for stories."

TOWN PUMP

Will Soon Dispense Cool Cider to Every Weary Wayfarer.

Canal Dover, Ohio, May 14.—The citizens of Zoar are preparing a large cistern in the street in the center of the village, and expect to fill it with cider next cider-making season. The cistern was used for this purpose years ago, when the Communist society was in existence. It was abandoned when a bar was started in the hotel, but since the advent of the Rose local option law the citizens have determined to clean out the old cistern and again use it for the purpose for which it was built. The cistern is of concrete, and has a capacity of about 100 barrels.

As in former years, the cistern will be fitted out with a pump, and the public will be as welcome to quaff there as to drink the water at any town pump.

GERMAN AERIAL TORPEDO.

New Instrument of War Will Travel 71-2 Miles a Minute.

Berlin, May 14.—Messrs. Krupp of Essen have announced that they will contribute $2,500 per annum towards the cost of experiments with an aerial torpedo now being carried out by Prof. Weichert of the Meteorological institute at Goettingen.

Prof. Weichert has constructed a model of the flying torpedo, which is capable of traveling 225 yards per second, or at a rate of over seven and a half miles a minute. Another model of an aerial torpedo, weighing approximately eighty pounds, has also been constructed, and has yielded successful results.

These torpedoes are driven by small electric motors. Apart from driving them at a high speed through the air, Prof. Weichert is conducting a number of experiments for the purpose of ascertaining how they can be steered by electricity. In conducting these experiments, he is guided by the system of steering submarine torpedoes by electric waves.

The extreme importance of these experiments from a military point of view is evident, and this aspect of the matter is emphasized by the subvention which Messrs. Krupp have devoted to this purpose. Judging from the results already achieved, it appears probable that Germany will soon be in possession of aerial torpedoes which will be under the control of those who discharge them.

Prof. Weichert is now experimenting with a flying machine which he can direct to high altitudes by electric current, and then bring it back to the point from which it started.

INSANE PAINTER

Imagines That His Brush Produced Famous Nude Masterpiece.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 14.—Harry Lantz, a house painter of Millvale, confined in the insane ward of St. John's hospital here, is suffering from the delusion that he is the painter of "The Bridal Morning," the nude masterpiece in the Carnegie art gallery here, which has raised so much criticism. Lantz became enamored of the picture and insists on drawing it on the walls of his cell.

EVE FIRST MISSOURI GIRL.

Garden of Eden Located There, Says Mormon Preacher.

Springfield, Mo., May 14.—With a somewhat unusual blending of evidence presented by the Bible, the Mormon book, profane history and his own reasoning, the Rev. J. W. Quinly, pastor of the Latter Day Saints' church, in a letter sought to prove that the Garden of Eden was located in Missouri, that Adam was really made of Missouri soil and that Eve was the only original Missouri girl.

Relying upon the Bible teachings of the origin of man, the devastation of the earth by the flood and the expected re-establishment of Christ's kingdom on earth as basic principles, the speaker passed to the Book of Mormon for its revelations as to the establishment of the real and true church upon the spot of man's origin. As Joseph Smith, founder of Mormonism, chose Independence as the "central points" mentioned in the Book of Mormon, and as Mormonism was regarded by the minister as the re-established church, he argued that Independence, Mo., is near the Garden of Eden.

A SAINT IN CHURCH,

But Cruel at Home, Alleges Wife in Divorce Suit.

Atlanta, Ga., May 14.—Alleging that her husband is a hypocrite and uses the church to cloak his measures, Mrs. W. D. Beatie, wife of a leading real estate man here, has filed suit for divorce.

The couple were married six years ago and have one child. Mrs. Beatie alleges her husband treated her cruelly at home, but in society showed much consideration. She says that after using awful language to her at home he acted in church as if he were sanctified.

DECIDE THIS,

Then Figure Out If Chicken or Egg Came First.

St. Louis Mo., May 14.—In the suit of Edward Damey against Mrs. Magdalena Bastian for $100 damages for chickens killed by her dog, the plaintiff's attorney contended that a chicken is an animal under the statute, holding dog owners responsible for sheep and "other animals" killed by dogs. The defendant's attorney, ex-Circuit Judge Zachritz, contended a chicken is not an animal. Justice Sanders said: "The court is unable to decide and takes it under advisement for one week. Meanwhile both sides must submit briefs."

Eau Claire, Wis., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Duluth beat the local team yesterday in a fast and snappy game. Final score, 5 to 1.

Errors by the locals lost the game for them in the first inning. Neimann and Justus' errors gave the Duluthians their start, and they were helped along by two free tickets, two hits, and a sacrifice.

The only run which Eau Claire secured came in the fifth. They got to Danse for eight hits during the entire session, but the fifth was the only round in which they were able to get runners all the way around the diamond.

Justus, who was in the box for the home team, was touched up for eight hits.

Duluth played an errorless game, and after the first inning the locals settled down and during the most of the game it was good baseball on both sides. Score:

HAVE BIG BATTING BEE.

Superior and Wausau Knock Sphere All Over Lot.

Wausau, Wis., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local team won from Superior yesterday afternoon in a game that was marked chiefly by a lot of hitting and numerous errors on both sides, the final score was 13 to 12.

Both teams used two pitchers. Miller, who started to manipulate the shoots for the Northerners, was slaughtered by the locals in the fourth and the management rested him from the box, installing Mace in his place.

On the other hand, when Superior piled up seven runs in the eighth, the local management removed Schaeffer, who up to that time was delivery boy for Wausau, and put Lakeoff in.

Both sides got two runs in the second, Wausau got five in the fourth, one in the seventh, two in the eighth and three in the ninth. Superior scored one in the fourth, two in the sixth and seven in the eighth. Score:

WINONA TAKES A GAME.

Knocks Young Mr. Noel Entirely Out of the Box.

La Crosse, Wis., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Winona landed upon Mr. Noel, the rising young La Crosse pitcher, in the seventh inning yesterday, and when the smoke had cleared, it was found that the visitors had netted a total of nine runs in that one round. Final score, 13 to 2, in favor of Winona.

Mr. Noel gave two bases on balls and allowed seven hits that inning, all of which was his undoing, and he was replaced by Wolford.

The locals were prone to err, but the visitors played clean ball.

Umpire Bedener demonstrated clearly to the fans and the management that he knew absolutely nothing of baseball, and he was released last night by President Elliott.

A NEAR FIGHT ON CLASSIC GROUND

Cincinnati Players Object Strenuously to Umpire Cusack's Decisions.

Boston, Mass., May 14.—In a hard-fought 13-inning game yesterday, in which Umpire Cusack was attacked by a visiting player and three of them were ordered off the grounds, Boston defeated Cincinnati by a score of 3 to 2. Starr's two-base hit in the eleventh inning sent in the tieing run for the locals, and his single in the thirteenth scored Mattern from second, giving the victory to Boston. In the twelfth inning, when Catcher Roth, running for McLean, was called out at the plate on a close decision, he attacked Umpire Cusack, striking him with both hands on the chest. Several of the Cincinnati players crowded around the official, threatening him with bats, but the Boston players succeeded in driving the visitors off. Roth and Dubec were put off the grounds. Dubec had been sitting on the bench. Lober and Huggins were removed from the coaching lines.

Manager Griffith had been ejected previously for disputing another decision. The visiting team was left without a catcher, and Shortstuh Dowse was pressed into service behind the bat. Score:

A SEVENTEEN INNING BATTLE

Chicago, May 14.—Chicago and Washington battled for seventeen innings yesterday and the game was finally called on account of darkness with the score 1 to 1.

White allowed only one hit in the last ten innings.

Manager Cantillon's tactics in the seventh inning are probably what saved his team from defeat. The locals had men on second and third with one out. Manager Sullivan then left the game and sent in Welday, a left-handed batter. When Cantillon saw this move, he sent Hughes, who was pitching, to right field and sent in Gray, a left-handed pitcher. Sullivan countered by taking out Welday after Gray had pitched one ball to him. Then Cantillon tried to withdraw Gray and send Hughes back against Owens, a right-handed hitter. According to the new rules Gray had to finish pitching to the man who was then batting or give a pass.

After some heated argument the umpires forced Gray to continue pitching to Owens. He did and passed him. Tannehill was the next man up, and Hughes returned to the box, while Ganley went to right field. Tannehill hit to Hughes and Altiser was forced out at the plate. White ended the chances with a grounder to Delehanty. Score:

IRISHMAN BEATS JAP

Little Oriental Gave Bigger Opponent a Hard Fight.

Before a small audience at the Temple roller rink last night, Capt. Leopold McLaglen and T. Yagamata of Japan, put up one of the fiercest and most interesting contests that has ever been pulled off in Duluth.

The captain won the match in two straight victories. They do not have falls in jiu jitsu, the big Irishman only defeating the agile Oriental after he had secured holds that made the smaller man wince and groan with pain. The first victory was secured with a wrist twist. The captain wrenched the left forearm of the Jap, forcing him to rap three times in token of defeat.

The second victory was won by a combination toe hold and a knee leverage. Securing the small man's left foot, the captain worked his leg around the Jap's leg. Using his leg as a leverage, the captain slowly bent the leg of the Japanese backward, at the same time twisting the toe hold made so famous by Frank Goteh.

Men close to the ring held their breath while the big jiu jitsu man applied the torture to the smaller man. It seemed as if he must surely break a bone. The smaller man writhed and jerked upon the mat, finally giving three quick taps signifying that he gave up rather than suffer a broken limb.

So exhausted was the Jap after the contest that it was with difficulty that he got to his feet. His forearm was hurt and his leg badly twisted. In both defeats the smaller man suffered much pain. A gamer man has never been seen in this city. Time and time again the larger man would force the Jap into some hold where it seemed as if there was no means of escape. The eyes of the little man would half close, in a peculiar Oriental fashion; suddenly he would leap, like a bunch of powerful springs, and would be in the center of the ring.

The sympathies of the audience were with the smaller man. At times when Capt. McLaglen would torture his little opponent he would fly into a rage. His dark eyes would flash fire; he would leap at his big opponent and force him around the ring. The house went wild at the efforts of the little man, and when he would make the bigger man break ground he would receive shouts of encouragement from the audience.

Both men took enough punishment to make the ordinary man quit a dozen times. The way the Jap would take the gruelling of his big opponent without a sign that he was being hurt was a mystery to most of those who witnessed the match.

It was only when he was in a position from which there was no chance of escape, and after he had been badly punished, that the Jap would rap in token of defeat. At one time he had the veins upon the large neck of the captain standing out like little blue snakes. He twisted the jiu jitsu jacket in a vice-like hold around the throat of the captain, and was slowly shutting off the wind of the large man. The captain rudely kicked the smaller man in the face, forcing him to loose his deadly grip.

The Jap was much the worse beaten man at the end of the contest, though the big captain was completely done for when he reached his dressing room. It required forty minutes to secure the first victory, the second coming in forty-five minutes. It was one of the most novel, as well as the hardest fought, contests ever seen here.

If there was any frame-up in the match the men must be small capacity heroes. Any one who would take the punishment received by both men last night deserves about all the money he can grab.

Before beginning each struggle the two contestants would kneel upon the mat in an Oriental salute. This is one of the customs of the game, showing the Japanese reverence for the national sport.

There was a preliminary between two Cornish style wrestlers.

"HORSE RACING WILL CONTINUE"

Being the Opinion of Those Who Should Know.

New York, May 14.—The consensus of opinion among the many followers of horse racing who witnessed the opening of the season at Belmont park yesterday is, that the sport will continue under certain conditions. The fact that bets were made, and will continue to be made, by those who are known to be professional bookmakers, plays a small part in the predictions of sporting men. If the sport is to depend solely upon the betting feature, it will not succeed under the anti-betting law, according to many prominent followers of the race horse. This is because only those who are personally known can make a bet, and there are comparatively few when a crowd of many thousands is considered.

Most of the wealthy owners of race horses, particularly those who have not been identified with the betting ring, and the very large clientele who follow the races for the sport there is in it, agreed last night that the success of racing in the Metropolitan district depended on the quality of the races and the price of admission. Many sporting men declared that the success of the races at the tracks this summer would depend on a $1 admission and a high class of racing.

NEW DULUTH FANS ORGANIZE BALL CLUB.

New Duluth, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A baseball club was organized Wednesday evening by the young men of New Duluth. U. C. Tower was elected manager and treasurer, Rollie Hicks, secretary, and Gust Widell, captain.

The club will be known as the W. H. Rieckhoff & Co., team and will have W. H. R. & Co., on their suits. Mr. Rieckhoff gave $25 toward the suits.

The lineup will not be decided until several practice games have been played to find the best men.

It is probable that the first race of the season between the senior and junior crews of the Duluth Boat club will be held tomorrow afternoon on the course that passes in front of the Park Point clubhouse. The first race of the year was scheduled to come off Wednesday evening. Weather conditions were so unfavorable that evening, however, that the race was abandoned.

If old Sol will only consent to forget his grouch and come out tomorrow afternoon and smile, just once, it is very likely that there will be a large number of spectators at the clubhouse. The first warm day, if the contrary weather man has such a thing in his collection, is sure to bring out a large number of members of the club. The race tomorrow will be one worth witnessing, as both crews are anxious to nail the first scalp to the pole of the tepee.

Murray Peyton is very sure that his charges can row across the line several lengths ahead of the men that are being coached by Dr. Frank Lynam. The seniors are working better together at the present time, but they have been on the water about two weeks longer than the juniors, are older oarsmen, most of them having worked together before, and therefore are showing better form right at the present time.

But, leaving all conditions of practice out of the consideration for the time being, the races that will be pulled off this year between the two crews will furnish good weekly sport and will also stimulate interest in the crews.

Through The Herald, Capt. Leopold McLaglen, who last night defeated T. Yamagata at the Temple roller rink, issued a challenge to Pugilist Walter Whitehead. The captain states that he will put up $500 in real money, that says he can defeat the big fighter. Under the conditions of the match he would like to make, the captain states that the fighter will be permitted to use all the blows at his command, while the jiu jitsu expert in turn will be permitted to exert leverages and nerve numbing pressure.

McLaglen says he will meet the colored man for $500 a side, or if the fighter thinks that he has scarce that amount of change, or would be unwilling to back himself for that amount of coin of the realm, he will meet him without a side wager.

From Manager Hamburg of the Burns-Johnson fight pictures, comes the statement that he is fully convinced that Jeffries will fight Johnson within a few months, and that the fight will take place upon the Pacific slope. Mr. Hamburg says that some people are of the opinion that there will be no fight brought about as a present title holder, but that it is now generally believed that the fight will occur.

The pace being maintained by the Detroit Tigers in the American league is a hot one. It is an old castor oil bottle against a quart of sparkling Burgundy that they will have some slump during some stage of the race. You will recall that the Tigers have not had a cinch upon the pennant in either of their two winnings; that both of the struggles for the rag have been close. The Tigers are playing a wonderful game right at the present time, but how if they were playing ahead of their stride. Right at the present time they have all the other teams of the American league looking as foolish as a millionaire in real war. But there will be a reaction at some stage of the race, and then some of the other teams will sink the harpoon into the growing sides of the Tiger.

Fred Clarke has injected a lot of ginger into his Pittsburg Pirates. The new blood secured by the ranchman seems to have filled out the weak places of the team. Ever since Clarke let Kitty Bransfield go, because that excellent first baseman and Honus Wagner clashed in a fistic duel, he has been weak at the first corner of the Pittsburg machine. For years Pittsburg has experimented with first basemen without getting a player who was up to big league standard. Young Abstein is holding down the initial sack at the present writing, and the boy is making good. Pittsburg is making a runaway race of it at the present time. While they will be contenders all the way, there are many of the opinion that the battle lies between New York and Chicago, and that the Pirates are going faster right now than they will be traveling at the middle period of the campaign.

Many Duluth people who have witnessed the fight pictures are of the opinion that Stanley Ketchel stands an excellent chance with the present title holder. If Ketchel can enter the ring next October weighing close to 175 pounds he ought to have some chance with the big negro. At the present time Ketchel weighs close to that figure. He is only 22 years of age and will doubtless fill and broaden out before he attains his full fighting perfection. If the Grand Rapids man can put on increased breadth, which should increase his already wonderful punch, he should have much more chance against the negro than little Burns, who has neither the height nor the punch of the Ketchel kid.

St. Louis, May 14.—That George E. McGillicuddy said that the noted pitcher was even tempered and easy to manage.

KING JAMES THE WINNER

Favorites Fared Badly; 10,000 New Yorkers Witness Races.

New York, May 14.—The long deferred and anxiously awaited opening of the Metropolitan racing season, which was coupled this year with the running of the classic Metropolitan handicap, passed into turf history yesterday with the winning of the blue ribbon event of the occasion by S. C. Hildreth's 4-year-old colt King James from a field of eleven starters. Fayette, the Madden entry, finished six lengths behind, with Juggler, entered by C. C. Smithson, a close third.

The conditions under which the season was ushered in were ideal in point of weather and served to bring out a fashionable crowd, in which the gay colors worn by women predominated. These against the emerald green of the well kept lawns and track enclosure made a brilliant picture.

Society in particular was well represented, the number of fashionable folk surpassing in point of number any out pouring of this character ever seen at Belmont park.

In the grand stand the attendance was considerably slimmer than on previous Metropolitan handicap days. The entire number aggregated less than 10,000, but in view of the ban placed upon race track betting last year by the Hart-Agnew law, the falling off was not such as to create surprise.

The betting question looms large in the racing world, and yesterday's opening was awaited with much trepidation by those followers of the sport who have been wont to lay wagers.

The net results of the day were that under materially altered circumstances, betting of a sort is tolerated. The new form, however, is a travesty of the practice which flourished in the days of the Percy-Gray law.

Bet In Whispers.

Under cover of a decision of the appellate division which permits of betting, layers of odds took up their stations on the course in front of the grand stand and, in whispers and by nods, accepted wagers and gave odds. The method was veiled in mystery accompanied by searching glances and stealthy looks. If the would-be bettor was known to the bookmaker, his bet was accepted with muttered "you're on." No money was passed; the "bookmaker" trusted the bettor to search him out after the race and pay him the amount of his wager if he lost, and the bettor on his part trusted the bookmaker to look him up in the same fashion and give him his winnings if he won.

Some the layers of odds settled outside of the grounds after the last race and others on the trains coming back.

WALTER J. TRAVIS,
The Great American Golfer, Who Is Playing Great Golf This Season.

TO PLAY TWO GAMES.

Cloquet, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school baseball team will leave tomorrow evening for Coleraine and Grand Rapids, where they will play a double-header game, one with the Coleraine team in the morning and the other in the afternoon with the Grand Rapids team. Weather conditions have been very unfavorable for any good practice, but as the boys making up the team are practically the same that composed the team last year, they are expected to give a good account of themselves.

TO PLAY SUPERIOR.

The Fitwells will meet the Turnbull-Cameron-Degler team of Superior at Athletic park, Sunday afternoon.

The Superior team is a fast one, and although they have been practicing for several weeks, it will be their first public appearance Sunday.

The Fitwells demonstrated to those who attended the game played Monday with the White Sox, that they can play fast baseball, and there will undoubtedly be a large attendance of the fans Sunday.

D., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Laws restraining the handling of dogs for field trial purposes may result in the abandonment of trials this year by the North Dakota Field Trials club. At a meeting to be held here next Monday evening the question will be thoroughly threshed out and some decision arrived at.

The new state law of North Dakota prohibits the training of dogs before Aug. 15, which is the time of the season that the field trials have usually been held in the past. As the Manitoba meet is held on Sept. 5, it will be impossible for the North Dakota club to hold its meet until about the middle of September, which will be during the opening season.

Should the trials be decided upon for this year, they will probably be held at Towner or Berwick, N. D.

Elaborate plans are being made by the club for the entertainment of visiting autoists during the state fair here in July. Officers elected for the year follow: President, W. L. Wilder; secretary, A. I. Widlund; treasurer, W. H. Kelsey.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks and Fargo Y. M. C. A.'s will participate in a great relay race between those two cities, the event to take place on June 5. Arrangements for the relay race are now in progress, and while the details of the affair have not been decided upon, it is certain that this race will be the greatest relay event ever attempted in North Dakota.

It is planned to use eighty-four boys in the race, forty-two from each institution. The boys will be stationed a distance of two miles apart and each will be required to cover that distance.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

The cause of all skin diseases can be traced to some humor or acid in the blood; the cuticle is always healthy where the circulation is free from impurities. When the blood is infected with acrid or unhealthy matter it cannot perform its natural work of nourishing the skin, regulating its temperature and preserving its normal softness, pliability and healthfulness. Instead it irritates and inflames the delicate fibres and tissues around the pores and glands and produces some of the many forms of skin disease. The itching and stinging so often accompanying skin affections are produced by the deposit from the blood of the acrid humors with which it is filled, into the sensitive membranous flesh lying just beneath the outer covering, and surrounding the countless nerves, pores and glands. This explains why scratching the outer skin affords no relief from the itching and burning. S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every character by purifying the blood. It goes down into the circulation and removes the humors or acids which are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acrid blood, and permanently cures every variety of skin affection. Local applications can only soothe; they never cure because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes right into the circulation, reaches the trouble and cures it by removing the cause. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.

SETTLERS TERRORIZED BY CRAZY HERMIT AT HORNBY

Sheriff Could Not Induce Anyone to Show Him Cabin.

Deputy Sheriff Donahue returned this noon from Hornby, a small station on the Duluth & Iron Range road, sixty miles from Duluth, with the news that the settlers and claim holders in the vicinity are in a panic and afraid to move or leave their homes unarmed.

Mr. Donahue was sent to Hornby the first of the week at the request of settlers who stated that an old trapper named Brooks was wandering, fully armed, in the woods; that the man was demented and had been terrorizing the country about for several days.

When the deputy reached Hornby he found the settlers in such a state of terror that no one could be induced to accompany him to the old man's claim. Brooks had lived a hermit life. There was no road or path to his cabin, neighbors stated, because he has never gone to it by the same route twice.

It was impossible to find the cabin without assistance and Donahue came back without attempting further to locate Brooks. He found the claimholders fearful of their lives, most of them going about fully armed. Many will not venture out for water without a gun, and some are leaving their claims until Brooks is captured.

While Donahue was at Hornby the news was brought in that a settler had met Brooks in the woods, and that as soon as the crazy man saw him he shot at him, riddling his hat with shot.

Brooks held up several men Sunday at Hornby, holding them at the point of a gun for two hours. He took to the woods after he tired of holding the gun, and has not been seen since, except by the settler who reported the shooting to Donahue. It is believed he is prowling about the woods, but the settlers are in such fear of the man that they will make no move toward finding him.

Deputy Donahue says that if he could have found some one to lead the way to the old man's cabin, he might have been able to locate him. Brooks has lived on his claim for several years, making his living by hunting and trapping.

BARNES ON STAND.

Trustee Is Chief Witness in Hanson E. Smith Case.

The taking of testimony in the case of Hansen E. Smith against Thomas A. Merritt and others was resumed before Judge Edson, in the main courtroom of the federal building, this morning and continued through the day.

The main interest today centered about the testimony of L. A. Barnes, the trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of Hansen E. Smith. Mr. Barnes told of the sale by him of the one-fourth interest in the land and the giving of the trustee deed for the same. Mr. Barnes told also of the deals following the failure of the Merchants' bank as he remembered them. He was still under cross-examination at a late hour this afternoon.

The case is brought in an attempt to have the title to some mineral lands set aside for the benefit of the creditors of the bank.

WANTS BRIDE RESTORED

By Father, Who Trounced Him for Wedding His Daughter.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 14.—Charles W. Rothrock, a young husband of 18 years, applied to the Allegheny county courts to have his bride of a few days taken from a room over her father's butcher shop and restored to him.

He alleges that Herman Glasser, the muscular father of the bride, whipped him after they returned from their elopement last week, and taking his wife from him has locked her up.

Glasser says it is all true, and that he will whip Rothrock again if he comes near his house. The court set Saturday morning for a showdown between father and husband of the 17-year-old bride.

Commerce Commissioner Renders Decision in Favor of Dieple.

Washington, May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clark today rendered a decision in the case of W. J. Dieple, doing business as the Capital Pine company, against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, wherein he finds that the rate of 16 cents per 100 pounds on sawdust shipped from Duluth to Andover, S. D., is unreasonable to the extent that it exceeded 12½ cents, and reparation to Dieple is awarded.

WIFE AND DAUGHTER OF MURDERED BUTCHER HELD.

St. Paul, Minn., May 14.—Mrs. Minnie Arbogast, wife of Louis Arbogast, the wealthy butcher, who was murdered yesterday morning with an ax in his home, 286 West Seventh street, is a prisoner of the police in the city hospital. No formal complaint against her has, as yet, been sworn out. Her eldest daughter, Louise, is also being detained in the West Seventh street home, where she is being attended by a trained nurse.

NOT A PLUMBER BORN.

The Beginner Who Was Sent to Find a Leak and Failed.

New York Sun: Pipes & Fassitt ran a busy shop. They had men out, working the eight-hour day in the Washington Heights district. They had helpers out, too, at the regular rates.

Monday morning had opened up with a rush. Joints were bursting and bathtubs were flowing over.

Fassitt generally followed up the jobs, seeing that they were covered. Pipes held the desk down and made out the bills.

Presently the door pushed open and a hardy looking young fellow came in. He handed a note to Mr. Pipes. Pipes read it.

"Please, sir," said the young fellow. "Don't 'please' anybody here," said Pipes. "Riley says you're a good man and willing to work. Siddown!"

The hardy looking young fellow sat for five minutes. Then the telephone rang.

"Get that off the wire," said Pipes. The young man got it.

"It's Mr. Silverberg, that owns the big apartment house on St. Nicholas avenue. His star tenant complains of a leak in the ceiling from the floor overhead."

"You take that wrench and go over," said Pipes. "Locate the floor. Get around to Congdon's where we've got a contract and lift a helper. Go back and find the leak. Then report to me. Don't hurry too much."

The young man departed, returning in a couple of hours.

"Nothing doing, Mr. Pipes," he said. "The tenant overhead spilled some water in a corner of the kitchen. It ran under the sink and followed the pipe line to the floor below. That was all."

Pipes kept on making out bills. A 50-cent clock got along to 12 just as the noon whistles blew outside.

Then Pipes rose up sadly.

"There's sitting time," he said. "Take the money; you'll need it. A tenant imagines a leak. The owner wants to pay for repairing the leak. You were sent to find it. You failed. Some day you may be an angel, but you will never be a plumber. Good-by!"

WHY CHINESE NOSES ARE FLAT.

New Orleans Times - Democrat: "Their climate makes the English rosy. Ours makes us dry and yellow. The Japs, from sitting with their legs curled under them, are short of stature. For the Chinese flat nose Chinese mothers are to blame.

"The Chinese mother," the ethnologist explained, "carries her baby in a sack on her back. The babe's nose is pressed against her. Day in and day out, all through its babyhood, the little thing's soft and malleable nose is pressed against its mother's back. Hence it is no wonder that the Chinese are a flat nosed race."

FOX IN BURNING TREE TRUNK.

London Daily Mail: A singular incident occurred in the course of yesterday's hunting with the Belvoir hounds. A fox which hounds ran from the Old Woods mysteriously disappeared on reaching Irnham Park. The fox had entered a hole at the bottom of an old oak tree and had climbed up the hollow trunk.

Hounds eventually left him to his own devices and when they returned to the park half an hour later the tree was on fire, and fanned by the gale which was raging the flames shot out of the trunk like a furnace. The position was quite untenable anud the fate of the fugitive was not known.

The presidential flag has a blue ground with the arms of the United States in the center. It was designed and first used by President Arthur in 1883, and is now hoisted at the main whenever the president is on board of any government vessel.

Nevada passed a law several years ago allowing hunters to shoot wild horses and to sell their hides. This opened the way to a new and profitable industry, and within a few years 15,000 wild horses were killed. But the hunters got to shooting horses that were branded and shed, and upon the plea of the ranchmen the legislature repealed the law.

Duluth, May 14. — Weather forecast: Showers tonight and Saturday, not much change in temperature; brisk northeasterly winds.

As Advertised

The almanac doesn't tell the weather—it's the thermometer that does. We have the clothing to meet every change of the freakish mercury, from overcoats to outing suits.

This week we opened new business suits selling at $15, $20 and $22.50.

Even so, the advertising doesn't tell the goods—it's the store that does. Our Buyers carefully examine the claims of the national advertisers of wearing apparel. With their life-long experience and accumulated knowledge in this one branch of human necessity and endeavor, they are your true agents in selecting what is good and deserving, and rejecting what is largely fine pictures and elegant language.

It's the Store

on which you must depend and it's this store on which you can depend.

In the first place you will find here the largest stocks, and therefore the best chance to select what you really want.

In the Second place you find that we purchase mainly from the original makers—clothes from wholesale tailors, underwear from the mills, shoes from wholesale shoemakers, hats from wholesale hat makers, and so forth—eliminating the profits of the jobbing concerns, and having everything made to our order as our customers prefer to have the things. And as every good maker excels in some one particular article, you'll find here, for instance, a dollar shirt from one maker, a $1.50 shirt from another, and a 50-cent shirt from still another factory—dress shirts from one concern, working shirts from a different one.

Then the salesmen! How much depends on them. How a man graduated from a Hardware or Meat business can sell you a misfit from the best of stocks, and how persistently he will recommend to you the wrong thing for your particular needs. Columbia Salesmen must know their business to hold their positions, and they are allowed to know the wholesale cost and learn all about our business. We have no secrets, and as our methods are always fair, we are not afraid of the man who quits nor of the competitor who spies upon us.

Lastly the price! It's last and least here. Last, because we look for quality first. Not how cheap we can purchase an article to sell for $1, but how good an article we can get and then how cheap we can sell it. Many stores won't pay more than $7 or $8 a dozen for their dollar goods—we don't hesitate to pay $9, $9.50 or even $10. Of course, this can only be done in a One-Price Store. "The Columbia sells it for less" is a true saying—not a cheap advertising phrase.

JUST ONE JAB

With a "Hypo" Needle "Revived" the Love-Sick Miss.

Marion, Ohio, May 14.—Early in the morning Fern Halstead, aged 17 years, employed at the Manley hotel at La Rue, was found moaning on the porch of her parents' home. Fern said she had been attacked by a strange man.

The next moment Fern apparently lapsed into unconsciousness, but Dr. James Vanarsdel, who arrived at a gallop, declared the girl was shamming. "Let's see," said the doctor, as he deftly jabbed a hypodermic needle into Fern's anatomy.

Fern omitted a scream that would have done credit to a Comanche. She admitted that she had quarreled with her lover and that she had "faked" the story of the assault "just to make him come back and love me."

ORDINANCES ALL VALID

City May Breathe Freely as Result of Decision.

Decision of District Court Upheld By Supreme Court.

All Duluth city ordinances adopted under the old city charter, and the enabling act of 1887, are held to be valid under a decision handed down by the supreme court today in the case of the city against Henry Abrahamson, bartender in Christopher's saloon, on Lake avenue, charged with selling liquor without a license.

Judge Dibell's decision in this case, favoring the city, is upheld by the supreme court. Rock & McMahon, attorneys for the saloon man, claimed that the decision of the supreme court last summer in the case of Max Bahr, charged with keeping his bar open on Sunday, invalidating one section of the ordinance of the city, governing the sale of liquor, invalidated the entire ordinance, and also that the fact of one section of the ordinance framed under an enabling act being declared unconstitutional, also made the enabling act being declared unconstitutional, also made the enabling act unconstitutional.

If these contentions had been upheld by the courts it would have been necessary for Duluth to go into the ordinance making business on a wholesale plan, because of the fact that most of the ordinances now in existence here were drawn up under the old charter and enabling act. The Bahr and Abrahamson prosecutions were brought under the same ordinance, but under different sections.

Bahr won out on the section relating to keeping open after hours, which was declared unconstitutional on account of its empowering the municipal court to impose a fine of $100 and costs or imprisonment in the county jail, or both. The claim was also made in the Abrahamson case that the enabling act, under which the ordinance was framed, was unconstitutional, because it gave the council power to prescribe a double penalty, which is beyond the power of the municipal court under the law.

E. J. Kenny, assistant city attorney, who appeared on the part of the city, contended that the ordinance governing the sale of liquors was invalidated by the decision in the Max Bahr case only in so far as it was repugnant to that decision and the laws of the state. He contended that because one section was declared unconstitutional, it did not follow that the whole would be, and that the enabling act would be invalidated only in so far as it gave power to prescribe penalty in excess of that provided by law. He claimed that up to the limit prescribed by statute, the enabling act and ordinance would both be effective.

Should the courts have held the ordinance as invalid, and the enabling act under which it was framed invalid, every ordinance adopted by the common council of the city between the years 1887, when the enabling act was passed, and the year 1901, when the new home rule charter was adopted, would also be invalid, and it would be necessary for the council to readopt every ordinance, as, with the enabling act invalidated, they would have nothing on which to stand. The city attorney says that the ordinances have all been revised to conform to every new ruling of the state supreme court, and that the various ordinances, as they stand, are effective and constitutional.

CUB BEARS AMUSE CROWD IN LENOX HOTEL LOBBY

More than 100 curious persons crowded into the lobby of the Hotel Lenox this afternoon to witness the antics of two cub bears. The cubs are six weeks old and are the property of George H. Dodge, who secured them from some Indians at the Grand Portage Indian reservation, which is in the extreme northeastern corner of the state.

The mother of the cubs was killed after an exciting battle by an Indian named Charley Old Horse. Charley must have been a pretty good old horse at that, for the enraged mother of two chased the redskin four miles before he got his gun and ended the earthly worries of the bear.

Then Charles Old Horse, in the tenderness of his aboriginal heart, went back over the race course and brought the little cubs into his home. They have been fed milk, and today in full view of the crowd they were fed from a bottle.

The cubs are as affectionale as a small puppy. Those who are acquainted with the instincts of bears, say that they are like dogs until they get to be about eight weeks old. Then you must begin to keep your weather eye peeled for any bite or scratch from the rapidly growing animal.

Today the bears went at the nipple of the milk bottle as it they had not been fed for months. They would climb all over the person who was holding the bottle, one of the cubs taking a particular fancy to Julius, the porter of the Lenox.

Mr. Dodge will take the bears to Kansas City with him. While in Chicago if Charley Murphy, the owner of the Chicago Cubs offers him a good price for the little animals as mascots, Mr. Dodge may be induced to part with them. He carries them in a common box and is beginning to feed them solid food. The cubs are very fond of angel cake.

Chinaman Goes to Asylum.
Young Sen Jek, the Chinaman who was last week found to be insane, after an examination before Judge J. B. Middlecoff of the probate court will go to Fergus Falls. His committment to Fergus Falls will probably be only temporary. His legal residence is in California and that state will probably take care of him eventually.

On Way to Range.
George J. Lomstorf of Milwaukee, a wealthy mining man, who is one of the fee holders of the Section 30 property at Ely, passed through Duluth yesterday on his way to the mine. The Milwaukee man is much pleased with underground developments at the mine.

Over to Grand Jury.
Burt Saxton, charged with being implicated in the theft of about 4,000 cigars from the Duluth Cigar company, May 4, waived examination before Judge Windom yesterday afternoon, and was bound over to the grand jury. He admitted his guilt to the police. The identity of the two other men working with him in the cigar thefts has not yet been established, Saxton still refusing to give up their names. Saxton is 22 years old.

Insurance Case Still on.
The case of John McAlpine against the New Brunswick Insurance company for the recovery of a policy of $1,000, is still on before Judge Hughes. The case hinges on how much damage was done by the fire. McAlpine alleges the damage was $1,200 and the company says it was but $100.

Good Roads Congress.
The national good roads congress will meet at Baltimore, Md., May 19 to 21, and Duluth has been invited to have delegates on hand, but it is not likely that any will attend from here. If any one goes he will be expected to pay his own expenses.

Entertains Men's Club.
The Men's Club of the First Unitarian church, recently organized, was entertained last evening by the minister, Rev. George R. Gebauer, in his home, 1209 East Third street. Dr. Rabinkam of Chicago, who will lecture this evening at the First Unitarian church, Eighth avenue east and First street, on "Walt Whitman," was among those presnet.

Assault Case on.
The case of the state against Dennis Dorsey, who is accused of indecent assault on the person of Carrie Hanson on April 28 last, is on before Judge Dibell of the district court.

Ryan Case Settled.
The case of M. A. Ryan against the Duluth Street Railway company for $5,050 for injuries alleged to have been sustained in January of 1907, when he was hit by one of the company's cars on East Second street, has been settled out of court for $450.

Case Goes to the Jury.
The case of the state against Hjalmar Aho, the young man, who was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of robbery, and which has been on trial in district court for the past two days, went to the jury this morning. Aho is accused of holding up Esa Tarkkinen on lower Lake avenue and taking from him some change aggregating about $4.

Examination for Insanity.
Frank Mavric, 19 years old, of Chisholm, Minn., will have an examination this afternoon as to his sanity before Judge J. B. Middlecoff of the probate court. Information was filed against him yesterday afternoon by Dr. Cowe of Virginia and he was brought to the city this morning. He seems to be crazy on religious subjects and remains in a kneeling position most of the time, it is said.

Temple Services.
"The Jew's Contribution to America" will be the subject of the sermon by Rabbi Lefkovits at Temple Emanuel this evening.

Found Not Guilty.
Hjalmer Aho, charged with robbing a man on lower Lake avenue, was found not guilty by a jury in district court this afternoon.

WILL SELECT A LOCATION

Stock Exchange Members Are Discussing Proposition of Quarters.

The location of the quarters for the revived Duluth Mining Stock exchange will probably be determined before the members adjourn at the meeting they are holding this afternoon in the Globe Consolidated company's offices, in the Lonsdale building.

The committees which have been looking after the question of suitable quarters, have had several places in mind, and one will probably be chosen today.

One of the officers of the Massachusetts Realty company, owner of the Phoenix building, has been in conference with members of the exchange, many of whom are anxious to close a deal to secure the second floor of that structure, which stands at the corner of Fourth avenue west and Superior street.

A $500,000 BUILDING

To Be Erected By Rockefeller's Church in New York.

New York, May 14.—John D. Rockefeller's church is too poor to build a new edifice on Fifth avenue, so the pastor, deacons, trustees and clerks, who assembled Thursday night in th evestry of the church, decided that a three-story structure on the site of the present church will do.

"We will go into the air for room," said Dr. Aked, after opening the meeting with prayer. "An edifice on Fifth avenue, which I should have wished for, would cost $2,000,000, while a building on the present site will not cost more than $500,000.

"You will say, of course," continued the pastor, "there is one man here who could build such a church as we deside, but let us be manly and womanly in this matter. This is our scheme and let us not ask one man to do what God has willed us all to do."

MONUMENT TO FATHER ADAM

Square Shaft of Concrete, Surmounted By a Sun Dial.

Baltimore, Md., May 14.—Believing that it is better late than never, John P. Brady, a contractor and builder, has had erected at his country house, Hickory Grounds, near Gardenville, a monument to the memory of Adam, the first man. After spending much thought upon designs for the monument, Mr. Brady came to the conclusion that nothing could be more fitting than a plain square shaft of concrete, surmounted by a sun dial.

Without saying that women will not be admitted, Mr. Brady wishes the occasion of the dedication to be distinctly masculine. He has no intention at any time to erect a memorial to Eve. The monument bears two opposite panels, which read:

This, the First Shaft
In America,
Is Dedicated To Adam, the First Man.

In circular form surrounding the sun dial is the Latin quotation:

Sic transit gloria mundi.

"After all, there is no serious reason why there should not have been thousands of memorials to Adam," said Mr. Brady today. "Some of us may blame him for the misfortunes which we get in this world, but few of us wish that we had not been brought here. It was kind of Adam to appear in the world. He paved the way and should receive the homage which we pay to pioneers in all fields. There seems to be glory enough to go around for every one who ever did anything, and many monuments and other tributes have honored men who never did anything.

"It being so easy to get one's name graven in stone, I thought it was high time that Adam had something to show for having been here. Adam had a pretty hard time of it. He was something of a hero after all. Just think of it—to be here on this big earth—not a soul until Eve came, and then—"

MILWAUKEE ROAD ORDERS TWENTY HUGE ENGINES FOR COAST TRAFFIC

ONE OF THE NEW MILWAUKEE ENGINES.

It will be noticed that the drive wheels of the Mikado engine are of much less diameter than those of the average locomotive. This brings the engine near the ground, which is desirable upon mountainous divisions. The engine is constructed for great power, rather than for speed. It will be used for the heaviest trains of the Milwaukee, and it is expected to take the steepest grades without trouble.

The new engines are among the largest locomotives ever constructed.

ON THE IRON RANGES

GILBERT TICKET HAS BEEN NAMED

Martin Masterson Heads Ticket to Be Voted for May 17.

Gilbert, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a largely attended caucus last night the candidates for village offices were discussed and the following caucus ticket decided on: President, Martin Masterson; treasurer, Al Noble; trustees, Harry Silver, George Rattenbury and Pete Cosgrove, until recently of Sparta; clerk, Postmaster A. J. Kapelner; justice of the peace, William Trenholm and C. O. Welch, formerly justice under the old incorporation; constables, Charles Murphy and William Dolan.

There may be several independent candidates, but Verne Sutton of the First National bank, who will run independently for clerk, is the only one announced so far. The election will be held Monday, May 17.

Several of the buildings that are being moved over from Sparta are nearing Gilbert. The regular road has been widened for the passage of the buildings by the cutting down of stumps on the side of the road. Although the Steel corporation gave orders that all buildings in Sparta should be off the lots by May 10, there are still several standing, but the owners will begin to move in a very few days. The buildings in Gilbert that will be used by Sparta people are almost ready for occupancy. Saari, Campbell and Kraker of Sparta have their Gilbert building almost finished.

The Eagles had a meeting last night in Seigel's hall and several candidates were initiated.

S. T. Bonino and Ray Pittsley, who have built a launch here during the winter, will take it to the Mississippi river about June and will take a long trip down that river. Mr. Bonino has closed up his poolroom for the present.

PROMOTER GETS FROST.

Scheme to Feed Hogs on Garbage Does Not Enthese.

Eveleth, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. G. Pierce of Telsonburg, Can., who has been here for a few days trying to interest local business men in a stock company to feed hogs on clean garbage, must have felt a cold shudder when the meeting he called last night was attended by no one.

Most of the local business men think that Pierce was just trying to float some stock, but they did not take enough interest to make anything go, and the promoter will no doubt soon leave for other parts.

BUILDING IN EVELETH.

Considerable Work Already Under Way in the Range City.

Eveleth, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Campbell block at the corner of Grant avenue and Jones street is being remodeled. Two sides of the building will be of brick and the other two will be venecred. There is a rumor that the second floor of the building will be turned into a hall, but this has not been confirmed. The downstairs will also be remodeled in a short time.

Work on the Dowling Elks' hall and theater on Jones street is progressing rapidly. At present the men are taking down the old Healy livery barn that is on the site.

Pentilla & Nelson have begun to move into the storeroom in the Vail block formerly used by the Eveleth Hardware company.

M. Feldman is beginning to get ready to move his two-story building in a couple of weeks to make way for a large $15,000 building to be used as a dry goods store by M. B. Greenblatt of Hibbing.

M. Shapiro will move one of his residence houses in a few days to a lot on Grant avenue near the More hospital.

LOANS SOME COIN; WINNING IT BACK

Borrower Refuses to Pay; Suit in Eveleth Court Resulting.

Eveleth, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rudolph Mise was sued yesterday in the municipal court by John Skerjonic for $59.11, which Skerjonic said he loaned to Mise. Mise claimed that the money was loaned to him to gamble with, and that he played "21" with Skerjonic, and the latter won the money back and, therefore, Mise said that the debt was illegal.

He also had to testify that he was drunk that evening and did not know exactly who won. Several Austrian witnesses were called, from whom it was hard to get information. The judge reserved his decision for a week. Attorney Charles Murphy of Aurora was here to defend Mise, while John Peterson appeared for the plaintiff.

The case against Anton Pechati and John Poknic, who were arrested Wednesday night for abusing a horse they had secured from Wilson's livery to drive to Virginia, was put off until today. The men are out on $50 bonds. The horse was almost dead when it was brought back to the local stable, and it took some time before it was revived. The parties on trial are Austrians; countrymen to the three men who were arrested for the same kind of offense earlier in the week.

CHILDREN BADLY BURNED.

Pour Kerosene on Blaze With Usual Damaging Results.

Chisholm, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Willie Soderquist, aged 11, and his sister, Beatrice, aged 13, living in the Hartley location are being treated for severe burns they sustained while starting a fire in the kitchen stove at their home.

Beatrice was badly burned about the face and upper part of her head and her eyes may be seriously injured.

They had kindled the fire, but it did not burn well enough and Beatrice took the kerosene oil can to improve the blaze. She succeeded in pouring some oil on the blaze when there was an explosion, followed by a sheet of flame shooting out from the stove and striking the child in the face. Her face was badly scorched and her hair was set on fire. Her screams brought her mother from another room and the blaze was quickly extinguished. She is unable to open her eyes on account of the soreness of the lids. The physician states he does not think her eyes seriously affected.

ORE BUSINESS IS PICKING UP

Temporary Shipping Was Reduced Because of Few Boats.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ore business was light the first of the week, on account of the few boats coming, but has been better the past few days, and, with the putting of many barges in commission, is expected to increase in volume.

A switch engine and crew were sent to the Payal yards Wednesday, on account of the increase in steam shovel shipments from there.

The Mohawk and Larkins mines commenced shipping ore this week.

Two more of the Iron Range road new ore locomotives have arrived and have been put into the ore service.

There are now eighteen train crws in the ore service out of this place.

SMITH FORETOLD TAKING HIS LIFE

Announced to Two Harbors Undertaker He Would Do Deed.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the death of Thomas E. Smith, printer and newspaper writer, in Duluth this week, from a supposed overdose of morphine was suicide, is a growing belief here.

Smith had lived in this section considerably of late, going under the name of Boyle. Only last week he was married here to a woman named Maude Dueville, who deserted him, which seemed to have started him on a downward career of drink that ended in his death in Duluth. Only last Friday Smith startled Undertaker Halliday by asking him to take charge of his remains, as he contemplated suicide.

Mr. Halliday, seeing the man was crazy, agreed to carry out his wishes. Smith left and went to Rev. Gratz and requested that gentleman to preach his funeral sermon. Mr. Halliday notified the police and Dr. Christensen was summoned. After being kept in jail for a time Smith was let go by the police for the reason that he was afraid he would die in jail.

Smith drifted from town a few days ago and went to Duluth.

WILLOWS TO HOLD THE SAND

Park Point Club Will Plant 10,000 Young Trees.

At the regular meeting of the Park Point Civic club last night it was decided to purchase about 10,000 young willows, to be planted in the sand along the lake side beach. It is thought the willows will grow rapidly and prevent the sand from drifting. Willows were selected because of their hardy nature and rapid growth. They are pliable, and high winds affect them but little. Rev. A. H. Wurtelle was appointed chairman of a committee to purchase the young trees.

W. L. Jackson, L. McLennan and Harry Harrington were appointed to apply to the city council for an appropriation to cover the expense of securing and maintaining sleeping accommodations for the firemen who will be detailed to the Point by the fire commission.

The question of sidewalk grade was taken up. It is proposed to lay many cement walks this summer, and an established grade of streets is desired before the work is commenced.

MEMORY MENDING.

What Food Alone Can Do for the Memory.

The influence of food upon the brain and memory is so little understood that people are inclined to marvel at it.

Take a person who has been living on improperly selected food and put him upon a scientific diet in which the food Grape-Nuts s largely used and the increase of mental power that follows is truly remarkable.

A Canadian who was sent to Colorado for his health illustrates this point in a most convincing manner:

"One year ago I came from Canada a nervous wreck, so my physician said, and reduced in weight to almost a skeleton and my memory was so poor that conversations had to be repeated that had taken place only a few hours before. I was unable to rest day or night for my nervous system was shattered.

"The change of climate helped me a little but it was soon seen that this was not all that I needed. I required the proper selection of food, although I did not realize it until a friend recommended Grape-Nuts to me and I gave this food a thorough trail. Then I knew what the right food could do and I began to change in my feelings and bodily condition.

"This kept up until now after 6 months use of Grape-Nuts all my nervous trouble has entirely disappeared. I have gained in flesh all that I had lost, and what is more wonderful to me than anything else my memory is as good as it ever was.

"Grape-Nuts has remade me all over, mind and body, when I never expected to be well and happy again." "There's a Reason."

Look for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interst.

RAILROADS

SOUTH SHORE MAY LOSE IDENTITY

Rumored That It Will Be Merged With the Soo.

There is a rumor that the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, owned and controled by the stockholders of the Canadian Pacific corporation, will lose its identity and that it will become part of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie system.

Nothing can be learned from the Duluth officials of the company.

The Soo railroad is also the property of the Canadian Pacific company. The merging of the South Shore into the Soo system would simply be a merging of two properties of the parent company.

Rumors have flown thick and fast ever since the Soo secured control of the Wisconsin Central railway. That road lost its identity, and should the charter of the South Shore not stand in the way that road may also lose its identity as a railroad.

The rumor regarding the South Shore comes from Milwaukee, where many railroad rumors are given credence. None of the Duluth officials of the South Shore have heard any rumor of such a deal, nor do they think it probable.

THREE TYPES BEING TESTED

New Ore Cars Being Tried on the Missabe Road.

Practical tests of the Clarke, the Summers and the Rakowsky patent ore cars are being made today upon the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway. The cars are being hauled from Hibbing to the docks in the West end, all the points of the car being considered in the test. No information as to which car has shown to the best advantage would be given out by the Missabe officials at the docks.

The cars will be kept in regular service until they have had a thorough test. However, the officials of the Missabe state that they have no intention of purchasing any new patent cars. It was stated at the office of the Missabe that the men taking out patents for the cars had requested that the cars be given a practical test, and that the tests being made at the present time are not being made because the road has any intention of purchasing new cars at the present time.

MORTGAGE IS PLACED ON FILE

The Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Bonds Amount to $1,525,000.

The trust deed and mortgage filed May 12 with the secretary of state by the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad to the National Trust Company of Toronto, Can., was also filed with the register of deeds in the courthouse this morning.

The bonds amount to $1,525,000 and will run thirty years at 4 per cent. in denominations of $1,000 each.

The state has a mortgage tax of $7,625 for registering the mortgage.

The company is to construct a line from Virginia to Duluth, and also a dock in Duluth, if the negotiations now being carried on by another dock-building concern fall through.

This is the second mortgage. The first mortgage amounts to $10,500,000. The second is secured by all the stock of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg and the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific companies. Everything on the line of the new road from Duluth to Virginia, including rails, property and equipment, will go to secure the second mortgage.

FLORIDA "BODY SNATCHER" HERE.

W. E. Brown, Northwestern passenger agent for the Florida East Coast railway, is here today upon passenger business. During the winter Mr. Brown is a very busy man down Florida way. In the spring and summer, when people do not think of seeking warmer climes, his railroad has little passenger business, and Mr. Brown likes North in search of business for the coming winter.

According to Mr. Brown, the past winter was a very good season for tourist travel. There were many people at all of the Florida resorts, and the tourist season extended well into the present month. Mr. Brown says the present month will see a heavy westward travel from many Southern points, and that passenger men in the South are of the opinion that the Western travel will break all records.

Traffic Is Fair.

F. C. Gifford, assistant general freight agent for the Omaha railway, is in Duluth today. Mr. Gifford says the freight situation is somewhat better than it has been during the winter, but it is not yet on a normal basis. A good crop this fall will do much to place the freight business back upon a good solid basis, says Mr. Gifford.

New Milwaukee Train.

Announcement of the new train that was placed in service on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway yesterday, was made at the Duluth office of the company this morning. The new train will be known as No. 11, and will leave Chicago daily at 8 a. m., reaching St. Paul at 10:10 p. m. and Minneapolis at 10:50. The new train will make all local stops between Chicago and Minneapolis.

New Ore Cars.

Another large consignment of the Summer cars have been received at the Two Harbors shops of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. Many of the cars have been placed in service. More than 500 of the cars have been received by the Iron Range officials.

BEGINS SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

Mrs. Guinn Wants $40,000—Echo of Clark Mine Case.

Action has been begun in the United States district court for $40,000 damages by the heirs of James M. Rogers against W. G. Crosby, J. M. McClintock and Edward M. Barnes.

The complaint alleges that Rogers was the owner of 120 acres in 28-58-20, that the plaintiff, Amanda E. Guinn of Barber, Ark., is the daughter of Rogers, and that some years ago the property was sold for taxes. The plaintiff alleges that just prior to the expiration of the time for redemption, Mr. McClintock came to see her and represented himself as a real estate man from Tennessee, saying the land was of no particular value.

Mrs Guinn says that she was induced by these misreprentations to give Mr. McClintock a quit-claim to the land for a small sum; that it developed that the land contained valuable deposits of iron and that defendants knew such to be the fact when McClintock called to buy her right of redemption.

The land is near Chisholm and the Clark and Leonard mines are located on it. There are numerous heirs to the property, and the total value of the land represented in their several claims, is in the neighborhood of $750,000.

The Rogers' heirs commenced action in the state court at one time to have the title to the same property determined. The present suit is one for damages only.

Extensive lumbering operations are to be conducted there for probably the next twenty years. The work will be done by the E. H. Stafford Manufacturing Company of Ionia, Mich., and Chicago. The Stafford company owns a tract of 8,000 acres on Bois Blanc. The most of the land is covered with hardwood. The timber will be used in the manufacturing plant of the company at Ionia, and the cedar and other varieties will be sold. A large band sawmill will be erected.

FROM DARK CONTINENT

Duluth Visitor Says African Diamond Industry Is Depressed.

Roosevelt in the Wildest Country in the World.

W. Standford of South Africa is registered at the Spalding today.

Mr. Standford is from Cape Town. Today he stated that, owing to labor troubles since the decree forbidding the importation of coolie labor to British South Africa, and to the fact that the industrial situation in England is depressed at the present time, the diamond trade of the South African mines has fallen off to a marked degree.

According to Mr. Standford, there has never been a satisfactory solution of the labor problem since the Chinese coolie was banished from the South African mines. The native African has proved unfit for the work, and as a result of this the output of the mines has decreased. With the labor trouble has come a somewhat lessened demand for diamonds from the English trade, which has combined to depress the diamond business in South Africa.

When asked what he thought of ex-President Roosevelt going to Africa on a hunting expedition, Mr. Standford replied that in the part of Africa where the strenuous Theodore is he will see some of the strangest sights in the world. Not only are the people strange, according to Mr. Standford, but the country itself is wilder than any other country in the world.

He says the people are idol worshippers and their religious beliefs are carried so far that people torture themselves for the sake of some fancied evil they have done.

It is the greatest big game country in the world, says Mr. Standford, and Mr. Roosevelt will receive the opportunity of shooting the greatest variety of big game that can be found in all Africa.

Commercially Africa is growing, Mr. Standford gives the Germans much credit for the increase of the commerce of Africa. He says they are getting much of the trade of Great Britain away from the Mistress of the Seas, just as Germany is doing in many other parts of the world. Mr. Standford says the Germans are encouraging trade in South Africa, fostering industries, starting German colonies, and in every way are endeavoring to increase the commerce between Germany and South Africa.

The feeling between the Boers and the English is still bitter in the Natal country, according to Mr. Standford. Their ideas are not the same, and it will take generations to remove the bitterness engendered by the war.

THE MARKET IS BULLISH

Crop Reports From Southwest Are Unfavorable —Wheat Goes Up.

Flax Is Up Three-Eighths in the Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 14.—Wheat was well bought during the session in the American markets today, both the May and and July options showing a good gain over yesterday's close.

The Modern Miller was out with a bullish report on the winter wheat crop, cables were higher and Argentine shipments were light, so that all the statistics favored the upward trend.

The Modern Miller says:

"Recent rains in Kansas were general in the central and eastern sections of the state, but the wheat crop is spotted and of irregular and backward growth, showing the unfavorable effect of the prolonged absence of moisture and unseasonable late frosts. The crop in Oklahoma and Texas still suffers from drought and the situation is serious. Prospects in Nebraska have improved because of rains. In the soft winter wheat states the crop, where not improving, is holding its own and in the southern half of the wheat belt, where the plant most advanced is heading out. A large percentage of the crop is backward."

Argentine shipments of wheat were 1,976,000 bu, against 2,208,000 bu last week and 3,228,000 bu a year ago.

Liverpool closed ⅝d to ⅝d higher, Antwerp unchanged, Berlin 2⅛c up and Budapest 2c higher.

The May option closed ⅞c higher in Duluth and St. Louis, 1c higher in Chicago and Winnipeg, 1⅛c higher in Minneapolis, unchanged in New York, ⅜c higher in Kansas City. The July option closed 1⅛c higher in Duluth, ⅞@1c higher in Chicago, ⅞@1c higher in Minneapolis, ⅝c higher in New York and Winnipeg, ¾c higher in St. Louis and ¾c higher in Kansas City.

May corn closed ¼c higher in Chicago and oats ⅛c up.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The American cables considered firm and these stimulated light offerings at openings and values were ⅛d higher, with the undertone firm. Following the opening the market developed further strength and spots showed an additional advance of ⅝d to ¾d, with shorts nervous. There was a good demand for cargoes in near positions, which were firmly held; unfavorable weather in Germany and comparatively light shipments from Argentina, with weather conditions there unfavorable, and both French and English country markets very firm under light supplies. The demand was an immediate one, due largely to the non-arrival of an overdue Australian fleet. At midday the market was firm and ⅜d to ½d higher than yesterday.

"Corn was quiet, with an easier undertone and values ¼d lower. Pressure resulted from the large shipments from Argentina."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 1, against 18 last year, and at Minneapolis 163, against 165 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 164, against 183 last year. Chicago received 56, against 56 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 655,000 bu, last year 330,000 bu. Shipments, 273,00 bu, last year 567,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 110,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 285,000 bu, last year 325,000 bu. Shipments, 298,000 bu, last year 864,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 2,000 bu.

Wheat was fairly active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened ⅛c lower at $1.24⅛, advanced to $1.25⅜, off to $1.25, rallied to $1.25½ and closed there, a gain of ⅝c over yesterday. July wheat opened unchanged at $1.24⅛, declined to $1.24⅜, rallied to $1.25⅝, went off to $1.25⅛, rallied to $1.25⅜ and closed at $1.25⅝, a gain of 1⅛c over yesterday. September wheat opened unchanged at $1.06, advanced to $1.09 and closed at $1.08⅝, a gain of ⅝c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed 1c lower.

May flax opened ⅛c lower at $1.68½ bid, went to $1.68⅝ and closed there, a gain of ⅛c over yesterday. July flax opened ⅛c lower at $1.68½, advanced to $1.68⅞ and closed at $1.68¾, a gain of ⅜c. September flax opened unchanged at $1.45½, went to $1.46⅛ and closed at $1.46⅝, a gain of 1⅛c over yesterday. October flax advanced from $1.40 to $1.40¾ and closed there, a gain of ⅜c.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Sentiment Bullish Despite General Rains Throughout the Southwest.

Chicago, May 14.—Despite general rains throughout the Southwest, sentiment in the wheat market today was inclined to be somewhat bullish, owing to an advance of ½d to ⅝d at Liverpool and to the improved demand for cash grain. Prices at the start were ⅛c to ¾c higher, but lost all of the gain during the first fifteen minutes on selling by pit traders. Later the market again rallied to about the opening level. July, which opened at $1.12⅞, sold off to $1.12½ and then advanced to $1.13⅝.

For a time the market manifested decided strength and July advanced to $1.14. The bulge brought out liberal realizing sales and prices slumped off considerably. The market closed about steady, with July ⅝@¾c higher at $1.13⅜@1.13½.

Liberal sales of corn by leading commission houses caused considerable weakness in that market, following a steady tone at the opening due to wet weather. July opened ⅛c lower to a shade higher at 69¾c to 69⅝@69⅞c and then sold off to 68⅝c.

The low point for July was reached at 68⅜c. The market continued easy the remainder of the day, final quotations on July being off ⅝c at 69c.

Trade in oats was quiet and the market was weak because of selling based on favorable weather conditions in the West and Southwest. July opened ⅛c lower at 51⅞c, sold at 51⅞@52c, and then dropped back to 51⅜c.

Provisions were firm owing to a declined falling off in hog receipts at Western packing centers. Trade, however, was dull. Prices at the start were unchanged to 5c higher.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Market Opened Broad and Higher But Dropped Under Realizing.

Early Gains Transformed Into Losses in All Active Stocks.

New York, May 14.—A broad and active demand for stocks carried opening prices comprehensively upward. The most conspicuous gains were in the usual speculative leaders, Union Pacific rising 1¼; Delaware & Hudson, 1½; Reading and Amalgamated Copper, 1, and St. Paul, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, St. Paul, St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Chesapeake & Ohio, Kansas City Southern and People Gas large fractions.

The course of the market continued upward, but there was little reflection of its strength in the railroad section, aside from Union Pacific and Reading. The advances were more numerous in a mixed class of specialties. Delaware & Hudson touched 200, a rise of 2¾. Colorado Fuel also improved 1⅝. Pacific Coast and Consolidated Gas 1½. Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred 1⅜, and American Smelting, American Locomotive, United States Realty and American Linseed preferred. Lackawanna opened 5 off.

A steady stream of selling to realize profits continued until gains were practically wiped out. Dullness then set in. General Electric and Federal Mining rose 2, and Chicago & Alton and Mackay companies 1. Toledo, St. Louis & Western, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, American Car preferred, Republic Steel preferred and American Malting fell 1, and Pacific Mail and Hocking Coal 1¼. Bonds were irregular.

Then a slight rally followed the morning decline, with the dying out of the business movement in Reading and Union Pacific discouraging the hope from putting up prices. Consolidated Gas advanced 2¾.

Prices gave way steadily on small offerings, the weakness of Reading and United States Steel creating an unfavorable impression. Rock Island preferred yielded 1⅝, Illinois Central 1¾ and Pennsylvania, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred, United States Steel, American Sugar, International Pump, Virginia-Carolina Chemical, United States Pipe and Distillers' Securities.

The market closed steady. Stocks were heavily unloaded on the suspicion that important speculative interests had realized their profits and withdrawn support from the market. Early gains were transformed into losses of a point or more in all the active stocks. Reading lost 2, Canadian Pacific 1⅜, and Union Pacific and Denver & Rio Grande 1½. Some rallies followed with covering by room shorts, recoveries running to a point in some of the active speculative issues and 2 points in Reading. Consolidated Gas rose 4¾ points over last night.

BELTRAMI LIKES SENATOR WORKS

Popular Mankatoan Made Hit By His Action in Legislature.

Bemidji, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Senator S. D. Works of Mankato is spending two or three days in this vicinity, looking after the investments which he and his associates are interested in.

Senator Works is interested in land in northern Hubbard county, as well as Beltrami county, and he is very well pleased with the outlook for the future development of both Hubbard and Beltrami counties.

The senator and his associates, G. M. Palmer and F. M. Currier of Mankato, and A. F. Palmer of Grand Forks, have recently purchased the famous Howie farm of 1,200 acres, which is located about seven miles south of Crookston. They are also heavily interested in other lands in the Red River valley near Crookston.

There is a very kindly feeling in Bemidji towards Senator Works, who did splendid work for this city in the recent fight in the legislature for the location of the proposed sixth state normal school. Senators Works also took a prominent part in fighting the Bisbee tonnage tax bill, and his work in that matter has made him very popular here and throughout Northeastern Minnesota generally.

The senator refused to discuss anything of a political nature.

SOME FUN IN SIGHT.

Annual Meeting of Famous Blackduck Handcar Club Soon.

Bemidji, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fourth annual meeting of the Blackduck Handcar club will be held on Blackduck lake, one mile south of the village of Blackduck, on the night of May 29 and all day May 30, according to invitations which have just been printed and will shortly be issued by the invitation committee of the club.

The club was formed four years ago by some congenial spirits of Blackduck, headed by W. H. Squiers, Charles Trudson and A. O'Kelliher, who were made presidents of the club, and who were ably assisted by a number of other good fellows of Blackduck and the adjoining towns. The club has held annual reunions every summer since the organization was formed and the meetings have always been productive of much enjoyment.

"NOT RUNNING THIS YEAR."

Senator Clapp Has Not Time to Discuss Possible Rivals.

Washington, May 14.—"Minnesota has so many questions of interest to it pending in congress that I am too busy to think about my re-election to the senate two years hence," said Senator Clapp yesterday in commenting upon reports from the state that Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, will be a candidate at the proper time, to succeed Mr. Clapp.

"I am not running for office this year," continued the senator. "I will do something in that line election year. My friends in Minnesota used to boom me for the governorship in off years. So I have learned the lesson not to run until the goal is in sight."

BEMIDJI DAMAGE SUIT WILL SOON BE ENDED.

Bemidji, Minn., May 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last of the evidence in the damage suit of Mrs. Mary Johnson against Dr. Koch of Blackduck for the death of her son, alleged to have resulted from a wrong diagnosis may be offered today in the district court here.

The respective counsel will then begin summing up with the prospects of the case going to the jury late tomorrow.

WILLIAM ADLER GUILTY, SAYS LOUISIANA JURY.

New Orleans, La., May 14.—The jury in the case of William Adler, president of the defunct State National bank, who was charged in United States court with misapplying funds of the bank today brought in a verdict of guilty. Sentence was deferred.

GOVERNMENT WEIGHERS PLACED UNDER ARREST.

New York, May 14.—Three of the government weighers recently dismissed by Collector Loeb, were arrested today, with the members of two importing firms who are alleged to have conspired with the weighers to secure the entry of fig and cheese imports at less than the actual weights. The weighers and importers were jointly indicted recently by the federal grand jury. The men arrested today under these indictments were Antonio and Philip Musica of the firm of A. Musica & Son, and Kusbaldo Papavasilopulo, another importer, with the former weighers Joseph Quinn Thomas C. Giddings and Joseph McMahon. The frauds charged are declared to have continued over a long period and to have caused the loss of large sums to the government.

THREE PLAYERS ARE SUSPENDED.

New York, May 14.—John Heydler, acting president of the National league today suspended Clark Griffith, Gutthelier Bob Bescher and Catcher Frank Roth of Cincinnati for three days for their conduct in yesterday's Boston-Cincinnati game. Bescher was fined $50 for taking his time in leaving the field after being ordered off by Umpire Cusack. Roth was fined $25 for attacking the umpire. Manager Griffith was ejected from the game by disputing the umpire's decision.
